Need Import Permits For US Steel

Order In Effect On October 25; Due To New Agreement

OTTAWA, Oct. 21—(CP).—Import permits will be required for all shipments from the United States of certain types of structural iron and steel, beginning Oct. 25, Trade Minister Howe announced today.

The new order is the result of the Government's agreement with the United States to restrict iron and steel imports to 200,000 tons for the last three months of the calendar year.

The import control will affect various iron and steel angles, beams, channels, columns, girders, joists, tees and zees. They are used chiefly in the construction of large buildings and heavy manufacturing.

Mr. Howe's announcement said that arrangements are under way to issue permits for the import during the rest of the year of specific tonnages of steel "where a manufacturer or importer has a standard pattern of importations."

Permits will also be issued for specific or spot shipments from the United States on an individual basis.

Import permits issued under the Emergency-Exchange Conservation Act will be honored under the new restrictions on imports of steel. All structural steel or iron covered by the regulation which was in transit by Oct. 24 will be freely admitted.

LARGEST DP CONTINGENT to arrive in Peterborough came on Wednesday evening. The group, nearly all Polish women, will be employed in city homes. They are Aldona Langaliene, Grisilda Gladutyte, Lidia Szewczyk, Stanislawa Jazierska, Meczyslawa Wojciechowski, Zifia Halon, Janina Hebda, Maria Klenowicz, Jolanta Hauck, Walentyna Klimkowicz, Anna Faryniak and Helena Malec

Lithuanian DP Holds Degree In Dentistry

Twelve women DP's, instead of the 14 hoped for, arrived in Peterborough on Wednesday evening and were met by their future employers and given a fine dinner at the YWCA. Except for two Lithuanians, all were Polish and six of the girls are engaged to men either in Canada or Europe.

One of the Lithuanian women is a widow and holds a degree in dentistry and has a sister-in-law working at the Ontario Hospital in Whitby. Her cousin in the same group took a short nursing course and holds her senior matriculation. Five of the group understood English fairly well and three of them conversed quite fluently.

They arrived in Halifax Oct. 16 after a good voyage from a European port and were met in the city by officials of the National Employment Service who had a busy night interpreting their official papers, getting them acquainted with their future employers and attending to baggage details.

Included in the group were Mrs. Aldona Langaliene, Grasilda Gladutyte, Mrs. Lidiia Szewczyk and her daughter by former marriage, Stanislawa Jazierska, Mrs. Mieczyslawa Wojciechowski, a bride, Zofia Halon, Janina Hebda, Marie and Walentyna Klimkowicz, Jolana Hauck, Anna Faryniak and Helena Malec.

Races Through Flames Saves 2 Unconscious Men

MARKHAM, Oct. 21—(CP).—Racing through a wall of flame, Vernon Tanner, Markham theatre manager, Wednesday night pulled two unconscious men from the M. A. Hendry two-storey building. Five York county fire brigades battled for almost seven hours before bringing the blaze under control early today. Damage is estimated at more than $100,000.

The Hydro system of the town, 15 miles northeast of Toronto, was blacked out for hours after Hydro lines were damaged by the fire, visible for miles.

Doors and windows were blown out by explosions when the flames reached gunpowder used in manufacturing caps for toy guns. Plant officials say the entire Christmas stock was destroyed and more than 20 workers were left jobless.

Mr. Tanner braved dense smoke and flames to reach Kenneth Bryndhardt, manager of the Hendry plant, and Neil Kennedy, manager of all Canadian branches of the firm, an American concern, when they did not reappear after entering the building.

Tried To Halt Fire

Firemen said the two company officials had snatched a hose from the hands of a fireman, kicked in a plate glass window and dashed into the flame in an effort to stop the fire before it reached the stock.

Tanner and the two company officials were treated for burns and shock. Bryndhardt and Kennedy—both unconscious—were revived by artificial respiration. Tanner said he found them lying on the second floor of the building.

The cause of the fire is undetermined. However, it is believed to have started in the ground floor front office.

Brigades from Unionville, Richmond Hill, Agincourt and Stouffville responded to emergency calls.

Police Check Mystery Shots

KITCHENER, Oct. 21—(CP).—Mysterious shots on a lonely country road were investigated by police seeking traces of the missing Mrs. Emma Pohl. But so far the check on the shooting tip, started Wednesday, has revealed nothing.

Hugh McLean, a farmer, told Galt police he heard shooting on a sideroad near his farm the night of Sept. 17. He saw an automobile go down the road, heard voices and found five shotgun shells.

Police followed another tip which led them to a sideroad near the district town of Ayr. A merchant in Ayr told them that last month he saw a young man emerge from a thicket, cover his face, dash to a parked car and drive away. At the spot, police found only tire tracks.

Freed On $12,000 Bail Doctor Held By Police

DETROIT, Oct. 21.—(CP). — When Dr. Henslee E. Tann emerged from his prison cell under $12,000 bond today, he was met by homicide squad detectives and taken into custody on charges of abortion and conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Bench warrants for Tann were issued Wednesday, shortly after a Supreme court decision giving him a new trial in a rape case was announced. The High court found error in Tann's trial on a charge of raping a 25-year-old woman patient from Sarnia, Ont. He had been sentenced to 12½ to 25 years in prison. The new trial bond was set at $12,000.

Judge Paul E. Krause set Nov. 4 as the date for Tann's trial for allegedly performing an abortion on a 14-year-old girl. Trial on the conspiracy case was set for Dec. 6, and is based on Tann's alleged efforts to send the complaining witness in another abortion case to California.

Adjourned a Week

ST. CATHARINES—The case of McKinnon Industries, Ltd., against Local 199, United Automobile Workers (CIO) today was called for the first time before Magistrate H. D. Hallett in police court. It was adjourned a week on the request of C. L. Dubin, who is acting for the union.

Has Royal Visit

LONDON, Oct. 21—(CP)—The King today visited Prime Minister Mackenzie King in his hotel suite, where he still is confined to bed by doctor's orders. His Majesty made a special visit to the Canadian leader, suffering from an ailment of the blood circulation. The prime minister was to have paid a personal visit to Buckingham Palace Oct. 11, opening day of the Commonwealth Prime Ministers meeting.

Elissa Landi Cancer Victim Actress Dies In Hospital

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 —(AP)—Elissa Landi, 43-year-old screen actress and novelist, died early today at nearby Kingston, N.Y., of cancer.

The Italian-born actress, reported to have been the granddaughter of Empress Elizabeth of Austria, had been in Kingston hospital for the last 10 days with what previously was described by her physician only as a "chronic condition."

Dr. Kenneth Lefever, who announced the cause of death, said the actress "never knew she had cancer."

Her condition, however, had been known to her family for nine months, he said.

Her husband, Curtiss Thomas, who was with her when she died, "had done a wonderful job in keeping it from her."

Miss Landi was an artist of multiple facets, equally successful as a motion picture and stage star, as a novelist, as a linguist, as a pianist and as a singer.

She was born Dec. 6, 1904, in Venice, Italy, the daughter of Austrian Count and Countess Zanardi-Landi.

Miss Landi came to the United States in 1931 and made her Broadway stage debut in the leading feminine role in Rouben Mamoulian's production of "A Farewell to Arms."

She retired from the stage and screen four years ago and had spent her time writing on her 123-acre farm, "Bright Acres," near Kingston, N.Y.

Surviving, besides her husband, are a daughter, Caroline Maude Thomas, born in 1944; her father, Count Charles Zanardi-Landi; and a brother, Anthony, of Hollywood.

Plan New Drive For Tourists

OTTAWA, Oct. 21—(CP)—A new drive to interest Canadians in the value of the tourist trade likely will be undertaken as a result of decisions reached at the three-day Dominion-Provincial tourist conference which ended Wednesday.

At various times during the meetings, delegates from several parts of the country stressed the need of developing public interest in the tourist trade.

In one of the final resolutions adopted, the delegates urged that all governments in Canada consider the sponsoring of school essays on tourism as a means of developing interest in the industry at the school or college level.

The Federal government was requested to consider all means of making easier the movement of tourists to and within Canada. The delegates shied away from a resolution which urged the government to abolish the 15 per cent Federal tax on transportation tickets. They felt that as governmen officials they should not try to dictate taxation policies.

The need for better tourist accommodation was stresed in a resolution which recommended that the grading of accommodation across the country be extended. Reports of the meeting showed that where grading was done operators attempted to improve their establishments so as to better their grade.

The condition of Canadian roads was discussed at some meetings. Leo Dolan, director of the Canadian Government's Travel Bureau, said that the chief complaint of American tourists still is against the condition of Canadian highways.

Clay Cut Sentence Due To Trial Record

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(P)—Gen Lucius Clay said he cut the life sentence of Ilse Koch to four years' imprisonment because the trial record did not warrant a life sentence. He said the cut was not an act of clemency or generosity.

"My judgment may be wrong but it is in accordance with my conscience," Clay said.

Clay, American commander in Germany, discussed the case at a press conference.

He said his examination of the trial record and reports from his lawyers showed that the charges against the widow of a former Nazi concentration camp commander were based on "hearsay and not on actual evidence."

Ilse Koch was said to have had lamp shades and other novelties made from the tattooed skin of slain inmates of Buchenwald camp.

38 Perish In Dutch Plane Crash

Aircraft Hits Wire Breaks Into Flames, Near Prestwick Base

PRESTWICK, Scotland, Oct. 21 (CP)—Thirty-eight persons perished today when a fog-blinded Royal Dutch Airlines (K.L.M.) Constellation struck a high-tension wire, burst into flames and crashed into a pasture.

Among the dead was the plane's co-pilot, Kevin J. O'Brien, reported to be a Canadian.

Six persons were taken from the wreckage alive, but four died in hospitals later.

O'Brien, 39, a native of Dublin, was carrying a Canadian passport, K.L.M. officials said. He had lived in Montreal during the war while he served as a member of the R.A.F. ferry command.

Also killed was Gen. Jacobus M. A. Gysbertus Sas who commanded Netherlands troops training in Canada from 1940 to 1942.

The huge, four-engined plane, en route from Amsterdam to New York, burst into flames after striking a high-tension wire about 10 miles from the field after a landing attempt in mist.

Famous Pilot

The plane, named the Nijmegen, was commanded by Koene D. Parmentier, chief pilot of the airline and one of the Netherlands' most famous fliers. He was runner-up in the London-Melbourne air race in 1934. He was among those reported killed.

His last message to the control tower, received at 12:15 a.m. said: "I have hit something. I am going on fire. Attempting to climb."

Then there was silence.

Taken alive from the wreckage were Elsie Fey of Amsterdam, a hostess; Mrs. Matilda Rohrs, an American pasenger; Steward Henrik Van Overbeek of the Netherlands; flight engineer Jacob Beeukencamp of the Netherlands; Willem Hendrik Phillippo of the Netherlands, a passenger; and another unidentified person who died shortly after.

Mrs. Rohrs and Miss Fey died later in hospital.

KLM listed the members of the crew killed, aside from O'Brien, as:

Captain Koene D. Parmentier, Dutch; second officer Humphrey Walter Wilson Parks, British; wireless operator Hericus Petrus Paulus Hurts, Dutch; first steward Jan Carl Mink, Dutch; second steward Henrick Van Overbeek, Dutch, second engineer Baltes timmer, Dutch; second wireless operator William Bleuze, Dutch;

Charge Russians Block Elections

BERLIN, Oct. 21. (AP)—Col. Frank L. Howley, United States Commandant of Berlin, today accused his Russian counterpart of blocking city-wide elections to "save the Communists from overwhelming defeat and condemnation."

Prospects for an all-Berlin city election, scheduled Dec. 5, faded with an announcement by the Soviet commandant of conditions which must be met before he will agree to city-wide voting.

The Soviet commandant, Maj.-Gen. Alexander Kotikov, laid down the conditions in a letter to Berlin's acting mayor, who had asked approval of election procedures similar to that already extended by the western powers.

Howley commented:

"In the light of what he and the German Communists already have said, this is just his way of saying 'no'."

Kotikov's demands indicated he not only wanted withdrawal of western sponsored currency from Berlin, but that he wanted non-Communist leaders erased from the ballot. The Russians have referred to their political opponents in Berlin as Fascists and warmongers. His reply also indicated he wanted a purge of the anti-Communist press and anti-Communist labor unions.

Quadruplets

EDMONTON, Middlesex, England, Oct. 21 — (AP). — Quadruplets — a girl and three boys—were born today to Mrs. Bessie Taylor, 28, wife of a sewing-machine mechanic. Doctors said the mother's condition was satisfactory and the quads have a good chance to live. The Taylors have two other sons, five and seven.

Western Allies Accept Berlin Formula

PARIS, Oct. 21 — (CP). — Britain, the United States and France have agreed to accept the new formula for the Berlin dispute to be presented to the United Nations Security Council tomorrow, an auhoritative source said tonight.

The plan was prepared by the six country "neutral" group of the council.

Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain, Philip Jessup of the United States and Alexandre Parodi of France, met this evening with a copy of the draft resolution before them.

A French spokesman said that, apart from possible minor changes in wording, the basic points in the resolution had the approval of all three western powers.

Russian Enigma

There is no indication whatever in western circles on the attitude which Andrei Y. Vishinsky, chief Soviet delegate will adopt towards the present draft, though it is known that he agreed this morning to submit it to Moscow.

A Soviet spokesman qualified earlier reports that Vishinsky had given his "personal approval" of the text as "absolute nonsense."

While the Security Council's six "neutrals," including Canada, polished their new formula for settling the Berlin crisis, the big five announced support of a Mexican resolution appealing ot them to settle their differences.

Russia and France supported the idea conditionally; Britain, the United States and China made no reservations at the beginning of the debate in the 58-member political committee.

John Foster Dulles of the United States, in his first speech at this U.N. session, pledged "renewed efforts" to reach agreement with the other big powers

Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinski and France's Maurice Couve de Murville approved the principles of the resolution but said it should be amended.

Vishinsky said the Mexican "wording is not quite satisfactory."

Britain's Sir Hartley Shawcross said the big powers should give more than just "lip service" to the Mexican proposal. He pledged his country to show "good will, tolerance and patience" in efforts to reach a solution of "all the problems now before the world."

80 Truckloads Soldiers Sent To Control Strikers

PARIS, Oct. 21.—(AP). — Ten French coal mines have been flooded and one set afire by the neglect of strikers, the interior ministry charged today.

There were reports of new clashes between police and pickets as the police used tear gas in clearing the way to pitheads. Violence was said to have erupted again at the Combefort mine near St. Etienne and at La Grand-combe in south-central France. More troops rushed to troubled spots in that section.

Sixty to 80 truckoads of soldiers have been dispatched to the St. Etienne sector, where 50 persons were injured Wednesday in a clash between strikers, troops and police.

Strikers are dug in behind barricades fronting the St. Etienne mines, ready to battle any government attempt to seize the pits. Industrial Minister Robert Lacoste warned again that any mine in danger of ruin from flooding will be taken over. Communist labor leaders ordered maintenance workers out of the pits Monday, as the wage strike entered its third week.

Lacoste said eight or nine mines already had been flooded. As a result, at least 10,000 miners would be out of work even after the strike ends, and France would lose at least 8,500 tons of coal daily for many weeks.

The Communist leaders ire is bound to be aroused by the clash at St. Etienne.

Two of their leaders were arrested after Wednesday's battle. They were among the 32 persons arrested, including three miners' wives, after the attack by 1,200 workers on troops guarding a pit.

Some 10,000 troops are reported in the Couth Central France area.

Non-Communist union leaders put up posters urging workers in the Tarn Department not to take part in the "insurrectional strike."

The northern coal-fields remained calm, but a Communist union leader there said the "strike will go on for 50 days if necessary."

Starved, Scratches Door Begging For Food; Kept Prisoner By Uncle

Back Bruised, Scratched From Beatings, Emaciated Lad Like Refugee; Lived On Bread And Water For 12 Months

TORONTO, Oct. 21 — (CP). — Police said today that an emaciated, half-starved boy, found Wednesday night scratching at the door of a west-end home, begging for food, told them he had been kept in a clothes closet and fed on bread and water for a year in a suburban Mount Dennis home. The boy identified himself as Gordon Kelly, 14, and said he had been kept prisoner by an elderly aunt and uncle in Mount Dennis. He said as far as he could recall his parents had died about four years ago. He could not recall his relatives' address.

"I was locked in a clothes closet most of the day," he told Judge D. Webster of York county family court. "I was given food only twice a day—bread and water. At night I slept on a couch but I couldn't see out because the windows were covered.

He said he was forced to do heavy household work each day and "almost every day" he was beaten by his aunt and uncle. His back was bruised and scratched.

He said that for some reason his aunt and uncle had allowed him out on the back porch Wednesday and he had run away. He went to the Etobicoke Creek with a piece of string and a fishing hook, improvised from a pin, in the hope of catching a fish to eat. He was unable to catch anything for lack of bait.

He said he removed all his clothes except his trousers to bathe and then wandered downstream and became lost. He could not find his clothes again.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Davies, who live on the western outskirts of the city near Etobicoke Creek, said they were preparing to go out last night when they heard a

80,000 Immigrants Enter Canada In '48

OTTAWA, Oct. 21 (CP)—Nearly 80,000 immigrants poured into Canada in the first eight months of 1948, the department of mines and resources said Wednesday, indicating that the total would probably swell beyond 100,000 by the end of the year.

The actual total was 79,336 compared to 32,808 in the same period of 1947. A breakdown showed that 31,191 came from the British Isles; 11,916 from northern European countries such as Sweden, Holland, Germany, France and Switzerland; 5,023 from the United States; 31,206 from a large number of other countries that range all the way from Australia to Armenia.

Officials had no breakdown of Displaced Persons for this year but said a total of 40,725 have arrived since the end of the war.

Predict Quick End To Revolt Flaring In Korea

SEOUL, Korea, Oct. 21.—(AP). —Korean army units closed in on insurgents in the southern mountains tonight as a high source predicted a quick end to the revolt.

Within 48 hours, the government source predicted, 1,300 rebels in the mountains will be captured. In four days or less, the cities of Yosu, southern springboard of the insurrection, and Sunchon, will be retaken by the government, he said.

The cabinet of President Syngman Rhee, in a four-hour session, lifted martial law in all of the republic except northern and southern Cholla provinces.

Loyal troops sealed off the rebels on the southern end of the peninsula by quick action. Army units moved on the insurgents from four directions and blocked escape by sea from the harbor of Yosu.

Spreading from Yosu Wednesday, the insurgents swept through Sunchon, 20 miles northward, and moved on Namwon, 30 miles beyond. Between the two points a loyal force intercepted some of the rebels and put them to flight after a fight.

Near Namwon the insurgent force split. Its strength was estimated at 4,000 after the original rioters were joined by freed Communist prisoners and some civilians. Some of the rebels, carrying red flags, took to the hills near Namwon and another segment headed toward Kwangju, capital of South Cholla province.

Says Egyptians Have First Move

PARIS, Oct. 21.—(AP) —Israel told the United Nations today she will cease fire on the Negev front within 12 hours after receiving word the Egyptian army will stop shooting.

The acting Palestine mediator, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, was reported drafting a reply to the Israeli note. Members of his staff said Egypt has agreed to the Security Council cease fire order

"The cease-fire order from the Security Council said fighting must stop immediately," a United Nations informant said.

"As a technical matter, the Jews were asked to set the time, and they must set one quickly. The Egyptians already have agreed to a cease fire and are prepared to halt fighting when notified of the time."

Israel Troops Take Arab City Beersheba

TEL AVIV, Oct. 21. (AP) — Beersheba mother city of the Arab race, was occupied today by Israeli forces after a bitter battle, a Jewish army spokesman announced.

The battle raged even as Israel's cabinet notified the United Nations its troops would quit the fighting in the Negev Desert area of Southern Palestine 12 hours after it was assured by the United Nations that the Egyptians also would cease fire.

The fighting will continue meanwhile, a spokesman said. He indicated Gaza, capital of the Palestine government proclaimed by the Arabs, was among the goals of the Israeli southern offensive.

Soviet Zone Police Given Arms

Report 400,000 Men In This Group; Cite Korean Example

BERLIN, Oct. 21 (AP)—Guns were being handed out to Moscow-trained police throughout the eastern zone today and anti-Communists said Red rebellion in Korea should be a warning to Germany.

"Korea offers a parallel of what would happen in Germany if the Western Powers should accept Russia's proposal that all occupying forces withdraw from Germany," said Franz Tausch, chief editor of the newspaper Sozialdemokrat, when asked for his opinion of the situation.

Karl Hubert Schmennicke, chairman of the Liberal Democratic Party, another right-wing group, commented that if western troops are pulled out of Germany "it can be expected that serious unrest would develop — as in Korea — which would give the Soviet Union a chance to reimpose its occupation 'in the interest of peace.'"

The Germans noted that the South Korean uprising in the American zone broke out the same day Moscow announced Russian troops were beginning to leave North Korea. Dispatches from Seoul in the American zone of Korea said bands of soldiers, alleged by Home Minister T. Y. Soon to be Communist-led, staged uprisings at two towns.

Suggest Leaving

The Germans recalled that the Communist foreign ministers of Eastern foreign ministers of Eas-Eastern Europe at the recent Warsaw conference proposed that all occupying powers quit German.

"There is no doubt that the Soviet Union in making this proposal has the same intentions in Germany as shown in Korea," Schwennicke observed.

The Communist press acknowledged the existence of a "people's police" in the eastern zone, but said it was needed to guard the new democracy there from the reactionary menace of Western Germany.

Unconfirmed estimates placed the police force as high as 400,000 men. German political leaders taking refuge in the western zones recently placed the number at 100,000, and said they were being recruited from Communist-indoctrinated German prisoners of war.

The British-licensed press asserted today that 3,000 of these police were being brought to Berlin to strengthen the Russians' hand in this divided city.

City Assessor Bert Graham Found In Smith

A 24-hour search for City Assessor Bert Graham of 610 George St. ended tragically Wednesday afternoon when his body was found in a woody swamp about four miles north of the city.

Dr. Herbert Young, coroner, said that an empty box which had contained a portion of nicotine sulphate insecticide had been found near the body. Face and mouth had been burned and indications were that death had been caused by poisoning. A post-mortem, performed by Dr. C. B. Waite of the Provincial Laboratories at Peterborough, confirmed this finding.

The 45-year-old city official had been missing from his home since Tuesday noon when he had left to post some letters and report for work at the city offices. Police had been notified when he did not return for supper Tuesday night.

An intensive all-night search by city and district police and friends and relatives failed to reveal the whereabouts of the man.

First definite clue came from Albert Armstrong, a farmer north of Peterborough. He reported to city police about 4.30 p.m. that Graham's car had been parked on the 4th line of Smith. It had been there since 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, he said.

A police crew of Inspector James Reid, PC's Gordon Trennum, William Scott and Lakefield Chief Garnet Samis went to the scene. The body was found by Inspector Reid and PC Scott. It was lying about 300 feet from the road, face-down in a swampy wooded section. The man's coat, hat and pipe were about 30 feet from the body.

Provincial police were notified and Dr. Young was called.

Mr. Graham was born in Peterborough 45 years ago, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Graham. His father had been for years a successful contractor, and the son had been employed with him, acquiring a wide experience as a builder after he had completed his education.

With that practical background, Mr. Graham joined the city's assessment department, under Mr. W. J. Henry, in 1939, and was engaged as assistant assessor until the summer of 1947 when he succeeded Mr. Max R. Sloan, as assessment commissioner.

Upon the retirement of Mr. Henry, Mr. Sloan was appointed to the head of that civic department with Mr. Graham as his chief aide.

Mr. Graham assumed the duties of assessment commissioner with all the advantages of knowledge of the building trades and property values.

In the absence of Mayor Ovens, who was in Toronto today, Ald. Max Swanston, chairman of the finance committee, said: "Mr. Graham had the respect and confidence of every member of the city council. I believe that in the same degree he held the confidence of the property owners and taxpayers. That was indicated by the comparatively few appeals of assessment to the Court of Revision last year. At the present time, the assessment rolls have been completed for 1949 taxation, and there is just the average number of appeals. For that reason the council was entirely satisfied with the work of Mr. Graham's department. Nothing had occurred to cause any doubt.

Work Was Heavy

"Everybody knew that the assessment work had increased greatly with the annexations which have taken place in the last few years, but even at that everything appeared to be going smoothly, and, to repeat, there was no cause for doubt about the assessment department. It may be though, that the heavier work did weigh upon Mr. Graham more than was realized. All that I can say is simply that it was well done, and the council's confidence in Mr. Graham's ability had not changed in any way. His death will be a serious loss to the assessment department, particularly in regard to property records and general information which he had helped to accumulate during and since the time of Mr. Henry and Mr. Sloan.

BERT GRAHAM

"Everybody who knew Bert Graham liked him for his friendly personality and fine character. The council will in its own way express its sympathy to the members of Mr. Graham's family."

At the conclusion of the finance committee meeting Monday, Oct. 16, Mayor Ovens told the council that he thought Mr. Graham was not in good health and did not look as well as usual. His Worship suggested that he be given two or three weeks' vacation for rest. He had a holiday after completing the assessment work for this year. The council agreed, and it was understood that Mr. Graham should take any additional time off which he wished. He was in Toronto last Saturday and called on Mr. Sloan who is now with the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs. They had lunch together in Cobourg on Monday, as Mr. Sloan had a number of appointments in this district, and had reached Bancroft. Police called him at 2 a.m. Thursday morning to enquire whether he had seen Mr. Graham that day.

Bert Graham was educated at the Collegiate Institute, was engaged for years with his father in the contracting business, and for several years, also, he was employed as a carpenter at the Lamacque Mines, Val d'Or, in northern Quebec. His appointment as assessment commissioner took effect August 1, 1947.

He was a member of St. John's Anglican Church, was scoutmaster some years ago of its troop of Boy Scouts, was president of St. John's A.Y.P.A., and was also identified prominently with the district Young People's Association, and was made a life member of the St. John's group.

He was a former superintendent of the Sunday School, and was subsequently a sidesman of the church. Those interests through his youth and into his manhood were characteristic of Mr. Graham, of the sincerity of his nature and of the personal qualities which his host of friends admired.

He leaves his wife and stepson, Paul A. Moore, his brothers, Harold, Charles and Norman of this city, and his sister, Mrs. C. E. (Ada) Stanton. He was predeceased only a month ago by his brother, Percy Graham of the Birdsall section of Asphodel. The funeral will be Friday at 2.30 p.m. from the family residence, 610 George St., north, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

The service will be conducted by Archdeacon W. P. Robertson of St. John's Church.

Five Remanded

MILTON, Ont., Oct. 21—(CP).—Five youths were remanded for a week when they appeared in police court Wednesday on charges of assault while armed, attempted robbery and car theft. They were captured by police in a lonely farmhouse near Lindsay, Ont., after the shooting of a Bronte druggist and the theft of a car.

Abbott Asks Tax Pacts To Strengthen Autonomy

QUEBEC, Oct. 21—(CP).—Finance Minister Abbott said today that the Federal Government, in concluding taxation agreements with the provinces, was seeking to strengthen rather than lessen provincial autonomy. "No one more than myself desires the preservation of the fundamental principles on which our Dominion is based," said Mr. Abbott in a speech prepared for delivery at a meeting of Quebec insurance agents. He spoke in French.

"No one more than myself or my Cabinet colleagues is more aware of the number of tasks that best can be accomplished at the provincial level," he said.

He and his colleagues were aware that the "very existence of a sane democracy in this country depends on the existence of strong and virile local and provincial governments."

Need Financial Solidarity

"But real autonomy and true freedom of action only come with financial solidarity and financial stability. Our aim has been to increase the provinces financial strength — only foundation for independent and autonomous government.

"All our efforts in the taxation field tended to remove obstacles assuring provincial governments stable revenues regardless of the economic situation."

Mr. Abbott recalled that all provinces except Ontario and Quebec have signed taxation agreements with the Dominion since 1946.

The seven provinces which signed could plan for the duration of the five-year agreements with the knowledge that revenues from major tax sources would not fall below the minimum figures set by the Dominion.

"All that was accomplished without any modification in the fundamental constitutional position of any of the contracting parties," he said. "No province gave up the slightest morsel of its constitutional right."

An official American spokesman told a press conference the new compromise was "acceptable" and "satisfactory." The "Little Six" had tackled the Berlin problem "in a very constructive and statesmanlike manner."

Watch Optimism

He added a warning, however, against too much optimism until the Russian attitude became known.

Neutral sources said the resolution provided for:

1. An appeal to the four powers to make no move which might lead to war.

2. A call to Russia to lift the Berlin blockade.

3. The four powers to put into action the Moscow pact making the Soviet-sponsored mark Berlin's sole currency under four-power control.

4. Raising the blockade within 48 hours after approval of the resolution. The Foreign Ministers' Council to meet immediately afterward to discuss all German problems.

The proposal, climaxing two weeks of behind-the-scenes manoeuvres won qualified acceptance as a basis for discussion from both sides.

Official sources said Britain, the United States and France agreed it might form a basis for settlement. Some quarters said the resolution was "eminently satisfactory" to the western powers.

Russian delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky was reported by one neutral source to have given his conditional approval to the plan. There was no confirmation of this from the Soviet delegation or any other source but Vishinsky agreed to send the draft to Moscow for study.

Recommendations

One neutral source said the proposal might win (Russian) support by presenting the points as recommendations rather than as demands.

This source said the plan does not call on Russia to accept the jurisdiction of the security council in the Berlin case. The Russians have refused to recognize the council's jurisdiction in this case. The way would be left open for the four powers to act outside the U.N.

The premier of one of the security council's neutral members meanwhile declared Russia is the most imperialist country in the world.

Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium, former president of the U.N. general assembly, told a specialist party meeting in Brussels that "Russia is voluntarily paralyzing United Nations action, making any progress toward lasting peace almost impossible."

scratching at the door and found the boy. They gave him a good meal and watched him gulp it down. He refused to explain what had happened to him and the Davies called police.

Mrs. James Marlowe, also of suburban Mount Dennis, whose blonde son Richard disappeared at the age of nine in 1944, was asked if she could identify Gordon. She said the lad was so emaciated and unkempt that she could not be sure that it was not her son.

After examining the boy for more than ½ hour she sobbed:

"I don't know, I just don't know."

The boy has been removed to Toronto Psychiatric Hospital for examination.

Weighs 65 Pounds

He weighed only 65 pounds. His cheeks were drawn and sunken and he had the old-young look of children in European starvation camps.

As he recounted his tale to police it became more and more incredible but investigating officers said they were impressed with the boy's sincerity. He said he could not read and could write only a little. He had never been to school.

"You don't need to worry any more," a newspaper man told him. "You won't be going back to that house. You'll go to school now and play like other children."

The boy's expression did not change but tears welled in his eyes and rolled down his hollow cheeks.

Can't Identify Him

Mrs. Marlowe, who hurried to an east-central children's shelter in the hope that the half-starved boy might be her missing son, said: "His hair is so long and his skin in such bad condition that I can' even find the place where I know Richard had a scar on the temple."

Richard disappeared July 18, 1944 from his Mount Dennis home. His mother had gone to a moving picture that night but Richard stayed home with a young friend. Later in the evening Richard crossed the street and walked home with his friend. They said good night and Richard turned home. He has not been seen since.

When his mother returned she found Richard's brother asleep but no sign of the younger child.

More Hydro Cuts For Toronto

TORONTO, Oct. 21—(CP).—Afternoon cuts in Hydro for at least two days next week will be added to the hour-long interruptions every week-day morning, Mayor Hiram McCallum stated today.

Toronto exceeded its quota yesterday by 172,060 kilowatt hours, and Mayor McCallum said the present morning cuts of 60 minute should not be lengthened in an attempt to keep the city's power consumption down to quota.

Asphodel Car Case Dismissed With Costs

The Hon. Mr. Justice Wilson adjourned the Supreme Court non-jury sittings at about 7 p.m on Wednesday. The first case was heard on Monday afternoon.

The majority of cases were for divorce.

Before adjourning he dismissed a damage action by William H. Covert and his wife Nora against Basil Vincent Gallivan and his wife Marie as a result of a car accident on the third concession of Asphodel, Sept. 14, 1947.

The action was dismissed without damages.

Try Two Convicts In Kingston Murder

KINGSTON, Oct. 21.—(CP). — Two murder trials and a rape case are scheduled to be heard before Mr. Justice Keiller Mackay at Frontenac County Fall Assizes of the Supreme Court of Ontario which begin Monday. The lengthy court docket also lists five civil jury cases, 15 divorce actions, one marriage annulment action and seven other civil non-jury cases.

Two Kingston Penitentiary convicts, Austin Craft, 46, Hamilton, and Howard Urquhart, 21, Toronto, will be tried for the murder of John D. Kennedy, penitentiary messenger who was shot to death near the prison's main gate, April 26 this year. They are listed on the court docket under separate informations. They may be tried separately or jointly, depending on decision of the court, crown and defence counsel.

Gilbert J. Robinson, 23, Barriefield, is charged with raping a 13-year-old girl at a place called "Red Rock" near Barriefield Camp on March 8.

Developing Resistance To Pest-Killing DDT

TORONTO, Oct. 21.—(CP). — Pest-killing DDT did not seem to work as well last summer as in other years and Wednesday delegations to the National Pest Control Association convention tried to discover the reason.

Dr. F. C. Bishop, assistant chief of the United States Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine in Washington, suggested that flies may develop a resistance to the preparation. The same thing was found to apply to other insects, he said.

An eyewitness said Mrs. Rohrs' clothes were on fire when she was dragged out of the plane. "They pulled her clothes off and beat out the flames," he said.

Held By Flames

John Adams, a miner who was one of the first of the rescuers to reach the scene, said the flames and heat prevented rescuers from reaching the trapped passengers.

Another eyewitness, William Burton of Tarbolton, said: "At the scene I heard one of the injured crying 'Kill me, kill me.' Most of the injured were terribly burned."

The London office of the Lockheed Corporation, manufacturers of the Constellation, said it had been informed from Prestwick that the pilot overshot the airport runway in the mist as he made one run at the field.

The airport and villages in the surrounding area were plunged into darkness after the plane struck the high tension wire. The plane later ploughed through telephone wires, disrupting communications.

The disaster was one of the worst in Britain's civil aviation history. Thirty-nine persons were killed last July 4 when an R.A.F. York transport plane collided with a Swedish airliner over London.

Honor Newlyweds

MARMORA, Oct. 21—(ENS)—About 65 friend and neighbors assembled at the home of Mrs. Anson Deline Monday evening to honor Mr. Warden Deline and his bride with a miscellaneous shower. Prior to the presentation of gifts the Rev. G. H. Bache read an address of congratulation and best wishes. Miss June Walker led in games. Mrs. Wesley Cuddy played guitar accompaniment for singing. Refreshments were served at the close.

Hogs were steady. Grade A $31.50; grade B1 $31.10. Sows were $23.50 dressed.

Lambs were steady at $22 for good ewes and wethers with $1 discount on bucks. Sheep were $5-$9.

Farmers, Dairies Can't Agree On Milk Price

TORONTO, Oct. 21. — Representatives of the Ontario Milk Distributors' Association — the dairies — and the Whole Milk Producers' League — the farmers — failed to reach any agreement yesterday as to what price the latter are to receive for their product when the current contract runs out this month.

The meeting was adjourned until Friday. In the meantime, the producers will meet today with the Toronto milk distributors to discuss a contract for this city.

Dairies in Toronto are now paying $4.05 per hundredweight for fluid milk and $2.90 for secondary milk, which is used for processing. In other parts of Southern Ontario the price is $3.90 for fluid and $2.90 for secondary milk.

The producers, it is understood, instead of bargaining for price, are offering a new plan of sale by which they hope to obtain a greater return for their product without upsetting the present basic price. While details of this plan were not divulged, it is believed to have something to do with the secondary milk.

Have Own Plan

There is feeling among the farmers that any milk not sold for fluid purposes should be processed by their organization, and in that way they'll receive much higher returns for all the milk they produce.

There is such a great percentage of the milk classified as secondary that the average received by the farmer is near $3.50 per hundredweight.

The distributors are hoping to maintain the present price in an effort to avert any increase to the consumer. They are working on such a narrow margin now, they insist, that if they have to pay more to the farmer the increase will be reflected in the retail price. Milk is now selling at 18 cents per quart in Toronto.

Base Metals Continue To Lead On Exchange

TORONTO, Oct. 21 — (CP). — Base metals continued ahead for the fourth successive day on the Toronto Stock Exchange, as trading slackened considerably from Wednesday's heavy session. Industrials showed a slightly stronger tone and golds were narrowly better.

In industrials a few selected issues touched new highs in early trading as a wide range of stocks showed narrow changes. Brazilian Traction was down ¾ and Canadian Vickers dipped a point.

Base metals climbed slowly ahead on some strong advances. Consolidated Smelters, Noranda, Pend Oreille, Reeves MacDonald sold at new highs in forenoon trading but slipped slightly from the high later in the day.

Golds brightened in quiet action as key issues showed mild advances. McIntyre added ¾ and Kerr Addison and Bralorne also gained in seniors. San Antonio, Preston, Pickle Crow and Leitch were strong juniors while Nicholson traded heavily for a slight loss.

The Case Of The French Collaborators

A great deal has been appearing in the papers about the four Frenchmen, now resident in Quebec, who are said to be wanted in France for trial as collaborators with the Germans. It looks as though these men had been admitted to Canada under improper circumstances, but as all the details of the case are not available to the public we have no intention of expressing a determined opinion on the matter. But we are curious to know who it is in France who wants these men returned. The dispatches from Paris which have been appearing in the Canadian papers refer only to "high sources", and "sources close to the French Ministry of the Interior". No names are mentioned, and the first French official to concern himself with the matter has been the Ambassador at Ottawa, M. Francisque Gay, who has done no more than to suggest that the supposed collaborators return to France. They have, it appears, been tried and found guilty, and by French law they will be tried again if they return. M. Gay has said that the French Government has sought no extradition of these men, and his "suggestion" is just that—no more.

* * *

There is something extremely fishy about this whole business, and one of the fishiest things about it is the fuss that has been raised in Canada, supposedly at the instigation of unnamed "high sources" in France. If the French Government wanted to discuss this matter with Canadian officials both Mr. King and Mr. St. Laurent are in London, and could have been reached with ease. Or the French Government could have instructed M. Gay to make official representations to the proper people at Ottawa. But instead we have these rumours of "high official" interest in the matter, and nothing concrete to work on. Until the French Government declares itself we cannot see that the Canadian Government is under any obligation to act.

Control Of Atomic Energy

The most important matter of long-term significance now before the Assembly of U.N. and the Security Council is the international control of atomic energy. Everybody wants a control established but no agreement has been reached on how it is to be effected. The third and last report of the U.N. Atomic Energy Control Commission reported months ago that an impasse has been reached. That is the reason the matter is now before the Assembly.

Russia wants atomic treaties. It has proposed that all existing stocks of atomic bombs should be destroyed, that the bomb be outlawed, and that a control organization be set up. According to the Russian plan these are to be done simultaneously or in quick sequence. The proposal would sound reasonable if the Russians were reasonable and could be trusted. Unfortunately, they have demonstrated in the past three years that they are not reasonable and trustworthy, except in a Machiavellian sense.

Nine out of the eleven present members of the Atomic Energy Control Commission have endorsed the American plan. It calls for the formation of an International Atomic Energy Authority which would own all the uranium and thorium in trust for the nations of the world from the time these substances are taken from the ground. The authority would control the mining of these ores, their production and distribution for civil use. There would be a licensing and inspection system. After the control had been fully established in all its stages, the manufacture of bombs would cease and the existing stocks would be destroyed.

The recent resolution that the whole matter be taken out of the purview of U.N. and negotiated by the "Big Five" and Canada seems more practical than keeping it before the unwieldy U.N. Assembly. The smaller group may be more forceful in persuading Russia to change her views. The force should be irresistible, for as General A. G. L. McNaughton reminds us in the Toronto Saturday Night, the two bombs dropped on Japan killed 115,000 people and injured 110,000 others, and now the bombs are far more effective and the U.S. has many. Perhaps the Russians hope to stall along until they have a stock of atomic weapons, and to depend on our acting in a Christian way. We shall not always turn the other cheek, and while Russia stalls, Britain, Canada and the U.S. are not letting the nuclear energy cool.

The Atomic Energy Commission of U.N. whose activities have been suspended since the submission of its third report and the deadlock between East and West, has been re-authorized at the insistence of the middle powers at U.N. Thus, if the "Big Five" reach a political agreement on atomic energy, the Commission will be available for technical and administrative work. It is an indication that hope has not been abandoned.

Legal Training At Osgoode Hall

An article which appeared recently in the Toronto morning paper asserted that there was a good deal of dissatisfaction among the law students at Osgoode Hall with the training which they receive there. This is of interest to the whole of Ontario, for Osgoode Hall is our law school, and the professional training of our lawyers is a matter of public concern; the men who are trained in Osgoode Hall handle our affairs, represent us in the courts and, in some cases, reach the dignity of the bench; furthermore, they provide us with many of our politicians. If they are not receiving the sort of training which they should have, the public wants to know about it, and wants the matter set right.

So far, however, the complaints boil down to assertions that the students of law have to work harder than they think proper, and that their examinations are conducted with a severity which they consider excessive. Whether they deserve public sympathy is very much in doubt. The law student must gain at least a nodding acquaintance with many complex branches of jurisprudence and —perhaps his most important job—he has to learn where to find complete information on points of law when he needs it. In addition, he must learn the routine of legal practice, and he must learn the very important business of settling other people's affairs without ruinously neglecting his own.

Admittedly this is a hard grind, but is it any harder than the training of a physician? Are there not many professions which demand intensive study, and weary hours of devilling for superiors before they are mastered? And who are likely to be the best judges of examination standards—the instructors at the law school, or the students who have failed to pass the tests?

If there is something really wrong with Osgoode Hall, let us hear about it by all means, but let us hear no suggestion that the standards of an important profession should be lowered merely because some men cannot meet them as they stand at present.

Hum Hoy

Many citizens of Peterborough, we think, will have felt a pang of regret as they read the news of the death of Hum Hoy. He was our leading Chinese citizen, active in many good works for the betterment of our city, and a good friend to many of us, young and old. The fine trait of hospitality, for which his race is famous, was amply represented in him, and in all things he was a man of goodwill. After long years of work in Canada he was preparing to return to his homeland when the illness which caused his death overtook him, and he died with that great desire unfulfilled.

As we think of him we cannot escape some feeling of guilt. For too long the laws bearing upon the residence of Chinese in Canada were bitterly unjust, and they are far from liberal at this moment. Yet under these laws this man lived among us, interesting himself in our charities, and bringing to our notice whenever he could the distresses and the needs of the people of China. In a city such as this his people could not have had a better spokesman.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Of course money talks, but it is smarter at saying "goodbye" than "hello".

An Ohio farmer has been struck by lightning for the fifth time in thirty days. Lovers of old sayings will be glad to know, however, that he was never struck twice in the same place.

A woman who died in a charity ward recently was discovered to have had $128,000 with her in a money belt. The fact that it was found by a nurse after her demise lends new weight to the saying, "You can't take it with you"

From The Critic's Notebook

THE WILD SWEET WITCH by Philip Woodruff (Clarke, Irwin & Company) is a better than average novel about the movement for self-government among the hill people of India. Apparently English novelists expect their readers to be acquainted with the poets, and this title will not suggest a love story to those who are. The Wild Sweet Witch symbolizes the dreams of our youth, which lie dead at our feet just as we seem about to realize them, a symbol which occurs in one of Francis Thompson's poems. This is not a poetic novel, but one concerned with violence and adventure. The dream belongs to a young Indian fanatic Jodh Singh, the pivotal character in an artistically told story.

Part one begins with his grandfather's emergence from a remote hill tribe, to become the faithful servant of the English district commissioner of 1875. This man succeeds in having his son educated, and he in turn prospers and begets Jodh Singh, who is educated at Lucknow University and returns to his home province of Garhwal to become an agitator against the English government. The second and third parts of the novel deal with events in the life of Jodh Singh and the district commissioners in the years, 1923 and 1938. His adversaries in the British Indian Service are very well drawn, and behind them we are given a picture of a wonderfully integrated organization, of which the writer has been a part, no doubt. There are only two women in the story, the wives of commissioners, who represent the English middle class, and are certainly God's superior creations. But they are merely symbols. It is the men who enact the drama of struggle between British and Indian, Congressman and Dom. This eternal conflict between castes is one of the points on which the hero is broken, and implies many years of struggle before India will have internal peace. Singh's downfall is tied in with the legend of a man-eating panther, which tribal superstition believes to be a man by day. At first a hero among them, because he has been the leader of a successful strike against forced labour imposed by the British, Jodh Singh, with his wrong-headed recklessness, and his inflammable temper insults the wrong people and gradually as fear replaces confidence in him, he is identified with the dreaded panther, as a warlock. This is the final blow, leading to a dramatic climax in which Jodh Singh dies a few years before the British withdrawal. Hence the Wild Sweet Witch.

Unlike so many novels with a background of social struggle, this is a legitimate novel, not a tract. It is written in good sound prose, perhaps not distinguished, but free from sloppiness, and in a straightforward style. The people are kept in the foreground, and the social situation in the background, where it belongs to a novel. This story has a decidedly masculine flavour. H.T.K.

ONE CLEAR CALL, by Upton Sinclair (Macmillan). Like many another reviewer I have reached the point where I have nothing whatever to say about Mr. Sinclair's marathon novel in which he recounts the adventures of Lanny Budd among the great ones of the earth. This is the ninth volume in the series, and I am quite incapable of comparing it with its forerunners. There does not appear to me to be any dramatic rise or fall to these books: Lanny, the rich young man who rushes about the world as an art expert (but in reality a wonderfully powerful envoy of the late F. D. Roosevelt) meets Hitler, Mussolini, Goering — anybody you care to name in the international world, and then reports to his boss, F.D.R., who seems to be highly impressed with Lanny, and asks him such questions as "What are we going to do about Berlin?" In spite of all the labour that goes into these novels I cannot see anything in them except a painfully elaborated pipe-dream, likely to confuse the mind of any reader who takes it seriously. R.D.

IT TOOK NINE TAILORS, by Adolphe Menjou and M. M. Musselman (McGraw-Hill). This is the life-story of one of the most popular actors that the screen has ever known; Adolphe Menjou made his first appearance in pictures in 1913, and he looks good for another twenty years, at least. The title of his book refers, of course, to the old proverb "It takes nine tailors to make a man"—a reference to Mr. Menjou's reputation as an elaborate and striking dresser. It might be said, in deprecation of such modesty, that it takes a good deal more than nine tailors to make an actor of his charm and versatility... The M. M. Musselman who is named a co-author of this amusing book is, we presume, a sort of literary valet to Mr. Menjou — a presser of baggy prose and a remover of spots from literary lapels. One always wonders, in a book of this kind, how much work the collaborator really does. Actors were rarely good writers, and there is a professional finish about this book which suggests that Mr. Musselman did most of the work on it. He has, in a sense, created the character of Adolphe Menjou, in which his principal makes such an agreeable appearance. R.D.

ROUND 'BOUT SUN-UP by William Black Crieghton (Ryerson). I have often wondered why Canadians don't read essays. English periodicals of the better sort regularly contain delightful essays on every topic from goldfish to Goethe. This collection of "memories" belongs to the "folksy" school of journalism, but no matter how informal a writer is going to be, it is his duty to his readers to be literate at least. In one essay of three pages in this book the word "rather" is repeated as an adjective three times on one page. I stopped counting the word "thing", a poor excuse for a noun in the first place, when its use can be avoided.

These "memories" are about the writer's boyhood on an Ontario farm, and they clear up the question of why people avoid what look like essays. These are an unreasonable facsimile. H.T.K.

Letter To The Editor

HOSPITAL A BUSINESS VENTURE

Sir: "Where no counsel is, the people fall: but in the multitude of counsellors there is safety." Proverbs XI: 14.

Some years ago when I was a member of the Board of Education, we found that we were losing a number of our best teachers to the larger cities and inquiry through their friends and relatives indicated that the salary and other conditions were not as good as was given in the larger cities. A review of the situation with the Inspector and the late Dr. Kenner impressed the Board with the necessity of increasing the salaries and in this way, we succeeded in keeping our teachers to a considerable extent.

In order that the hospitals may obtain and keep high-class nurses-in-training and nurses, there must be adequate arrangements made for their residence. The nurses' work, like the school teachers, is arduous and exacting. The qualities required of nurses are very high and if it is expected to maintain a high standard of quality in the nursing profession, adequate arrangements must be made for their care and rest.

St. Joseph's Hospital has erected a nurses' residence which is a credit to the city and the Civic Hospital will require to do the same.

The Civic Hospital is now based upon a plan of equality to everyone and is not in competition with St. Joseph's Hospital. The hospitals are supplementary to each other, and in view of the fact that management, labour, businessmen and all men and women who understand the needs of the committee are supporting the plan for increased hospitalization, we should support the development of the Civic Hospital.

Inquiry has recently been made to me as to why it was not necessary to take a vote of the ratepayers for the increased expenditures required for the Civic Hospital. The fact is that there are three methods of obtaining assent to municipal expenditures: one is a vote of the ratepayers, another is an application to a judicial body known as the Ontario Municipal Board, and the third is before another Court of Justice known as the Private Bills Committee of the Ontario Legislature which hears the application and any objections and reports to the Legislature.

As I said before, with the rapid development and growth of the city and district, I feel that there need be no apprehension on the part of the people of the city as to the ability of the hospital to pay for itself. While it is described as a civic enterprise, it is really a business undertaking involving the interests of the people with the radius of about 35 miles and which is one of the wealthiest and most progressive districts in all Canada.

Yours truly,
G. N. GORDON.

Autumn Meditation

There is a time for activity, a time for delving into tested books and a time for listening to great music. When autumn's mellow interlude caresses northern hills and valleys and nature's paintbrush is applying the first tentative strikes of scarlet, russet and gold, comes the time when it is good to sit alone for a spell on an open upland ridge.

With one's back against a sun-warmed boulder and a panorama of fields, meadows, river and distant hills one can forget for a period the tensions of a taut world. There is beauty in nature during all seasons; each has its chords that echo in the heart of him who is sensitive. But an autumn afternoon offers the ultimate, perhaps, when one wants to sit alone. There is relaxing warmth in the air; the bees and insects hum as they work the asters and goldenrod. Bluejays bugle from the woodlot and chickadees chant from clumps of gray birches.

In the valley below, the willow-laced river reflects silver flashes from the sun. The long-drawn lonesome whistle of the train floats thinly to the uplands. There's the faint hollow song of a tractor crawling across a field, unwinding brown ribbons of earth. A solitary crow lights in the elm above the pasture spring and half-heartedly protests the ending of the season. Minutes and hours tick by. Here on the highland above the countryside time becomes part of life. Tens of millions of years ago these mountains and valleys were heaved, tossed and kneaded by primal forces. A few thousand years ago they were sand-papered and scraped by a great ice sheet. The turning year sends the time to rest, the time of growth and the miracle of new life. Sitting still alone on a hilltop gives a man oportunity to reset his sights in line with the great forces.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Saul, yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest, and desired of him letters to Damascus to the synagogues, that if he found any of this way, whether they were men or women, he might bring them bound unto Jerusalem.

And as he journeyed, he came near Damascus: and suddenly there shined round about him a light from heaven: and he fell to the earth, and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, why persecutest thou me? And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest: it is hard for thee to kick against the pricks. And he trembling and astonished said, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do....

And Saul arose from the earth; and when his eyes were opened, he saw no man: but they led him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus....And there was a certain disciple at Damascus, named Ananias; and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, I am here, Lord. And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the street which is called Straight, and enquire in the house of Judas for one called Saul, of Tarus: for, behold, he prayeth, and hath seen in a vision a man name Ananias coming in, and putting his hand on him, that he might receive his sight....

And Ananias went his way, and entered into the house; and putting his hands on him said, Brother Saul, the Lord, even Jesus, that appeared unto thee in the way as thou camest, hath sent me that thou mightest receive thy sight, and be filled with the Holy Ghost. And immediately there fell from his eyes as it had been scales: and he received sight forthwith, and arose, and was baptized. (Acts 9: 1-6, 8, 10-12, 17, 18.)

Lakefield Firsts Edge Trinity College

PORT HOPE, Oct. 21 — Trinity College School thirds, weakened by the loss of two star half-backs, were edged 16-15, by Lakefield firsts.

After a scoreless first quarter Southam opened the scoring with a major for TCS which was not converted. Then Lakefield took fire, scoring twice, with Arnoldi and Frost carrying the ball for majors.

Both these touchdowns were converted by Withers who also kicked a field goal. The score stood at 15-5 at the half for the Grove. TCS started off the second half with a determined bid. Southam and Bangard tallied, but neither touch was converted. Thus there was a 15-15 tie at three-quarter time.In the dying minutes Burns kicked a single to ice the game for Lakefield.

Lakefield: Easson, Drew, Frost, Boyd, Arnoldi, Withers, Gibson, Wilkes, Hill, Laroque, Sterling, Clarke, McCullock, Bruns, Stevens, Grewin.

Election Dec. 6

COBOURG, Oct. 21 —(ENS)— Town Clerk John Ewart has posted notice that election day will be on Monday December 6 and that the usual nomination day will be November 26. Except for the announcement of Mayor Joe Smith that he will seek a second term of office, the election pot has hardly started to simmer.

Buy Second Plow

COBOURG, Oct. 21 —(ENS)— Cobourg will have a second snow plow by the time winter rolls around, Town Engineer Clare Saunders said yesterday. Council has placed an order for plowing equipment to be attached to the new truck and it is expected to be here before the first heavy snow arrives. The extra plow will shorten the time spent on keeping the streets of the town open to traffic.

Third Generator Is Urged For Power Plant

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 21. — An editorial in Wednesday's edition of the Campbellford Herald has disturbed somewhat the complacency of Campbellford citizens regarding their municipality-owned power plant.

The editorial said in part: "The town of Campbellford, owing to growth and new housing, is drawing more and more electric power from the resources of their power plant yearly. The year will soon be at hand, if action is not taken, in which the present capacity of the plant will be reached, then exceeded."

"As a result of the growing needs of Campbellford, which has first call on their own resources, the amount of power which we can sell the Hydro is dwindling. We must bear in mind that it is good business to seell power to the Hydro; it is better business to sell it back to ourselves in Campbellford, partitcularly as an attraction for new industries to move in; it is better business to increase the capacity of our plant so that we can accomplish both of these important objetcives, to as vast an extent as possible"

The editorial continued: "It is readily agreed by those who know, that Campbellford's power plant offers the possibility of the installation of a third generator. This move, we know, has been under consideration for somes time, and of laate appears to be a 'must' for the future. We urge that the time to instal the third generator is now, without any undue delay. We know that the job is a large one, that equipment is still scarce and that the undertaking is not one which could be completed in a short time. But the situation is such that should one generator break down at the present time, the plant could not supply our needs. The people of Campbellford, we feel sure, would welcome such a move. The people of Campbellford want to continue as long as they can to sell electric power to the Hydro. They do not want to find themselves in the situation of having to buy from the Hydro at any future date."

Hold Farewell Party

ROSENEATH, Oct. 21.—(ENS). —Mrs. E. Sandercock and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sandercock held a family party for Charles Sandercock Sr. before he left for his home at Markinch, Sask., after a visit of some weeks here.

Mr. Sandercock, one of seven sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Sandercock of Alnwick Township, went to Western Canada 45 years ago, and had not visited his native township for 39 years.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Isaac and Betty of Harwood, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shaw and Heather Lynn of Cobourg, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Robins, Doris, Beverly, Donald and Marie Robins, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Sandercock, Marjorie and Helen Sandercock of Roseneath.

Hydro Output Jumps 2540 kwh

COBOURG, Oct. 21 —(ENS)— For some unexplained reason, Cobourg's electrical consumption jumped on Tuesday to 2,540 kwh. more than the quota of 32,000 kwh. Up until then the town has done a good job keeping within the quota. There is no cut-off in the town on Tuesday because on that date the CGE does not operate and the saving by that means, has usually been enough to keep inside the quota. Just why the consumption should jump on Tuesday is one of those things for which no explanation is available other than a general laxity by the public in observing power economy measures.

CWL Donates $50

HASTINGS, Oct. 21 —(ENS)— The October meeting of the Hastings subdivision of the Catholic Women's League was held in the Parish Hall on Wednesday.

The president, Mrs. J. Powers presided. Mrs. Molly Herr gave the secretary's report and Mrs. B. Lynch read the treasurer's report.

The members voted unanimous for a gift of $50 to be given to the Sisters of St. Joseph, who have charge of the convent here.

Plans were made to hold euchres each week for the fall season.

After a social half hour the meeting adjourned.

Veteran Dies

QUEBEC, Oct. 21.—(CP).—Lt.-Col. J. A. Y. Bouchard, well-known uebec businessman, a veteran of both world wars and a former officer of both the 22nd and Chaudiere Regiments, died here Wednesday night. He was 48 years old.

Mayor Joe Smith To Run Again

COBOURG, Oct. 21 —(ENS)— Mayor Joseph Smith yesterday announced that he would run for mayor again in December. Usually aspirants for municipal honors in Cobourg leave any announcement of their intentions until the last moment and Mayor Smith's declaration sets something of a record for the town. He was elected mayor for the first time last year and he said yesterday that he would seek a second term but would not be in the running for a third term.

Nobody else in the council has declared his intentions as yet and whether the mayor will be opposed is still an unsettled question. It is considered possible that the rest of the council will shortly inform the public on their election ambitions, now that the mayor's hat is in the ring.

Took Weekenders Toronto To Haliburton Taxi Company Fined In Lindsay Court

LINDSAY, Oct. 21.—In the first case of its kind in Ontario, the Star Taxi Co. of Toronto was found guilty of an infraction of the Ontario Vehicles Act in police court here Tuesday. Magistrate E. A. Gee imposed a fine of $25 and $25.50 costs.

According to evidence given by two inspectors of the department of highways, the taxi company was transporting regular weekend loads of holidayers from Toronto to Minden and other points in Haliburton county.

An investigation was made following complaints that taxis had no legal rights to be operated in such a "load-carrying" way Michael Doyle of Toronto appeared for the company, while Crown Attorney L. W. Jordan prosecuted for the department of highways.

Visits From Yukon

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 21. — (ENS).—Sgt. Vernon Shaw, an old Campbellford boy, who for the past two years has been posted with the Canadian Army Dental Corps at Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, is visiting here on annual leave. Sgt. Shaw made the long trip from Whitehorse, which is about 1,000 miles north of Edmonton, by air.

Sues Motorist For $5,250

COBOURG, Oct. 21 —(ENS)— The civil docket was started yesterday in assize court before Mr. Justice Chevrier and will possibly run into next week. The assizes opened on Oct. 12 but the two motor manslaughter cases occupied the attention of court until yesterday morning.

The first civil case is one of two jury actions and is a claim for damages arising out of a traffic accident which took place near Bowmanville last March. The plaintiff, Austin Brown of Bowmanville is suing Alfred and Walter Morris of the same town for damages amounting to $5,250. Plaintiff alleges that he was struck by a car while he was on foot.

Three Hot Wrestling Bouts Keep Large Crowd Excited

Three redhot pro grapple bouts at the Brock Arena last night kept a large crowd excited for more than two hours. Also, there was a fist fight between a couple of fans at one intermission that created a lot of excitement, and some police action. The big gathering, by the noise created, indicated it was one of the livelier mat cards seen here in some time.

The main bout between the Masked Marvel, weighing 249, and Wild Bill Longson—240-pound former world's champion—went to a draw in the one-hour time limit. But at the finish of a furious bout with both roughing it plenty, the Mask had to jump out of the ring after the bell as Longson persisted in trying to pull off his hood. He had it half off with the crowd yelling on their feet around the ring, and the referee taking a beating, but Bill couldn't quite finish him off in the time allotted.

Longson Won

Longson had taken the second fall in about eight minutes with a pile-driver hold. He first worked on the Marvel's left arm as he proved a wily mat veteran to offset the Mask's youth and extra weight. Both were plenty rough but Bill drew most of the applause. The Mask tried to garrot him with a towel but Bill grabbed it from him and threw him out of the ring. Later, with the hooded one rasping Bill's eyes with a "foreign substance," Longson had to hop the ropes to escape. He also knocked Referee Bert Maxwell, who is 258 pounds, over once as they really opened it up and threw the book at each other to the fans' delight.

It took 24 minutes for the Mask to win the first fall as he used a double leglock, aided by the ropes for leverage, reversing Longson who had hit him with a flying body scissors. Bill had used it before effectively but had trouble trying to pin the tough Marvel. The latter roughed it up plenty, but Longson also knew all the answers and threw his opponent once out of the ring and kept the referee on the jump as he threw fists and elbows into the rugged rival. The crowd liked the action but were pulling for the not-so-gentle Longson all through the hot struggle.

Ben Good Too

Big Ben Morgan, the 320-pound Tennessee toughie, beat Pat Flanagan, at 223, but lost the semi-final bout when the referee, peeved at being knocked over by Ben, awarded it to Pat. It was a dandy duel with a lot of action. Pat was outclassed by the powerful Morgan, but occasionally got in there for brief flurries with fists and elbows. He was faster but no match for his opponent and was lucky to last, against several bear hugs, the 17 minutes it went. Big Ben was rough as well as large and he banged the trigger-tempered Irisher around almost at will. The crowd was quite happy when Flanagan got it on the referee's decision, Maxwell being het up when Ben brushed him casually to the floor for interfering.

A fine prelim went to a half-hour draw between handsome Ben Sharpe, scaling 237, and George Becker, who weighs 224 pounds. The crowd was divided on cheers for this one as the taller Ben is popular but George proved a fast, clean grappler, and made it a real go. They mixed fast and showed plenty of stuff, only roughing it up briefly in spots. Once Ben was warned for using a choke hold and later Becker got the finger for throwing a fist, but generally it was clean and fast with a wide variety of holds and breaks dished up by two well-built wrestlers on the way up. It was a good start to a good show.

Tigers Fatten OHA Lead,

By The Canadian Press

The famed "old men of the mountain" did it again Wednesday night.

Hamilton Tigers fattened their lead in the senior Ontario Hockey Association race by besting the youthful Toronto Marlboros 3-2 at the Mountain city.

In the junior circuit, Stratford Kroehlers caught fire and swamped the hapless Oshawa Generals 6-0 to climb into a four-way, third-place tie while Windsor Windsor Spitfires moved into second place by defeating the cellar-dwelling Guelph Biltmores 6-1 at Windsor.

Tigers floated into a one-goal, first period lead when Tom Smelle blasted the rubber past Marlie netminder Howie Harvey on a three-way effort with Clare Shillington and Jack Birtwhistle.

The Bengals lengthened their margin to 3-0 in the second stanza with markers by Shillington and "Polly" Miocinovich.

Take Honors

Marlies two goals came in the first six minutes of the final frame. Chuck Blair and Ray Timgren took the honors.

Early in the second a fight broke out involving five players. Toronto drew three detentions and Hamilton took two. Of the 14 penalties handed out during the game, Toronto drew nine.

Stratford earned five of their goals against Oshawa before the third period. In the final stanza, Bibber O'Hearn counted on a major penalty shot. O'Hearn got the shot when Oshawa defenceman Frank Sullivan threw his stick at him while going in on goal.

Other Kroehler marksmen were: Dinny Flanagan, Pierre Cadieux, Jack MacIver, Archie Katzman and Roy Leckie.

Paced by Bert Giesbrecht, with two goals, Windsor had little trouble disposing of Guelph.

Arch Ferguson connected for Biltmores' only marker late in the second period.

George Oulette, Frank O'Grady, Glen Skov and Johnny Wilson accounted for the rest of Windsor's tallies.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor

Panthers play Orillia Bombers here Saturday at 1:15 in the Oval, an ORFU intermediate fixture. As Oakville is in Oshawa the same day—and the Raiders ought to win—this joust here is highly important to Gord Young's gang. A win for Oshawa and a local loss would leave Peterborough and Oshawa deadlocked in second place as the schedule ends. But if the battling Panthers can claw out a victory over the group-leading Bombers, then the Peterborough boys will have clinched a playoff spot. They've won their last three starts and are really rolling now, despite a few injuries in the squad. It promises to be the best grid game seen here this semester and rates a big crowd of fans.

* * * * * *

Same place, same day, but at three p.m., Albert College of Belleville tangles with the PCVS seniors in a four-point game. Bev. Goulding's bunch can make sure of a playoff position if they win, but the Albert Collegians will be trying desperately for this one as it counts double points in the standing. And they always come up with a scrappy football club. Being part of a most promising doubleheader—with Panthers and PCVS dividing the gate—this is a rugby dish as tasty as the Thanksgiving turkey and, with any break at all in the weather, should see a record grid crowd for the season in Peter's borough.

Don't You Remember?

It was just 10 years ago tomorrow at the Ex. when nearly 3,000 fans saw our ORFU senior Orfuns defeat Sarnia Imperials 3-2. With Mike Loucks carried off on players' shoulders a few minutes after he kicked an angular field goal to end a thrilling tilt. The Imps, with such aces aboard as Golab, Stirling, Hedgewick, Trepanier, Norris, France, Geary, etc., were considered a shoo-in. And in a pre-game writeup, Canadian Press said: "Orfuns make a home stand against Sarnia Imperials, who are rated to win almost as they please over the youthful and inexperienced Peterborough squad." Were the experts' faces ever red the next few days!

* * * * * *

On the Orfuns' lineup that memorable afternoon were: Marsh, Crowe, Loucks, Magee, Irwin, Hendrie, Spencely, Pulkinghorn, Curtin, McNulty, Deadey, Murphy, Krug, McIntyre, Hendren, Flack, Lambert, Shields, Winslow, Kearns, Creighton, Prete, Giardino and Grose. Of these, Spencely, Curtin and Creighton are with today's Panthers, and Magee may be playing for them Saturday. Prete is now with Sarnia, Hendren had to quit last autumn here, Deadey hung them up a year ago with Argos and Crowe is with the Beaches, though out with an injury now. Some fine footballers on that squad.

* * * * * *

Hockey, as the pros play it, can be pretty rough, too. Jack Stewart of Detroit Wings in nine years has collected 49 scars and 201 facial stitches without missing a minute of action. That's according to a Collier's sportswriter. When he gets cut, Stewart skates over to the club physician and says: "Sew fast, Doc, I'm due back on the ice." The doctor is reported to be a neat needler and only a few of Stewart's stitches show. The sewer-upper says: "Hockey cuts are clean and even. I work on a player seconds after the injury, Swelling hasn't started and the area is numb from the blow." Stewart pays $100 a season for special insurance and collects five bucks for every stitch. Says: "I've made a few bucks on the deal, but there must be easier ways to make money."

* * * * * *

Tom Wood has been transferred to Brockville and he phoned us asking to give his regards to the sports' folks he has met in his Peterborough sojourn. He was interested in basketball last spring and just lately Tom has been doing some rugby refereeing around and about. But his main interest was in umpiring ball games and he handled a lot of them here the past summer, in baseball at Riverside and softball for the girls' and men's loops at the Ashburnham Bowl. Wood says he liked it here very much but his job moves him around. He still likes the idea of forming an umpires' association in this city—though he won't be here—feeling it would benefit ball considerably.

Action In Big Gobs

A lot of customers at the Brock last p.m. saw oodles of action during the pro mat show. Not the least of it was a fist fight betwixt two fans with the law breaking it up as hundreds swarmed around. The Masked Marvel escaped in the main bout with a draw and his mask, but Wild Bill Longson did everything to get it off but use a scissors. "Say, that's an idea for some opponent to the hooded horror! Big Ben Morgan, 320-pound bearded beauty from Lookout Mountain, Tennessee—any mountain should look out for him—pounded short-tempered Pat Flanagan to a fare-thee-well but lost on a disqualification when Referee Bert Maxwell objected to being brushed off like a fly. Bert goes 258. Ben Sharpe and George Becker went to a popular draw. Three lively bouts.

Say Whipper May Get Role In Movies

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 21.—(CP).—A story, the kind of "rags-to-riches" story that Hollywood is so fond of depicting on the screen, may come true for Whipper Billy Watson, one of Canada's leading wrestlers.

Although Watson can hardly be regarded as being in the "rags" class since he has collected a good many dollars from his grappling efforts in both the United States and Canada, the events that led up to a possible screen role are Hollywood style.

A picture of Watson, who successfully defended his British Empire title here Wednesday night appeared in the Free Press. It immediately caught the eye of Michael Kanin, head of the Kanin Productions, a Hollywood movie-making outfit, who is in London with the stage play, Goodbye, My Fancy.

The play will have its North American premiere here tonight. Kanin conferred with Watson here with the result that the handsome husky from Toronto will likely be given a screen test next spring.

Kanin has a definite role in mind for Watson. The producer said that he had a story based on a beautiful young girl, fresh out of finishing school, who inherits, among other things, a wrestler. And Kanin thinks that it's possible Watson is just what he's looking for.

Krol Back Again

TORONTO, Oct. 21 — (CP) — Joe Krol will be back in the game Saturday when Toronto Argonauts play Montreal Alouettes in a crucial Big Four football tilt. And he thinks Argos will win—despite the fact that local odds-makers are quoting 2-1 against the Dominion champions.

Bisons Blank Reds As Indians Triumph

By The Canadian Press

Buffalo Bisons Wednesday night cut off the Providence Reds' four-game winning streak with a 5-0 shutout in the American Hockey League and the Springfield Indians, uncorking their best scoring attack to date, blanked Philadelphia Rockets 7-0.

The St. Louis Flyers scored four times in the final period as they defeated New Haven Ramblers 6-1.

George Pargeter netted four goals as the Bisons scored their second victory in five starts.

The Buffalo left winger notched his first counter in the opening period. Then he got two of three Bison tallies within 40 seconds while the Reds' Jackie Hamilton was serving his second penalty for slashing. Pargeter sniped the first and third of the short-handed goals while Les Douglas bagged the other.

Bruins Slam Hawks 8-3 Tie For Top Spot In NHL

By The Canadian Press

Boston Bruins went into a first-place tie in the National Hockey League last night—and pulled young Ed Sandford into first place in the league scoring race.

The young centre from Toronto—playing his second year in the big time—collected a pair of goals and a pair of assists as Bruins slammed Chicago Black Hawks 8-3 in the league's only scheduled game.

It put Bruins atop the ladder with Detroit Red Wings—both of them undefeated in two games. And it left Chicago right down at the bottom—winless after three games.

Meanwhile, rumors out of Montreal said Charlie Conacher, Chicago coach, was dickering with Canadiens for much-needed defensive strength for his ailing Hawks. The reports said Conacher might swap forward Adam Brown for defenceman Hal Laycoe, now on loan to Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey league.

Rookie rearguard Ed Kryzanowski got his first NHL goal for Boston to open the third period. Grant Warwick got two more while Johnny Peirson, Ken Smith and Jim Peters each joined the parade.

Roy Conacher clicked twice for the Hawks and Doug Bentley got the other.

Try To Break Jinx

In tonight's game, Toronto Maple Leafs will take on the second-place Canadiens—trying to break the jinx of the Montreal Forum where they have not won a game since last Christmas night. The hapless Hawks visit Toronto Saturday while Red Wings go to Montreal.

Goals by Warwick and Sandford put Boston ahead 2-0 by the end of the first period and Peirson added one early in the middle frame. Conacher clicked while Boston's Ed Harrison sat out a penalty, but less than a minute later both Sandford and Peters had scored. Hawks held even with the Bruins in the final period.

TIGERS TIED FOR FIRST

Hamilton Junior Tigers edged out Kitchener Panthers 3-2 Wednesday night in an Ontario Rugby Football Union, Western Ontario junior group, at Hamilton. The victory put Tigers in a first-place tie with Panthers.

Hamilton Takes Mann Cup Home

TORONTO, Oct. 21.—(CP). — The Mann Cup, richest prize in Canadian senior lacrosse, went back to Hamilton today after a 15-year absence. It was won by Hamilton Wildcats in exactly the same manner as in 1933—the first year the Ontario city took the trophy.

After the battling Tigers defeated New Westminster Adanacs 12-8 Wednesday night, old timers recalled the memorable best-of-five series in New Westminster 15 years ago when Tigers spotted the famous Salmon Bellies the first two games and then barged through for three straight—just as they did this year.

The Hamilton club, older and with more experience, let Adanacs come to them, thumped them with hard body checks and slowed themb to "seeing speed" they took advantage of every opportunity and on the series showing deserved the cup.

The younger and speedier Adanacs ran up against a stone wall defence and Hamilton's goal keeper, 24-year-old Doug Flavelle who won the Mike Kelly trophy as the outstanding player of the series, smothered blinding drives with uncanny netminding.

Adanacs, who appeared to have the cup safely tucked away for the second straight year after a 4-0 first quarter lead Wednesday night but the crowd of 7,500, which alternately booed and cheered Hamilton, surged to their feet when Tigers showed their claws to outscore the western champions four to one in the second quarter.

Three Contests Run Off In School Loop

Confederation took a decisive victory over the King George succer eleven in a public school scheduled game by a 5-0 count, Wednesday afternoon, on the King George grounds. The south-enders settled down to combination that resulted in Strickland opening the scoring on an accurate pass by Daniels and Crouter. Then Daniels on two individual efforts converted to make it 3-0 at the interval. King George relied on the kick-and-rush style to find Confederation conceding nothing with perfect defensive tactics. Daniels beat three men in a row to register the fourth counter and Strickland added the fifth. Confederation are now leading the league with no losses.

King George: R. Withers, goal; L. McKenzie and R. Lowe, full backs; P. Harding, D. Crowder and D. Barclay, half backs; F. Ash, R. Simpson, D. Dubay, R. Harley and B. Barker, forwards; O. Thompson and R. Harvey, subs.

Confederation: M. Bryan, goal; E. Henderson and E. Dunstan, full backs; R Tyndel, K. Outwater and G. Simmons, half backs; G. Strickland, R. Holland, A. Daniels, G. Crouter and C. Simmons, forwards; R. Miller, G. Holden and J. Post, subs.

Referee, Mr. Ball.

King Edward Wins

In an effort to bolster their position in the league standing, King Edward soccer eleven returned to form to defeat Queen Mary 2-0 in King Edward Park, Queen Mary in the early stages, dominated play but lacked the scoring punch when inside the goal area. Eventually Buchan broke up a dangerous raid to permit Frizzelle to to make it 1-0 at the interval. Time and again Queen Mary would penetrate their opponent's goal to miss their objective. A last minute combination play terminated in Buchan scoring to gain two points.

Queen Mary: J. Drury, goal; B. Watson and C. Stave, full backs; P. Nesbitt, R. Dunn and P. Deck, half backs; D. Sisson, D. Nesbitt, G. Patterson, J. Stewart and K. Woodgate, forwards.

King Edward: G. Stewart, goal; L. Ball and C. Chalmers, full backs; H. Mullen, R. Killingbeck and R. Crowe, half backs; G. Frizzelle, D. Hunt, M. Buchan, W. Murduff and D. Whatley, forwards; D. Grant, R. Bryan and F. Milligan, subs.

Referee, Mr. Currie.

Central Wilted

Prince of Wales gained a 6-3 verdict over Central at the Oval, in a senior soccer game. Central took the lead through Black, Buott got the equalizer for West-enders. Foster again put Central ahead but Faiers rattled in two goals in succession just before the interval. Within a minute Central squalized through Kelly. Prince of Wales replied with three goals through Halliday, Evans and Buott.

Central: B. Withers, goal; G. Patton and R. Wall, full backs; W. Lush, B. Foster and J. Black, half backs; B. Delahaye, D. Batterson, J. Rawley, D. Hart-Maxwell, B. Kelly, forwards; R. Taylor, sub.

Prince of Wales: A. Smith, goal; K. Lockie and H. Bowes, full backs; J. Armstrong, J. Holbrook and L. Mongraw, half backs; D. Halliday, R. Faiers, A. Buott, P. Evans and W. Downer, forwards; F. Jay, J. Smith, B. Moffatt, Q. Avey, subs.

Referee, J. Telford.

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association announced yesterday at Ottawa - that another record-breaking season is in prospect with five entries already received. Previous record date for the first entry was Oct. 21.

Of the five entries to date, four are from municipalities never before represented in minor hockey. Crowland township entered first with two teams, followed by an entry from Stirling and two from Thistletown.

NICK FORIANTE, $40,000 Irish Sweepstakes winner, is back shining shoes in Vancouver. His winnings are safe in a Dublin bank and are likely to remain there for some time. Eire currency regulations prevent Nick bringing his money to Canada so he shines shoes again at his regular stand after a trip to Dublin to investigate the situation.

St. Michaels' College trounced Brantford Orphans 30-1 Wednesday night in an exhibition rugby game at Toronto's Oakwood Stadium. St. Michael's won a Thanksgiving Day game in Brantford 21-0.

Jack McLeish, a clocker on Ontario race tracks for the last 40 years, died Wednesday after a heart seizure at Toronto's Long Branch Park. He once worked as exercise boy for the Seagram and Hendrie racing establishments.

Joe Bell, property of Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, has been acquired to fill a wing position on the Dallas Club of the United States League, Clarence Linz, club president, said Wednesday night.

The second place Sarnia Imperials of the Ontario Rugby Football Union's senior group walloped Assumption College 28-0 Wednesday night in an exhibition game at Sarnia. A crowd of 2,000 fans watched the tilt.

Guy Lombardo, orchestra leader and speedboat pilot, said in New York yesterday he has begun repair work on his Tempo VI with the expectation of competing again in the big races in 1949. Lombardo's high-powered craft was damaged in an accident in the Aug. 28 Gold Cup race off Detroit.

Ray Powell of Kansas City and Bus Gagnon of Dallas today held leadership of scorers in the United States Hockey League at the end of the first week of play. Each has five points.

St. Peter's Get Grid Win Over Lakefield

St. Peter's juniors broke into the win column last evening at the Oval as they defeated Lakefield 7-6 in a football thriller, as close and hard fought as the score indicates.

Trailing 6-1 in the fourth quarter, Father Coughlin's boys came back strong and, led by Andre Picard, staged a determined drive to score a touchdown which Crowley converted from placement. Picard plunged 20 yards in the last of several up the field gains to plant the pigskin just over the line between the posts. Saints singled early in the first as Monaghan hoofed a long punt to Blake from near centre and the latter was rouged. Lakefield came gack, however, and Doug Calberry climaxed a strong drive into local territory with a 40 yard run around right end, to score. Kelly promptly kicked the extra point. Both teams battled hard for two quarters as the visitors strove to protect their margin, while the locals fought to overcome it.

Late in the final quarter, a Blake to Sloan pass for 15 yards advanced Lakefield to the local 35. Illegal interference cost 15 and after Kelly kicked, Picard and Crowley combined with their mates to advance the sticks well into the visitors' end. A concerted ground attack to the Lakefield 10 enabled Picard to end the drive on second down as a high snap lost 10 on first down back to the 20, but Andre made no mistake as he knifed through on the second play to score. Other stars for St. Peter's included Crowley and Monaghan, while Corkery played a fine game and the entire line stood up well in the team's best showing to date. For Lakefield, P. Calberry, Coyle, Kelly, Blake and C. Pearson looked best.

St. Peter's — Flying wing, O'Rourke; halves, O'Neill, C. Crowley, Picard; quarter, Monaghan; snap, Richardson; insides, Heffernan, Corkery; middles, Brioux, Wolff; outsides, Cavanagh, Fitzpatrick; alternates, Fitzgerald, Ferren, Armstrong, Hickson, Ryan, G. Crowley, Basciano, Morrissey, LaPlante, McTague.

Lakefield High— Flying wing, Kelly; halves, Blake, Coyle, P. Calberry; quarter, D. Calberry; snap, Deck; insides, D. Pearson, C. Pearson; middles, McCracken, Crawford; outsides, D. Sloan, J. Sloan; alternates, Darling, Berger, Twist, Wilford, Sabatino.

Referee, W. Crowley; head linesman, D. McGillis.

2nd Straight Title for U of T

TORONTO, Oct. 21.—(CP).—The University of Toronto's 19-man track and field team yesterday defeated athletes from McGill, University of Western Ontario and Queen's to take their second successive senior intercollegiate track and field championship—their fourth in five years.

The Blues, under coach Hal Brown, former British Empire games runner, rolled up an impressive point total of 72 in the 15 events to keep the Tait Mackenzie Cup, beating their perennial rivals, McGill, by 19 points.

Western's five runners gained 23 points for third spot and a seven-man Queen's team trailed with 12.

A crowd of about 1,000—mostly Varsity students—cheered George Doull, 21-year-old Varsity star from Perth, as he sprinted to victory in both the mile and three-mile runs.

Doull won the mile event handily in 4:36 over the cold, damp Varsity stadium track—his third win in that event in three years. Shortly after, the strong little runner had to extend himself to take the leg-wearing three-mile run.

Takes 2 Firsts

Johnny Rhame took two other first places for Toronto, covering 21 feet, 8¾ inches in the broad jump and winning the 120-yard high hurdles in 23.4.

McGill's Dave Blair set the only record at the meet, with a high jump of six feet and ⅝ of an inch, adding ⅜ of an inch to the mark set in 1935 by Alex Munroe of Varsity.

Three Olympic runners from Western Ontario—Jack Parry and Bob and Don McFarlane — were withdrawn from the meet or other records would probably have been set.

However Bill Larochelle, Western's fourth Olympic competitor, hitch-hiked to Toronto in time to enter and win the 220-yard low hurdles in 26.4 seconds. Larochelle also ran in anchor spot for the winning Western mile-relay team.

By The Canadian Press

HAMILTON—Harold J. Park, 40, Travel Bureau operator, pleaded guilty to 16 charges of conversion and one charge of false pretenses when he appeared in County Judge's Criminal Court before Judge Ernest F. Lazier. He will be allowed free on $1,000 bail and will be sentenced Nov. 20.

LONDON, Eng.—The Duke of Windsor visited the king at Buckingham palace. The duke arrived in London from Paris for what was described as a private visit at Marlborough House with his mother, Queen Mary.

Won't Go Back

MONTREAL — Mrs. Andre Boussat, wife of the 45-year-old French surgeon accused of being a wartime collaborator, said her husband intends to remain in Canada despite the French ambassador's advice that he return to France to defend his honor.

VANCOUVER—The Vancouver Sun gave front-page play to a picture allegedly suppressed in the University of British Columbia newspaper, The Ubyssey. The photo was a shot of acting Dean H. J. McLeod, and Professor William Armstrong doing a chorus kick with Mary Mack, Canada's Sophie Tucker.

SUDBURY—Convicted of rape, Neil Calhoun, 25, was sentenced to three years in penitentiary and 10 strokes of the strap. The 22-year-old complainant said Calhoun, married and the father of two children, attacked her in his automobile on a sideroad north of here June 11. Calhoun is a former resident of Parry Sound.

PRINCE ALBERT — A verdict of not guilty because of insanity was returned by a jury hearing the trial of Albert James Allen, 29, on a charge of murdering his three-year-old son, David, on Sept. 20, 1946. He was ordered kept in jail at the pleasure of the lieutenant-governor. He will eventually be committed to mental hospital, it was indicated.

Starts Fire

TORONTO.—While his 20-year-old uncle was out looking for him, Stephen Ewachew, four, started a fire in the basement of his home. Firemen later found the boy unconscious in the smoke-filled building.

BRANTFORD.—Five members of a plowing delegation from Northern Ireland have been adopted by the Six Nations Indians. During a ceremony at the Brant county lowing match, each was given an Indian name and presented with a headdress.

BRANTFORD.—Eighteen-year-old Gloria Johnson was severely injured as she helped her sick brother run his farm near here. She fell off a tractor and one of its steel wheels ran over her leg.

BRADFORD.—Their car was completely demolished and dragged for nearly 40 feet when it hit a train, but John Lines, 35, of Vandorf and Harry Clifford, 38, of Aurora, were only bruised.

TORONTO. — M. E. Nichols' history of co-operative newsgathering in Canada will be titled "(CP) The Story of The Canadian Press," it was announced today by the publishers, Ryerson Press.

CORNWALL. — Lloyd Hunter, 21, of Williamsburg, was killed today when the automobile he was driving collided head-on with a transport truck on No. 2 Highway, four miles east of Morrisburg. Eye witnesses said Hunter was proceeding west and was alone in the car which was hurled into the north ditch by the impact, but remained upright.

Seven Bicycle Riders Without Lights Fined

Minor cases put through court today included seven charges of driving bicycles without sufficient lighting and six cases of the same offence with motor vehicles.

G. A. McGahey, 570 Elm St., paid $15 and $2.50 costs on his guilty plea to having liquor in a place other than a residence.

Vernon O'Brien, 94 Stewart St., was fined $10 and $2.50 costs for driving with inadequate brakes.

Eugen Gillen, London, Ont., was fined $7.50 and $2.50 costs for creating a disturbance in a public place.

The Kohn Optical Co., 30 Dundas St., Toronto, paid a fine of $2 and $1 costs for overtime parking.

Fines of $2 and $1 costs each for driving with inadequate lighting were collected from: Gordon J. Hedger, Water St. North; L. P. Dominik, 568 Romaine St.; Clayton Buckley, 741 Young St.; James Bartja, Listowel, Ont.; Walter Towers, 529 Hamilton St.; and Gordon Lucy, Campbellford.

Machines Mix Sweeps Tickets Sales Slump

DUBLIN, Oct. 21 — (CP) — The steel drum of fortune began spinning early today for millions of ticket-holders, some of them Canadians, in the final Irish sweepstakes draw of 1948, but the total prize money is likely to be the smallest since the war.

The draw is for the rich Cambridgeshire, to be run at Newmarket, England, Oct. 27. Lucky ticket-holders will have to wait until then to find out how much they've won. But holders of certain secondary tickets will know at once.

Wednesday night compressed air machines completed a 60-hour mixing of millions of tickets.

The British sweepstakes have slumped considerably since the £1,000,000 ($4,000,000) prize-list of pre-war days but they will go on even if virtually confined to Eirean support.

Ticket Sales Slump.

Ticket sales slumped in Britain Canada and the United States because it is virtually impossible for prize-winners to get their winnings out of Eire. The Eire government permits persons leaving the country to take only £35 ($140) with them.

The Sweepstakes Association however, plans to try its utmost to keep the plan going. The sweeps are of great value to Eire's national economy.

Prizes in the Cambridgeshire draw will be based on the Irish pound officially valued at $4. The money will be devided into units of $50,000 each. One ticket of each of the units will be drawn on each of the horses entered in the Cambridgeshire. There were 37 entries in the final acceptance call Wednesday.

Tickets on the winning horse will pay £25,00 with £10,000 for the second place finished and £5,000 for third. The remaining £10,000 of each unit will be divided to provide for 20 prizes of £300 each for unplaced horses and 40 cash prizes of 100.

After all even units of £50,000 have been drawn, 50 residual cash prizes will be drawn for the remaining money. Their value depends on the division of 50 into the total of the residue.

New General Manager

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(AP).—Appointment of Frank J. Starzel as general manager of the Associated Press was announced today by Kent Cooper, executive director of all operations of the news association. The appointment of Starzel ends a five-year period during which Cooper has served both as executive director and general manager. Cooper was appointed general manager in 1925. He remains as executive director.

Report Russia Has 250 Subs, 100 More Built

LONDON, Oct. 21 — (AP). — Jane's Fighting Ships, authoritative publication of the world's navies, said last night Russia has about 250 submarines in service and "fully 100 more" under construction.

"It is evident, therefore, that Russia, like Germany, is inclined to rely chiefly on the submarine as a naval weapon," said the foreword to the 50th edition of Jane's which will be published to day.

The publication said the "total strength of this (Soviet) fleet has been substantially increased,'" but that former German, Japanese and Italian warships figure conspicuously in the additions.

"Some wrecks which would not seem to have been worth the cost of salvaging have been resuscitated, apparently with the idea that nothing must be wasted if it can possibly be utilized" said Jane's.

The book said also that "the Japanese fleet is about to rise like a Phoenix from its ashes." It explained:

"Though its present material is limited to 50,000 tons, with no single vessel displacing more than 1,500 tons, this may well prove to be the nucleus of a new navy.

"One has only to recall the renaissance of the German fleet which followed the period of comparative quiescence during which, on paper, the tonnage restrictions of the Treaty of Versailles were observed," it said.

Commenting on Britain's swift post-war decommissioning of her heaviest ships, Jane's said:

"Seldom has such a powerful group of capital ships, aggregating 280,000 tons, been removed from the list by a single stroke."

MAJOR-GENERAL WILLIAM A. Tunner, U.S. air force, who has taken over as commander of the combined United States-British air lift supplying Berlin. In the new setup, General Tunner will have operational but not administrative control of British aircraft. Flying freight and supplies by air is not exactly a new experience for the general. He flew war supplies over the Himalayan "Hump" between Burma and China during the world war.

'Citizenship' Topic For WI

WWESTWOOD, Oct. 21 (ENS) —"Citizenship" featured the October meeting of the Women's Institute on Tuesday. President, Mrs. A. Wood, was chairman.

The motto "Be a good neighbor and you will have many neighbors," was dealt with by Mrs. F. E. Birdsall. Mrs. Robert Wilson led in a quiz.

A demonstration and display of shellcraft by Mrs. A. Wood was given. Mrs. L. Doherty gave current events.

It was announced that the oratorical contest for this district will be held in the Town Hall on Oct. 29, with three local judges and three prizes.

The second euchre party of the season will be held on October 27.

An acknowledgment of a parcel of food and clothing sent last spring to the flood victims of British Columbia was read from the secretary of Connor's Women's Institute, B.C.

It was decided not to apply for the government grant.

About 15 members are planning to attend the citizenship conference in Norwood on Oct. 27.

Lunch was served by the hostesses Mrs. Hutchinson, Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Pacey.

PRIMATE OPTIMISTIC

FREDERICTON—Optimism regarding the future of the church as a whole was expressed by Most Rev. George Frederick Kingston, Anglican Archbishop of Nova Scotia and Primate of all Canada, in a sermon at a 100th anniversary service in Holy Trinity church at lower St. Mary's. Archbishop Kingston said the spirit shown at the Lambeth conference and the meeting of the world council of churches was a good indication of hte future.

THE U.S. air force's new F-86 Jet fighter airplane zooms almost vertically into the air from the runway in an exhibition staged at Lambert-St. Louis, Mo., airport before 70,000 spectators. The exhibition highlighted massive strides of air designers in recent months in the construction of airplanes whose speed approaches that of sound.

6 Times MORE Popular than any other Saline in Canada!

Here's why Canadians—men and women, young and old—prefer Eno:

ENO is a mild antacid that really helps relieve indigestion, acidity and upset stomach.

ENO is a gentle but effective laxative which helps to cleanse the digestive tract—helps relieve headaches and logginess.

ENO is harmless and pure, contains no sugar nor harsh mineral salts, has no upsetting effect.

ENO has been a household word the world over for more than 75 years.

Plane Overturns

COHOCTON, N.Y., Oct. 21 — (AP). — A Canadian was injured slightly Wednesday night when a small airplane en route from New York City to Buffalo overturned during an emergency landing. Ray F. Hendry, 52, of Mimico, Ont., was treated for shock at Memorial Hospital, Bath. Others in the plane were William Donohue, 34, the pilot; John Tullock, 43, and Frank Kraick, 34, all of Toronto.

Skin Eruptions

Here is a clean, stainless, penetrating antiseptic oil that brings speedy relief from the itching and discomfort.

Not only does this healing antiseptic oil promote rapid and healthy healing in open sores and wounds but boils and simple ulcers are also relieved.

In skin affections the itching of Eczema is quickly stopped. Pimples —skin eruptions dry up and scale off in a very few days. The same is true of Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum, Itching Toes and Feet and other inflammatory skin disorders.

You can obtain Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottle at McDermid & Jury or any Tamblyn Drug Stores or any modern drug store. Satisfaction or money back.

OUTSIDE CITY LIMITS and free from police interference at Durham, N.C., snake cultists from five states threw themselves into their "devotions" with renewed zest as they braved the fangs of poisonous rattlesnakes and copperheads and water moccasins to prove their point that their faith would protect them against the venemous repiles. This photo shows the Rev. C. H. Bunn, pastor of Durham's Zion tabernacle, and leader of the reptile lovers, wrapping a large moccasin snake around his head during the meeting.

Chinese Need Food, Fuel Dance Tax 500 Per Cent

NANKING, Oct. 21 (AP). — China's man-on-the-street is puzzled. Military reverses have shaken his confidence, and his inability to obtain daily necessities is creating an even stronger reaction.

A general sellers' strike is bringing China's economic crisis home to the average man. Housewives spend more and more of their time buying enough food to fed their families. Ice is strictly rationed. There is little sugar, meat or cooking oil.

With winter approaching, most Nanking residents find it impossible to find fuel. They know supplies are being withheld because of price limitations.

It is apaprently here that the government must either dump substantial quantities of commodities on the market or revise the maximum prices upward.

Food ministry officials said shortages in Central China are likely to prevent them from moving large quantities of foodstuffs into North China, where whole cities are facing an acute situation resulting from the civil war.

The executive Yuan to-day formally ordered all government employees to stay out of cabarets. Directive was accompanied by a ruling for the gradual closing of Shanghai's famous cabarets, through a ban on licence renewals.

The Yuan ordered a 500 per cent tax on dance halls, prohibited serving of foreign liquors and other luxuries in cabarets and directed that public dance halls be closed in Shanghai at the rate of one monthly.

Daley Mediates At McKinnon

TORONTO, Oct. 21 — (CP). — Labor Minister Daley announced Wednesday that, at his request, officials of McKinnon Industries, Ltd., at St. Catharines had met with officials of the parent General Motors Corporation to discuss the four-month-old wage strike at the McKinnon plant. The meeting was attended by Louis Fine, Labor Department conciliator.

Mr. Daley said that "following an exhaustive discussion" the GM representatives indicated that they had "complete confidence" in the ability of President T. J. Cook of McKinnon's to handle the situation and that they were not prepared to intervene in the strike of the GM subsidiary.

The Labor Minister's statement said there had been no change in the strike situation and expressed "the hope that both parties will get together in negotiation."

Some 2,650 workers, members of United Auto Workers (CIO), Local 199, went on strike July 14 for a 26-cent hourly wage increase which union officials said would help offset the rising cost of living and put McKinnon wages on a par with those paid at GM plants in Oshawa and Windsor. The union rejected a company offer of a 12-cent increase.

Denies USW Charge Company Jockeying

OSHAWA, Oct. 21. — Charges of M. J. Fenwick, district representative of the United Steel Workers of America, that an employee association formed by the workers at the Oshawa Engineering and Welding Co. was "inspired" by the management, was denied to-day by W. F. Marshall, president.

Both groups are seeking recognition as the bargaining agent inside the plant and their claims will be heard by the Ontario Labor Relations Board November 2.

"As far as I know, it is just a matter of the employees wanting their own little set-up," declared Marshall. "It has nothing to do with the management. No company official has influenced their decision in any way and whatever union they want to join is up to them."

Fenwick charged the employees association was "an illegal group as far as the trade union movement is concerned," He said his union would ask the Labor Board to outlaw the opposing group on the grounds "that Marshall inspired its organization and actively assisted in its formation although he had given us an understanding that he would not exert any influence on employees regarding their union affiliation."

PARLIAMENTARY SCULPTOR — Cleophas Soucy, in one of his quieter moments, is shown working on a plaster model of a decoration he will later carve in stone to adorn the entrance to Canada's Senate chamber. When he starts to do it on stone he uses a pneumatic drill which makes so much noise he can work only when Parliament is not in session. Even then Soucy and his four assistants must work at night for the noise of the drills disturbs work in the buildings during the daytime.

Africa Added To Bomber Training Flights

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—(AP).—The United States' global air force, already operating in Europe and the Far East, is adding another continent to its training ground—Africa.

B-29 Superfortresses taking off from American-used bases in Eng from American-used bases in England and Germany now are winging down to Accra, a British colony on the Gold Coast of Africa.

The airfield there was built originally by Britain, primarily for commercial operation. But with the United States' entry into the Second World War, the Air Transport Command developed the field as one unit in the ferry route to the Middle East and southeast Asia.

Air Force headquarters said today there is no United States military installation at Accra now. The Superforts use facilities there for refuelling on their training excursions down to the Gulf of Guinea, then turn around and head back. Under the present training program, the B-29s do not continue south or east to other war-built fields in Africa.

The runway at Accra is understood to be 7,300 feet long. This is ample for the B-29s and such transports as the C-54. But it is not clear whether heavier aircraft now being used or built by the United States Air Force could operate from the field.

Runway length is not so much of a factor as the thickness of paving. A B-36 weighs 278,000 pounds loaded; a B-29 only 105,000 pounds.

Overall Plan Best Hope For Conservation

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 21 (CP)—Conservation of this province's natural resources and arrest of deterioration and destruction can only be accomplished by an overall program in which all parties must participate on a common approach and common agreement, Hon. Dana Porter, provincial minister of planning and development said Wednesday at the meeting of the Canadian Club.

"Any program of conservation cannot be effective if carried out only on a few acres of land," he said. "All forces must be united to halt this large scale devastation of natural resources, the mining out of soil, the wanton damage of forests, the wholesale destruction of bird life, which are setting up a chain of reactions threatening the very foundation of civilization."

"A conservation program must take into account all the varied inter-related factors in the development of natural resources, but we know the result will be of benefit to future generations, our Canadian people and each separate piece of land.

"A soundly laid program must be designed to increase the fertility of the soil, control floods, establish forests, encourage wild life and provide recreational areas of natural attractiveness," Mr. Porter said.

One major trend which will help conservation, Mr. Porter said, "is aroused public interest."

He outlined the birth pains of the upper Thames river authority, first area surveyed by the department of planning and development. Negotiations were started in London in October, 1944, with 1,300 square miles being surveyed in 1945. Although serious floods ravaged the Thames watershed in April, 1947, a motion to establish an authority was defeated in May, 1947. The upper authority embracing London and centres upstream was founded in St. Marys in August 1947.

2 Small Bridges Being Rebuilt

Two small bridges are at present under construction in an effort to improve county roads.

A short concrete bridge spanning the creek, about half a mile north of Stewart Hall, is almost completed. At the moment the concrete is hardening after being poured and the approaches still have to be built. It will replace an old wooden bridge which had been there previously.

Another old timber bridge is being replaced on the Cedar Lake Road, north of Burleigh Falls. This new one will have concrete abutments and a steel superstructure. Work on it is just beginning.

Earlier this week the County Roads and Bridges committee under the chairmanship of William Darling, Dummer Twp., made a tour over part of the road system, but issue no statement.

A TOUCHING SCENE took place at Montreal Airport recently when Pierre Strezos, 18, centre, arrived to join his father, whom he had never seen. The father, A. Strezos, left, who immigrated from Greece in 1929, and who now owns a restaurant in Toronto was at the airport with his cousin, C. Tipoulow. The strange meeting had been delayed over the years for various reasons, including the depression and World War II. Pierre's mother and sister hope to come to Canada in the spring of next year.

London's West End All Set For Big Theatrical Season

By MICHAEL O'MARA

LONDON, Oct. 21 (CP)—London't West End is all set for another big theatrical season.

In some respects the entertainment belt still hasn't got over the war; a ban on ouside lighting keep marquees gloomy and curtains go up around 7:15 p.m. as they did during the blitz.

Among the toughest shows to get into, ticket agencies report, remain the "Big Three" musicals—the imported "Oklahoma!" and "Annie Get Your Gun" and the home-bred "Bless The Bride."

Another song-and-dance sellout is the new Arthur Askey show, "The Kid From Stratford." Askey addicts say he's never been funnier than in this lighthearted affair, plot of which presupposes that Shakespeare wrote musical comedies as well as straight plays.

There's been one major retrenchment along the Shaftesbury Avenue; The Casino Theatre, one of the prime movers in London's surrent craze for American vaudeville stars, has given up its policy of "international variety" and swung over to ballet.

One Vaudeville House

That leaves just one big vaudeville house in London, The Palladium, where an American is still usually the topliner. But fans—who may be tiring of the Betty Huttons and Martha Rayes—gave Gracie Fields a huge welcome home when she opened there recently.

In the drama division, major interest centres on the Old Vic, which opened its season with Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" and followed up with Marlowe's "Doctor Faustus." Acting standards remain high and the company—although without its standby stars, Sir Laurence Olivier (touring Australia) and Sir Ralph Richardson (filming in Hollywood)—has been bolstered by the addition of Sir Cedric Hardwicke.

Outsiders Invited

The famed Paris troupe, the Comedie Francaise, has been booked into London for a limited season, and Italy's "Biennale of Venice" group is here too. Still on the heavy international side, Eileen Herlie (Queen in the film version of "Hamlet") is starring in British John Gielgud's production of American Robinson Jeffers' translation of Greek Euripides' classic, "Medea."

The Convent Garden Opera Company has most of the conventional works in its 1948-49 repertoire in addition to Benjamin Britten's modern "Peter Grimes." Ballet shares the stage with opera at Sadlers Wells.

Modified burlesque is still on view at The Windmill ("We Never Closed") and a new ice show has been unveiled at the Stoll. It's still business largely as usual, but probably on a bigger scale than most seasons.

Freed On Bond

MONTREAL, Oct. 21 — (CP). — Mr. and Mrs. Jean St. Andre, detained at immigration headquarters here for the last six weeks, have been released on $500 cash bond, but must report once a week and be available for deportation. St. Andre is a former French merchant seaman. They were ordered deported to France some time ago, but the French government could not find their records and their departure was cancelled.

Stars Recall People Who Helped Them

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 21 (AP)—Who is the person behind the star?

For every famous figure there is another behind the scenes that gave him the first push toward success.

For an insight into the road to stardom, we asked film personalities the question: "The influence of what single person made you a movie star?" Here is how they replied:

Gregory Peck: "Katherine Cornell and Guthrie McClintic gave me my first professional stage work—four lines. I worked with them for two years and learned a lot about acting. I turned down Hollywood offers until economics drove me west. I was in debt and couldn't see any other way out.'"

Ann Blyth: "My mother was the one that started me out on a career as a performer. When she saw that I had acting traits at the age of three, she provided singing and dancing lessons. And she helped me over a lot of rough spots when I felt like quitting."

Lizabeth Scott: "Seeing Charlotte Henry in the picture 'Alice in Wonderland' convinced me that I had to be an actress."

John Garfield: "Angelo Patri, principal of the school I attended in New York. I was sent to the school a little delinquent, and Patri kept my mind out of mischief and got me interested in debating and acting."

Joel McCrea: "William S. Hart was my inspiration. When I was 12, I delivered papers to him. He was very nice and his job seemed like a good way to make money. Will Rogers actually got me into the business. I played his son in two pictures and that set me up with the public."

Zachary Scott (a fronk fellow): "Me. I wanted to make some money and acting was the thing I could do best."

Jack Carson: "Ginger Rogers rejected me as a suitor in five or six pictures at RKO. I decided to change studios and concentrate on comedy roles."

Amend Income Tax To Help Clergymen

OTTAWA, Oct. 21—(CP)—The government announced Wednesday night its plan to amend the income tax law to make it clear that clergymen need not pay tax on the value of a manse or parsonage provided for them by the church.

A statement issued jointly by Finance Minister Abbott and Revenue Minister McCann said the amendwent will be introduced in parliament at the time of the next budget.

The statement noted that clergymen are not now paying this tax, but added that it was "doubtful" whether the present law would bear the interpretation that the parsonage should be tax-free. This will be made clear in the amendment and, in the meantime, the exemption will continue to apply.

'Newfie Air Lift' Plan Discounted

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 21—(CP)—A report that United States military authorities would start an "air lift" to move supplies to American bases in Newfoundland because of the island-wide railway strike was discounted Wednesday night by American officials.

(The Canadian Press reported Wednesday from St. John's that military authorities were preparing to start such a lift).

It was pointed out that all three U.S. bases in Newfoundland are independent of rail transport because all can be supplied by ship.

John Baker of Windsor was a guest for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Peterson and family.

FRANCISQUE GAY, French ambassador to Canada, shown here with his wife, suggested to Acting Prime Minister Howe this week that four French "political refugees" in Canada should return to France to defend their honor by standing trial on charges of wartime collaboration. Three of the men were admitted to this country after immigration officials had ordered them deported.

St. Andrew's At Millbrook Marks 68th Year

MILLBROOK, Oct. 21 (ENS)—Large congregations gathered at St. Andrew's United church on Sunday morning and evening when 68th anniversary was observed. Rev. A. K. Edmison was guest preacher. In his student days, Mr. Edmison, who retired last year from the active ministry, supplied the pulpits of the then Cavan South circuit, all three churches of which have since been closed.

The baskets of golden 'mums at the altar were given by Mr. Will and Miss Martha Lunn in memory of their parents, and the massed flowers at the chancel were largely from Mrs. J. McKnight's garden, a service she performs annually.

Besides the anthems by the full choir or more than 30 voices, Mrs. G. A. Spicer sang "King David's Lament" (Gounod), at the morning service, and Mrs. Gordon Baker, "The Lord's Prayer" (Liddel), at night. The male quartette, Messrs. McDowell, McKnight, Ouelette and Hewitt sang at morning worship. Miss E. L. Hetherington was at the organ.

Introduced by the minister, Rev. George McQuade, the guest speaker, chose for his morning text, "Unto Him be glory in the church." "Divine Discontent" was the evening theme.

The response to the request of the church officials for a generous thankoffering was well met. More than $700 was received at the morning service.

Brother And Sister Visit Birthplace

CAVAN, Oct. 21.—(ENS).—Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Matchett and their son, Albert Matchett and Mrs. Eva McLaughlin, of Trehern, Manitoba, whao have been visiting friends in Cavan, Millbrook and Lifford for the past three weeks, have started on their return trip, going first to London to visit Mrs. Matchett's brothers and then they will go home by way of the United States. They travelled over the trans-Canada highway the greater part of the way when coming to Ontario, covering in all 1,660 miles.

Mr. Wilbert Matchett and Mrs. McLaughlin are a son and daughter of Alexander Matchett and his wife, who was formerly Sarah Staples, who owned the farm and built the house now owned by H. C. Argue, Cavan. They attended Whitfield's school, and the two teachers whom they remember were Susannah Staples and Margaret Whitfield. Their visit to the school house and to their old farm home was much enjoyed, and they recalled many happy experiences of their childhood days. The family left here about 60 years ago and have since made their homes in and around Trehern, Manitoba.

Why Should I Give to the Civic Arena?

The Civic Arena

Is being built primarily for the youth of Peterborough. It is being financed entirely by public subscription so that it will ALWAYS belong to the people of Peterborough, and, AT NO TIME will it ever fall into private hands and be taken away from the youngsters, the ones . . . WHO NEED IT MOST!

How Much Should I Give?

This is a question everyone must answer in the quietness of his own heart. If every employed person in Peterboro gave $1.00 during this week's campaign, THAT, plus contributions from business organizations, would take care of the cost of financing the project.

A SMALL PRICE to pay, isnt it — to assure the happiness of literally thousands of kiddies!

How Should I Give?

You may give cash or cheque when the canvasser calls, or you may sign a pledge form so as to make the purchase of your share in the Civic Arena Fund . . . simple and convenient.

Ontario Leads In Permits Issued Tourists

Tourists figures for Canada during the first eight months of a three-year period—1946-47-48, disclosed that Ontario leads all provinces in the number of Travellers Vehicle Permits issued, the Department of Travel & Publicity announces. Particularly significant is the fact that in each of the years mentioned above successive all-time record have been established.

In 1946 there were 903,096 Travellers Vehicle Permits issued for Ontario; in 1947 the number jumped to 1,005,194 and on the basis of the present flow of visitors it seems likely that during 1948 approximately 1,100,000 cars will have entered Ontario from the United States.

Figures issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics disclose that Travellers Vehicle Permits issued for the first eight months of 1946 show that 61.4 per cent of all such permits issued in Canada were for visitors to Ontario. In 1947 this had increased to 62.7 per cent and in 1948 without the September figures, a slight decrease to 59.3 per cent is noted.

In August this year, Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia all showed slight decreases in the motor car entries from the August 1947 figures. This is attributed by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics to the Labor Day weekend which in 1947 fell in August (Aug. 30, 31, Sept. 1) and this year fell in September. As a consequence it is anticipated that the September, 1948, figures will show a substantial increase.

Lack Of Farm Labor Consumer Problem

OTTAWA, Oct. 21—(CP)—H S. Arkell, a former government trade commissioner and past president of the Carleton County Federation of Agriculture, said Wednesday a lack of farm labor was responsible for Canada's consumer problems.

These problems of high costs and scarcity would remain unsolved until "we get labor back on our farms, adequately paid and comfortably house," Mr. Arkel said in an address before the 33rd annual convention of the Eastern Women's Institute.

Because of a lack of labor, he said the country was falling "far short of maintaining, to say nothing of developing, potential productivity of its farms." The natural fertility of the soil also was being dissipated and exhausted.

Keene News

A series of sermons beginning next Sunday will be preached at the United Church on the topic "Weapons of our Christian Warfare" which will include "Prayer", "Self Preparation", "Devotion to Christian Ideals."

The Anniversary Service of Zion United Church, Otonabee, will be held Nov. 7. It will be over 100 years since those early pioneers first worshipped in this community in the humble homes. A detailed announcement will be made of this anniversary.

A number from Keene attended the Y.P.U. convention held at St James United Church, Peterborough last week-end. They derived much benefit from those edifying and inspiring meetings. The messages of Rev. Crossley Hunter. Rev. D. H. Gallangher and others were high lights of the convention, also the happy fellowship of the many delegates who came from the different Charges of Bay of Quinte Conference.

The Local Y. P. U. held their first Fall meeting on Thursday which took the form of a social evening when a variety of games were played in Sunday School room. This was followed with refreshments a very enjoyable evening was spent.

Springville WMS Meets

SPRINGVILLE, Oct. 21 — The October meeting of Springville WMS was held at the home of Mrs. C. Johnston and was attended by 20 women. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs Staples. Mrs. George Whitfield offered her home for the November meeting. Mrs. Whitfield and Mrs. Stevens sent letters of appreciation for flowers sent during recent illness.

Mrs. Rowan conducted the devotional exercises and Mrs. Clifford Johnston read the Scripture Readings pertaining to Thanksgiving were given by Mrs. Preston, Mrs. R. Davis and Mrs. H Rowan. Rev. Dr. Reddick followed with prayer.

Mrs. Reddick presented chapter one of the new study book "West of the Gorges." Dr. Reddick impersonated Dr. Hartwell and Mrs Reddick told of the work of Margaret Lee and her belief in Divine guidance.

Mrs. Staples, Mrs. Preston and Mrs. Bowles asked questions which Mrs. Reddick answered concerning life in West China.

Gov.-General May Visit Some Factories

During his visit to Peterborough Nov. 25 for the laying of the corner stone of Civic Hospital, Viscount Alexander, Governor-General, may call at some of the factories to see them in operation.

This is one of the suggestions in the first draft of plans for the day as reported to the council by Ald. Adam Sands, chairman of the reception committee of the council.

A meeting with the veterans of both wars is one of the main events of the day, and is given a place in the afternoon schedule. Harold Yelland, president of the Canadian Legion, has concurred in that detail.

The women's branch of the Legion is also taking part at th Exhibition grounds. Those who are proceeding with the plans are hoping for favorable weather, but without warm expectations for the last week of autumn.

A formal dinner will be held at the Empress Hotel at 7 p.m. The invitation list will be confined to the members of the county council, city council, board of governors of Civic Hospital, and their wives, together wtih a few exceptions, including representative members of the clergy of Peterborough. This will be followed by a reception for citizens by invitation.

Plans will be considered further Friday evening.

CCF Executive Names Chairmen

Jack Morton, CCF candidate in the last provincial election, was appointed chairman of the Organization and Labor committees of the Peterborough CCF Association at the meeting of the executive committee on Wednesday night. Mr. Morton outlined a plan of action aimed at increasing the membership and contesting the next election in the riding.

Other officials who have been appointed include: Alfred Birkhof, treasurer and chairman of the Finance and Membership committee; William Grant, secretary and chairman of the Education and Publicity committees; Maurice Ketcheson, membership secretary.

Mr. Ketcheson, a delegate to the annual convention of the provincial section of the CCF in Toronto earlier this month, reported to the executive on decisions reached there.

He said the provincial council was laying plans in expectation of "even greater success in the federal election than . . . in the last provincial election.

From the feeling of the delegates present, he sensed "a determination to make the next election a win for the CCF."

With an amendment in the constitution which provided representation for each riding on the Provincial Council, Mr. Ketcheson had been seated as a member of the council at its first meeting following the convention. This was by virtue of his election at the last annual meeting.

It was decided to hold the annual Christmas party on Dec. 17. President Walter Dinesen reported that plans were underway now.

WILMONTE LYLE BROOKS

Wilmonte Lyle Brooks, 47, of Louis St., died today in hospital following a lengthy illness. He was born in Brighton, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Brooks and came to live in Peterborough from Oshawa nine years ago.

He leaves his wife, the former Cora Little, a son Robert of Toronto and three brothers, Kenneth of this city, Albert of Detroit and George of Bowmanville. He was an upholsterer by trade and a member of the Lutheran Church.

Funeral service will be held on Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Kaye Funeral Home. The Rev. Walter S. Crone of the Church of the Open Bible will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

Laton Proposal Hits A Snag; Permit Held Up

Donald Laton, a young man wishing to build a store house for four bread trucks on Park St. south, near Rose Ave., has encountered the possibility that residential classification on the zoning map may extend to his property.

The entire emphasis in the council's discussion of his request for building permission Monday night was on the word and verbal auxiliary "may". It was referred to the town planning committee to consider the rezoning of that area. In the meantime the lack of zoning authority supplied by the goodwill and co-operation of citizens continues. Its bylaw has not been passed, and numerous instances of conflict between ownership and plans of work on the one hand and the official wishes for a better city are occurring. No friction has flared from these encounters, nor has there been of late or during the last twelve months any material progress with the completion of the zoning structure.

Mr. Laton told the council he wished to build at the rear of a garage on Park St. Nearby is an old house, and beyond it the fringe of a new housing subdivision.

Ald. Herb Young suggested that the old house might be an interference with any change in zoning designation. Mr. Laton had learned that the area was zoned for light industry, so it was said. That should let his building in, but Mayor Ovens said the planning committee might wish to change the designation to residential, iinfiluenced by the recent developments.

So, the Laton proposal is held up and is being referred to the planning committee.

Change Pool Site Will Boost Cost

Lions Club has estimated that the cost of their proposed swimming pool at Riverside Park would be increased if it was to be built on the south side of the property and fronting on Burnham St.

Their original wish was to construct the pool on the second terrace, and immediately south of the bridge. That would be west of the bowl and east of the river front park. For the present, their cost estimates are not complete.

Mayor W. G. Ovens expressed concern over the infant mortality rate in the city for the first nine months of this year, when department of health statistics were read at a meeting Wednesday.

The information was given the meeting of the Board of Health by Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, and the rate is 37.4 per thousand live births. James Dutton, chairman, asked Dr. Kelly for his comments on the figure, and the reply was; "It isn't much of an increase, but it shows a trend since 1946. The gradual increase has brought us back near the figure of 36.56 for 1945.

Mayor Ovens: I am very much disturbed at these figures. We have competent nurses, competent Victorian Order of Nurses set-up, and our department of health is very active. I am wondering if we are overlooking any service which might be made available to reduce this rate.

"I thnk we should be concerned about it, but I wonder if there is anything we can do about it," Mr. Dutton replied.

Mayor Ovens: "Can't we put our finger on the trouble?"

At this point Dr. Kelly said the last provincial figure available was for 1945 and the rate was 40.5.

Mayor Ovens asked about prenatal attention, and Miss Gene Clarke, supervisor of nurses in the department of health, said: "Doctors do not refer pre-natal cases to us. The only pre-natal visnts we make follow our observations at Well Babies' Clinics when we notice a mother is going to have another baby. Our staff is now large enough to do some of this work.

Mayor Ovens: "How often should expectant mothers visit nurses?"

Miss Clarke: "At least once a month."

Mrs. Harris asked the question at this point, "When a doctor takes a pregnacy case, does it not include several visits from the expectant mother?"

Dr. Kelly: "Yes, but the number of visits depends on the doctor."

Mayor Ovens: "We want to give mothers the best health service possible. Somewhere along the line we are not getting the co-operation we should get. If we were, the death rate would be lower, not what it is. Each month we should have a progress report and also a report from the MOH outlining the contributory causes to these infant deaths."

The discussion switched to the maternal death rate which now stands at 3.86 for the nine months. That means three deaths and the highest in the past five years. Two died from toxaemia and one from infection.

24 Not Month Old

Dr. Kelly's report on infant deaths shows that eight babies died under 24 hours of age, 12 died between the ages of one day and one week, four between one week and a month, which gives a total of 24 deaths before the children were one month old. Four more died between the ages of one month and six months and one child died between six months and one year, giving a total of 29 deaths in nine months of this year.

The birth rate so far this year is 22.6 per 1,000 population, and while its down approximately one per cent. from 1947, it is still the highest in the past five years with the exception of 1947. There were 778 live births since Jan. 1, all resident.

Dr. Kelly reported the Well Babies' Clinics were overcrowded. "At one time this week, there were 52 mothers and their babies at 440 Water St."

"I would like to see a clinic started in Ashburnham and another in the south end of the city," Mayor Ovens suggested.

Dr. Kelly agreed to report on this suggestion at the next meeting.

The causes of death for children as listed in the report were as follows: Diarrhoea and enteritis, 1; pneumonia, 3; prematurity, 10; congenital debility and malformations, 12, and other causes, 5.

City Wants Data On New Chimney

City council has asked City Engineer Chalmers and Fire Chief Smith to "study and make a report on the Van Packer chimney." That directive sentence goes further as follows . . . "and amend the building bylaw to permit the installation in dwellings of this chimney."

The Van Packer substitute is of tile construction in metal casing. It is said to be cheaper than the brick chimney. Some of them, it is reported, have been used in government houses at the north end of the city, and the comment to The Examiner was to effect that they were built outside the city boundary and its municipal authority.

3 Businessmen Said Victimized

During the past four months three local businessmen have been victimized by agents selling advertising space in little-known manuals or publications, said James Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce today. Several others have been saved the cost of misrepresentation by checking with the Chamber of Commerce first.

The advice of the Chamber to industrialists, merchants or any other business men is to phone the office and ask for a quick check if they are approached to buy advertising space in publications with which they are not familiar.

"Before you invest, investigate," said Mr. Fraser. "The Chamber of Commerce is here to serve you when you are in doubt as to the reliability of a lesser known company. We are in touch with the Better Business Bureau and we will phone and investigate for you at no charge."

According to Mr. Fraser, one advertising agent approached a local firm with a fictitious endorsation from the Chamber of Commerce. He made nearly $1,000 in two days selling advertising and then was unable to live up to his agreement.

The Chamber communicated with Better Business Bureaus in other centres, but in the end found it necessary to put the whole matter into legal hands. And the Chamber is now working on several cases to try to get back some money for local businessmen who have been victimized.

Soon the Chamber hopes to circulate index cards so that the merchant, industrialist or shopkeeper can glance at it and ask the relevant questions when the advertiser solicits business. Such matters as circulation, whether the publication is free or sold and other checks will be listed. This is expected to be a help in eliminating spurious salesmen.

VON Aids Training Student Nurses

Intermediate undergraduate nurses of the Civic and St Joseph's Hospitals are again receiving observation training with the staff of the Peterborough Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses. Miss Ross, VON Supt., reported this week that the arrangements now in force—providing two days observation for each nurse—would be followed until January or February next year However, she pointed out, there are more than 50 nurses to whom the work would apply, and only 22 weeks with four student-days in each. An attempt will be made then to take two student nurses a day so that all can have the experience. If this is not possible the time may have to be cut to one day for each student.

THREE APPLICATIONS

Three applications for sanitary conveniences under the city payment plan were received by the Board of Health Monday. All were referred to the City Solicitor to ascertain if the owners have sufficient equities in the dwellings to warrant the expenditure This plan affords a home owner the opportunity of getting modern plumbing and the cost is distributed over several years and payments for the work, made along with the regular tax payments three times a year.

C of C Launches Drive To Secure 210 Members

First shot has been fired in the Chamber of Commerce campaign to more than double its membership by the end of the month. On Wednesday night nearly 40 team captains and canvassers received last-minute instructions at a banquet held in the Empress Hotel.

Trigger man was James G. Wharry, vice-president of the Quaker Oats Co., who advised the Chamber to get some representative from each active social group in the city. He said there were always the "faithful few" that carried the main burden of work and responsibility in any social organization. And he suggested that these individuals were the ones wanted.

"Each group is a little cell block that goes to make a great city," he said. "You must get a representative out of each of these blocks."

He praised several of the largest industries who, he said, had helped to bring prosperity to both the urban and the rural areas of Peterborough by creating large markets in the city for agricultural products. And in inference he suggested that this method of creating markets could be expanded with profit to the whole community.

Drawing on the experience of his own company, Mr. Wharry said "It is necessary to advertise your advertising, and that takes money."

"You must, therefore, have more members to finance your advertising," he concluded.

The big drive starts today and when it finishes on October 30, the membership committee under Gordon S. Matthews, hopes to have increased the Chamber's roll from 140 to 350 members.

Adopting the policy of many other Chambers of Commerce in Canada, the Peterborough branch has drawn up a schedule allowing multiple memberships commensurate with the number of employees on the payroll.

To Interview 500

The ratio is as follows: Up to 10 employees, one membership; 25—two; 100—three; 200—four; 500—five; 1,000—six; 1,500—seven; 2,000—eight, and up to 3,000 and over—10 memberships.

A special committee under J. E. Girven has been struck off to contact present member companies whose memberships will be changed under the new rate structure.

Altogether more than 500 prospects will be solicited personally. The interviewing will be done by a well-briefed squad of nine teams and each team will have as its immediate goal the signing of 60 new members.

Team captains are Harley Keefer, J. E. Weir, Chris Hughes, Arthur Cauley, Ernest Braund, Gordon Tuhro, Ed Riley, Fred Overend, Roy Girven and J. E. Girven (special names).

Speaking for the Chamber, James Fraser, manager, said that the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, founded in 1889, "has promoted the commercial, industrial, agricultural and civic interests of Peterborough." And he urged prospective members to join the Chamber and help in its community work.

Owing to the death of Arthur Magee, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Magee, the Peterborough Clinic will be closed Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Optimists Tape 1,200 Bicycles

Twelve hundred bicycles were taped with night safety reflector tape by the Peterborough Optimist Club under direction of Gordon Hopcroft. The campaign was such a success through the co-operation of schools, police and the youngsters themselves that the Club have decided to complete the remaining 2,500 teenage bikes in the near future.

To show that city children are conscious of riding bikes at dusk without lights or reflectors some youngsters who were held up in the long line were quite perturbed at the delay. It was a big job for Club members to apply these tickers and once they got the organizational machinery going, customers were served in quick order.

Those Optimists responsible for the success of the campaign and who gave their time to it were: Clair Galvin, Frank Hamon, Don Mackay, John O'Sullivan, Harry Race, Colin Smillie, Norman Fletcher, Walter Murphy, Aubrey Braund, Les Davis, Lloyd Lyndall and President John Broadhurst.

Young's Point Bridge Damaged By Car

Extensive damage to the car and some damage to the Young's Point bridge resulted early Wednesday morning. The car, driven by Stanley Peaver of Bancroft, skidded on the bridge and struck the side of the structure. Damage to the car was about $200 and there was about $50 damage to the bridge. Provincial Constable George Stevens investigated.

Board of Health members were notified by letter this month that a Regional Sanitation Conference was being held at Cobourg on Saturday, October 29. The letter requested that Sanitary Inspector Ronald MacPherson be permitted to attend.

REFRESHER COURSE

A refresher course for graduate nurses of the city is being planned by the Peterborough Chapter of the Registered Nurses Association. It will consist of three lectures, which will be given by Drs. R. K. Magee, Donald Whyte and J. Wishart.

NURSING SERVICE USED

There were 144 patients, including 36 new ones, under the care and supervision of the VON during September, it was reported to the branch on Wednesday. Four hundred visits were made, three night calls answered and two home confinements attended.

EARLY MORNING FOG

A heavy fog blanketed the city before seven this morning, which proved hazardous to factory workers who had to take extra care while driving. An hour later the fog was clearing rapidly, and by 9 o'clock it had disappeared.

252,000 KWH. WEDNESDAY

The electric power story for Wednesday, the business half holiday, was neither bright nor gloomy. The reflection for the day was in the neutral zone,—252,000 kilowatt hours consumed as compared with 250,000 a week ago, with most of the stores closed all day. The quota is 240,000, or 12,000 fewer kilowatt hours than Peterborough used.

LEAVES SHOWER DOWN

For the past several weeks there has been an ever-increasing shower of leaves as autumn comes to the trees. But the snow on Wednesday followed later at night by the biting frost really did the trick. Today a glance at one of the city's parks, or along one of the many tree-lined streets, reveals that the leaves are coming down in showers.

City Bandstand Base Is Completed

The new city bandstand at Nicholls Oval was completed this week as far as the concrete structure is concerned. It was designed in the City Engineer's office last winter and the Eastwood Construction Company, contractors, started preliminary work on it in April at the accepted contract bid price of $8,905. This price included the concrete work, a hollow reinforced cement structure 60 by 40 feet by 10 feet high. These measurements do not include a stairway at the back or west side. Wiring for public address system and lighting is also installed.

The bandstand is situated in a natural amphitheatre of land to the west of the west drive into the Oval. It is the future plan of the Board of Works to close the roadway from the entrance gate to the top of the hill and terrace the natural banks to accommodate many thousands of spectators. There will also be a sound shell erected at the back of the stage and a railing installed around the top with 12-foot standards at each corner and one in back centre for lighting purposes.

The space under the stage will be divided into two parts lengthwise, one half to store parks equipment in off seasons and the other, divided again to provide dressing and make up rooms. It is also proposed to get permission from the CNR to drive a tunnel under their tracks to provide access to the river's edge where there is believed to be fine wading facilities for children. When this becomes a reality, bathers will be able to use the dressing rooms as well.

The cost of the project to date is being financed out of the city's current miscellaneous account. Alderman Max Swanston advises that eventually the City Trust will bear the cost after it is approved by the Municipal Board.

Parking Meters Gross $2,481

Parking meters in September contributed $2,481.37 to their accumulating credit, now amounting to $37,168.65, total collections since they came into use May 12 last year.

City Clerk Outram also reported parking stickers for $16, and each, total $195.

195 parking tickets at one dollar

Total receipts during Sept. were: licenses of all kinds, including marriages and dog tags, 358.75; miscellaneous, $832 park-$604.18; police court fines, $1,-ing meters, $2,481.37; total, $5,-276.30.

Kitchener Seeks $30,000 Grant To Build Houses

"Local contractors have sold us down the river," was the recent comment of Ald. S. F. Leavine of Kitchener on a housing project of 102 units. Special arrangements for it were made between the city, local contractors and Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

The alderman's criticism probably did not take fully into account the increases in costs which must have effected the rentals now looming in excess of estimates. Apparently the council wihsed to distribute housing business with some of the Kitchener contractors. Present indications are that six-room units will have to rent at more than $50, and that smaller houses will also exceed their expected rentals.

Cost of land and services will be about $950 a house. The municipality agreed to pay up to $600, and Crown anything in excess of that level.

Mr. W. W. Scott, negotiator for Central Mortgage, and well known to Peterborough council, suggested the other day that Kitchener pay now a "partial" contribution of $150 a house, that is in addition to the $600.

It may be interesting to Mayor Ovens and his associates to learn that Kitchener "is anticipating a grant of about $30,000 to assist with the No. 2 project, following overtures made to Queen's Park recently by Mayor James Washburn and City Treasurer Louis Dahmer."

Peterborough taxpayers might be interested in this disclosure from Kitchener if the money is actually forthcoming from the provincial government.

Some 200 houses of the Wartime type, but with basements, are now in construction in Peterborough. Agreement with Central Mortgage calls for expenditure by the city up to $600 a house for land and services. Latest intimations have encouraged the hope that cost of land and services may be considerably under $800, as compared with the $950 in Kitchener.

Hold Schools For Officials Of Municipalities

TORONTO, Oct. 21 — Schools for municipal officials are being conducted again this year during the months of September, October and November, the Hon. G. H. Dunbar, Minister of Municipal Affairs has announced. Members of his staff will conduct the classes.

The schools will be similar to those held in Brockville and Belleville in 1946, at Forst Frances and Port Arthur last December, and in Leamington, Petrolia and Walkerton last May.

Of a three-day duration, the first day of the school session is devoted to Municipal Assessment; the second day to general subjects of interest to municipal clerks; and the third day to Accounting and Auditing, of interest to municipal treasurers and auditors. The lectures are arranged in this way so that persons interested in the different subjects may attend either one, two or three days, as desired.

Notices of the holding of the schools have been forwarded to the heads of municipalities adjacent to the places where the schools are to be held, and to the apointed officials of the municipalities.

Schools will be held at:

	October
Cobourg	18 to 20
Lindsay	17 to 21
Bancroft	20 to 22
	November
Orangeville	1 to 3
Barrie	2 to 4
Newmarket	3 to 5
Port Colborne	15 to 17
Tillsonburg	16 to 18
Stratford	17 to 19

Sabu Married

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 21.—(AP).—Sabu, "elephant boy" of the movies, was married Wednesday to actress Marilyn Cooper, who plays a role in his latest picture. A Goldwyn Studios spokesman said Miss Cooper, a 21-year-old Los Angeles girl, plays a part in Sabu's unreleased "Song of India." He said the two first met on the set of the picture. It is the first marriage for both. Sabu, 24, is a native of Mysore, India.

Mince No Words At Parley On Merchant Shipping

OTTAWA, Oct. 21 — (CP). — John V. Clyne, chairman of the Canadian Maritime commission, Wednesday said the commission now has a clearer picture of Canada's merchant marine problems as a result of the historic three-day meeting of the commission's national advisory committee.

Most important of these problems was the "need of the closest co-operation" by the dual industries of shipping and shipbuilding "to maintain Canada's standing among he trading nations of the world."

The three-day conference, which ended Wednesday, saw more than 30 representatives of shipowners, shipbuilders and shipyard personnel thrash out in lively debate such problems as the need for expansion of Canada's shipbuilding industry, the general problems of competition with other countries and the particular high costs at Canadian ports.

It was the first time in Canada's history that such a meeting had been called. All sessions were closed to the press but sources said the representatives "minced no words" in making known their views.

Represented also were Canadian manufacturers, exporters, importers and primary producers. These came from Montreal, Toronto Vancouver, Halifax and Levis, Que.

Later, in a statement, Mr. Clyne, who had called the gathering, said: "A much better perspective of the needs of Canada's merchant marine is the result of the frank and open discussions which took place during the three-day meeting."

Sydney Steel Plant Plans Big Expansion

HALIFAX, Oct. 21 — (CP). — The Halifax Herald said today in a newspage story that a large-scale expansion program at Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation's plant at Sydney, N.S., is being lined up for submission to the government.

The Herald said the program, based on results of a lengthy survey, would be presented to Trade Minister Howe "before the end of the week."

Present ingot output at the Sydney plant is 620,000 tons, about one fifth of Canada's current production.

Last year work started on a $4,000,000 replacement project at the coke ovens. It was emphasized at that time that this was not expansion in the usual sense because the coke ovens were obsolete.

Find 'Arsenal' Police Puzzled

TORONTO, Oct. 21.—(CP). — Toronto police had a mystery on their hands today following discovery of a small arsenal of weapons in a northside rooming house.

They charged seven persons with having offensive weapons. But their swoop Wednesday with drawn guns left unanswered the question of the purpose for which the five revolvers, a rifle and a quantity of ammunition were intended.

Arrested were Norman Sullivan, 27, and his wife, Helen, 27; Ronald and Marjorie Magee; Garth (Dusty) Miller, 46; Peter Brown, alias Horne, of Hamilton; and Viola Philipson, 26. All except Brown were from Toronto.

Ontario Provincial Police said they were interested in three of the men.

Wrong Weapons

One of the seized weapons was a police-type revolver. At first, police believed they had uncovered one of the revolvers stolen recently from the Provincial Police office at East Whitby. But a check showed the serial number of the weapon did not correspond with that of any of the Whitby revolvers, and it was learned later that the revolver was stolen more than a year ago from the home of an out-of-town police inspector.

Investigation continued today into the recent activities of the arrested persons.

Police said Sullivan was already on $20,000 bail in connection with the recent robbery of a bank at Ridgeway. They said two other men would be put in a lineup today in connection with the same holdup.

THE OLD HYPNOTIST

Says Labor Gov't Loses Ground In Australia

OTTAWA, Oct. 21 — (CP). — Gordon Menzies, now Opposition leader and former Prime Minister of Australia, said Wednesday Australia's Labor government had undoubtedly lost ground within the last year and added there was a general feeling the government would be defeated in the 1949 general elections.

The frank, handsome Liberal also told a press conference he believed in closer ties among countries of the British Commonwealth, that he saw no reason why a Canadian shouldn't be governor-general of Australia and vice versa, and that he was an advocate of continuation of Australian appeals to the Privy Council in London. His party also favored outlawing of Communists.

Mr. Menzies arrived by train for a three-day visit as guest of Australian high commissioner Francis Forde, a former Labor prime minister and an old political foe.

The visitor is rounding off a trip to Britain, Europe and the United States that began in June to re-establish contracts after seven yearas at home.

Mr. Menzies referred to two recent developments in Australia as an indication that the people were willing to back socialists but not socialism. One was the refusal to sanction permanent power for the central gvernment over rents and prices. The other was the buffers that have confronted the proposal to nationalize the trading banks.

Rental and price controls had been turned back to the six states and still existed in substantial degree.

U.N. Must Solve Berlin Issue Drew Warns New York Audience

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, Oct. 21. (CP)—Russia's blockade of Berlin has raised a "serious but very clever issue" which must be solved collectively by the United Nations, George Drew said in a speech Wednesday night.

Failure to do that, the newly-chosen national leader of the Progressive Conservative party of Canada warned, will "raise new and still more serious issues for the future."

"As long as the representatives of all nations still do talk, there is hope of avoiding another world war," Drew declared. But the talk must be in terms that Prime Minister Stalin and his associates understood and "backed by force which they will respect."

"They came to power by force. They have lived by force. force and force alone is the thing they understand. In the recognition of that simple but inescapable truth rests our hope of peace."

Drew was one of nine speakers at the closing session of the 17th annnual New York Herald Tribune forum on topics of current world interest. He and Mrs. Drew, who came wit hhim to New York for the meeting were to fly back to Torontot today.

Dewey There Too

Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Republican candidate for president of the United States spoke on the same program. However, his speech was the last of the session and he was not present when Drew spoke earlier in the evening.

Calling the United States the "decisive" world power, Dewey said she should "act decisively" to make the free countries "more powerful than the forces making for war."

Today's despots are under no illusions about the value which free people place upon freedom," Dewey said. "They know that given a free choice no people anywhere will willingly submit to the icy tyranny of the total state."

Collective Act

Drew had this to say about the problems raised by the Russian action in Berlin:

"Now that such a serious but very clear issue has been placed before the United Nations, its solution must be the collective act of that organization unless Russia removes the cause.

"If by any device a decision is evaded....it can only be interpreted as a direct declaration of hopeless inability to carry out the first and underlying purpose for which this great international organization was created."

That purpose was to maintain international peace and security.

The Western powers, Drew warned, "cannot withdraw from their position (in Berlin) without imperilling security and in fact the survival of civilization throughout the whole of western Europe."

Morrison Acts As Check To Hasty Trade Unionists

BY JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, Oct. 21 —(CP)—As firmly as his policeman father used to control London traffic, Herbert Morrison, Deputy Prime Minister, now calls "stop" to hasty trade unionists.

Short, lively, bespectacled, Morrison is as unlike a London "Bobby" as anyone could be, but the Labor movement avers he has followed in his father's footsteps.

When the movement was gathering strength, the little cockney invited hard words and blows in street-corner campaigning. As a London county council member he labored for administrative changes and economies.

In wartime, he long was associated with Civil Defence and the recruitment of civilians to protect their families and homes. When the present Labor government was formed he became government leader in the House of Commons, the custodian of peace wihin the governing party.

Not Rash

At the Scarborough, Yorkshire, Labor Party conference this year, belligerent speeches by health Minister Bevan and Hugh Dalton, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, drew rousing applause But Morrison worked carefully through a prepared text in which he said the party now must consolidate its gains and avoid rash experiments.

Now he has turned to the trade unions. To them, in a recent speech, he gave this warning:

"The ball is now at the feet of the worker. Will he exploit his immediate tactical advantage against needs of the community and take a line as bad and selfish as the old employer did when he was on top? If so, these great vicies which trade unionism has gained will melt away and deserve to melt.

"The privileges of full employment carry with them social responsibilities which must be honored. Any fool can put forward bigger and bigger demands, and for the people who are always looking for trouble no game could be better."

Cattle Buyer Goes To Jail

KITCHENER, Oct. 21—(CP)—George Cartlidge, Hamilton cattle buyer, went to jail for 10 days Tuesday when his appeal to county court, from a magistrate's court drunken driving conviction at Galt, failed.

Judge E. W. Clement dismissed the Cartlidge appeal holding that defence evidence in the case defeated itself.

Evidence presented by the crown was that Cartlidge had been buying cattle in Galt at the livestick yards May 28 last and that after leaving a beverage room he drove his truck through a red light and was weaving badly when stopped by the police and removed from the cab.

Defence evidence was that Cartlidge, who seldom takes alcoholic beverages on account of duodenal ulcers, had taken one glass of beer at the hotel.

Gordon Brock, appearing for the convicted man, argued the one glass of beer so severely affected the man's ulcers that he appeared to be drunk.

His irregular driving, he contended, was the result of the severe pain he was suffering after drinking beer.

Judge Clement could not bring himself to believe that because a man was suffering from ulcer pains he would deliberately drive through a red light.

2 Workers Disciplined

OTTAWA, Oct. 21 — (CP). — The Ottawa Journal said in a newspage story Wednesday it had "established" that since the Russian spy investigations, two civil servants have been "disciplined" for "partisan" political activity. One, an employee of the National Film Board, was dismissed and the other, an employee of the Labor department, was removed from his post as a staff representative on a civil service organization.

150 Technicians Work Overtime To Complete Britain's Big Plane

By JAMES McCOOK.

BRISTOL, England, Oct. 21 — (CP). — In a vast hangar at Filton, Gloucestershire, near here, 150 skilled technicians work overtime to ensure Britain's largest airplane, the 130-ton Brabazon takes the air next year.

Nearly £11,500,000 ($46,000,000) of the taxpayers' money has been spent in development of this new airliner, on hangars to house it, and runways to permit it to land and take off.

Planned during the war, the Brabazon would have flown long ago if Britons' hopes had been realized. Alterations and shortages of material contributed to delays.

Arthur John (Bill) Pegg, 42, chief Bristol Aeroplane Company test pilot, will take the Brabazon into the air for the first time while thousands who have shared in her building watch with pride.

"I shall fly the cockpit and hope the rest follows," said Pegg.

Tested Shortly

The Brabazon will be brought out shortly for ground engine tests and examination of controls, undercarriage, tires and brakes that have taken years to develop.

The eight-engined plane has a wingspan of 230 feet and the rudder tip is 50 feet from the ground. It will be able to carry 100 people non-stop across the Atlantic at 300 miles per hour.

It represents the work for three years of 800 craftsmen who have worked from the plans of 165 designers and draughtsmen The runway from which it will fly has been extended to 2,750 yards in its length and 100 yards wide.

Construction Bill

Construction has been under the supervision of the Supply Ministry and the bill looks like this:

To two airframes and special equipment, £5,836,000.

To one hangar, £3,112,000.

To lengthening runway, £2,500,000.

The runway costs were high because part of the village of Charlton, including houses and a pub, had to be removed to give the space required. This same field will be used by BOAC Atlantic airliners now serviced at Dorval near Montreal. The maintenance base is being transferred to Filton this year.

A SMALL ARSENAL was uncovered in a Glenmount Pk. Rd. house, Toronto, Wednesday by raiding police officers, who arrested seven persons, three of them women, on charges of having offensive weapons. The landlady, Mrs. Marjorie Constable Magee (left), her husband, Ronald Magee (centre), and Norman W. Sullivan, 27, were among those apprehended. Police say Sullivan is out on bail in connection with the robbery of a Ridgeway bank.

Federal Rental Controls Tested

TORONTO, Oct. 21 — (CP).— The validity of Federal rental orders and controls will be tested in a court case at nearby Milton November 16.

A Halton County court will hear an appeal by Joseph Adams against his conviction last July for charging a higher rent for a Burlington property than that fixed by the Prices Board Rentals division. Adams was fined $500, and costs.

Robert A. Reid, counsel for Adams, said this is the first time a court has been asked to decide whether the rental regulations are legally valid.

"This is entirely a provincial matter of property and civil rights, either in war or peacetime," he said. "According to very recent Privy Council decisions, the Dominion Parliament or Government has no jurisdiction or authority in the matter.'

Adams claims in his grounds of appeal that neither the Prices Board nor any of its Rental Board officials has had any legal power or authority at any time to fix the rent of any house owner, landlord or tenant in Canada.

LAST WINTER SCHOOL CHILDREN throughout Canada gave their dimes, nickels and pennies to send school supplies to the children of Europe. This fall ship after ship has carried cargoes of pens and pencils, exercise books and stories of Canada across the Atlantic. The project was organized by the Canadian Council for Reconstruction and the two little girls above are typical of Canadian children who gave. Proud of their class record, Elizabeth Menzer, 11, and Joan Adams, 12, of Westmount Junior High School, fill in the poster which will tell European children that Canadian boys and girls are interested in helping them.

Seeking Couple

TILLSONBURG, Oct. 21 — (CP). — Oxford county officials said Wednesday they are seeking a couple who vanished after boarding two baby brothers in a home here six weeks ago. The couple, who said they came from Toronto, arrived here September 8 to work in the tobacco harvest. They boarded their two boys with a Tillsonburg family, agreeing to pay $10 per week for each child.

Has Own Ideas

PARIS, Oct. 21 — (AP). — France wants the dismantling of German war plants to continue, the foreign office said Wednesday night. It was learned that the French government presented a note on this subject Wednesday to Jefferson Caffery, United States Ambassador.

French Collaborators' Story Told By Envoy In Montreal

OTTAWA, Oct. 21.—(CP). — France's side of the complex story of the four alleged Vichy collaborators will be given to the people of Quebec province today by the French ambassador, Francisque Gay.

He will make France's case known through a press conference to be held at 4 p.m. in Montreal's Windsor hotel.

The four men, all of whom have been granted asylum in Canada despite charges of collaboration with the wartime government of Vichy France, are living in Quebec province.

Political sources have regarded as "unusual" the ambassador's action in travelling outside of the capital to hold a press conference on a subject of interest to both governments.

He is expected to deal largely with the records of the four Frenchmen and their conviction in absentia by French courts on charges of collaborating with the Vichy government.

The ambassador's intention was disclosed Tuesday following a talk with Acting Prime Minister Howe in the Prime Minister's office. Both he and Mr. Howe issued statements.

Mr. Gay said in his statement that he had "stressed that their concern for their honor should prompt these French men to go and appear before the courts of their country, where every opportunity of defending themselves would be given to them."

He described the men as "French persons accused of collaboration with the enemy and now in Canada as refugees." They had been tried by French courts "according to legal procedures and found guilty of major crimes."

2 By-Elections Face Ontario Government

TORONTO, Oct. 21 — (CP) — Two Ontario by-elections face the provincial government when it holds its first cabinet meeting todayunder its new premier, T. L. Kennedy.

Two Northern Ontario seats—Cochrane and Parry Sound—were left vacant by the death of John W. Carrere and Charles W. Cragg, both Progressive-Conservatives elected in the June 5 provincial election.

Political circles say the government would like to hold the by-elections before the next session of the provincial legislature. But rigorous Northern Ontario winters may make it impossible.

Neil Adams Heads Roseneath United YPU

ROSENEATH, Oct. 21—(ENS) —The annual election of officers of the United church YPU was held on Monday night and resulted as follows:

Committee conveners are appointed for each month. For the coming month, citizenship will be represented by Misses Helen Arnold, Doris Robins, Aureen Brown and Neil Adams.

Reports of the recent YPU convention of the United church were presented by Rev. R. C. White, Neil Adams, and Misses Helen Arnold and Aureen Brown.

Misses Marjorie Sandercock and Leona Pringe are a recreation committee for the next wek.

Goodwin Pleads Guilty

TORONTO, Oct. 21 — (CP). — A 26-year-old hospital technician told an assize court Wednesday how she broke her leg in an attempt to flee from a man who beat her, threatened her life and tried several times to assault her. Edwin Goodwin pleaded guilty of attempted rape and remanded for sentence until Friday. Red-haired Ethel Trexhall said she stabbed Goodwin with his one pocket knife as he tried to assault her.

"Wonderful success with . . . Gro-Pup"

"You can certainly say that I recommend Gro-Pup most highly," writes Mrs. J. S. Grant of the Seafield Kennels, Reg'd., Edmonton, Alta. "We've had wonderful success with it for over 10 years. Champion Lady Beth of Seafield, shown above, was raised on Gro-Pup from puppyhood."

Why breeders feed Gro-Pup

BREEDERS KNOW it is not safe to try to raise dogs on "table scraps." Dogs need a properly balanced diet that gives them everything they must have for strong bones, sound teeth, and a beautiful coat. That's why breeders feed Gro-Pup.

GRO-PUP IS A PROPERLY BALANCED DIET to keep dogs of all ages, sizes and breeds at their natural best. Not only do dogs like it but it contains every vitamin and mineral they are known to need.

GRO-PUP SAVES YOU MONEY. It costs only 5¢ a day to feed a good-sized dog. It is all dry solid food. That is why Gro-Pup is so economical. A 2-lb. package actually contains as much solid food (dry weight) as your dog could get in five 1-lb. cans of ordinary dog food.

Feed your dog as famous kennels do. Buy him Gro-Pup. Your grocer has it in both cubes and meal form—for variety.

Lawyer Files Suit

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(AP).—A French lawyer, described as a former counsel for the Duchess of Windsor, Wednesday filed a $250,000 suit against Attorney-General Tom Clark and four other present and former United States government officials. The lawyer, Armand Gregoire, 54, charged he was wrongly arrested as an enemy alien in 1942.

Says Policeman Coaxed Evidence

LA MALBAIE, Que., Oct. 21—(CP).—Lionel Huard told a crowded court-room here Wednesday that a friendly policeman had "coaxed" him to write a long statement while he was in jail awaiting trial for the murder of his young English war bride last May.

Earlier, a plainly-dressed, shy village girl told the court that Huard had indicated to her that he would make his wife "disappear"—but that "I did not believe a man could have a heart as hard as that."

Huard, 27-year-old veteran, is charged with drowning his Yorkshire-born wife in the St. Lawrence River last May 9, in circumstances similar to the celebrated fictional story of Theodore Dreiser's "American Tragedy."

Huard's counsel declared Wednesday that Provincial Police Officer Jean Marie Bouchard had "inspired" him to pencile several statements in his cell. So far, none of the statements has been read into the record. Police officers testified that Huard had written a lengthy statement of his own volition and Bouchard denied he had questioned Huard. He said, however, that he had talked a great deal to the prisoner.

By The SECRETARY

Zone F.5 which comprises Millbrook, Lakefield, Bancroft, Apsley, Marmora, Hastings, Havelock, Peterborough 452 and Peterborough 52, has a new Zone Commander, A. Wagstaff, elected Sunday. A member of Branch No. 52. Congratulations Art., on your election.

Another thing of importance which happened at the Zone meeting was the fact that a deputation was received from veterans who are living in Wartime Housing and who feel that the price they are being asked to pay for houses are exorbitant. It was decided that the local manager of Wartime Housing, now called Central Mortgage Housing, would be asked for his side of the story before action could be taken. This matter was again brought up at the meeting of Branch No. 52 held on Monday, and it was decided that, besides meeting the local manager of Housing concern, the deputation should also endeavor to ascertain some names, facts and figures for the use of the Provincial Command.

A. Hamilton, Percy Luther and M. Morrow also spoke at the general meeting regarding the progress of the present Zone campaign to establish on Old Veterans Home in Peterborough and it was decided that the executive commtitee should meet with the executive of Branch 52 to consider ways and means that the Branch could use to raise money for this cause.

At the present time, Peterborough is entering upon its annual Poppy and Wreath sales in commemoration of Remembrance Day and to assist the local Poppy Fund in its work of assisting veterans or their dependents who are in distress. Frank Threadgold, the District Commander, who conducted the Zone meeting, said that in Great Britain the sales per person amounted to about sixty cents and in Canada to about thirty cents. However, under the capable leadership of the Provincial chairman, Tom Magladery, Ontario expects to go "over the top in 1948." The objective is to double the sales of 1947 and, from the way things are progressing, it looks as if we'll make it.

40 Shaken Up

TORONTO, Oct. 20.—(CP). — Forty Hamilton residents were shaken up Wednesday night when a bus—homeward bound from the Long Branch race track—swerved off the Queen Elizabeth Way to avoid a car and crashed into a pole. Francis Weston, 68, with broken ribs, was the only injury.

See Gold Shares Drop Sharply

LONDON, Oct. 21 —(Reuterss)—Reuters' index of South African gold mining shares recently fell, and remains today, below its lowest point of last year. It slumped early last week. It slumped from early last week. Today it was no better than 89.7 where as its worst point of last year was 92.6.

On any chartist theory this established that gold mining shares again became a bear market since last February. Charts are merely records of the past, however, and have no prophetic powers. There are some indications that the underlying factors may be changing.

On a long perspective, the sharp upturns after June. 1940, and after May, 1947, were merely rallies in a bear market which has prevailed since the end of 1936, as rising costs, pressing against the fixed price of gold, had eroded the profitability of gold mining

An index confined to gold producing shares— as distinct from developers in the new gold-fields which are not yet producing — would lately have shown the lowest levels since before South Africa devalued her currency in 1932. Since that period has included several crises, the present level must clearly be regarded as a crisis level.

By MARY MOORE

NOTE: Now that Thanksgiving Day has come and gone, good-provider cooks are turning their thoughts to Christmas baking and preparations. If you are planning to write to Mary Moore for new Christmas cookie or cake or pudding recipe do so as soon as possible, so that she will have time and space to print answers to all of your requests. Address your letters to Mary Moore, in care of this paper. If you would like a private reply enclose stamped self-addressed envelope.

QUESTION: You usually suggest using genuine or mock hollandaise sauce for brocolli. We would like a sauce that is not either of those or cheese, because they are too nourishing. Isn't there something similar—like a drawn butter sauce with chopped parsley or pimentoes? Please print one while these vegetables such as brocolli and cauliflower are in season. Matey.

ANSWER: If you are worrying about nutrition make a low-butter-content.

Drawn Butter Sauce

Melt 3 tablespoons butter and blend into it 3 tablespoons flour; stir in 1¼ cups boiling water until thick. Add 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 or 2 tablespoons each chopped parsley, chives and pimiento or sweet green pepper. Cook over double boiler 5 minutes. Add salt and white pepper to taste—and maybe some paprika.

QUESTION: Do you have that recipe for Shrimp Wiggle? Could you use canned shrimp in it? I don't think you print enough recipes for fish dishes if you do not mind my saying so. Our family is very fond of fish. Acadian.

ANSWER:

Shrimp Wiggle

This requires one pound of shrimps when cooked but I have made a very presentable dish from 1 8-oz. tin of shrimps. Dice 1 lb. cooked shrimps. Heat 2 table spoons butter in frying-pan, and add 2 medium-sized onions chopped extremely finely and sate to golden brown. Add 1 can condensed tomato soup and an equal amount of water. Heat through and thicken by stirring in 1½ to 2 tablespoons cornstarch moistened with ¼ cup water. When hot add the shrimps, heat through. Just before serving add ⅛ teaspoon baking soda, give it a good stir and serve on toasted buttered crackers or toast points.

QUESTION: S.O.S. for a recipe for Apfel Strudel. My husband has boasted to two of his friends that I can make this and I cannot find my recipe. Print it as soon as possible please.

"On-the-Spot."

ANSWER:

Apfel Strudel

Sift together 1 cup flour, 2½ teaspoons baking powder, 1½ tablespoons sugar and ½ teaspoon salt. Work in 3 tablespoons shortening or butter with a pastry blender. Beat 1 egg slightly and add 3 tablespoons milk, and add enough of this mixture to the dry ingredients to make a stiff dough. Roll out ¼-inch thick on floured board and brush with 2 tablespoons soft butter. Cover with 3 cups tart, pared, cored apples cut in ⅛ inch wedges, and then sprinkle with mixture of 1-3 cup sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon and ¼ teaspoon nutmeg. Roll up like a jelly roll and place in buttered baking dish. Brush top with egg and milk and bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 45 minutes until apples are cooked.

Apple Strudel may also be made by spreading the above dough very thinly on a large shallow pan, and pressing the wedge edge of sliced apples into the dough and sprinkling cinnamon, nutmeg and brown sugar over in same proportions as above.

FLATTERING FUR ACCENT — The fur-trimmed hat, when gracefully handled, is just about as beautiful as a beautiful hat can be. For proof here is a picture of a hat which subscribes to the popular shell silhouette. Blonde mink is faced in sand colored velvet and swathed in sand maline which adds up to lovely luxury. While a mink coat to match would be wonderful, a suit or coat trimmed with mink and topped by such a hat would cer ainly tell a fine fashion story.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, October 22

While adverse and conflicting planetary configurations are in evidence on this day, yet there are favorable aspects to nullify such if propertly utilized. Plans may be muddled and upset, higher-ups may lend a deaf ear to insistent appeals, yet an alert mind, "quick on the trigger" and versatile in manipulating the confused and distorted undercurrents, might work wonders in swerving defeat into victory and profit. Tact, courtesy and amiability could create more power than enmity, rancor and harsh words.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of situations which they may best control and modify by tact, amiability, courtesy and persuasion, rather than harsh, vindictive, malicious and offensive behavior. "Easy does it," since the mind is particularly keen, alert, adaptable and farseeing. Placate and convince those in high places holding out on needful support. Those close at home in business or domicile may also need tactful and considerate approach rather than sullen words, enmity or jealousy. A fresh outlook all around could benefit and eventually restore equilibrium. Keep sociable and win out.

A child born on this day may have many conflicting elements in character, but native shrewdness and versatility might divert it from conflict and enmity into more lucrative and happier channels.

First Stage Role In Canada For Actress

LONDON, Ont., 21 —(CP)— Wrapped in a silver blue mink coat against the sudden Western Ontario winter, English screen star Madeleine Carroll arrived from New York to handle the lead in the North American premiere of Fay Kanin's first full-length play, "Good-bye, My Fancy." It will open at the Grand Theatre on Thursday.

Also it will be her first stage role on this continent. She will be supported by Conrad Nagel.

The company had been in rehearsal for some time, and will put on its final polishing touches in the local playhouse which once was owned by the still missing Ambrose J. Small. Present owner is the London Little Theatre.

There are 25 persons in the company, most of them arriving Sunday.

Most striking adornments on the costume of the blonde actress were the Legion of Honor red ribbon, and a badge of the RCMP presented to her when she was "enlisted" in Montreal after filming "Northwest Mounted Police."

She seemed embarrassed about such honors, but about blondes: "It all depends on what you know. When I speak, I try and talk only of what I know or have seen. All blondes (she shrugged her dainty shoulders) however, are taken to be dumb—but they generally make out all right."

Shower Honors Jean Frankish

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 21 (ENS)— Honoring Miss Frankish, whose marriage to Mrs. Eric Jackman takes place this month, Mrs. Ray Jackman was hostess at a miscellaneous shower at her home.

The evening was pleasantly spent in games and contests after which the bride-elect was presented with a shower of beautiful and useful gifts attached by streamers to an attractively decorated watering can.

After spending her gifts, Miss Frankish expressed her sincere thanks to her friends.

The tea table, covered with a lace cloth, was centred with a dainty miniature bride in a satin dress. Tall pink tapers completed the table arrangements.

Tea was poured by Mrs. S Richardson, aunt of the bride-to-be. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Delmer Jackman of Peterboorugh, Mrs. Ralph Jackman, Miss Ruth Johnston and Miss Anne Richardson.

Those present included Mrs. A. W. Stewart, Mrs. Jackman Mrs. Helen Geraldi, Miss Ruth Johnston, Mrs. S. E. Richardson, Mrs. Don. Craig, Mrs. G. Warren Payne, Mrs. A. G. Buchanan; Mrs. Douglas Davis, Mrs. Wilbert Frankish, Mrs. Clare Chittick. Mrs. William Morrison, Miss Anne Richardson, Mrs. Clarence Foster Mrs. Delmar Jackman, Mrs Velma Armstrong and Miss Evelyn Tedford.

Working Girl Entertains Five Guests for Weekend

By MARY MOORE

We have some friends who bring a carload of their friends with them to visit us about once a year, and this past week-end they staged their annual visit.

Being a business-woman I had to do some plain and fancy planning to have three of the company for overnight guests—even when I farmed out two more to my sisters'.

Sunday night's dinner was my greatest concern for I did not want to spend all my Sunday afternoon hours in the kitchen making preparations.

So this is the meal I settled on:

Lobster bisque
Cold Sliced Smoked Tongue
Horseradish
Delmonico Potatoes
Mixed Kernel Corn, Peas and Pimiento
Celery
Chunk Pickles
Chocolate Bavarian Coffee

The base for the Lobster Bisque I made Friday night, and reheated with the canned lobster and other additions (see recipe), in an enamel double boiler at mealtime.

The tongue I boiled and peeled Saturday afternoon; same with potatoes; the corn was my own canned kernels, and the peas were frozen, so all they required was mixing, seasoning and heating on Sunday. The Chocolate Bavarian I made and put into the refrigerator to chill on Saturday afternoon.

(On their arrival for dinner Saturday night we had homemade chili con carne, cabbage and tomato slaw, rye bread and mince pie, but that is another story.)

Most of you could show me plenty of short-cuts and different meals that could be organized just as efficiently,—but these dishes that I chose suited my serving dishes, the tastes of my guests, my pocketbook, and my time schedule.

Lobster (or shrimp) Bisque

Five tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 3 cups rich milk, 1 can condensed chicken or bouillon or broth, 1 8-oz. tin lobster (or shrimp or crabmeat), 1 medium-sized onion sliced thin, 1 sprig parsley chopped finely, 1 tablespoon finely chopped canned pimiento, ½ cup thin cream Make a sauce by melting butter, stirring in flour, salt and pepper. Stir in the milk and bouillon until thick. (At this point I put it away to be finished just before mealtime.) At mealtime I added the chopped very finely the onion, parsley and pimiento and reheated, then added the cream and heated through. I served this in small bouillon cups—that is how I made it stretch for 8 people.

Delmonico Potatoes

Boil 6 large potatoes, peel and chill and dice them; spread on flat baking dish. Cover with thin white sauce made by melting 2½ tablespoons butter, adding 1½ tablespoons flour, and stirring in ½ cup evaporated milk or cream and 1 cup boiling water until thick. Add calt, white pepper, paprika, and 1 to 1½ cups grated old or processed cheese; stir until cheese is melted. Spread this over potatoes, sprinkle top with buttered crumbs, bake with top oven turned on to brown crumbs to golden, and heat dish through.

Chocolate Bavarian Cream

One tablespoon gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, 2 eggs, yolks and whites separated, pinch salt, 1-3 cup sugar, 1 cup milk, 1 cup of whipping cream, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Soak the gelatine in the cold water 5 minutes. Scald the milk in top of double boiler with the chocolate until the chocolate is melted, then beat with rotary beater until blended and smooth Stir well together the egg yolks sal and sugar, and slowly pour the milk and chocolate mixture over them, stirring. Place in double boiler. Add the soaked gelatine; stir until smooth, and cool over hot but not boiling water until mixture coats spoon. Remove from heat immediately and chill until it begins to congeal Then fold in stiffly beaten egg white and whipped cream and vanilla. Individual or large moulds may be lined with sponge cake or lady fingers or not. Then mixtuer is poured in and chilled overnight preferably. Chocolate may be omitted, and crushed strawberries served over the turned-out moulds.

COLOR FRAMES FOR THE EYES — New eyeglass fashions come to the notice often lately, and a sort of rainbow for your own surprise is the news for this model photograph. Frames themselves are heavy enough to be smart in the modern manner; the individual trick is the line of color under the brows, and topping each frame; they come with a box of thin plastic strips in a great variety of colors, and which you slip into slots in the natural color frames to get a color which suits you or your ensemble. We chose to have this photograph made with the glasses decked in gold plastic strips.

Ralph-Vick Union In Mark St. Church

The marriage was solemnized in Mark St. United Church by the Rev. A. M. Partridge of Mae Eleanor, daughter of Mr. William Vick and the late Mrs. Vick of Gelert, and Virgil Eugene Ralph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ralph, Peterborough. Mrs. A. E. DeNure played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Margaret Baxter who sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the bride entered the church, and "Because" during the signing of the register The church was decorated with baby 'mums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a dusty blue crepe afternoon dress with which she wore grey accessories and carried a white prayer book with gardenias and streamers. Miss Gladys Dwyer as bridesmaid wore a similar dress in navy crepe with grey accessories and a corsage of red roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. Wilbert Woods and ushers were Edward Bedding and Joseph Spencer.

At the reception held afterward at the groom's home, his mother received, wearing a burgundy suit with black accessories and corsage of yellow roses. She was assisted by the bride's sister wearing a black ensemble with rose corsage.

For going-away the bride chose a grey gabardine suit with navy accessories and carried a navy topcoat. After a wedding trip to Toronto and points west they will reside in Peterborough.

Hear Lecture On Frozen Foods

BETHANY, Oct. 21—(ENS)—Miss Barbara Broadfoot, of the Women's Home Economics branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture gave a lecture on "Frozen Foods" in the town hall on Tuesday evening. Her talk was illustrated with moving pictures of the best methods of preparing vegetables, fruits, meats, etc. for quick freezing; the best types of wrapping materials and containers for each product and the best proven methods of using and cooking frozen foods. Bulletins were distributed from the Ontario Department of Agriculture and the Women's Institute Branch for Homemakers to use as further guides.

Miss Broadfoot stressed that care should be used in selecting products for quick freezing. Only vegetables and fruits which are garden fresh and picked at the height of their maturity should be used. Quick freezing actually improves the natural qualities of foodstuffs, but it cannot improve fods that are of mediocre quality in the first place.

"Be choosey about your foods to be quick frozen and follow the rules for each individual product."

The speaker was introduced and thanked by Mrs. Leslie Challice, president of the Bethany branch of the Women's Institute.

Rev. C. Boyd Gives Missionary Talk

The Rev. C. G. Boyd was guest speaker for the Thankoffering meeting of St. Andrew's WMS held Tuesday afternoon in the church parlors. He gave a wonderful missionary talk on "Faith of Our Fathers." Mrs. L. R. Mitchell was guest artist for the afternoon and sang two lovely solos, accompanied by Mrs. L. McNeil at the piano. Appreciation of the members was expressed by Miss A. Munro.

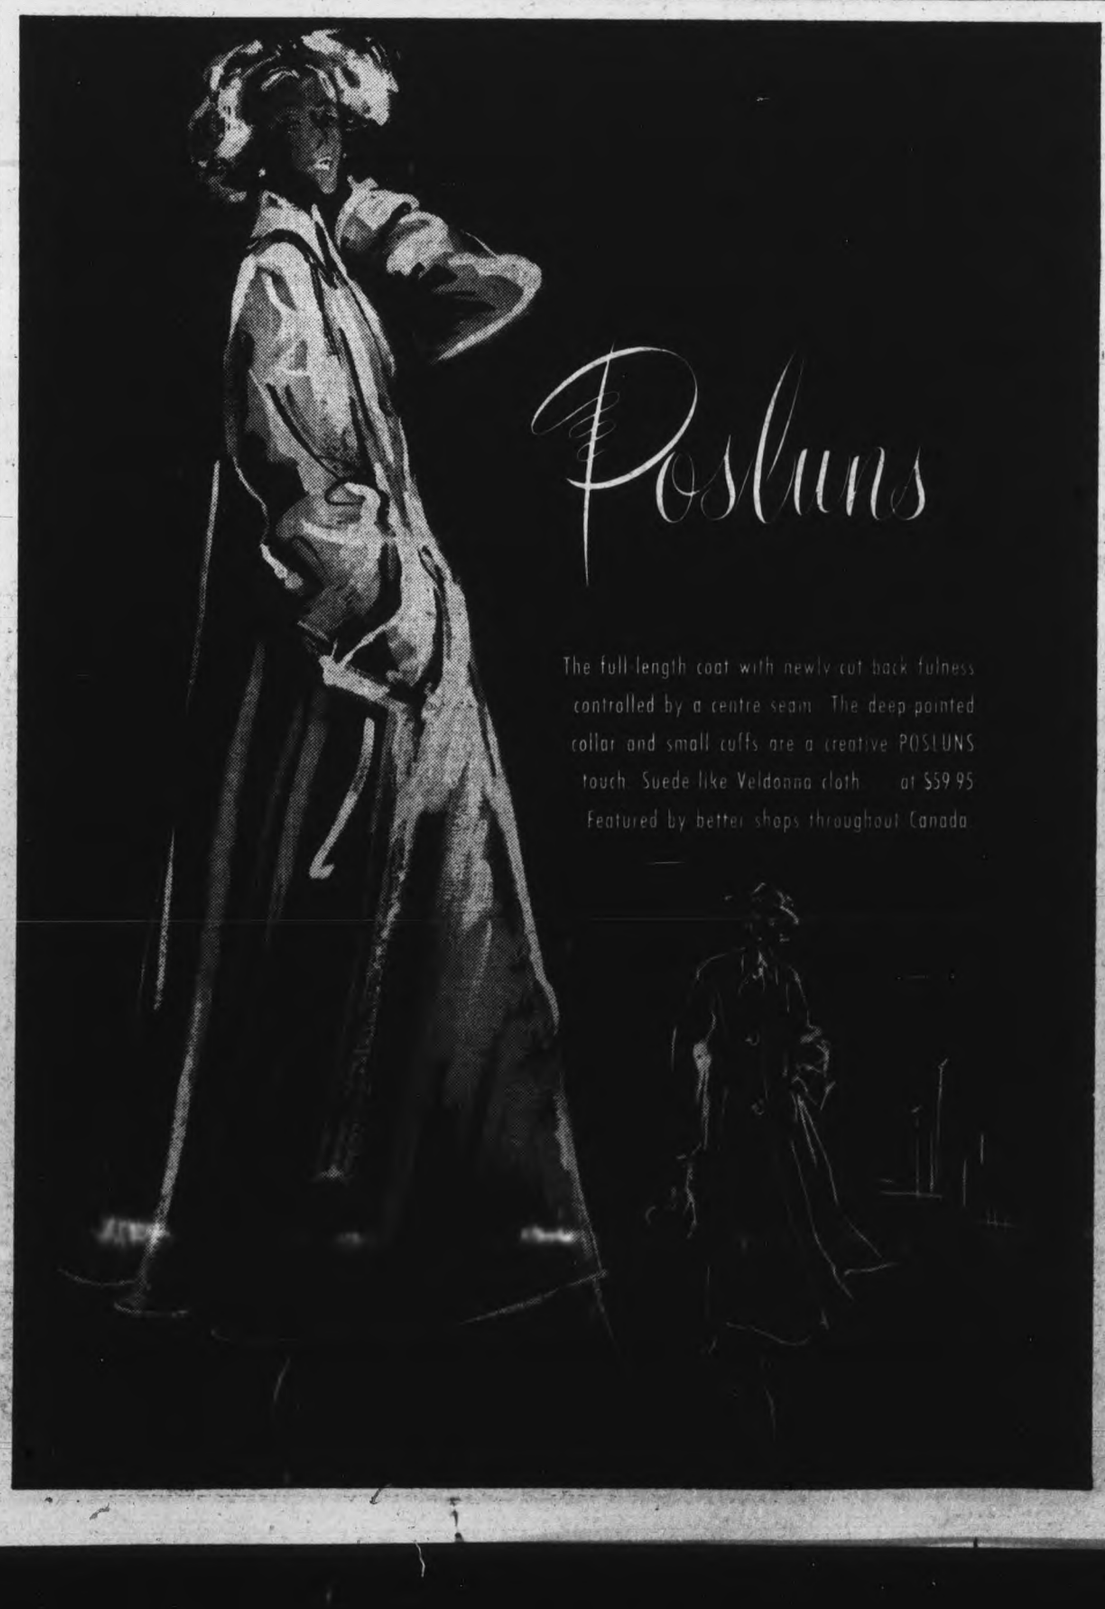
Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, president, extended a welcome and gave the call to worship. Mrs. E. Hawley reported for community friendship on 12 house calls and seven hospital calls made. Miss M. Ferguson, temperance secretary, read an interesting letter from Mrs. G. Adams, WCTU president, in reference to evils of alcohol today. A brief report on the sectional rally held recently was given by Mrs. Harris.

Miss Ruth Barns was in charge of devotions, reading from scripture and an essay on "God's Providence." Mrs. E. F. Reid led in prayer.

Refreshments were served at the close by Mrs. Hawley and her committee.

Hilda Mooney Weds Wm. T. Crapp

The marriage took place quietly in the Bridgenorth United Church parsonage on Wednesday afternoon of Hilda Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mooney to William Truman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Crapp. The Rev. Morris officiated.



The bride was wearing a navy suit with navy and white accessories and corsage of red roses. Her only attendant was Miss Margaret Thompson, who was wearing a grey dress with black accessories and corsage of pink roses.

The groomsman was Mr. Ivan Davis, cousin of the groom.

A reception was held at the bride's home after which the couple left for a trip to Northern Ontario. They will live on the groom's farm at Selwyn.

FIRST RECORDED COMET

Records of comets go back as far as the beginning of the third millenium, B.C., when a comet was observed in China.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Mothers Neglect Teaching Girl Rules of Marriage

Considering that nearly all mothers expect their daughters to marry and want them to marry, because they know that wifehood and motherhood is the career in which women find their greatest happiness and usefulness, it is a strange thing that so few mothers even try to prepare their daughters for their lifework.

Dorothy Dix

It is worse than strange. It is criminal. For there is not a married woman who does not remember the bitter disillusions that she went through as a bride when she was getting acquainted with her husband and discovering that he was not the romantic hero of her girlish dreams, but just a plain, ordinary he-man who wasn't safe to speak to before breakfast.

Not a one of them who does not recall quarrels that should never have taken place and the times she put on her hat and started back to Mother. Not a one who will ever forget the tears she shed over burnt roasts and soggy pies and the jellies that wouldn't jell when, for the first time, she was wrestling with a cooking stove that seemed to her a fiend incarnate of a household convenience.

Expect Miracles

One would think that every woman who has been through the ordeal by fire that the honeymoon really is, would educate her daughters for marriage, just as she would prepare them for any other profession by which they expected them to be miraculously inspired by a knowledge of domestic technique that has taken her forty years of fights and quarrels and tears to acquire.

What mother, for instance, ever teaches her daughters, from the time they are bobby-sockers, how to handle a man? She trusts it to luck that Marybelle is a born wolf-tamer, and that when she marries her husband will eat out of her hand and jump through the hoop at her bidding. Which is just merely wishful thinking.

But Mother could have shown daughter how to do the trick, assure herself a happy home and a devoted husband, if she had only taught her how to make him the family pet and rub his fur the right way, and to avoid stepping on his toes. You never hear of a woman who is always patting her husband on the head, and bragging about how clever he is, and showing him off before company who has to lie awake at night worrying about the Other Woman.

The modern mother doesn't even teach her daughters how to sew and cook, yet they are the two things that every woman needs most to know. Mother excuses herself for this by saying: "Oh, Mary Jane will learn how to run a house after she is married That's the way I did." Maybe so, but by the time Mary Jane has learned how to cook a roast without burning it, and to make edible bread and brew coffee that doesn't taste like dishwater or poison, she generally has given her husband chronic dyspepsia and soured his disposition for life.

Every mother wants her daughter to be happy though married. She can best achieve this result by preparing her or the career that she has elected to follow. For making a home is no job for amateurs. It is a learned profession that requires years and years of training that only a mother is qualified to give.

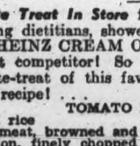
RESORT PYJAMAS OF WOOL—Good looking answer to day by day comfort when chill breezes blow, north or south in the wintertime, is this two-piece outfit of blended soft wool, the top a smooth shirt with inset bands of contrasting wool; the pants good and long with bell bottoms below a slick hip fit. Sailing addicts will love them, so will croquet sport enthusiasts for that matter; any of the currently popular short or long sports coats in fur or cloth will make it a complete, swank costume outside the home. The model has an elasticized waistline.

BUYS AND WHYS BY Barbara Brent

A weekly shopping and information service for today's woman

MONTREAL, Oct. 21st—Here's a medicine-cabinet "must" if ever I've seen one! Something new and wonderful in first aid dressings! Called DALMAS . . . it's ideal for bandaging cuts and blisters on hands or feet. Made of a paper-thin substance . . . that's washable, waterproof, smooth, can't fray, stretches all ways and is flesh-coloured, Dalmas Dressings are inconspicuous and comfortable. They're just what you've been looking for to cover cuts and scratches, for you can apply them in a jiffy . . . then, because they're waterproof—wash dishes—peel potatoes—just as if you'd never cut yourself at all! Ask your druggist for Dalmas First Aid Dressings to-morrow!

There's A Taste Treat In Store for your family! Four recent taste-tests, two among dietitians, showed an overwhelming preference for HEINZ CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP over its nearest competitor! So why not give your family the taste-treat of this favourite brand? . . . try this tested recipe! . . .



TOMATO FRICATELLI

3 cups cooked rice
1 lb. sausage meat, browned and drained
1 medium onion, finely chopped
1 10-oz. can Heinz Condensed Cream of Tomato Soup, undiluted
2 tablespoons grated cheese

Arrange rice and sausage meat in alternate layers in a greased casserole. Sprinkle each layer with chopped onion. Pour in Soup and sprinkle top with grated cheese. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.) for 30 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

Just Sixty-Five Days 'Til Christmas! Why not suggest a special gift from the family and to the family this year . . . a rug—a chair—a table . . . something for your home that everyone will enjoy? Gifts like this aren't bought with pin-money . . . best way I know to provide for this payment is to open a Savings Account at the BANK OF MONTREAL now! The friendly staff at your nearest B of M branch will gladly help you open a Savings Account. If you already have an account, you can start putting in money right away toward your Family Christmas Gift! In fact, you'll find a B of M Savings Account wonderfully helpful all year 'round!

It's A Good Idea to plan in advance for Hallowe'en celebrations. And here's a "flavour trick" with SHIRRIFF'S FLAVOURING EXTRACTS AND FOOD COLOURS that's bound to be the life of the Hallowe'en Party! Tots and teen-agers will be thrilled by Taffy Apples flavoured with Shirriff's True Peppermint. And a dash of Shirriff's Red or Green Food Colour will make those yummy apples twice as exciting! Do the same with Popcorn Balls using Butterscotch flavouring for variety and just listen to those delighted kids! So shop now for Hallowe'en — and, remember—with Shirriff's to help you, you'll never be at a loss for thrilling desserts—candies—cakes or puddings!

What A Wonderful Way To Start The Day! Sit down to breakfast with the fragrance of just-made CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE to whet your appetite . . . and its vivid, lively flavour to wake you up in a jiffy! Yes, folks who like REAL coffee make a breakfast-time habit of Chase & Sanborn. Its honest-to-goodness flavour is the answer to its ever-increasing popularity. Just try it! . . . discover for yourself why so many folks say . . . "Chase & Sanborn is REAL coffee!"

Here's A Beauty Tip that's fashion-wise . . . and budget-perfect! Peggy Sage's FASHION PINK Set with Lipstick and Nail Polish . . . 1.75 value for only 1.35! You'll wear Fashion Pink constantly, for it's lovely with everything from suits to silks. And you'll love it for its flattery . . . for Fashion Pink "Shimmer" Lipstick, with "Sheer" or "Regular" Nail Polish to match will make you feel your lovely best . . . groomed to prettiest perfection! Ask for Peggy Sage's Fashion Pink Set . . . at better stores everywhere.

Want Smoother Gravies . . . smoo-oth sauces? Then BENSON'S CORN STARCH is just what you've been looking for! It makes the most marvelous gravies and sauces to melt in your mouth! Clip and save this sauce recipe . . . it will be a favourite! . . .

WHITE SAUCE . . . (Basic Recipe)

2 tbspns. butter or other fat
2 tbspns. Benson's Corn Starch
1 tspn. salt
Dash pepper
Dash Worcestershire Sauce
2 cups milk

Melt fat in saucepan; blend in Benson's Corn Starch and seasonings. Let bubble over very low heat for 3 minutes. Add milk slowly and cook until smooth and thick, stirring constantly.

So Much More Time THERE! And what a wonderful thing this is when you're holidaying in beautiful Bermuda! More time to bask in the warm Bermuda sun . . . more time to sail and bathe. You can fly non-stop to Bermuda by T.C.A. "North Star" skyliner, in less than five hours from Montreal, slightly over five hours from Toronto. And what a wonderful trip! . . . you'll be more than pleased by the TRANS-CANADA AIR LINES hospitality . . . delicious, complimentary, hot meals served aloft—cards—cocktails and the friendly service of attentive stewards and stewardesses. And—remember—when you're planning your Bermuda Holiday . . . T.C.A. fares are low . . . round trip from Montreal, $153 . . . from Toronto, $162!

In October's Chilly Weather your youngsters' games of hide and seek are most often played indoors . . . and more often than not, they're hard on your furniture. But don't worry about stains on your best upholstery when ENERGINE will clean them up in a jiffy! Yes, Energine is a good thing to have around. It's "death" to grease stains and, at the same time, so wonderfully gentle with fabrics of all kinds . . cleans dresses—hats—handbags—rugs . . . without leaving telltale rings! That's why I urge you to keep Energine on your handiest shelf—at home or in the office. It helps keep furniture and clothes spot-free and looking like new!

A Brisk Walk In The Autumn Air . . . then home to a steaming cup of creamy-rich cocoa—that's my idea of a fine shortcut to a warm sense of glowing contentment. But—I insist on my cocoa being BAKER'S COCOA! A rare blend of carefully selected cocoa beans—and oh-so-skilful roasting—produces Baker's sumptuous flavour and its glorious, red-brown colour. This explains the better results you get when you use Baker's Cocoa in all cocoa recipes, too. Have a package of Baker's Cocoa doing active service in your kitchen . . . its uses are many and satisfying.

Voted Most Likely To Succeed with the man-in-your-life . . . these newsmaking socks of C-I-L nylon! He'll be thoroughly impressed by them and so will you! For they're made of nylon staple—that brand new fibre from which are being made the most wonderful sweaters, socks and suitings. It's light and fluffy—warm and comfortable. And, of course, it has all the beloved qualities of nylon—extra strength, toughness and abrasion resistance so the socks wear and wear! What's more, shrinkage worries are ended, even after repeated washings. Look for these nylon staple socks with the famous C-I-L nylon signature . . . "Fabric Made of C-I-L Nylon Staple"!.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

WANT STRIP OF LAND

Transfer to the city of a small block of land at the east end of Aberdeen Ave., by the Department of Public Works, Toronto, is being requested by the council as suggested by A. H. Wright. It is in the neighborhood of Normal School. Purpose of the transfer would be to enable sewer and water services to be extended to a house Mr. Wright is planning to build on his land.

FLOWERS STRIKEN

The floral fire of the salvias was snuffed out by the sharp frost Wednesday night. Roofs were white with it early this morning, and the water bucket was filmed with nearly one-quarter of an inch of ice. The big lily plants at the CGE were almost black, the ground under the horse chestnut trees was thick with fresh fallen leaves, and probably the big castor bean plants will have fallen during the day. Petunias in some places appeared to have survived the temperature of 26 deg., low of the night, and a few annual phlox were looking timidly out on the world as if wondering whether there would be a repetition of that cold night.

DAMAGED IN COLLISION

The car of Franklin N. Pammett, 505 Sherbrooke St., received about $200 damage to its grill, fender, headlight, radiator and bumper, in a collision with the parked car of John A. Goodson, 265 Park St. North, about 7:30 Wednesday evening. Mrs. Pammett received a slight cut on her nose in the accident, which took place on Park St. The Goodson car had about $20 damage done, to its rear fender, tail light and back skirting. PC William Scott investigated.

SUFFERS INJURIES

An elderly Toronto man received slight injuries Wednesday jutting air vent pipe off the evening when he tripped over a Public Rest Rooms at the Market Square. C. A. Davies, 70 of 1 Christian Ave., Toronto, bruised his knee, skinned his nose, received a cut under one eye and broke his glasses in the mishap.

CRIBBAGE CLUB BEGINS

Opening night for the Peterborough Bridge and Cribbage Club will be a social evening on Friday night. A full evening of entertainment, including a magician, has been promised. Prospective members are cordially invited as the club is looking for more players. It is expected that the schedule will begin about the middle of November.

Child's Arm Fractured When Struck By Car

Frightened by the accident in which she was struck by a car, seven-year-old Mary Ann Goodrow ran from the scene—Reid and McDonnel Sts.—to her home at 230 Dublin St. on Wednesday shortly before noon. Driver of the car, William Curtain of Ennismore, said that the child had run in front of his vehicle before he could stop it.

The girl was found to have compound fracture of the right arm and a sprain to her right knee. Having run in fright from a doctor at the scene, she was taken from her home to hospital for treatment. PC Douglas Farthing investigated.

Stole From Employer Youth Given 20 Days

James Britton of Long Branch was sentenced to 20 days in jail when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, to a charge of theft of $35 from his employer. The accused youth had been working for Mrs. Lemuel Pammett at a refreshment booth and service station at the intersection of Highway 28 and the Stony Lake Road. Provincial Constable Joseph Hanson said that Britton had the keys to the premises and the money had been taken during that time.

Britton had been arrested shortly after at his home in Long Branch.

Concentration Urged On Mental Health

TORONTO, Oct. 21.—(CP). — Municipal bylaws are needed before juvenile courts can be set up in Ontario communities, Mrs. Henry L. Cartwright of Kingston said Wednesday night, in the third lecture of a series by women lawyers sponsored by the Local Council of Women.

She said preventive steps to cut crime should begin in public school and the aid of school teachers enlisted. Schools should concentrate on mental health as much as they do on physical health.

DIES AT COBOURG

James L. Lavis, Cobourg, died suddenly at Agincourt on Tuesday. He was associated with the Brock St. Summer Gardens for many years, and later worked at Chemong. Last year he operated a business in Agincourt. Burial will be at Cobourg following requiem mass in St. Michael's Church.

MATRIARCHAL LAW

Under Burmese law, a wife may become head of the household if the husband drinks too freely.

300 More Contributions Received In Arena Drive

Ample evidence that the citizens of Peterborough have a heart—a great big heart—was clearly shown Wednesday night when some 75 weary but happy Civic Arena canvassers reported in to Arena Headquarters with donations from more than 300 people.

By midnight last night after figures had been checked and rechecked Allan Cameron, committee treasurer, announced with a great big smile on his face "that receipts for the day totalled no less than $1,437.85 with pledge cards amounting to another $31."

Broken down—the total figure represents $987.85 in straight house-to-house canvass while special donations of $450 were received from private individuals. Hugh Campbell and M. Clarence Neal of Outboard Marine Company each donated $100, while a cheque from the Canadian Nashua Paper Company was accepted for $250.

"The canvassers did a marvellous job last night," commented John Black, finance chairman—at headquarters this morning. "They were all out on the streets bright and early and many of them worked right up until 11 o'clock in the evening. If they can keep up the good work for the balance of the week we have every confidence that our goal of $20,000 will be attained.

An incident was cited during Monday night's canvass which brought much appreciated comment from the Arena Committee.

While making his rounds early in the evening canvasser Elmer Aitchinson called at the home of Bert Cutmore, accountant at the De Laval Company. Not only did Mr. Cutmore give a donation for himself but he also made one for his young son.

"Could you also use a couple of "green tickets" to Saturday night's hockey game in Toronto?" Bert asked Elmer. "Sure can," said Elmer. "Maybe we can raffle them off at one of the plants in town."

Elmer immediately scurried down to a plant in East City, presented the hockey tickets to one of the employees. In less than two hours the tickets were raffled off and no less than $57 was raised to further the Civic Arena cause—thanks to a public-spirited citizen by the name of Bert Cutmore.

Alderman Hurrell Dodds announced at the committee rooms last night that the Public Works Commission was installing the sewer system at the Arena—at its own expense. The Public Utilities has also signified its intention of installing the water system—also at no cost to the Civic Arena.

Total subscriptions received to date for the Civic Arena Fund amount to $23,401.70.

Donations previously acknowledged as of October 20—$21,963.85.

Fire In Cellar West End Home

Fire which started in the cellar of the home of Mrs. Maud Lynch, 541 Weller St., on Wednesday, caused an estimated $500 damage.

A spark from an unexplained source is believed to have ignited a box of soot that had been cleaned out of an old furnace. Up until about 11 p.m. on Tuesday night a workman had been installing a new oil burner.

Jack Lynch, a son, woke early in the morning and noticed a strong smell of smoke. He went to the cellar to investigate and then turned in the alarm.

Heavy smoke damage in the house was reported. In the cellar the upper joists had been burned and the under side of the upper floor scorched and charred in places. The flames did not break through the floor into the living quarters of the house.

The furnace was not damaged, but several storm windows which had been stored in the cellar, were burned.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

DUMMY EMANCIPATED

AT LAST the dummy is really in the game. He has been emancipated by the new Laws, which took effect officially on October 1, and now has many rights he did not have before. It gives him an interest in the game, and provisions regarding him follow the same common sense lines as the rest of the new regulations.

As before, the dummy is supposed to lay down his hand after the opening lead, then refrain from comment and taking any active part in the play. But, unless he forfeits his rights, as he does by looking at any card in any other player's hand, he is allowed to give or obtain information as to fact or Law, question any player regarding a revoke, draw attention to any irregularity, or try to prevent one, such as a lead out of turn, by calling the player's attention to the fact that he is apparently about to commit one.

If the dummy, however, should purposely see any of the cards of the declarer or either defender, and thereafter is the first to draw attention to a defender's irregularity, the declarer may not enforce any penalty; if he warns declarer not to lead from the wrong hand, either defender may specify the hand from which the declarer shall lead; if he is the first to ask the declarer if a play from his hand is a revoke, and the card in consequence is withdrawn, either defender may require the declarer to substitute his highest or lowest correct card.

A card in any hand is played when named as the one its owner proposes to play, unless its designation is changed practically in the same breath. A card in any unfaced hand is played when it touches the table face upward after being detached from the other cards with apparent intent to play; a defender's card so detached is also played as soon as his partner sees its face. A card in dummy or any other faced card is played when touched unless for a purpose other than play either manifest or mentioned. A played card may not be withdrawn except in compliance with Laws governing irregularities.

If a defender prematurely leads to the next trick before his partner has played to the current trick, or plays out of rotation before his partner has played, the declarer may require his partner to play his highest or lowest card of the led suit or, if unable to follow suit, then a card of another specified suit, except that if declarer has played from both his holdings, either defender may play before his partner.

Any lead out of turn may be treated as a correct lead, and must be if the other side plays a card before attention is called to the irregularity. If the declarer exposes his hand after an opening lead by the wrong defender, and before dummy has spread any of his hand, the dummy becomes the declarer. If either defender requires declarer to retract his lead out of turn, the wrong card is replaced and if declarer has led from the wrong hand he must lead from the correct hand and, if he can, a card of the same suit. A defender's drawing attention to declarer's lead out of turn is equivalent to requiring its retraction.

If the declarer requires a defender to retract his lead out of turn, when it is declarer's lead the card led becomes a penalty card, and when it is the other defender's lead the declarer may either forbid the lead of that suit and allow the card to be picked up or else may treat the card as a penalty card and allow any to be led. A lead or play simultaneously with another's proper lead or play is deemed to be subsequent, and if a defender leads or plays two or more cards simultaneously, he may play either and the other becomes a penalty card.

• • •

TOMORROW—Exposed and penalty cards, a defender's improper exposure of his hand, and revokes by the declarer or defenders.

Say Immigrants To Canada Not Communist

OTTAWA, Oct. 21—(CP)—Two cabinet ministers are convinced the immigrants and displaced persons Canada is bringing to her shores are not in the ranks of the Communists.

Labor Minister Mitchell, just back from a trip to Europe, said in an interview Tuesday that DPs don't want Communism. They will be a great bulwark against Communism spreading in this country.

In Toronto State Secretary Gibson said most immigrants now coming to Canada are seeking to escape Communism.

"We know that at the present time there are subversive elements at work, endeavoring to sow discord and discontent with the ultimate objective of overthrowing our present form of government," the minister said in an address before the National Council of Women Tuesday night.

Not Fertile Soil

But these elements were not inspired by immigrants, who are "far from being fertile soil for Communist teachings."

"Only if we let them down, if they lose faith in our democratic way of life, will they become receptive to the Communist doctrines."

Many Canadian Communists, he said, are "products of this country, and while they may receive their instructions and financial support from abroad, they form a definite and a dangerous element of our population."

In Ottawa, Mr. Mitchell branded as untrue reports circulated in Canada that many of the DPs are Communistically-inclined. "These people don't want Communism; they ran away from it. In the main, they would be a great bulwark against Communism spreading in this country."

Plan Headstones On Army Graves

MONTREAL, Oct. 21—(CP)—An extensive building program aimed at replacing white crosses with inscribed headstones is planned for next year in Empire military cemeteries overseas, Maj.-Gen. J. H. Roberts said here on Tuesday night. Gen. Roberts is chief administrative officer of the North-west European district, Imperial War Graves Commission and recently returned from Europe. He said architectural plans have been drafted for the cemetery work and only shortages of labor and materials are holding it up.

A few of the headstones have been erected, however. He said the simple wooden crosses now marking overseas graves are only a temporary measure. Families of Canadian servicemen killed overseas will be allowed to choose a short inscription for the headstone.

All cemeteries in Normandy, elsewhere in France and in Holland are looking well now, Gen. Roberts reported. In Holland and Belgium the commission had difficulty in making flowers grow at first because of the sandy soil but now grass and flowers are flourishing and the commission tries to keep a rose on every grave.

Gen. Roberts returns to his overseas graves commission job on Saturday.

Seek To Strengthen Canadian Family Ties

OTTAWA, Oct. 21 — (CP) — The Canadian Welfare Council is taking steps to strengthen those family ties.

E. R. McEwen, secretary of the recreation division's national Welfare Council, announced today that an institute on family recreation will be held in Montreal next March.

Designed to counteract the tendencyof community recreation programs to pull families apart, the institute will be the main project for the year of the Eastern Ontario and Quebec section of the recreattion division's national committee.

Mrs. James Collins Sells Homestead

DOURO, Oct. 21 (ENS)—Mrs. James Collins has sold the family homestead to Mr. and Mrs. Sherrard, formerly of Washington State. Mrs. Collins and daughter Anna have gone to Cobourg, where they will spend a short holiday with Rev. R. Collins.

Prior to leaving, neighbors of S.S. No. 1 and other friends gathered at their home to present several fine gifts. Mrs. Collins received a chenille bedspread, a chenille housecoat and wool blanket. On account of her approaching marriage, Miss Anna was given a beautiful chair. An address was read by Miss Isabel Heffernan, the teacher in S.S. No. 1. The executive of the CWL also presented a purse to Anna who is an executive member. The address was read by Mrs. Frank O'Brien and Mrs. Dan Dwyer made the presentation.

Euche was played and lunch served to the very large crowd.

INVESTIGATE EUROPEAN RELIEF

MONTREAL — William M. Birks, of Montreal, chairman of the Canadian United Allied Relief Fund, announced he will head a delegation to investigate distribution of relief financed by subscriptions from Canadians in European countries. Value of the relief since 1945 amounts to $30,000,000.

IN CANADA on a five-week cross-country tour to find out what Canadians would like in the way of British cultural material and to learn what Canada can give England in return, Sir Shuldham Redfern, former private secretary to two governors-general, arrived from Britain recently.

Pair Admit Keeping Slave Boy Deny They Ill-Treated Youth

A GAUNT, HAGGARD BOY with bruises and scratches on his back and terror in his eyes was found Wednesday night scratching on the door of a Queensway home in suburban Toronto in search of food. The boy, Gordon Kelly, 14, said he had been held prisoner in a Mount Dennis home in another Toronto suburb for the past year. Weighing only 65 pounds, the boys is shown here with Provincial Constable Gordon Johnstone as he was assisted to the Children's Shelter. (This photo is copyrighted by the Toronto Telegram)

Israel Gives Army Order Cease Fire

Egypt Falls In Line With UN Demand; Guns Roar To Last

TEL AVIV, Oct. 22—(CP)—Fighting in the Negev desert area of southern Palestine came to a standstill at 7 a.m. EST, today—the United Nations deadline for the cease-fire—official Israeli reports said.

Three hours after the deadline, and Israeli army spokesman declared:

"There is absolute quiet on the whole southern front."

Earlier in the day, air raid sirens wailed in Tel Aviv. Anti-aircraft fire could be heard, but no planes were visible.

Egyptian artillery pounded Israel:-held roads in southern Palestine this morning apparently in a last-minute blow before the cease-fire was to take effect, the Jewish army said.

Gunfire snarled traffic and halted a convoy of civilian cars which had been scheduled to take a party of reporters to Beersheba, capture of which was reported by the Israeli army on Thursday.

14 Hours Leeway

The cease-fire order was handed the government of Israel at 1 a.m., 14 hours before the deadline, U.N. officials said. Israel had asked a 12-hour margin after receipt of the message, to allow time for issuance of orders to advance positions to stop shooting.

Israeli acceptance of the cease-fire was delivered by the foreign office director-general, Walter Eytan, to Dr. Paul Mohn, representing Bunche.

The note said:

"The provisional government has issued this (cease-fire) in the Negev on the assumption that the Egyptian government has ordered its forces in the Negev, including all irregulars that may be operating in that area, to cease fire at the same hour and this cease-fire shall be effective."

The daylight air-raid alert lasted an hour and a half without planes appearing over Tel Aviv. It was reported unofficially that some small bombs were dropped in the general coastal area, south of the Israeli capital.

Send Observers

Despite reports that the Egyptians were shelling roads leading to the Negev, 12 U.N. observers were to be dispatched shortly after midday to watch the cease-fire go into effect. They will be distributed at six points throughout the southern desert area, it was learned.

The Israelis, flushed with their reported capture of Beersheba, cradle of the modern Arab world, had informed the acting U.N. mediator, Ralph Bunche, that they would quit fighting when as-

Beat Out Flames

TORONTO, Oct. 22—(CP). — An unidentified motorist who beat out flames in the burning clothes of 10-year-old Joseph Bull, of Toronto, Thursday is credited by the boy's mother, Mrs. Ernest Bull, with saving the boy's life. Mrs. Bull said the boy's clothing caught fire when he was playing with two other boys behind a cleaning plant and threw a match on the ground. Some cleaning fluid was ignited.

Howe Asks Aid Of Steel Men Solve Shortage

OTTAWA, Oct. 22 — (CP). — The government has appealed to the Canadian steel industry to help solve Canada's critical shortage of steel.

This was confirmed today by an authoritative source who added that Trade Minister Howe likely will receive submissions in two weeks from at least four big steel companies on ways to meet the shortage.

Mr. Howe himself says he likely will have something to say on steel in a fortnight.

The solution, said a government source, was in the construction of at least another blast furnace with 1,000-tons-a-day pouring capacity.

"The problem is not in a lack of iron ore. We've plenty of ore. We just haven't got enough pouring capacity."

Meanwhile, the government was not planning any further steel controls such as the one announced by Mr. Howe yesterday.

"We'll wait and see what the industry can offer," the source said. Mr. Howe's announcement yesterday said that importers of American-made structural steel will require permits on all American shipments. The control by permit starts next Monday.

The United States, it is learned, is the only foreign country that augments the Dominion's annual production of steel to any considerable degree. Canada's current production is 3,.00,000 tons of ingots a year; her needs call for at least another 500,000 tons.

Mr. Howe agreed to a restricted supply from the United States because of American plans to rebuild her defences. It brings down Canada's import from American plants from 1,000,000 to about 800,000 tons a year.

"We cannot get steel from other countries," said a government spokesman. "On the contrary, other nations are clamoring for Canadian-made iron and steel products."

Defence projects in Canada will not suffer because of the shortage. The spokesman said steel will be made available for these.

Steel priority will be given Hydro plant construction, railway rolling stock and box cars, the ship building industry, Canadian agricultural implements and the expanding petroleum industry.

No Charges Laid Against Smith Family

Couple Took Wards Mentaliy-Deficient For Several Years

TORONTO, Oct. 22 — (CP). — An elderly couple who occupied a big white house at nearby Summerville, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Smith, today admitted to police that Gordon Kelly, "slave boy," who said he was held prisoner for more than a year, had been staying at their home.

York township police said that although the starving boy only weighed 65 pounds, he was 19 and not 14 as was at first believed. He had attended Silverthorn school in York township until the seventh grade. No charges have been preferred against the Smiths and the matter has been referred to the Children's Aid Society.

The Smiths were taken from their home at Summerville, about 20 miles west of here today after a search of the area where the boy said he had been held prisoner. Police said the couple was reticent about supplying details but finally admitted the youth had lived with them.

The mystery of Kelly's origin remained as baffling as ever but the Smiths denied they had ill-treated him. The couple moved from York township to Cooksville in 1942 and later moved to Summerville. As Summerville is in Peel county, York township police said the matter now is in the hands of county police.

24-Hour Search

A 24-hour search for the premises where the boy said he was a captive led to the Smith's home on the Etobicoke river.

A. E. Kilpatrick, director of the Children's Aid Society at nearby Brampton, said the Smiths had operated a home for sub-normal children about five years ago.

Police said Mrs. Smith told them the boy had been in her charge since he was very young and that he had not gone to school since 1942. She said he had been ill since that time and that she had a medical certificate to prove it.

The Smiths told police the boy had been fed three meals a day while he was with them.

Preparing Stataement

William Smith, a son, told reporters that his father was preparing a statement which would be issued to the press later in the day. He described the affair as an "unfortunate climax to a life's work." He refused to elaborate.

Stewart Sutton, director of the Children's Aid Society, issued a statement saying that at one time Mrs. Smith looked after mentally-deficient wards for the Society. However, later the Society ruled

Prime Ministers Promise Fight Aggression

LONDON, Oct. 22 — (CP). — Prime Ministers of the British Commonwealth pledged all appropriate measures to deter and resist aggression to-day at the close of an 11-day conference on defence and economic problems.

A communique from the British Prime Minister's office said the conference delegates agreed to work for peace, striging to increase industrial production and raise living standards, especially for the peoples of the less developed countries of the world.

The statement said conferees were in general agreement that Britain's part in the Western alliance did not conflict with the Commonwealth's interests.

An economic forecast for the coming years made by the United Kingdom Government for the organization for European economic co-operation was considered in order to give the other Commonwealth countries an opportunity to examine its implications for their own economies.

The conference reaffirmed the desirability for all the Commonwealth governments, in formulating policies, to consult with one another, so far as practicable, that each can co-operate by taking into account the needs and policies of the others.

The conference was impressed by the value of the discussions which had taken place at the ministerial level and expressed a general desire to maintain and extend methods of consultation on foreign affairs, economic affairs and defence are being submitted to the governments for consideration and decision.

Bear Terrorizes Crew

MONTREAL, Oct. 22—(CP)—An enraged 500-pound Polar bear which terrorized the crew of the Norwegian freighter Topdalsfjord ended his first trans-Atlantic voyage in Montreal—as a rug. The ship reached here last night and crew members said he was one of six Arctic bears shipped here en route to a New York zoo. The beast was shot when he broke out of his cage in mid-Atlantic.

Extend Rent Control Year Restricted Boost 10 PC Abbot Announces Plans

Landlords Who Didn't Take Last Increase Can Raise Rents Now; Accommodation Vacant Nov. 1 Decontrolled

OTTAWA, Oct. 22—(CP).—Finance Minister Abbott announced today that the Federal Government plans to extend domestic rent control for another year beyond next March 31—unless the provinces wish to take over—and disclosed that another boost in rent ceilings is being granted. The rental increases will not become effective until the expiration of present leases.

They will take this form:

1. An over-all 10-per-cent. jump for all landlords who did not avail themselves of the 10-per-cent. increase authorized in May, 1947. Landlords who did take the 1947 increase and gave their tenants the conditional two-year lease do not get the increase.

2. An additional over-all increase of five per cent for all housing acommodation where heat is supplied, regardless of whether the general 10-per-cent boost was put into effect.

Other Relaxations

At the same time, Mr. Abbott announced these relaxations in the over-all rent control:

1. After Nov. 1 this year, all accommodation which becomes legally vacant will automatically be decontrolled and the landlord may rent it however he wishes. This does not apply to rooms or so-called shared accommodation.

2. After Nov. 1 any one who has purchased housing accommodation before Nov. 1, 1947, may give the present tenant notice to vacate at the end of six months, provided he declares that he needs the accommodation for himself and his family and undertakes not to rent or sell it before April 1, 1950.

3. Any landlord who acquired a house at any time and who wishes to occupy it himself may apply to a commissioner for power to give a valid notice to vacate on the grounds that he is suffering a greater hardship than his tenant.

The rental increases being granted do not affect rooms or so-called shared accommodation and certain accommodations where the rental has been fixed officially on a "fair rental" basis.

Mr. Abbott explained to a press conference that the effect of the increases in the ceiling is this:

A landlord who took the 10-per-cent increase when it was offered last year does not get it now. However, if he provides the heating he can take the five-per-cent boost being authorized for that purpose.

A landlord who did not take the 10-per-cent increase last year can take it now. If he also heats the premises, he gets the five-per-cent increase as well, making a 15-per-cent boost in all.

However, landlords may not put these increases into effect until present leases have expired. In the cases of monthly leases, which expire at the end of each month,

EXTEND RENT

Rent Control

OTTAWA, Oct. 22 —(CP)—Here in brief is what Finance Minister Abbott announced today on domestic rents:

Landlords may increase rents 10 per cent provided they didn't take advantage of a similar authorization last year that had strings attached.

Where heating is provided, the increase may be 15 per cent. In this case, landlords who took 10 per cent last year now may take five.

These boosts may be put into effect only after the expiration of current leases. They apply to housing generally, except rooms, shared accommodations and certain quarters where rents have been fixed on a "fair rental" basis.

The government plans to extend rent control for a year after the normal expiration date of March 31, 1949.

Any time after March 31, 1949, it will turn over the rental field to any province that will undertake control. It will pay provincial administration costs for a year.

After Nov. 1, any house or apartment becoming legally vacant automatically becomes completely free of control.

On six months' notice, a landlord who bought a dwelling before Nov. 1, 1947, may evict a tenant by saying he needs the accommodation for his family. But he may not sell or rent again before April 1, 1950.

Mechanic Loses Tops Of Fingers

MILLBROOK, Oct. 22.—Piercey Pitt, rural mail carrier from Millbrook was the victim of an unfortunate accident today. He had the tops of the three first fingers of his left hand amputated by the whirling blades of a truck engine fan. Mr. Pitt was taken to hospital in Peterborough for treatment by Dr. J. W. Wright.

In the mornings, Mr. Pitt works at Chapman's garage and delivers mail in the afternoon. Today he was trying to free a fan belt which had stuck. The engine was running, and when he reached to loosen the belt, the fan started, slicing off the tops of his fingers. He also is a competent show card writer, and he is thanking the good fortune that spared his right hand.

Will Adopt Soviet Mark If Blockade Lifted Now

PARIS, Oct. 22—(CP).—The six "neutral" powers on the United Nations Security Council called on Russia today to lift the Berlin blockade at once. The meeting was delayed nearly an hour by last minute conferences among the Big-Four delegations directly concerned in the issue. The United States, Britain and France have accused Russia of endangering peace by blockading Berlin.

It was understood in some quarters that Andrei Vishinsky, chief Soviet delegate, said he was prepared to abstain in the vote on a resolution on Berlin provided certain changes were made in its wording.

The neutrals put before the Council a joint resolution which said the four military governors of Germany should adopt the Soviet mark as Berlin's sole currency before Nov. 20 in exchange for lifting the blockade.

The resolution also provided Council of Britain, the United that the Foreign Ministers' States, Russia and France meet to seek a solution of all questions at issue over Germany.

10 Germans Die For War Crimes

MUNICH, Oct. 22.—(AP).—Ten German war criminals were hanged today at Landsberg prison, despite recent appeals of German Catholic and Protestant church leaders that further executions be halted.

Alex Piorkowski, 44, one-time commander of the Dachau concentration camp; and a former S.S. colonel, Hans Trummler, 48, who passed out cigars to his troops after they killed parachuted aviators, were the best known of the men who went to the gallows under a grey sky in the court yard of the prison where Hitler wrote "Mein Kampf."

All were convicted by American courts of shooting unarmed American fliers or torturing and killing concentration camp prisoners.

The plea for suspension of the executions of 139 war criminals under death sentence was made by church leaders after 10 other Germans had been hanged at Landsberg last Friday for similar crimes.

In telegrams to army secretary Kenneth Royal of the United States, the church leaders asked that the hangings be halted until further investigation showed whether conviction of those involved had been properly obtained.

Pick 2 As Robbers From Police Line-up

TORONTO, Oct. 22.—(CP). — Police said Thursday night that bank officials from Ridgeway, identified two of seven persons held here on weapons charges as men who robbed the Ridgeway bank of $5,000 Sept. 2.

Four men arrested Wednesday in a weapons raid on a Toronto rooming house were placed in a lineup at police headquarters. One of the men, Norman Sullivan, is on $20,000 bail on a charge of robbing the bank, but police said the bank employees did not point him out in the lineup.

200 Casualties In Strike Paralyzing French Mines

PARIS, Oct. 22. — (AP).—Total casualties of the violence-studded French coal strike approaches 200 today as the crippling walkout of 335,000 miners wen into its 20th day.

There were no incidents reported today, however, as soup kitchents were rolled out in Eastern France, signifying the Communist-led strikers were pulling in their belts.

Thursday's bitter fighting in which scores of police and soldiers were injured brought a threat of martial law. Some cabinet ministers were said to feel Premier Henri Queuille should not only declare a state of seige in the coal fields, but should send more troops there and call up reserves.

An announcement Thursday night that a policeman had been killed at St. Etienne in South Central France was retracted by police today. They said he wac "near death."

The bitterest fighting took place Thursday at Grandcombe in Southern France when 6,000 person overwhelmed police and soldiers, about 50 of whim were severely injured.

Police finally fled the town, abandoning a large quantity of material, including a truck loaded with helmets and rifles.

At Bethune in Northern France 13 police were badly wounded in a clash with 5,000 strikers who surrounded the local jail and forced authorities to release seven arrested strikers.

The strikers forced a government official from his office, but police and soldiers rescued him unharmed.

Police suffered heavier casualties than strikers, who attacked with clubs and iron bars. Government forces retaliated with tear gas.

Assess Woodbine Race Track $508,000

TORONTO, Oct. 22 — (CP) — The city's assesment on the Ontario Jockey Club's Woodbine racetrack property has been increased from $5,000 to $508,000, it was announced today at the office of Maj. Palmer H. Wright, the club's secretary-treasurer.

Maj. Wright said the club would "definitely" appeal the action, which he termed a "crippling blow".

He said a recent Supreme Court ruling had assessed the buildings at their wrecking value of $5,000, and added, "I don't see how the city can change that assessment without defying the Supreme Court decision."

Has No Comment

TORONTO, Oct. 22. — (CP).—Planning Minister Arthur Welsh of Ontario declined to comment today on the announcement by Finance Minister Abbott that the provinces will be permitted to set up their own rent controls after next March 31. Premier Thomas Kennedy was not available for comment.

Love Song Brings Doctor Home

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. —(AP). — A 34-year-old Grand Rapids doctor, object of a country-wide search since his disappearance in March, 1947, was reunited with his family because of a love song.

In 1947 Dr. William Aston headed for the Mayo Clinic in Minnesota for a physical check-up and to do some medical work. He never got there and his wife Patricia, 28, enlisted police aid in efforts to locate him.

As the trail crew cold, Mrs. Aston returned to her job as a nurse and concentrated on her two daughters, Patricia 5, and Kathy 3.

Tuesday night she had just finished the family washing and was about to go to bed when the doorbell rang. When she opened the door, Dr. Aston stood there.

Dr. Aston was in a Chicago restaurant on Monday night when he heard a juke box playing the song "Because" that had been played at their wedding. In that moment, he said, he suddenly remembered his true identity

New US Ambassador Slips Into Ottawa Unnoticed

OTTAWA, Oct. 22—(CP). — A "nice way to arrive" is the way Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt of the United States speaks of his arrival here.

Cornered by a Canadian Press reporter in the wee hours of the night, he admitted he slipped into Ottawa Thursday afternoon in an old Rolls Royce, accompanied by his wife.

"You caught me just moving in," he said in an interview over the telephone. "I'm extremely pleased to be here."

Successor to Ray Atherton, now United States alternate delegate to the United Nations meeting in Paris, Mr. Steinhardt said he hadn't even made plans to present his credentials. He wasn't even sure when he would get around to it.

From Embassy officials it was learned he was waiting for Lester B. (Mike) Pearson, newly-appointed External Affairs Minister, to finish campaigning in Algoma West before he would formally present himself. Mr. Pearson is trying for a seat in the Commons. The by-election takes place Oct. 25.

Embassy officials expected that Mr. Pearson will accompany Mr. Steinhardt when he appears before the Governor-General and presents his credentials. The formal presentation may not take place until Nov. 3.

In the meantime, Mr. Steinhardt was just having "a look around the city."

He said he had been to Canada on visits before. He also had been to Russia, but he couldn't say much about that. Now he had just been getting himself settled" in the US Ambassador's official residence in suburban Rockcliffe.

Car Stealing Racket Uncovered In Toronto

TORONTO, Oct. 22.—((CP).—A large scale car stealing racket operating out of Toronto and extending to Manitoba cities is suspected by police today following the arrest Thursday night of George White, 29-year-old trucker of Painswich and the recovery of two reportedly stolen cars.

White faces five charges—two of car theft, two of receiving stolen car and one of carrying an unregistered automatic. Police said they are now searching for a Manitoba man.

They saaid many cars stolen from Toronto during the last two years have been resold in Manitoba.

War Criminals Should Return For Trial-Gay

MONTREAL, Oct. 22 (CP). — French Ambasador Francisque Gay, carefully avoiding any direct mention of four alleged French collaborators now living in Canada, said Thursday it is his opinion that Frenchmen accused of war crimes should voluntarily return to their own country and face trial to prove their innocence.

The grey-bearded Ambassador told a press conference attended by about 50 reporters that:

1—Since the end of war France has made only one request for extradition on charges of collaboration with the enemy and that was in the case of Pierre Laval.

2—And at any rate, France, which has made no formal demand for the men, has no extradition treaty with Canada.

3—The French Government did not make any application for the extradition of any alleged collaborators now living in Canada.

4—The 1,000 judges now assigned to handle cases of collaboration with the Germans were chosen by the government, and as far as he knew "there is not a militant Communist among them."

5—He did provide the Canadian Government with the complete dossiers of fivealleged collaborators known to be living in Canada.

The Ambassador devoted most of the two-hour conference to a review of the French Government's handling of collaboration cases since the end of last year.

sured the Egyptians would do so.

Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion Thursday night sent a telegram to the Israeli commander on the Negev desert front, congratulating him.

Fall of Beersheba undermined the positions of the Egyptians, who invaded Palestine five months ago. The Egyptian front appeared in danger of crumbling into isolated pockets of resistance against a Jewish offensive. The Jewish victory also threatened the Egyptian front south of Jerusalem and aimed a threat at Gaza, capital of the Arab-proclaimed Palestine state and base of the Egyptian spearhead into Palestine.

the Big Four to forget the prestige involved in the dispute.

The question of world peace is much more important than the prestige of any one power, he declared.

The small powers said in their resolution the Big Four should do these things:

1. Avoid any incident which might worsen the conflict in Berlin.

2. Take the necessary steps immediately to: (a) raise all restrictions on transport, communications and commerce between Berlin and western zones of Germany; (b) call an immediate meeting of the four military governors to unify the currency of Berlin on the basis of the Soviet mark; and (c) set the date for completion of the currency unification at Nov. 20.

3. "Reopen negotiations in the Council of Foreign Ministers on all outstanding problems concerning Germany as a whole" within 10 days after the fulfilment of measures in Section 2.

hat she was incapable of giving hem care and the children were removed from her home.

Police said they were investigating the possibility the boy's parents were still alive and were questioning his relatives.

Chief Constable Garnet McGill of Toronto township said children were removed from Mrs. Smith's care when he advised the society they were badly treated.

He said that during a visit to the house in 1946 he had found a boy standing in front of the house, clad in summer clothing despite severely cold weather.

When a reporter asked: "This is where Gordon was living, isn't it?" Mrs. Smith replied "I ain't talking."

In the kitchen of the Smith house was a heavy-set woman and with her was her husband, Sam Smith, a slight man with a dark, acquiline face. Husband and wife were dressed in somber garments and looked poverty-stricken. Yet the house around them was described by a reporter as "a bride's dream," so far as furnishings were concerned.

Although Mrs. Smith declined to speak of the boy, she willingly showed a reporter through the house. She displayed a table set with shining glass and silver on a spotless cloth. There were chesterfield suites and pictures, walnut beds and a candlewick bedspread. There were shelves in the kitchen with hundreds of filled fruit jars. In the attic was a huge store of vegetables and seeds.

Establishment of the identification through a school principal who knew the boy 4 years ago ended speculation that the youth might be Richard Marlowe, who at the age of nine disappeared in 1944 from his home in one of Toronto's western suburbs.

The principal who identified the Kelly boy is Ralph McIntosh of Toronto's Rawlinsoon School. He said he knew Gordon Kelly as a pupil at Silverthorn Public School in suburban York township.

Police last night took Mr. McIntosh to the psychiatric hospital where the youth is being held for observation. Mr. McIntosh said later that the boy remembered him, as his eyes lighted up when the principal walked into the room.

"He seemed to recognize me," Mr. McIntosh said. "But he couldn't seem to remember when he had known me. When I talked to him, his eyes filled with tears and the interview was cut short."

Mr. McIntosh said that when Gordon Kelly attended his classes, he was living with a woman who was not his mother and often appeared slovenly and in need of a haircut. About four years ago the Kelly boy was given a transfer from the school as he and his guardian were moving to a house on the Dundas highway.

Police searched the suburbs for evidence to prove or disprove the boy's almost incredible story of maltreatment at the hands of an elderly uncle and aunt.

BUILDING PERMIT FEE

Kitchener collected in building permit fees $3,463 to the end of September. Peterborough council considered charging a similar fee this year, but opposition rose up in and out of the council. The main protest was that building costs were to high already without adding anoher dollar. Kitchener collected last year for nine months $2,242

WOLVES ON PROWL

Wolves are reported to have killed 12 sheep on the Payne farm at Loon lake. Local residents have caught two up to now, and hope to get several more in their traps before the snow flies. Foxes also are raiding the chicken houses of the district. Reports from the Wilberforce district say that a pack of at least 30 brush wolves have been seen in that district although none has been captured yet.

LEAVES LURE CHILDREN

Children around town are piling up the seared leaves of maples and elms in front of their homes. The smaller one are enjoying this autumn fun for the first time. Their elders have graduate from this simple play. They will be adults, probably, before they yearn to scuff and tumble about in the leaves. By that time they will be hapless grown-ups, and the sense of simple play will be gone from them.

Cardinal Hlond Dies In Warsaw

WARSAW, Oct. 22.—(AP). — August Cardinal Hlond, primate of Poland, died today. He was 67.

Cardinal Hlond, an outspoken foe of the Communist-led Polish government, died at 10.30 a.m., of pneumonia, which he developed after undergoing an appendicitis operation.

His death reduced the membership of the Sacred College of Cardinals to 56. Its full quota is 70.

He had been a Cardinal since 1927. That year he was appointed Archbishop of Posen and Primate of Land to succeed the late Cardinal Dilber.

He began his career as a priest in Milan, Italy, where he became a close friend of the man who was to become Pope Pius XI.

Ten years ago Polish Roman Catholics felt that, should the tradition of an Italian Pope be broken, Cardinal Hlond might have a good chance of being elected Pontiff by the College of Cardinals. At that time he enjoyed the confidence of Pius XI and was granted the privilege of acting as world-wide spiritual director over all Poles regardless of their places of residence. That privilege was given him despite the fact that authority of Bishops generally is limited to their diocese or their own countries the increases will become effective Dec. 1 this year.

Turning to the whole field of rent control, Mr. Abbott said the Government plans to ask parliament for power to continue its rental restrictions for another 12 months beyond March 31, 1949, the date on which the enabling legislation expires.

However, the Government is prepared to vacate the rental field at any time after next March 31 "to any province which may decide to undertake rent control."

The Dominion will be prepared to make available to the provinces its records, information and the experience of the federal rental administration with all available staff

In addition, it will—subject to parliamentary approval—pay the cost of any provincial rental administration for one year.

Mr. Abbott said he was making his announcement at this time so that any provincial government which wishes to do so will have sufficient time to prepare the necessary legislation.

No Approaches

At the same time, he said he had had no approaches from any province which indicated it wanted to take over the control.

He conceded there would be nothing to prevent a province from taking over the rental field at its own request and then promptly abandoning it and making all accommodation within its borders control-free.

He noted briefly that the constitutionality of continuing federal rent control now is being contested in the courts at Toronto, but said he was not prepared to say how far the Dominion would go in appeal if the lower courts should decide that the control legislation was illegal.

However, he said he did not think the judgment of the trial judge—if he upset the legislation —should be taken as determining the law. This indicated to observers that the Dominion would make at least one appeal to a higher court, though it might not go beyond that if the judgment was upheld.

He indicated the Dominion would drop its rent control if the higher courts held the legislation to be unconstitutional. Such a ruling would mean that the rental administrations would be unable to enforce the regulations in the courts.

In the event of such a ruling, the Dominion would repeal the legislation at the following session of parliament.

Order 66 More Planes For Lift

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—(AP). President Truman today authorized Gen. Lucius Clay, United States commander in Germany, to add up to a maximum of 66 additional planes for service connected with the Berlin airlift.

The transports will be provided by the air force as they are called for by Gen. Clay to keep blockaded Berlin supplied, a White House official said. More than 200 of the large transports already are in the airlift service.

Clay visited the White House Thursday morning and later in the day he attended a session of the National Security Council.

Ealier, Clay told reporters he had "no evidence" of troop activities in Eastern Germany that indicate Russian preparation for war. He also said:

1. The Russians have a "Communist-indoctrinated police force" of 250,000 to 300,000 men in the eastern zone of Germany. Similar Allied forces are "very small."

2. The air lift has succeeded and can be maintained as long as "is necessary for our statesmen to find a solution" to the Berlin blockade. He said he did not anticipate any Russian violence in the corridor.

MRS. DOLORES MEZZANOTTE of Baltimore, Md., shouts "Mike, our baby," as Police Commissioner Hamilton R. Atkinson places baby Jo Ann Mezzanotte, 2½ months, in her arms. Standing in the centre, immediately behind the baby is Michael Mezzanotte, the child's father. Man on extreme left is unidentified. Meanwhile Mrs. Lona Shefflet, 45, and a mother of three, was held in connection with the child's disappearance. Police quoted her as saying she "Wanted to please my husband by having another baby."

LAUREL OF BAY

Empire Ties Crucial Issue Facing India

NEW DELHI, Oct. 22 (Reuters) —The Indian constituency assembly, when it meets next month, will face the crucial issue of whether India shall remain a member of the British Commonwealth — a decision that rests with the assembly alone.

Prime Minister Jawaharalal Nehru is expected to assess and present the issue in the light of his present discussions with other commonwealth leaders and the British government in London.

Opinion here, in the meantime, shows no inclination to anticipate the assembly's decision, going no further than to sketch arguments for and against.

Arguments for continued commonwealth association are:

1. Common ideals between India and Britain, which it may be desirable to retain.

2. The generally acknowledged advantage of both India and Britain of the close economic tie.

3. India, at present, does not possess defence forces commensurate with the size of her population and geographical position; she is dependent on Britain for equipment, and particularly for training personnel.

Indian defence forces have been modelled on the British. Short of making a fresh start, the problem of building them up cannot be solved by seeking the aid of countries outside the commonwealth.

Things Against It

Arguments against India remaining a member of the commonwealth are:

1. Commonwealth membership is incompatible with India's declared objective to establish a sovereign democratic republic.

2. The commonwealth, as now constituted, has not set its face against racial inequality, namely —the status of Indians in South Africa.

3. Continued membership of the commonwealth may imply a change in the "no alignment" foreign policy which India has been pursuing since she gained her independence, and may create "entangling alliances."

Base Metals Ahead For 5th Day In Row

TORONTO, Oct. 22.—(CP). — Base metals today romped ahead for the fifth successive day of advance to reach the highest levels since 1937 on the Toronto stock exchange's noon index—up 2.56 to 109.49.

Trading was heavy as all groups showed stronger prices with the metals in the lead. Industrials perked up and were well ahead on gains ranging up two points.

Volume for the first three hours was 1,085,000 shares, about 440,000 shares more than Thursday's similar period and almost the same as Wednesday's heavy day.

Paced by Consolidated Smelters with a gain of 2¼ at 124 and a new high at 125, the base metals list cnalked up several new highs. Pend Oreille, Reeves, MacDonald, Noranda also established new highs on strong advances and Falconbridge, Gulf Lead, Hudson Bay, International Nickle Normetal, Waite Amulet and Quemont were among the better gainers.

Home Oil touched the $10-mark for the first time since 1930 in a stronger western oils list

English Bride Has Poor Home

LA MALBAIE, Que., Oct. 22—(CP)— The case of Lionel Huard, 27-year-old war veteran charged with murder in the drowning of his English war bride, in a St. Lawrence river north shore bay at Ste. Therese de Colombier, goes into its fourth day today.

Defence counsel for Huard is scheduled to begin cross-examination of Cyrenus Tremblay, father of Mariette Tremblay, the girl with whom Huard allegedly kept a secret correspondence from January until May this year.

Thursday a glimpse into the life ofg the couple who made their "home" in an abandoned lumber shack in the lonely village, was given the court as a score of pictures taken by police were produced as evidence.

The pictures showed several panes were missing from windows and that there was no bed in the building. The couple slept on a mattress stretched on the floor.

There were no electric or water facilities in the camp.

Mr. Tremblay told the court that he had once reprimanded the accused for "beating up" his pregnant wife but that Huard had replied, "it is not important."

Hastings Begins Work On $13,000 Arena

HASTINGS, Oct. 22.—(ENS). — The Hastings Memorial Recreation Centre has been started. On Thursday the workmen began final work on the foundation for the arena, which is hoped to be completed by Dec. 15.

The foundation is almost complete, and it is expected to be finished by Saturday. Then work on the big top will begin Monday.

The arena will have a seating capacity of 1,800.

Committees have been formed to canvass the village and surrounding territory for the $13,000 objective.

Employment Work Value Outlined

COBOURG, Oct. 22 (ENS). — Functions of the National Employment Office were outlined by Maurice Booth, local manager to the Rotary Club. The service given by this office to veterans and others was the result of a careful study of employment conditions and the types of jobs for which the applicants were best suited, Mr. Booth said.

Unemployment insurance was not a charity but was something for which the unemployed had paid for, Mr. Booth said. "The system of National Selective Service had been compulsory because it was necessary for efficient production in time of war. After the war it became an employment service which was not compulsory. It was also free. More and more the employer was placing confidence in the local office."

Through experience and staff training the employment office was perhaps better qualified to screen men for various jobs than the employer Mr. Booth pointed out. Never was so much employment in Cobourg, the speaker said. An applicant for a job was interviewed on his qualifications and then listed in the employment category for which he was best suited.

Speaking of handicapped persons, Mr. Booth said that employers should do everything possible to see that they were given work. A handicapped man usually turned out to be adept at his work and a very faithful employee. The rehabilitation of veterans had been so complete that now there was no veteran in Cobourg without a job. The office was no busy in securing jobs for displaced persons and many were going into agricultural or domestic work. There was a trained staff in each national employment office and they were able to render much better service than the old type of employment office, said Mr. Booth.

Peterborough Presbytery Hears Delegates' Reports

HASTINGS, Oct. 22 (ENS). — Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church met for its autumn session at Trinity United Church, Hastings, on Tuesday.

Rev. E. E. Pugsley, chairman of the Presbytery, presided at the meeting which had 40 delegates. President of the Bay of Quinte Conference, Rev. J. V. McNeeley of Oshawa, was preseent. Reports of the delegates to the Vancouver General Council were heard from Rev. Dr. James Semple, Rev. E. E. Pugsley, J. Porter, E. L. Sackville, R. F. Downey and I. H. Keefer.

The president made a strong appeal for the deeper spiritual life of the church.

The Vancouver delegates spoke on the work of committees to which they were connected during the Vancouver sitting.

Main points stressed were: Unity of Christian churches, a plea for greater missionary support; adequate pension and security for aged ministers; increased stipence for the men in active ministry; new recruits for ministry.

Reports of the committees were presented by their chairman or conveners. Mr. E. L. Sackville presented a brief on "Church Boundaries"; Rev. A. M. Partridge on "Christian Education"; Rev. M. J. Aiken on "Evangelism and Social Service"; Mr. Murray on "Home Missions"; Rev. E. Pugsley on missionary and maintenance; Rev. M. Cole on pensions; Rev. F. W. Craik on pastor relations; Rev. G. C. MacWay on publications, and Rev. Dr. Cooper on records.

The Presbytery were luncheon guests of the Women's Missionary Society of Trinity United Church. Rev. G. Kelly moved a vote of thanks to the ladies, to which Mrs. A. Metcalfe replied. During the devotions Mrs. J. M. Baker was at the organ.

Roy Smoke, Roseneath, was fined $10 an d$2.50 costs for having liquor in a place other than a residence.

Joseph Hinds, Hastings, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs for being drunk in public.

For purchasing liquor while on the interdicted list, J. Collins of Campbellford paid a $50 fine and $2.50 costs.

The three charges were laid by Chief Constable L. W. Potter.

Joan McCulloch Wins Contest

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 22. — (ENS).—Joan McCulloch of SS No. 3, speaking on "The History of Seymour Township," was winner in the Seymour Township public speaking contest sponsored by the Northumberland County Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association. It was held Thursday night in the Campbellford High School auditorium.

Jean Wright of SS No. 9, speaking on "The Royal Wedding," was second, and Joan Mack of SS No. 4, taking for her subject, "Winston Churchill," was third.

Winners will compete in the finals at Hastings on Nov. 12.

Judges were Mrs. J. W. Rannie, Mrs. Ruth Thompson, Mrs. Robert Fox, Mrs. W. F. Scott and Mr. H. K. Hendershot.

A musical program was arranged by Albert Hazell, musical supervisor of Seymour Township schools. Millie and Pearl Craighead of Burnbrae school played a piano duet; Stanwood school girls' choir sang with Joyce Rowe taking the solo part; a mixed choir from Burnbrae school sang; Gary Heide and Anne Jones sang a duet; display of folk dancing was given by Burnbrae school girls.

A. B. Billen called the winning contestants to the platform where Joan McCulloch received the Fraser Cup, Jean Wright the Seymour Cup and Joan Mack the Seymour West Women's Institute Cup. Mrs. W. A. Hume, Mel Wight and Mrs. Gordon McCulloch made the presentations.

Farmer Run Over By Tractor On Road

LINDSAY, Oct. 22. — Russell Rutherford of Cameron is reported progressing favorably in the Ross Memorial Hospital where he is receiving medical attention for a broken shoulder. While driving his tractor home at the time of the plowing matches, he ran beside it to keep warm, with the machine in low gear. On seeing an approaching car, he ran to jump onto the driver's seat, but missed his footing and slipped, falling under the large tractor wheel, which passed over him.

Pavilion Operator James Lavis, Buried

COBOURG, Oct. 22 (ENS). — The funeral of James Lavis, well-known Cobourg man, and former resident of Peterborough, was held this morning from St. Michael's Catholic Church with burial in St. Michael's Cemetery. In his sixties, he was born in Cobourg, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs Charles Lavis.

For many years he sailed on the lakes, retiring about 10 years ago. He ran the Cobourg pavilion for some years and later went to Peterborough where he ran the Brock Street Summer Gardens. Selling out he operated Chemong pavilion for about two years and then went to Agincourt where for the past two years he ran a snack bar.

Mr. Lavis' death came suddenly on Tuesday at Agincourt. He is survived by two brothers, Fred and George of Cobourg. The pallbearers were Joseph Delanty, Tom, William and Joseph Lavis, Ned Bulger and Harry Boundy.

Russian Sauce For The Goose

The Russians are appealing to the world to disarm. That sounds humane and id[illegible] They are also accusing the [illegible] say [illegible] istic, that E.R.P. is not altruistic aid to Europe but predatory self-interest.

* * *

The most distinguished historian of the Soviet Union, Eugene Tarle, has written a chapter in a book called Diplomatic History. This book is in use in Russian schools and universities. One passage in this chapter interests us particularly at this time. Here it is:

"In extent of propagation and use, directly after the tactic of masking aggression on the grounds of 'self-defense', comes the concealment of aggression by noble motives, supposedly completely 'disinterested' support of this or that higher idea in the name of truth, freedom, humanity, etc.

"The masking of purely aggressive and predatory aims for the sake of which wars are undertaken is constantly encountered in history.

"To the same group of examples of the concealment of predatory ends behind noble principles also belong the instances of the exploitation of the idea of disarmament and pacifist propaganda in the broad sense of the word for one's own purposes.

"From time immemorial the idea of disarmament has been one of the most favoured forms of diplomatic dissimulation of the true motives and plans of those governments which have been seized by such a sudden 'love of peace'.

"This phenomenon is very understandable. Any proposal for the reduction of armaments could invariably count upon broad popularity and support from public opinion but, of course, he who proposed such a measure always had to foresee that his intentions would be divined by the partners in this diplomatic game".

* * *

If the first two paragraphs in the quotation have validity in Russian eyes as an explanation of the motives underlying American policy, may we not be permitted to use Mr. Tarle's reasoning in the last three paragraphs to help us understand Russia's disarmament schemes? What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. In this instance, we think that the Russians are the geese if they expect us to swallow their plans. Lenin once said: "People have been and they always will be stupid victims of deceit and self-deception in politics until they learn... to seek out the interests of this or that class or classes". Let us be warned by Lenin and the historian Tarle and not be bamboozled in these times by Russian quackery about disarmament.

Ideas More Fatal Than Guns

There is nothing new about a complaint that news from Russia, and news inside Russia, is coloured and distorted. But we do not imagine that a great number of our readers will be familiar with this extract from a pronouncement of Lenin's, made in 1920:

"Why should freedom of speech and freedom of press be allowed? Why should a government which is doing what it believes to be right allow itself to be criticized? It would not allow opposition by lethal weapons. Ideas are much more fatal things than guns. Why should any man be allowed to buy a printing press and disseminate pernicious opinions calculated to embarrass the government?"

There is the Russian policy on news in a nutshell. It is Oriental; it is Byzantine; it is a type of thinking so simple and yet so rooted in tyranny that it is by no means easy to understand. Nevertheless it is coherent, and it is practical in a totalitarian state.

The present official Russian view is not stated so simply. At the Geneva Conference on Freedom of Information the Russian delegates spoke most eloquently about the necessity for a state-controlled press if the news was to be kept free of partisan bias. But as Lenin knew, and as his followers know, the Russian press is organized and controlled for the presentation of one bias alone.

This is in strict adherence to the school of statecraft of which Machiavelli was the founder, and we suggest that a re-reading of that author's brief handbook The Prince will make clear much that is mysterious about the U.S.S.R.

What Is Happening In South Africa?

Few of us know much about South Africa, but our attitude toward it, as another self-governing British dominion, if friendly. Some reports which we have lately received from that country are at once disturbing and intensely interesting. These reports, British in sympathy, may not be unbiased; nevertheless we think that they are trustworthy enough to justify the following digest of the information they convey.

The Nationalist party, headed by Dr. Malan, is proceeding along lines which might have been predicted on a basis of its activity during the war, but it is much more frank about its intentions than could have been foreseen. Four men who were convicted of high treason during the war have been released without a stain upon their names; what is more, persons who were interned during the war are being compensated with sums going as high as £20,000 per head. Members of the Civic Service are now permitted to join the Ossewa Brandweg a frankly Fascist organization, and [illegible] on the military [illegible] who was active in anti-Nazi work during the war. A secret society, the Broederbond, is becoming less and less secret, and of the eighty Nationalist members in the House fifty are members of it; the Broederbond also has a majority in the Cabinet. One of the aims of this society is to impose a variety of second-class citizenship upon English-speaking South Africans. As well, trade union privileges are being restricted in the case of the many Indians resident in South Africa and restrictions upon the native Negro population are increasing. In the dominion the words "pro-negro" (Kaffir-boetie) and "Communist" are said to be virtually interchangeable.

In the light of the known pro-Nazi sympathies of the Nationalist party during the war this is disquieting information. If it does no more it shows us that the two South African wars, which seem so far away in time, dealt with issues which are still far from dead.

A Soldier's Guilt In War Crimes

The trial of Marshal Graziani in Rome brings up again the question of a soldier's personal guilt in crimes committed during war. Graziani's defence is that he did his duty as a soldier, without regard for the political regime which ruled his country; he asserts that he himself has no political opinions. This latter statement is, of course, nonsense; every man has political opinions, although he may not have clarified them. But a man does not rise to high rank in any army who is not an authoritarian at heart, even though his authoritarianism may be considerably modified by other aspects of his character.

All fighting forces rest upon a foundation of strict obedience to orders. An army in which too much personal initiative is permitted, even to commanders, will fail as an instrument of national policy—which is what an army is. An army is a society within itself, with its own rules. It is not surprising that men who attempt to mix the world of the citizen with the world of the soldier often come to grief.

Is it fair, then, to bring men like Graziani to trial for deeds done as soldiers, and to try them according to civil standards? The immediate answer must be in the negative, but at once the circumstances of his particular case qualify that answer. Graziani came out of retirement after Mussolini's death in order to take command of the Italian forces in Northern Italy. This may have been simple Italian patriotism, but it was also a political act. Under his command crimes which were against civilians (and therefore against humanity) were carried out. In ordering such acts he was surely stepping out of his role as a soldier?

Nevertheless, we would do well to ponder this matter, for the present war trials are establishing precedents, and a day might come when our own commanders would be forced to face judgement on similar terms. Not the least of wars horrors is the difficulty of apportioning guilt.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Many a lie is told simply because the truth sounds so improbable.

The Japanese are now making brandy out of onions. We see nothing remarkable about this. For centuries the Irish have made an excellent whisky from potatoes, and an Aunt of ours once made some marmalade out of carrots.

A sausage machine in Michigan exploded recently, and the meat flew out of a sixth storey window and descended, according to a newspaper report "like rain into the street". Causing passers-by of Biblical training, we suppose, to think that the good old days of manna had returned.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column, particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: Is the large house on Rubidge Street between St. Peter's cathedral and St. Andrew's church of any historical interest? I mean the stone house with the pillars and the whole lot surrounded by a board fence.

ANSWER: The house to which you refer is now the residence of Miss Margaret A. Hamilton, and is 101 years old. Formerly it was the home of Robert Nicholls and his wife Charlotte Jane Nicholls, the worthies whose names have frequently appeared in this column. It is generally supposed that the Nicholls built this house. They did not. According to Dr. Poole's history of Peterborough (1867), it was built in 1847 by P. M. Grover Esq., and afterwards purchased by the Odd Fellows of Peterborough for a hall and formally dedicated by them to this purpose in February 1848. The society soon fell into decline and Robert Nicholls secured the [illegible] and bear it?

ANSWER: You have been reading one of Bennett Cerf's joke books which barely get a laugh out of me. Or perhaps you are thinking of what our first parents said when there was a hitch in the Garden of Eden. If you can bear it, I can't and shall say it is "Grin and Barrett" of which Sam Walter Foss has written (He was the man who penned "Let me live in a house by the side of the road" etc.):

"No financial throe volcanic
Ever yet was known to scare it;
Never yet was any panic
Scared the firm of Grin and Barrett".

WHERE will Princess Elizabeth's baby be born? Must it be in a royal residence?

ANSWER: It has been announced that the baby will be born in Buckingham Palace. It is not essential for a royal child to be born in a palace, but the birthplace is now chosen with deference to public opinion. Princess Elizabeth herself was born at Number 17, Bruton Street, London, the town house of the then Duke and Duchess of York. The Duke and Duchess moved there three weeks before the occasion from the Duchess' parents' home in Hertfordshire. Princess Margaret was born at Glamis Castle, Forfarshire—a gesture to the Scots. The present King was born at York Cottage, Sandringham; King George V at Marlborough House; King Edward VII (the present King's grandfather) at Buckingham Palace—the second if not the first royal child to be born in that august building.

Queen Victoria was almost born in Germany, where her parents the Duke and Duchess of Kent were living. (The Duke had little money, so the couple were spongeing on the Duchess' German family.) However, when the birth of Victoria was imminent, the Duke of Kent decided that it was his patriotic duty to have the child born in England, so he and his wife moved back to London, and their child was born at Kensington Palace.

It will be noted that British royal children are never born in hospitals or nursing homes. Apparently doctors these days will allow none but royalty and aristocrats to bring their children to birth in their own homes; lesser folk must go to a hospital. It seems time for people to stand up for their democratic rights and not let doctors push them and their babies around. Why should ordinary mothers not have babies at home if they want to? Why should the doctor's convenience and not the mother's comfort be catered to at such times?

SIR: Last month you gave in response to a question a list of the names of birds in companies. What about beasts in companies? I do crossword puzzles, and they are always cropping up.

ANSWER: Here is the terminology for various animals in groups: a pride of lions; a lepe of leopards; a herd of harts, bucks and all sorts of deer; a bevy of roes; a sloth of bears; a singular of boars; a route of wolves; a harras of horses; a rag of colts; a stud of mares; a pace of asses; a barren of mules; a drove of kine; a flock of sheep; a tribe of goats; a sculk of foxes; a fesynes of ferrets; a nest of rabbits; a clowder of cats; a shrewdness of apes; a labour of moles; a mute of hounds; a cowardice of curs.

QUESTION: Is it true that there are more Roman Catholics in Canada than Protestants?

ANSWER: According to the 1941 census which gives the latest most reliable figures, No. The Roman Catholics are by far the largest single denomination (43.34 per cent. of all the population), but when the Christian Scientists, Plymouth Brethren, Pentecostals and other smaller groups are added to the big four (United Church 19.16 per cent., Anglican 15.22 per cent., Presbyterian 7.21 per cent. and Baptists 4.2 per cent.) the Protestants make up about 51 per cent. of the population. The other five or six per cent. of Canadians are either Jewish (1.46 per cent.), Greek Orthodox (1.21 per cent.) or Buddhists, pagans and assorted creatures. In 1941 there were 15,635 Buddhists in Canada, 22,223 Confucians, and only 2,908 professed pagans. The latter figure is surprisingly low.

Since 1871 the percentage of Roman Catholics has averaged around 40 per cent. In 1774 there were 150,000 in Canada and only 360 Protestants. Canada did not then include the Maritimes.

FOR THE RECORD: There are some 3,500 acres of land within the city limits. Peterborough's 35,000 people live on about 1,120 acres, including residential streets, or 34 per cent. of the total area of the city and 45 per cent. of its developed area. Factories occupy about 315 acres of the city's land, commercial premises about 60 acres.

Letters To The Editor

SEEKS CORRESPONDENTS

Sir: I would be grateful if you can publish my name in your paper as one in want of pen pals in your city and its suburbs. I hope you will not forget me as I shall be looking forward for their letters.

Age: 17¼ years. Hobbies: exchanging articles, collecting coins, butterflies, seashells etc.

Thanks in advance.

ADVOCATES RETURN TO WARD SYSTEM

Sir: The following has several questions asked, and perhaps they are interesting enough to deserve attention:

First—Have we citizens that would like to have the present system of general voting changed to the ward system whereby each ward would elect two members to our city council? This would get us out of one of our village ways.

Second—As the citizens would have to petition the council with names of 60 per cent. of the electorate favouring the change, or "bring pressure to bear" on them, and I do not know how that can be done" to have them submit a by-law to get the choice of, for or against, and as I have been given to understand the matter would not be settled then, but have to be presented as a private bill to the Legislature.

Third—What are we going to do about it?

There is no doubt our aldermen would act on different matters that effect parts of our city if they are brought to their attention by the citizens, singly or collectively.

There may be some who think the daylight saving should be voted back in considering as I understand, it was continued beyond the time set by majority vote. If not voted in again it should never have been carried on beyond the date of expiry.

Different citizens or groups would like to present their views to the councils perhaps.

The veterans and others on the housing proposition. Some may think it unfair to have an old street where there are grandchildren occupying the house their ancestors lived in, still having to use a cow or cinder path along their street. Other new streets with concrete walks on both sides of them.

There are several different whisperings about how things can be improved and we hear from time to time where there does not appear to be equal rights to all, special privileges to none, as to bylaws passed such as the anti-noise bylaw.

Fourth—Do the citizens wish a meeting called and discuss the question of having two elected to represent their wards at council meetings?

After the representatives are appointed the citizens could meet at regular intervals and discuss matters from each ward group and have their views presented to the council.

Fifth—Is there in our city a society that would donate the use of their hall for the organization meeting?

This first meeting would decide some way of breaking the red tape which seems to be tied against the use of our city hall for the use of the citizens, and get the use of said hall for future uses?

Perhaps at our citizens' meeting we can have men come forward who will declare their intention of contesting a chair in our council, and also declare their platform willing to take their chances of election.

Now again I ask you who will donate the use of a hall if there is a strong enough reaction to this letter to call a meeting? Would our city mayor and aldermen or who the power rests with give the citizens the use of the council chamber?

Yours truly,
MAURICE E. KETCHESON.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The fining pot is for silver, and the furnace for gold: but the Lord trieth the hearts. (Prov. 17: 3.)

* * *

The Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness; according to the cleanness of my hands hath he recompensed me....

It is God that girdeth me with strength, and maketh my way perfect. (Ps. 18: 20, 32.)

* * *

Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you: but rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy. (I Pet. 4: 12, 13.)

* * *

Wherefore, my beloved, as ye have also obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling. For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure. (Phil. 2: 12, 13.)

Wives For Sale

They have big ideas in America, as we know, and the father who is reported to have offered his daughter for sale to a husband for £1,750 is certainly going a long way beyond old custom in this country in the matter of selling wives. The price of a wife at the beginning of the last century was rather low in this country. At Chapel-en-le-Frith in 1802 a wife, a child, and "as much furniture as would set up a beggar" cost eleven shillings. There were some higher prices; twenty-four shillings and a bowl of punch, for instance, and at Hull as much as twenty guineas was a recorded price. The "Morning Post" referred in 1807 to "scenes which have of late become too common" when at Knaresborough at the Market Cross a wife was sold for sixpence and a quid of tobacco. A case at Doncaster where the price was a guinea was reported to have ended happily. Even down to the eighteen-eighties cases were reported with prices as low as a glass of ale and in another case one penny and a dinner. Perhaps in the case of a daughter consciences may not be quite clear in this country. A good many daughters must have been launched on ill-fated marriages to restore the family fortunes.—Manchester Guardian.

News .... In Brief ..

By The Canadian Press

PARIS—Soviet delegate Jakob Malik charged United States is surrounded by an "atomic curtain." The delegates told a United Nations Assembly sub-committee on armaments that conditions put up by the western powers for reduction of arms were "as logical as to propose an expedition to Mars to ascertain whether the Maritans are preparing war against the earth."

LONDON, Eng.—Trafalgar Day gave London its biggest naval show since the First World War. In historic Trafalgar Square, the Duke of Gloucester, on behalf of the king, unveiled two bronze memorial busts of Admirals of the Fleet Jellicoe and Beatty. At the same time Trafalgar Square, closed to the public since July, was re-opened with new fountains and spacious flower beds.

OTTAWA —The Government's Northtwest Territories Council decided it was time it looked into Yellowknife's 24-hour beer service. The all-day, all-night beer service became legal last spring on a "trial run" to please miners who keep Yellowknife mines working 24 hours a day. The Council said it has received a suggestion from Yellowknife trustees that the beer dispensing system might bear "investigation."

ANTIGONISH, N. S. — More than 250 members of 13 credit unions in Antigonish County observed the first credit union day in Canada and United States. The 13 unions have a membership of 2,000 with total assets of $210,000. Celebrations were held in five other Nova Scotia centres to mark the centennial of the credit union movement.

LINZ, Austria.—Two deserters from the Russian Air Force said 70 per cent. of the Russians dislike Communist rule. But they are "afraid to do anything about it," they added. The men, both lieutenants, are Piotr Pirogov, 27, navigator of the plane in which they flew from the Ukraine to Linz Oct. 9, and Anatalya Barsof, 31, the pilot.

WASHINGTON.—Actress Tallulah Bankhead iucedtodnrRnU sident Truman over the radio as "the human being" she prefers to present "against Thomas E. Dewey, the mechanical man." Miss Bankhead, now appearing in a play in New York, is the daughter of the late speaker, William Bankhead of the United States House of Representatives.

ST. LOUIS DE LOTBINIERE, Que.—Mrs. Pierre Richard, who celebrated her 101st birthday anniversary in this St. Lawrence south shore village five days ago, died Thursday. The aged widow who often told friends that she had lived so long it must have been an "oversight," died at the home of a daughter.

BRANTFORD.—Delegates from every major centre in Western Ontario will convene in Brantford Sunday, Nov. 21, when the Western Ontario Young Liberals' Association hold its annual meeting in this city. This is the first time that he Brantford organization has played host to the regional association.

MONTREAL. — Freddie Lamoureux, veteran Big Four lineman with Ottawa Rough Riders and this year with Montreal Alouettes, left the club Thursday night in favor of a career in wrestling.

Criticize Council

GUELPH.—Ray A. Hodgson, foreman of a grand jury which criticized conditions at the Wellington County Home for the Aged, expressed criticism of the County Council for refusing to investigate charges contained in the jury's report. He volunteered to go before the council at any time to enlarge on the jury's findings.

TORONTO.—A keen-eyed detective solved an insurance office mystery of the disappearance of $346 in cash and $87.89 in cheques from a salesman's briefcase. He spotted a salesman slipping an envelope from his sock and arrested the man on a theft charge.

TORONTO. — Spring-winding alarm clocks are being resurrected from cellars and attics to replace electric clocks which stop during Hydro cut-offs. Storekeepers report an increase in mechanical clock sales.

TORONTO.—Two young Ontario musicians have won scholarships for the 1948-49 season at the Royal Conservatory of Music here. They are John Drinkwater of Oshawa, studying violincello, and obbe student John Hutchings of Barrie.

HOLLYWOOD—Buster Keaton, one of the great comics of the movies' pie-throwing era, is on his way back. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer said the frozen-faced star of silent pictures will play a top role with Judy Garland and Van Johnson in "Good Old Summertime."

WATERTOWN, N.Y.—George D. Robinson, 71, was admitted to a hospital suffering from a possible broken neck received when he was struck on the head by a bale of hay. Hospital officials said Robinson was struck when a hired man tossed the bale from a second-floor barn door.

HAVANA—The Cuban government announced it has taken "precautionary measures" as the result of a reported plot against the United States and Mexican ambassadors. The announcement came after newspapers quoted Senator Jose Aleman as saying he had learned of threats against the lives of the two envoys, Robert Butler and Benito Coquet.

BURLINGTON, Ia.—Mrs. Mary L. Schoreder, 83, and her two daughters wrote their own obituary notices and then died by gas in what Coroner R. O. Giles called a triple suicide pact. The daughters were Mrs. Sophia C. Eibel, 62, and Viola M. Schroeder, 47. The coroner said all burners on a kitchen stove were found turned on in the cottage where the three lived together. They left no reason for the suicide.

Suggest Pledge On International Medical Ethics

WINNIPEG, Oct. 22 —(CP) — An international pledge on medical ethics designed to prevent war crimes like those perpetrated by Nazi doctors in the guise of medical research has been outlined here.

Dr. T. C. Routley, general secretary of the Canadian Medical Association, told the annual convention of the Manitoba Medical Association Thursday that the pledge was formulated at Geneva this year by the newly organized world medical assocation.

A world organization of medical men can and should be a great force for peace, he said. Doctors have "a common denominator of interest to offer to all mankind."

The pledge, to be taken by medical students of 45 countries on graduation, states in part:

"I will maintain the utmost respect for human life from the time of conception; even under threat I will not use my medical knowledge contrary to the laws of humanity."

Dr. Routley said the Geneva meeting marked the first time that all international pledge had been drawn up for members of the medical profession in every nation. This was done in complete harmony despite the difference in tongues.

"This was a strong indication that if all mankind would fix its mind on unselfish service all wars would cease," he said.

Dr. Routley thought it unfortunate that "countries behind the so-called iron curtain" were not yet represented in the world medical association.

Say Prime Minister 'Doing Very Well'

LONDON, Oct. 22 — (CP). — Prime Minister Mackenzie King, who was visited by the King on Thursday, is "doing very well and seems to be resting more comfortably each night," his staff reported to-day.

He was "simply delighted by the very great honor of Thursday"s visit by the King, and they had a very interesting and friendly talk," a member of the Prime Minister"s staff told the Canadian Press.

The King came to the Prime Minister's suite at the Dorchester Hotel, where the Canadian Leader has been confined to bed for more than a week because of a condition of the blood circulation.

CLIMBING BACK from the depths of near oblivion, Hamilton's amazing Tigers reached the bola pinnacle, defeating New Westminster Adanacs, 12-8, at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto, to capture the Canadian senior lacrosse championshiy and the Mann Cup. Victory was the climax of a stirring uphill battle for the Ronnie ... spotted the fast-moving Westerners the first two games in the best-of-five series and came back to snatch three in a row. Above the happy, victorious Tigers "let loose" after the game, when Mr. Lyle Barr of Vancouver, president of the Canadian Lacrosse Association (left), presented the cup to the Hon. Russel Kelley. That's Elmer Lee on the ... despite suffering a broken leg.

Montreal Jinx Dogs Leafs Downed 5-0 By Canadiens

By The Canadian Press

As holders of the Stanley Cup, Toronto Maple Leafs are hockey champions of the world.

The world, it appears, doesn't include the Montreal Forum.

Leafs won only one game—on Christmas night—there last year. They ran into the same problem Thursday night and fell 5-0 before Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey league's only scheduled game.

The two points shot the Habitants into first place, one point ahead of Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins, tied in second spot.

It was the second defeat in the Leafs two games this year. Bill Durnan blocked only 13 shots for his first shut out of the season.

Dick Irvin's second line ran away with the scoring honors. Each of them—Norm Dussault, Billy Reay and Joe Carveth—scored once while Reay picked up two assists and moved into second place with Elmer Lach in the scoring race.

Lach and Reay each have five points. Bruin's Ed. Sandford leads with six.

Dussault assisted on one of Reay's goals. Lach and Glenn Harmon each scored once.

Miss Apps

Leafs appeared to miss retired centre Syl Apps. Their attack was hazy and at times floundered inside their own blue line.

Bill Barilko and Murph Chamberlaain each drew majors for their third-period fight. For Chamberlain it was the fourth penalty in the rugged game that had 13 sentences—seven of them to Leafs.

Lach got his first-period goal by whipping in rookie George Robertson's rebound. Dussault, Carveth and Reay each scored in the second period and Harmon broke away alone in the third.

Ted Kennedy and Max Bentley had hard luck as they tried to rally the flagging Leafs. They both hit the goal posts with shots in the middle period.

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Flying footballs will fill the Oval air on the morrow with three scheduled grid games booked for the northend park. At 11 a.m., Lindsay plays the junior PCI-ers and the Scugog squad has lost but one game so far this season. If they should pull out a win here Saturday they'd be tied atop the group with Coach Alex Londry's large lads. The latter won't be any soft setup, though, on home terrain. Back of a strong front wall, the fleet backfielders have a lot of dipsy-do and are particularly effective at flipping and receiving forward passes. Yeah, we think they'll romp through their group schedule okay this season.

* * * * * *

At 1.15 there tomorrow aft, Orillia Bombers and our ORFU intermediate Panthers clash. And we do mean clash. Bombers lead the league while Panthers are in second spot. If the locals win this one, they've got a playoff spot clinched. But should they lose, while Oshawa is beating Oakville, then Panthers and Oshawa are tied for second place as the schedule ends. So the bunch coached by Gord Young will be in there fighting every minute. They'll have to, as Orillia is a solid squad, too. Yeah, a battle of the giants and fans can be sure of some swell, hard football in this important encounter.

A Four-Point Game

At three bells in the Oval, Albert College collides with PCVS seniors, a four-point game. Coach Bev Goulding's crew can grab a playoff place with a victory, and don't think the Albert Collegains ... But the Gamet and Grey ... femme cheer leaders aren't bad, either!—so we look for a Peterborough victory after a good game. That's the picture, folks, a fine twin bill in the aft, following a junior a.m. encounter—while St. Peter's juniors play in Lakefield. A busy football day around these parts.

Another reminder to those who haven't kicked in yet for the Civic Arena. It would be nice to clean up that debt this week while the big drive for funds is on, eh? About two more weeks and the arena should be finished—just inside work remaining to be done. The contractor certainly did his part, erecting the building within the time he promised and going ahead before he received the necessary money. So now it's up to us all to see that the arena is paid for. Dick Ouimet and his committee deserve much credit, too, and they've got a fine bunch of canvassers working on this drive. Have you done your part yet?

On Rue De Rumor

The story is bruited about that three puckists from Port Arthur, having obtained releases up north, came down this way to see what's what. And it is rumored that, after visiting several centres, they blew into Peterborough. Seeing Dit Clapper's sign they meandered into the shop to learn the hockey score locally. And who should be there but Doug Mortimer of the Legionnaires. After a little chit-chat, Doug arranged for the trio to see Secretary Glen Carson, who promptly signed them up for the Legion Hockey Club. The later club is quite mum on the subject but we rather believe it as, about a week ago, the Quinte columnist spoke of several Port Arthur hockeyists—sporting championship crests—being in Belleville looking for jobs. Guess they got jobs here.

Trojanette Hockey Club re-organized at a meeting last night. This is a girls' setup in the south-west section of the city, for lasses 12 to 15 years of age. They play hockey, having started last cold spell, and anyone in that section of the city wishing to join will be welcomed. Rita Naylor is president, Joyce Succee vice-prexy, Shirley Panter secretary, and Dorothy Dunk treasurer. A funds' committee for equipment consists of: Linda Jordan, Joan Dunk, Eva Naylor and Betty Carroll.

Two Tied On Top

Ostranders rolled into a top-place tie with Riley's last eve in the City Bowling League for members of the male sex. Mein's men are in second spot. George Walton had high single for the night with 342 and he had second best threesome, Harold Legrow taking honors there with an 855 attempt. Bud Goodson also was over 800. Legrow had a 340 single, and other neat scores were chalked up in singles by Irv Hanes, Harold Freeman, George Dodson, Tony White, Roy Suddards, Dootch Vitarelli, Bert McCarrell, Bud Goodson, Clarence Downer, Frank Wood and Eldon Downer. All hit better than 300.

UP AND DOWN SPORTS' RIALTO: In soccer tomorrow, Lindsay plays Legion at three p.m. in King Edward Park, while O'Halloran's are off to Toronto ... Marg Armstrong hit a nifty 338 single this week in the Mercantile Bowling League ... Nothing further heard on the Kingston-Brantford OBA senior "B" finals ... Petes' puckists have their eyes on a couple of Belleville guys if that town doesn't ice a senior "B" squad this winter ... It is likely both senior "B" teams here will be practicing on artificial ice in another three weeks, either in Oshawa or Lindsay ... Haven't heard anything this autumn from the junior "B" Oddfellows ... Sorry to learn of the death of Jim Lavis, one-time manager of the Brock St. Rink ... Junior school soccer final will be staged Tuesday afternoon ... And that's the daily stint.

Curling Notes

By HERB MARTIN

We, along with the other members of the Peterborough Curling Club, are extending congratulations today to Gar Braund on the occasion of his winning the Ontario single points competition for the 1947-1948 season—open to all curlers in the province.

We can well remember the day, last winter, when Gar and C. Giroux played the "points" competition on ice No. 7, with Jack Ashmore acting as official umpire. We believe that Stan Lowe and E. Brown were also present. This points game is played on a specially marked sheet of ice. There are nine different shots to be made, with either the "out" turn or the "in" turn. It is played up the ice and then down the ice. The player uses one pair of stones and a possible score is 72 points. On this particular day Gar counted with 47 and Cyril Giroux was not far behind.

This game looks awfully easy from behind the glass, but all you have to do is try it out and then you'll know the answer.

When you consider there are thousands of curlers in Ontario you can realize just how one would feel in winning this gold medal, donated by the Ontario Curling Association.

Gar Braund is one of the outstanding curlers of our club. He joined the junior club 'away back' and has been a member ever since.

We can well remember the juniors of that date. There was the late Jack McWilliams, the late Billy Widdess—the Amys boys—the Howden boys—Louie Chesler, Gar Braund, Vern Armstrong, Len Martin, Dr. Ralph Clark, D. Best, the Clark twins, and many others. They were all fine chaps.

We believe around the century mark this medal was won by the late Sam Ray and the late J. E. A. Fitzgerald, but in later years by F. C. Webber and Cyril Giroux.

And once again we offer congratulations to "Gar," and whenever the party is Gar.—our phone number is 9364.

Trojanettes' Club Is Re-organized

The Trojanettes Hockey Club was reorganized at a meeting with these officers elected for the season: President, Rity Naylor; vice-president, Joyce Succee; secretary, Shirley Panter; treasurer, Dorothy Dunk.

With 20 girls present at the meeting, it was decided to organize a committee to raise funds for goalie equipment. Linda Jordan, Joan Dunk, Eva Naylor and Betty Carol were named to the committee. Any girls from the south-west section of the city, aged 12 to 15 years, are invited to join the club and play hockey this winter.

Ostranders Top City League With Four-Pointer

In the Men's City Five Pin League Ostrander's went into a tie with Riley's for first place as they took four points from the latter squad. King George downed Shockey's four points to two to leave the Mein squad in second place. Empress Old Timers and Bond Clothes had the battle of the night with both teams rolling over 3,500 as the Empress team took two games.

Esquire clothes took Sunocos six points to none for the only shut-out. Charlotte Credit Jewellers, Fashion Craft, Cavanaghs and Spartons each had four point wins from DeLaval, Russelles, McCannan Electric and Clappers.. Ostranders had high pinnage 3,588 as Riley's took high single game 1,302.

Harold Legrow had high three 855 as Geo Walton rolled 821 and Bud Goodson 803. Geo. Walton rolled high single 342 as Harold Legrow rolled 340, Irv Hanes 337, Harold Freeman 326, Geo. Dodson 326, Tony White 324, Roy Suddards 323, Dootch Vitarelli 320, Bert McCarrell 313, Bud Goodson 311, Clarence Downer 311, Frank Wood 307, and Eldon Downer 301.

Huskies In Top Spot In Southern Division

By The Associated Press

Houston Huskies Thursday night took sole possession of first place in the southern division of the United States hockey league.

The Huskies took a 4-3 victory from Dallas Texans to break a three-way tie for the top spot.

Omaha Knights opened a seven-goal scoring attack to win at Fort Worth 7-1. The victory was the Knights' first this year. Keith Burgess was the big gun, scoring twice and getting credit for two assists.

Kansas City went into a tie for first place in the northern division by winning from St. Paul 6-3.

Hank Blade, Kansas City, and Butch Del Monte, St. Paul, each scored two goals.

ARRESTED FOR THEFT

ROME—Police Arrested Giovanni de Michelis, a 39-year-old gardener and charged him with the theft of 300 rare orchid plants. The orchids, valued at 2,000,000 lire ($3,450) were stolen from the hothouses of florist Alberto- Luciani.

Argos Certain They'll Take Alouettes Now

By The Canadian Press

Seven senior football games face Canadian fans this week-end. But most eyes will turn to Toronto's Varsity Stadium where Toronto Argonauts will seek to prove there's still life in the once-mighty machine that rolled to three consecutive Dominion championships.

Argos meet Montreal Alouettes in a crucial battle for Big Four playoff positions.

Ottawa Rough Riders, with a playoff spot practically in their pockets, go to Hamilton to tangle with the trailing Wildcats.

In the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union, the playoff-hungry Toronto Beaches Indians tackle Windsor Rockets at Windsor and Hamilton Tigers, with first place cinched, play the Imperials at Sarnia.

In the intercollegiate loop, the winless University of Toronto Blues take on Vic Obeck's revamped McGill Redmen at Montreal and the perennial champions, University of Western Ontario Mustangs, are hosts to Queen's University Gaels.

Argos Confident

After a week of arduous drilling in the wake of the disastrous 41-6 beating they took from Ottawa last Saturday, Argos figure they can beat Lou Hayman's Alouettes. Joe Krol will be in harness for Argos, still clinging tenaciously to second place one point ahead of Montreal.

Willcats have no chances of making the Big Four playoffs, but playing-coach Frank Gnup is one of the few people who think they can beat Ottawa. He told The Canadian Press: "Don't be surprised if we take this one. We're really on the ball now."

In the ORFU, Sarnia, one point ahead of Beaches Indians, must win against the undefeated Hamilton Tigers to make sure of staying in front of the Toronto club.

Free 2 Dealers On Fixing Game

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C., Oct. 22 — (AP). — Two automobile dealers were freed Thursday on charges of "fixing" a baseball game. A third man, pitcher-manager Bernard DeForge faces a year in jail.

DeForge, 31, former field boss of the Reidsville, N.C., team in the class C Carolina league, pleaded guilty to throwing the game between his team and Winston-Salem the night of May 14, 1948.

A jury deliberated one hour and 37 minutes and acquitted W. C. McWaters and Tommy Phillips of Clover, S.C., who had pleaded innocent.

A fourth man indicted on the same bribery-conspiracy charges died before the trial. He was Emmanuel Weingarten, former owner of the Florence, S.C., Tri-State league team, and Leaksville, N.C., of the Blue Ridge league.

DeForge, who turned state's evidence, testified he discussed throwing Carolina league games with Weingarten and McWaters. He also told the court he saw to it that Reidsville lost to Winston-Salen by three runs on the night of May 14 and that McWaters gave him $300 after the game.

Winston-Salen won that game 5-0, and was leading at the start of the eighth inning 2-0. At that point, DeForge took the mound for his team and walked three batsmen and tossed a wild pitch to allow three runs to score.

DeForge has been forbidden to participate in organized baseball for the remainder of his life by George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues.

$2,000 For Lewicki

By The Canadian Press

Both Stratford Kroehlers of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League and Conn Smythe, managing director of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League, have offered Fort William Columbus Club approximately $2,000 for the release of left winger Danny Lewicki, it was learned Thursday at Port Arthur.

"We're still negotiating," said Ed Romano, president of the Columbus club, in confirming a report that both Stratford and Toronto clubs were bidding for the services of Lewicki, who was born in Fort William.

Lewicki, for whom Smythe paid Providence Reds of the American Hockey League more than $10,000 now is in Stratford.

Loaned by Columbus club to Port Arthur Bruins last year, he played a leading role in the Port Arthur's club march to the Memorial Cup championship.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

George Latimer, 71, of Toronto, died at the end of the third quarter during Wednesday night's Dominion senior lacrosse final at the Maple Leaf Gardens where Hamilton Tigers won the fifth and deciding game against New Westminnster Adanacs 12-8 for the Mann Cup.

Henry Rochon and Brendan Macken, Canada's top tennis stars, advanced to the third round of the men's doubles in the Pan-American tournament at Mexico City Thursday by gaining a hard-earned victory over Rafael Ortega and Alberto Danel of Mexico. The Montrealers triumphed in four sets, 1-6, 6-1, 6-3, 10-8.

Roy Taylor, New York heavyweight, was suspended indefinitely Thursday by the New York Athletic Commission for what was described as an "unsatisfactory performance" in a fight Tuesday night. Taylor, who weighs 182½, was stopped by Tami Mauriello, 210, of New York in the second round of a scheduled 10-round feature at New York.

Charley Fusari, blond Irvingtonn, N.J., welterweight contender, stopped the veteran Tippy Larkin of Garfield, N.J., Thursday night in 2.35 of the sixth round of a scheduled 10-rounder at the Jersey City armory. Fusari weighed 147, Larkin 143½.

Hamilton Tigers juniors will meet Kitchener-Waterloo Panthers Saturday afternoon in a sudden-death playoff game for Ontario Rugby Football Union No. 1 junior group championship. Panthers defeated Tigers 8-6 in their first meeting and Tigers bested Panthers 3-2 Wednesday night.

Fight Manager Maurice Foreman said Thursday that he had filed a challenge for a Canadian lightweight championship bout with the Montreal Athletic Association on behalf of Harry Hurst. Hurst, a welterweight, will have to shed about nine pounds if the challenge is accepted by Toronto's Arthur King, holder of the lightweight title.

Hornets Whip Barons 5-3 After 31 Games

By The Canadian Press

Cleveland Barons were handed their first defeat in 31 American Hockey league games Thursday night by Pittsburgh Hornets, who took the tilt 5-3.

It was Cleveland's first defeat in a regularly scheduled league game since last Jan. 26.

Indianapolis Capitals ended a jinx by thumping the New Haven Ramblers 6-2. The Capitals had been unable to beat New Haven on Indianapolis ice all season.

Cleveland opened the scoring in the first period on a goal by defenceman Hymie Buller but Pete Backor matched it for the Hornets about a minute later. Rudy Migay, rookie centre, made it 2-1 for the Hornets at the first intermission.

Stan Kemp, Eldred Kobussen and Bill Benson notched a marker each in the second period to boost the Hornet margin to 5-1.

The Barons rallied for two goals, one by Ralph Wycherley, new Cleveland right-winger, and another by centre Johnny Hofota during the last period.

Cliff Simpson got the Caps away in front on a long shot late in the first stanza.

Ramblers did all their scoring in a space of 50 seconds in the second period with Bill Ramsden tieing the count and Jean Denis putting New Haven ahead.

The Caps came roaring back minutes later to take a permanent lead on counters by Baldy Mackay and Pat Lundy.

In the final session Enio Sclisizzi, Rod Morrison and Eddie Bruneteau added a goal apiece for the Caps.

THE SCRIPT is the same but the scene is different. Citation, the three-year-old wonder horse from the Calumet stable, romps home in front in the $100,000 Gold Cup race at Belmont Park, New York, beating older horses with ease. Citation is in the lead, on the rail, as this picture of the field was snapped in the stretch.

LONDON, Oct. 22 — (AP). — Authoritative sources said Thursday Air Chief Marshal Sir James Robb has set up a vast training scheme to produce pilots for jet air fleets of the western European union. Sir James is air chief of the five western union powers—Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

Takes Heart Attack

DES JOACHIMS, Que., Oct. 22. —(CP).—Fred Arsenault, 47, of Montreal, died of a heart attack Thursday while atop a 110-foot Bailey bridge tower. A rigger-foreman at the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission project here, Arsenault was reported to have climbed to the top of the tower, then complained to a companion "there is something wrong with my heart," before he collapsed.

New Germany Finding Answer To Fear Of War And Party Strife

By DuBOIS S. MORRIS, JR.

STUTTGART, Germany. — We are rolling into Germany on what may prove to be one of the great historic adventures of our time. A few hours ago we crossed the border. As we stopped to have our permits examined and passports stamped, I asked an ex-GI next to me what it felt like to be coming back. He had been wounded in the Battle of the Bulge and later stormed across the Rhine with General Patton's troops. "The last time we weren't invited," he laughed. "This time the Germans have asked us to come."

The entire cabinet of North Rhine - Westphalia, Minister President and leaders of Bavaria and Wurttemburg Baden and spokesmen from Berlin and other parts of Germany, General Lucius Clay and British authorities have authorized the visit. "It's an invasion by request."

This force consists of 260 persons from 20 nations. The largest civilian group to enter Germany since the war. The party set out a few days ago from the World Assembly for Moral Re-Armament at Caux which was attended by over five thousand delegates from fifty countries — among the delegates were 500 Germans, including 32 cabinet ministers and secretaries of state. When Senator Harry Cain of Washington saw the effect of the conference, especially of "The Good Road," on the Germans present he took immediate action with United States authorities in Berlin. "As citizen, as taxpayer and as Senator," he wrote to General Clay, "I know of no greater investment to be made at this time than to make these MRA plays available to every German. If this program cannot revitalize and reinspire the desire in free nations to remain free, I don't know what can."

Crowd Is Waiting

Our route to Munich for the premiere performance passed through the old cathedral city of Ulm. We pull up in the square in front of the cathedral. The crowd is waiting. Flags of the city flutter colorfully from the Gothic gallery above the main cathedral entrance. The Lord Mayor extends his greetings. A French girl speaking in German says she wants to bury her hates and build a new world together. The chorus of the revue sing in German "Today growns out of tribulation — new hearts, new people — everything can be different."

Many are deeply moved. This is the first contact with the outside world most of these people have had since the war. As our buses push on to Munich, streets are lined with waving people, all curiosity and caution gone. We have not yet travelled many miles but we are already in the heart of Germany.

Munich welcomes us with equal enthusiasm. At less than a week's notice more than half of the group are taken into the homes of local German families in the city, which has been 40 per cent destroyed by bombs. Even the authorities are amazed at the eagerness with which beds are made available.

Guest of Titled Family.

I find myself the guest of an old titled family, who now share their house with fourteen other persons. My host has just that day bartered an old coat for a pair of trousers. They ask me to share their simple meals—potatoes and cheese for supper, black bread and ersatz coffee for breakfast. For the first time since currency reform, I'm told there are queues outside a Munich theatre as crowds try to get tickets for the performances in Gartnerplatz Theatre, just rebuilt. It is one of Germany's finest and has been put at ouh disposal by the Bavarian State officials.

The first night audience, according to local newspapermen, is the most distinguished and representative audience gathered together in Munich since the war. Crowds stand in cheering approval as Minister President Ehard speaks from his box. "That's the way it should be," he says of what he has seen on the stage. "That's the way it could be and that's the way it must be." From his place in the audience, Ehard's political opponent, former Minister President Wilhelm Hoegner, rises to add, "We must place our political differences behind us and work out the future of Germany together in this spirit." The audience crowds on the stage to meet and talk with the cast. It's nearly midnight before the last ones leave. Catholic Bishop Neuhaeusler of Bavaria and State Secretary Dieter Sattler speak after the matinee on the next day.

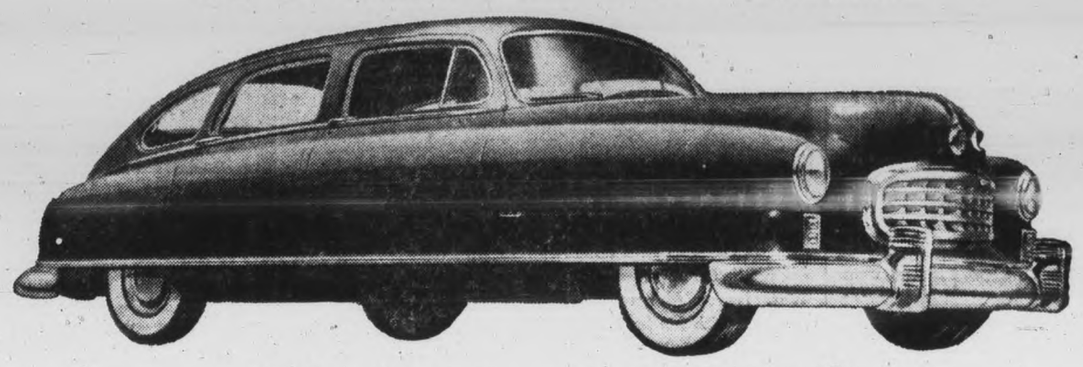
That night in lights German newsreels shoot scenes from the show, while radio records the entire performance for later broadcasts. An American correspondent at the Press Club tells me he made a point of going from the top gallery to the ground floor asking all type of Germans, intellectuals, workers and others, what they thought of it. "They were all enthusiastic," he said. "Even though the play is in English with only the final song in German, the ideas and spirit get across. This is the first time Germans have been shown the essence of true democracy," he concludes, "and that is what they want."

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK —By J. R. Scott

Ontario Can Take Over Half Welfare Costs

TORONTO, Oct. 22 — (CP) — The Ontario cabinet has passed regulations enabling it to take over half the welfare administration costs of any municipality which enters an agreement with the province and sets up a welfare unit, it was learned Thursday.

Legislation providing for establishment of the necessary welfare units in municipalities was passed at the last session of the legislature. It could not be put into effect until the regulations were drafted and approved.



The proposed welfare units would administer old-age pensions, mothers' allowances, unemployment relief, day nursing, children's aid centres, hospital care for indigents and homes for the aged.

The proposal is designed to streamline welfare administration and eliminate much of the cross-checking now necessary in welfare cases.

Seeking Motorist

TORONTO, Oct. 22.—(CP). — (CP).—Ontario provincial police are seeking the motorist who struck down 18-year-old Jerry Macaulay at nearby Woodbridge last week. The youth was hit by a speeding car and died in hospital Monday. He was hitch-hiking to Guelph with another youth when he was hit. The car stopped, the driver opened the door, looked out and drove on.

RELIANCE

ANTI-FREEZE

The only anti-freeze containing Paralloy

Last winter, the coldest in years, RELIANCE Anti-Freeze gave motorists complete protection against radiator freeze-up. Here's why: RELIANCE is the only anti-freeze containing Paralloy, a secret ingredient for added protection.

When you cut your engine, the cooling system heats up temporarily. The instant your engine stops, the Paralloy in RELIANCE starts fighting evaporation. Rising to the surface, it forms a thin protecting film that keeps the anti-freeze where it belongs . . . in the radiator. This winter safeguard your car, ask for RELIANCE—the "self-sealing", economical anti-freeze.

Admits Taking $28,000 For Big Fling

TORONTO, October 22 —Daniel Keller, whose two years of international living in the grand style ended ignominiously last August, pleaded guilty yesterday before Judge J. Ambrose Shea to having obtained more than $28,000 by theft and false pretenses. Evidence will be heard Nov. 1.

When asked how he wished to plead, Keller nodded to his counsel and said: "It's up to you." His lawyer replied: "No, no it's strictly up to you." Keller scanned the lengthy charge sheet. In subdued voice, he said he would plead guilty to four charges of theft and five charges of false pretenses.

Three additional charges are against Keller, to which he pleaded not guilty, were withdrawn by the Crown.

Keller, born in the United States, became a naturalized Canadian citizen in 1942. He is 42 years old. Toronto detectives received word last August that Keller had been recognized in Montreal as he stepped from a transatlantic airplane at Dorval Airport.

The morning after his arrest near Port Hope, to which centre Keller had gone by car, the fugitive grovelled on the foor of a police cruiser throughout most of the drive to Toronto.

Some 19 charges, involving approximately $76,000, face Keller in the United States. Keller was wanted here on two charges of stealing $3,000 in cash from a Timmins man, Lawrence Levert, and $6,000 in cash from William H. Learey of Toronto. These acts were supposed to have been committed in 1946. There are additional charges as well which Toronto police have laid against Keller.

IMMIGRATION CHECK-UP—Dr. Andre C. E. Boussat, one of four Frenchmen in Canada charged with collaboration with the enemy in France during the Second World War, leaves Montreal immigration headquarters with his family following a routine medical check-up. Boussat was allowed to remain in Canada by a federal cabinet order-in-council after immigrataion authorities had ordered his deportation for entering the country on a false passport. Shown with Boussat are his wife and four children, Francois, Michel, Marie-Jose and Marie. Marie-Jose is carrying four-months-old Marie in her arms.

Hollywood Star Acclaimed In London Play

By EMMETT KELLEHER

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 22 (CP).—Film star Madeleine Carroll made her North American stage debut in the world premiere of a new play here Thursday night, and while her odd show of restraint may have been the result of another "first" episode, she was acclaimed by a sell-out house at the Grand Theatare.

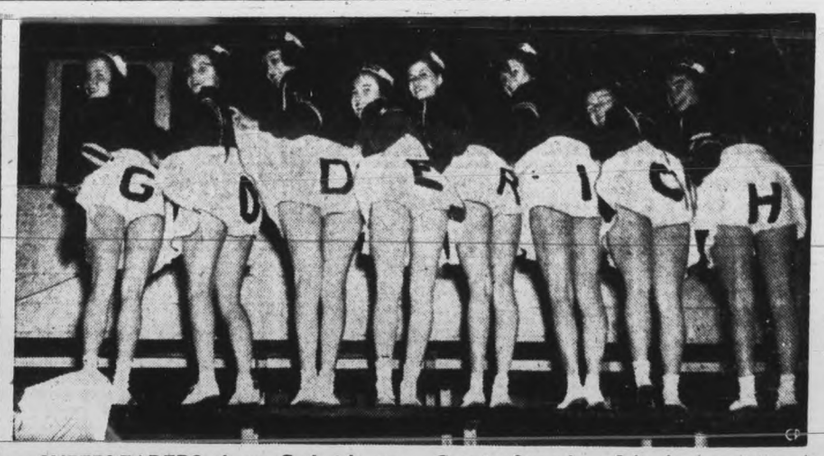
The vehicle is "Good-Bye, My Fancy," written by young Fay Kanin whose husband, Michael Kanin, and Aldrich Myers of New York are the producers. Kanin produced the movie, "A Double Life" which won Ronald Colman the Academy Award this year.

After finishing here Saturday night, the play moves to Toronto and Detroit for a week's run in each city, then a split week in Toledo and Buffalo before showing on Broadway.

Miss Carroll is supported ably by the male leads of Conrad Nagel and Sam Wannamaker in the comedy-drama set in a girls' college, and carrying a stout theme of "freedom of education." Wannamaker also is the director of the play.

The company is well-balanced. But an over-all running time of nearly three hours suggested to experienced first-nighters that the play can stand tightening.

Dialogue Good



Dialogue is good, and sufficiently but not objectionally salty, but the pace is slowed here and there by the reading of some stereotyped characterizations.

Th blonde Miss Carroll's natural grace eased warmly through a role in which she returns as congresswoman Agatha Reid to her alma mater to receive an honorary degree.

As the ex-teacher rise to college president over whom Agatha Reid was expelled 20 years previously, Conrad Nagel keeps his part under full control with the polish and finesse that an audience expects of him.

As the "other man" Wannamaker, who "covers" the college commencement for a photo-story, adds vigor and spice to the last two acts.

Wannamaker, as Matt Cole, and Agatha Reid were war correspondents together and thereby develops the conflict when Agatha returns to college to meet her old flame to find his ideals bending before the board of trustees.

CHEERLEADERS from Goderich on Lake Huron, presented this original routine during a recent track meet of the Western Ontario Secondary Schools Association in London. It's not difficult to tell where they e from.

Situation In China Topic Of Discussion

MILLBROOK, Oct. 22.—(ENS).—The study of China which is to continue for the current year, was introduced by the president, Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, at the October meeting of the Golden Links Mission Circle, on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. E. J. Powell. Why China is front page news today was taken up by Mrs. E. Ball, with special reference to the civil war between Communists and the Government Nationalist forces. Miss Jean Burnham told of the work the missionaries are doing to offset Communism with Christianity, and the difficulties and dangers under which they are laboring.

A series of questions, and a quiz, on China was followed by reasons given by Chinese in Canada why they wish to remain in this country. Those taking part were Mrs. M. Widman, Mrs. K. Pennington, Miss Jessie Lunn, and Mrs. H. W. Gray.

A miscellaneous shower had been prepared for Mrs. R. J. Larmer, Circle treasurer, a recent bride, but since she was absent owing to illness, the daintily-trimmed basket piled with gifts was delivered at her home the following morning.

Mrs. Powell conducted the worship service, Mrs. Arnold assisting. Mrs. Hobbs reported a second parcel sent to Miss Jean Stewart in China, and Mrs. D. L. Lunn reported $38 remitted to the Presbyterial treasurer. Attention was called to the Presbyterial banner again on display having been won for a second year at the recent rally at Peterborough, and the president thanked the members for their cooperation. New missionary books will be purchased, and the hostesses, Mrs. Pennington and Mrs. G. A. Spicer served lunch during the social hour. Supper hostesses for the next meeting will be Mrs. L. Gibson, Mrs. G. McQuade and Miss M. Widdis.

Sell Christmas Island For Eleven Million

LONDON, Oct. 22 — (CP). — Christmas Island, Indian Ocean "paradise" discovered by two British explorers when it was uninhabited 60 years ago, will bring £2,750,000 ($11,000,000) to shareholders of a private company in London—£76 for every £10 share.

This sum will be paid by the Australian and New Zealand governments for the right to work vast high-grade phosphate deposits located on the island.

Descendants of Sir John Murray and Capt. C. G. Ross, who discovered Christmas Island, will profit by the big handout.

Has 101st Birthday Dies 5 Days Later

ST. LOUIS DE LOTBINIERE, Que., Oct. 22—(CP).—Mrs. Pierre Richard, who celebrated her 101st birthday anniversary in this St. Lawrence south shore village five days ago, died Thursday.

The aged widow who often told friends that she had lived so long it must have been an "oversight," died at the home of a daughter.

CENTENARIAN—James Thompkins, who claims to be 101 years old and says his father and mother lived to be 105, is a patient at Hamilton General Hospital. Mr. Thompkins arrived in Hamilton from the southern states many years ago and says he remembers when Hamilton was only a town. Popular with the hospital staff, he smokes a pipe, is bright and active and claims he has always enjoyed good health. The nurses shown with him are Betty Oliver and Joan McCulloch.

Island Members Appointed Following Union

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, Oct. 22. —(CP). — When the terms of Newfoundland's union with Canada are submitted to the Canadian Parliament for approval the island will be without representation in the Commons or the Senate.

Under the British North America Oct Newfoundland is entitled to seven seats inn the Commons and six in the Senate, but the island's representatives will not be allowed to take their seats until after union has been consummated.

It is possible that the election of Newfoundland members to the Commons will not come in time for them to attend the fifth session of the 20th Parliament, which may be the last before another general election. Senators from the island may be appointed any time after the terms of union have been ratified.

Jules Castonguay, chief electoral officer, said that a great deal will have to be done before election of Newfoundland members to the Commons is possible. The terms of union will have to be ratified and the Commons' Representation Act will have to be amended.

Take Six Weeks

While the B.N.A. Act fixes the number of members for each province, the Representation Act outlines the boundaries of electoral constituencies in the provinces. Once the amendments were made, it would take at least six weeks to arrange for by-elections.

He believed that the matter of elections was one of the things now being discussed by the seven-man Newfoundland delegation working with Canadian government authorites here on the possible terms of union.

Meantime, Joseph Smallwood, who spear-headed the campaign to have the 450-year-old island united with Canada, is going ahead with plans for the holding of a convention to revive the Liberal party in Newfoundland.

It is expected that Mr. Smallwood, a member of the seven-man delegation, will be the leading contender for the leadership in the provincial field. Gordon Bradley, former attorney-general in Newfoundland and a strong supporter of Confederation, is mentioned as the likely choice to lead the island in the Federal field.

See No Rift In US Unity In Election Campaign

By CLYDE BLACKBURN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (CP). —Barring an 11th-hour change of pace by one candidate or the other, the United States Presidential election campaign promises to end without any rift in the unity of the two major parties on foreign policy.

Republicans continue to advise and assist those in the Democratic administration charged with delicate problems of international relations and United Nations affairs.

Republican candidate Thomas Ew. Dewey and his party's chief political expert on international affairs, Senator Arthur Vandenburg of Michigan, have been shouting to all the world that the political contest in no way weakens the country's unity when it comes to presenting a solid front to the rest of the world.

President Truman came nearest to shattering this singleness of purpose and aims when his ill-fated proposal to send a special emisary to Moscow became public property.

Under the guidance of State Secretary George Marshall, Truman abandoned his plan to send Chief Justice Fred Vinson to Moscow with a message of peace and goodwill to Stalin — a process that seemed to bypass the efforts of the bipartisan team working for peace at the United Nations General Assembly in Paris.

Diplomatic Fizzle

Truman no doubt had been stung by the reaction of Dewey and others to the Moscow mission fizzle.

Dewey said: "This country has been made to appear before the world as a fumbling giant."

Truman's attempt at Miami to excuse his mis-step brought criticism from the Washington Star. It recalled Truman's earlier statement that Vinson's mission to Moscow was to seek co-operation in setting up international control of atomic energy.

That subject, The Star said, "is a matter that is very definitely within the scope of the United Nations."

The Washington News was more critical: "The net effect (of the Miami speech) is to resurrect the fear of our allies that the United States is capable of running out on them and the United Nations and of making a separate deal with Stalin."

Otherwise there is really no major issue between the two parties which will face the electorate Nov. 2.

School Banner Won By Asphodel SS 6

NORWOOD, Oct. 22—(ENS).—Following are the standings of the six highest schools taking part in the 1948 Norwood School Fair. A number of other schools had entries in one or more classes.

The school standing for the banner is: Banner School, SS 6, Asphodel; second, Westwood School; third, South Dummer; fourth, Norwood; fifth, Villiers; sixth, Bottesloe.

The Stewart Warner prize went to Miss Marguerite Lamey, teacher of Banner School. The Brantford washing machine special for second rating school was awarded to Miss Ruth Mortlock, and the third, Bonnie Bannon special, was won by Mrs. Vera Allen.

Westwood School placed first in school singing. SS 6, Asphodel (Daisy D) placed second.

In public speaking, Maureen Kennedy took first place with Shirley Hope second and Gerald Johnson third.

FLYING NET

The dragon-fly folds its six spine-fringed legs together to form a net when in flight.

One Plane Stolen

FAIR HAVEN, Vt., Oct. 22 — (AP). — One airplane was stolen and another damaged Thursday night by a high-flying thief who broke into a hangar at Fair Haven airport. Police said an Aeronca two-seater was taken after an attempt to take off with a Tayo craft ended in a crash on the field.

QUEEN ELIZABETH and her daughter, Princess Margaret Rose, were among the visitors to the exhibitiion of French books recently opened in London. They are examining a 13th century volume, "Psalter of St. Louis," which is now being shown for the first time outside of France. The women of the royal family have long been noted for distinctive hats. These two seem to follow the line. Princess Margaret's is held on with a bneath-the-chin veil.

Dorothy Lamour Seeks Freedom From Studio

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 22 (AP).—Dorothy Lamour plans to seek complete freedom from Paramount, where she got her start in pictures.

The New Orleans sarong girl left the home lot a year ago, but the studio retained rights for one film yearly. This year's commitment has been given to Pine-Thomas for "Betrayed" with Dan Duryea. Dotty resents being shunted to the independent unit even if it is for a high-budget picture.

Lamour, who has been busy on the independent film circuit and with her air show, has two more films to make for Paramount.

Hither and Yawn!

When Jane Wyman signed her Warners' contract in 1936, wrote this in her biography questionnaire; "My ambition is not to be just an actress, but THE actress of Warner Bros." It took a long time, but—after "Johnny Belinda" —she just about has her wish . . .

"Robinson Crusoe" will be filmed in Jamaica — if MGM can line up a leading man. Several stars have shied away from the role, feeling it's too much of a strain and a danger to be alone on the screen for so long . . .

Rochelle Hudson is drawing a lot of comment in the local revival of "Burlesque" with Bert Lahr. She's as pretty and shapely as she was at Fox back in the early '30's . . . Safe bet: That Agnes Moorehead is the only Hollywood actress with a Ph.D. It's in literature.

Capsule Review

"The Three Musketeers" (MGM) cast, brilliant color and lots of is a completely commercial treatment of the Dumas classic. A big action have been combined for entertaining results. Gene Kelly is agile, Lana Turner evil, June Allyson sweet, Angela Lansbury regal. The only engrossing character is Van Heflin, who almost steals the picture from the amazing Kelly.

Must Keep Prices Up

REGINA, Oct. 22. — (CP). — Percy Wright, CCF Member of Parliament for Melfort, said Thursday night farmers cannot be expected to increase production to meet a world shortage "if the result is to be, as in the past, a severe drop in prices just because they produced more."

Traders Have Good Cattle Week

TORONTO, Oct. 22 — (CP).—Traders found it a satisfactory week on the local Livestock Market. A heavy run of 10,511 cattle sold strongly at prices ranging from 50 cents to $1 higher and the yards were cleared of all but about 500 cattle by the week's end. Calves and sheep were steady to 50 cents higher in spots. Only hogs declined, losing 50 cents a hundredweight.

Included in the run were about 1,700 stockers. All grades of killing cattle met active demand and buyers did a hustling business on Monday and Tuesday. Wednesday trade began to slacken off somewhat, but prices remained firm. Thursday, trade slowed considerably due to the lower quality offering, but prices remained firm for the quality of animals offered.

Weighty steers sold at $19.50-$25 according to quality. Butcher steers were $16.50-$22, with boners downward to $14 and heifers mere mostly $17-$21, with tops at $21.50. Fed yearlings sold at $19.50-$28. Butcher cows were $13-$17, with some up to $17.50. Canners and cutters brought $8-$12.50. Bulls were $19-$20 for tops, with plain lights downward to $15.

Stockers were firm and in fair demand selling at $15.50-$19, with good fleshy feeders up to $21. Ordinary quality milkers and springers brought $130-$175 each.

Sales of calves were 2,346 head. Good to choice vealers sold at $27-$29, with plain to medium lights and heavies from $16-$25. Grass calves for slaughter sold at $13-$15.50.

Hogs totalled 2,422 head. Prices dropped 50 cents Tuesday after being unsettled at the beginning of the week. Grade A closed at $31.50 and Grad B1 closed $31.10. Sows also lost 50 cents, closing at $23.50 dressed.

Sheep and lambs totalled 3,799 head. Lambs were mostly unchanged at $22 for good ewes and wethers, with some long haul off car lambs at $22.50. Bucks were sold at $1 discount. Cull lambs sold at $14-$17. Sheep were mostly $5-$9, with some better ewes at $9.50.

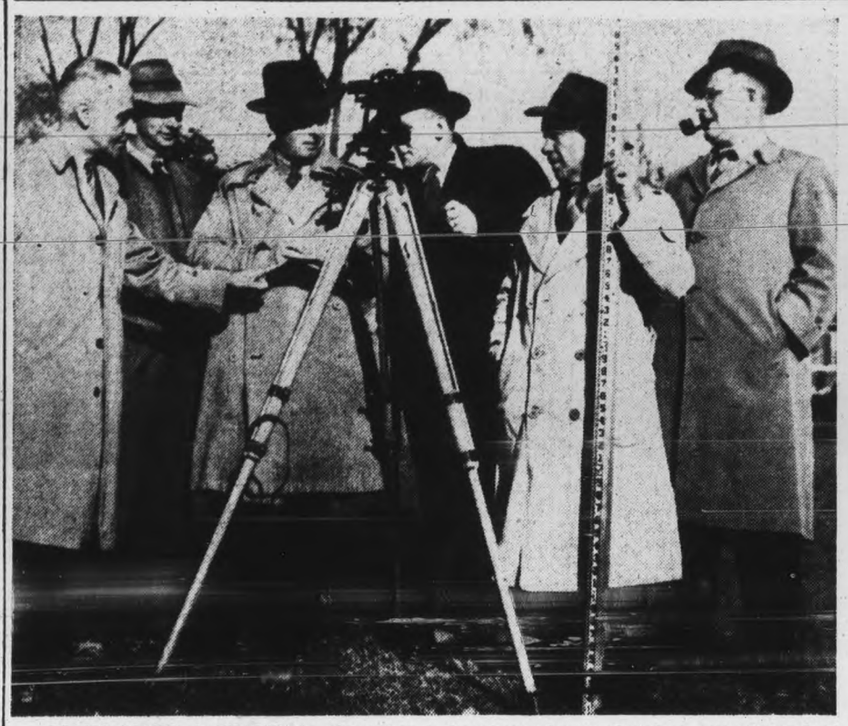
Canvassers Need More Time To Cover City

Decision to carry its canvassing program over to next week was reached by the Civic Arena Committee at headquarters last night. This is being done to give all canvassers an opportunity to cover the entire city.



Some 500 calls have to be made by the "special names" committee and although they are making good headway so far, the fact that stores are closed on Wednesday afternoons and that call-backs are numerous, Pat Anglesey and his committee are therefore working against the clock.

With still half the house-to-house canvassers to report in, headquarters announced that total receipts for Thursday night were over $800. Call-backs to many homes were necessary by Arena supporters and consequently a full report on Thursday night's activities will not be forthcoming until tonight.

Mrs. William Addyman, member of the Civic Arena Committee reported that she and her organization were all prepared to hold their mammoth "Civic Arena Tag Day" this Saturday and it is expected that more than one hundred taggers will be on the streets both this evening and all day tomorrow.

As everybody knows the Civic Arena is being built primarily for the youth of Peterborough and consequently, any young boy or girl around 14 or 15 years of age, or older, wishing to take part in the tag day, may do so, if they will report to Mrs. Biggs early Saturday morning at Arena headquarters, corner Charlotte and George streets.

Any boy or girl in this age group will be heartily welcomed. Hot chocolate will be served throughout the day to all taggers.

Baptist Delegates Attending Session

About 100 out-of-town delegates will be arriving tonight or early Saturday morning to attend the 12th Brotherhood Conference of the Baptist Church which is being held at Murray St. Church. It is the first time a Brotherhood Conference has been in Peterborough.

Those attending the conference are delegates from various men's organizations in Baptist churches which meet for fellowship and spiritual rededication.

Among the guests will be men from Brockville, London, Windsor, Toronto and many other centres throughout southern Ontario.

Board To Accept X-Ray Equipment

Board of Governors of Civic Hospital decided Thursday night to accept from the Department of Health X-ray equipment to be used in the expanding campaign for the prevention of tuberculosis.

A letter from Dr. S. A. Holling of the division of TB prevention outlined the conditions of this gift which provides for the taking of miniature films of chests as routine examination of every patient.

It is understood that the provincial and federal governments are the sources of the funds for this machine, one of which will be offered to each hospital.

It is likely that cost of film and the general operation of this preventive service may be shared by city and county interests that are becoming active in the fight against tuberculosis.

Rumor of Tire Freezing Brings Flood of Buyers

Problem of the week: is there going to be a tire shortage? Or rationing? Or government restrictions on sales? Despite denials by officials and sources connected with supplies, the public seems to be listening to rumors which have been prevalent for most of this month. Peterborough tire dealers report a rush of worried inquiries and a slight increase in sales—to purchasers not re-assured by the dealers' contradictions.

Most heartening word to refute the glum stories that the government was considering a return to rationing was given by Trade Minister C. D. Howe in Ottawa on Thursday night. He said "there's no truth to that rumor."

"Canada has plenty of rubber and plenty of tires. We're not making plans for rationing."

All the dealers in the city have heard the rumors—and all report either no word from their suppliers about the situation or assurances that the rumors are groundless and the supply will continue.

Beatty's Tire Service on Charlotte St., reported that "everybody seems scared" by the rationing or scarcity stories. It has brought an increase in their sales, they said. Companies supplying them report that there has been no letdown in production or supply, but that the rush of some to buy now has created a temporary vacuum of supplies in some areas.

Buyers Anxious

J. K. Hughes Garage said there has been "no rush on tires" this week, although the stories have been repeated anxiously to their tire department.

"The stories started floating around about three weeks ago," said a tire worker at the Duffus Motors, "but the public didn't get around to asking or buying on the strength of them until this week. There hasn't been much of an increase. We have been assured all along by our suppliers that there is nothing to it."

Millbrook and Cavan villages have felt the waves of speculation, too, said the Peterborough distributors of Dunlop tires, who said their dealers in those areas had all had a sudden jump in sales. It has not made much difference in the city, however.

Firestone Tire Store on Charlotte said there have been "many inquiries" from residents. A lot of people have come in prepared to buy tires now whether they need them or not, they said... to be equipped for next year.

Rush In Toronto

Almost all dealers in Toronto said there has been a rush of orders recently. One had heard a rumor of a 10 to 15 per cent increase of prices in the offing.

One manufacturer said telegrams had gone out Thursday to all branch offices in Canada advising them there had been assurances from government sources that there was no foundation for rumors of freezing or other control over "the free flow of tires to the consumer."

As for the rumored channeling of tires into rearmament, the same company said the government was not buying more tires than usual.

An offical said: "The demand has been heavy for this time of year. Plants are running to capacity. It will be only a short time before the false rumors of shortage are cleared up. With 2 million registered vehicles on the road, a wave of panic buying can mount up quickly.

So far as his company is concerned, he said, no price increase is contemplated now.

The vice-president in charge of sales for another firm said dealers had been advised there is "no information from any source" to support the fear that the government will restrict sales or otherwise interrupt the flow of tires from producer to consumer.

The representative of still another producer said there were shortages in some lines, probably due to production lost in summer holidays and labor difficulties, both aggravated by recent power cuts. Rumors of tires being frozen, or of price increases, were unfounded so far as he knew.

The Rubber Association of Canada reported no knowledge of any abnormal sidetracking of tires to the government.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

A BUSY MAN

A lad around five years of age, was seen on George Street, carefully wrapping his prize possessions. Those included a large white rag, and on to this he placed two one-cent match cards, and a rope 12 inches long.

HUM FUNERAL

Funeral for Hum Hoy who died Tuesday at noon, will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from George Street United Church. It has been decided that his body will be returned to China for burial.

MORE POWER USED

The sun was bright Thursday, but Peterborough used more electric power than the day before. The meters showed 256,000 kilowatt-hours; 4,000 kwh. more than Wednesday, but also 4,000 less than Tuesday. The daily quota, as a reminder, is 240,000 kwh.

JUST A RUMOR

Trade Minister Howe Thursday night spiked rumors bouncing around the country that automobile tire rationing is being considered by the government. "There's no truth to that," he said in an interview. "Canada has plenty of rubber and plenty of automobile tires."

ZOO NEWS

Bobo the monk at the Filtration Zoo was a happy girl today when H. C. Berry, from his service station on Highway 28, west of Peterborough, brought his monkeys Moo and Joe to the zoo for their second winter visit. The three monks squealed and chattered to beat the band as they told each other about all the silly people they had seen during the summer. The two boarders sailed into Bobo's food dish before the big gabfest warmed up but she swung on her perch without protest, her show of welcome to her two old friends.

Total For Year May Exceed Ten Millions

Commercially, communally and industrially, Peterborough is growing during 1948 at the rate of more than $20,000 a day. Total value of projects now being built within the city limits is more than seven and a half million dollars, a survey showed. With work already completed and yet to be started, it is believed that the year's construction in all fields will come close to $10,000,000.

Indicative of the tremendous need for private housing—and the strenuous efforts being made by the government, contractors and individuals — to meet this problem, more than three million of this money is being spent on dwellings. More than 350 residential buildings raised their roofs in Peterborough during the year.

The largest single housing project is the one sponsored by the government-owned Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. Two hundred homes are being built for it by the Reynolds Construction Company. They are in the $7,000-$9,000 price range and have a total value of more than one and a half million.

Another large-scale housing program is being carried out by the local real estate firm of Sands and Bateman. Started in 1947 and still in process, they will construct a total of 104 houses by the time their work is done. Value is close to half a million dollars.

Largest single project now underway in the city is the new Civic Hospital on the western edge. Its cost is now estimated at $2,600,000. Contractor is the Eastwood Construction Company.

New Wing $425,000

St. Joseph's Hospital, which is adding a new wing this year, also makes an impressive addition to the total—$425,000 is the figure for the new section.

A Million For Homes

Building permits for dwellings and home repairs and extensions have been issued to Peterborough residents by the City Engineer's office to the tune of $1,008,486 so far this year. This includes not only new dwellings and major overhaul jobs but dozens of minor re-roofing, private paving, remodelling. They range from permits to put in a $10 sidewalk beside a verandah to homes in the $15-20,000 range.

Garage construction and repairs total $29,607 to date.

New stores and wide remodelling of existing commercial places has been going on in all parts of the city. The Bell Telephone Company is building an extension to its office on Hunter St. valued at $145,000. Cherney Brothers Furnitures Stores are adding $100,000 to the value of their propery with additions.

An Ashburnham addition to the Braund Stores chain will cost $75,000. The new Hayward-Riley store on George St. is costing more than $90,000. An extension to the rear of The Examiner building at the corner of Water Sts. is being built at an aproximate cost of $30,000.

The school facilities are being enlarged by the new Separate School in the north end. Its cost is $172,000.

The Civic Arena, being built by public subscription and due for completion this fall, is costing $40,000. The new bandstand at the Oval has a price tag of $10,000.

The city's industries have also been enlarging their construction programs. The C.G.E. enlargement of its machine-shop section this year cost about a quarter of a million dollars.

Other firms have also been active. Due to the internal nature of many of the projects, full details or costs were not available, but it is known that more than $100,000 has been spent by other concerns in extension of buildings this year.

Other projects which add to the impressive total, but for which no figures were given, include: the new Paramount Theatre of the Famous Players line on George St.; two small new churches in the city and district.

On a per capita basis, the city's value has increased $200 for every man, woman and child in 1948... and it's still October!

Supply Of Anti-Freeze Likely To Be Short Garagamen Blame Import Restrictions

With winter just around the corner, motorists have received the discouraging news that there is an acute shortage of commercial anti-freeze. A check made today of local garages and service stations reveals that the most popular anti-freeze on the market is either scarce or unprocurable.

As a result of this shortage it would appear that the motorists will have to use alcohol to prevent their rads from freezing. And to add another gloomy prediction to the survey: one garage man said that even alcohol was likely to be scarce, and this situation would be aggravated because the demand would increase as motorists turned to it as a substitute.

Two reasons are given for the shortage. A local dealer quoted from a letter written to him by the company which makes the anti-freeze. The letter stated that the federal government, presumably in an attempt to save American dollars, had imposed restrictions on the purchase of the raw materials necessary for the manufacture of sufficient anti-freeze.

Enough of these raw materials do not exist in Canada, the letter continued. As a consequence the quota to dealers had been reduced.

A more startling version came from another garageman. He said he had received a letter from the federal government informing him that existing supplies were needed by the government — presumably for purposes of national defence.

Several other retailers believed this to be the reason, but said they had no sure means of verifying it as they did not get similar letters.

"The glycol-ethylene base of that type of anti-freeze is used in aircraft, or in military vehicles that might be employed in the Arctic," he said. "And it is also used in explosives."

Meanwhile John Q. Public faces the prospect of having a frozen or balky engine this winter unless (a) the import restrictions are lifted, or (b) the international situation improves.

31 Kinsmen Clubs Meeting For Three-Day Session

Representatives of 31 Kinsmen Club in District Eight are meeting in Peterborough this week-end for the fall council meeting. More than 100 visitors are expected to be guests of the Peterborough Kinsmen Club for the three-day session of business and social activities.

A reception for about 50 was held Thursday night to welcome the advance guards of out-of-towners. From the city club to greet them were: President Stanley Gilmore, Past-President Jim King, and convention chairman Roy Lewis.

George Budreo of Cooksville, Ont., Governor of District Eight, gave an address of welcome at a meeting this morning, during which other national and district officials were introduced. Luncheon following at noon today was at the Empress Hotel.

This afternoon, Douglas Chesebrough of Oshawa, for Kin Education and Kin Information officiated at the session. He was assisted by Jim King in a demonstration of the proper way to conduct a Kin meeting. The rest of the program included open discu ion and criticism of club problems, inter-club meetings and general responsibilities of the service group.

New Club Charter

Highlights of activities today will be at a stag dinner at the Kawartha Club, during which the newly-formed Omemee Kinsmen Club will receive its charter. The presentation will be made by Ed Freeland, national president of the Kinsmen Clubs. The baby club has been sponsored by the Peterborough Kin.

Mayor William Ovens will deliver a civic welcome to the delegates on Saturday morning. Roll call of the clubs and business reports will be heard at that sitting.

On Saturday afternoon, the council meeting will concern itself with general expansion programs of activities and new business presented.

Social climax is at the Kawartha Club Saturday evening at which city and visiting Kin and ladies will attend the Governor's Ball.

A breakfast Sunday morning will conclude the program.

Thos. H. Hooper Has Large Funeral

The funeral of Thomas H. Hooper, dean of the retail merchants of Peterborough, took place Thursday afternoon to All Saints Church where the service was conducted by Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite assisted by Rev. Walter Gilling.

Many friends were present, members of the church, former business associates, members of fraternal lodges and other groups. Among them were representatives of the Peterborough Exhibition Board of which Mr. Hooper had been a director.

The pall bearers were: Charles Lacheur, Fred Hills, James Collins, James Juby, James Vallery and Keith G. Lech.

Rev. Mr. Kiblewhite paid a short tribute to Mr. Hooper as a member of All Saints Church from the time of its establishment, and as a faithful layman and support to successive pastors.

Rev. Mr. Kibblewhite recalled that the church is celebrating its 50th anniversary at the end of this month, on All Saints Day, and gratefuly mentioned that Mr. Hooper had been a member throughout that entire half century.

WORK PROGRESSING

Five trucks are being used in the construction job on the Buckhorn road. New sections are being built, eliminating dangerous bends. Birch Bend is one of the many to be straightened out.

2nd Mortgage Loans For Vets Now Available

A. B. Burrows, sub district administrator of DVA received a letter, with information about the provincial second mortgage loans this week.

Mr. Burrows explained the need that exists for such loans. For instance, if a veteran has $750 and wishes to build a home worth $6,000 he may do so by borrowing $4,000 from any loan company, which is the maximum available and he can make up the balance by borrowing the maximum $1,250 on a second mortgage loan. The loan is applicable only to newly constructed houses, for the purpose of enabling more people to buy and own homes. It is intended to cut payments in half though no loan will be advanced in excess of $1,250. Interest at 3½ per cent per annum with privilege of repayment of all or any part of money at any time.

Before applying for the loan, arrangements must be made for a first mortgage through an established lending institution for a substantial portion of the value of the property, followed by an application for the 2nd loan. 'You must make your own decisions as to what you wish to buy or what you intend to build. It is advisable to consult your banker before entering into the obligations, carefully considering your financial position and ability to carry out such a transaction,' the letter says.

Principal and interest shall be repayable in equal monthly installments (twenty year amortization.)

Application forms and all necessary information may be obtained from Department of Planning and Development, Housing Branch, Room 4602, East Block, Parliament Buildings, Toronto 2.

Suggest Trenton Belleville Unite

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 22 (CP):—Belleville city council this week faced, the prospect of a city of 200,000 persons which would incorporate Belleville, Trenton and the 10 miles of suburban Sydney township between them.

The proposal was set before the council by W. C. Mikel, former Belleville mayor, who suggested the city could be named "City of Quinte."

Mr. Mikel said the present population of the area might be increased from the present 40,000 to 200,000. Canada's growth justifies the possibility of adding about 100 industries to the area laying along the north shore of the Bay of Quinte, he said.

The plan was referred to Belleville suburban planning board for consideration.

Enlarge Power Plant In Bancroft Village

BANCROFT, Oct. 22 (ENS). — Work is expected to start this week at the power site when Charles Barber and Son of Meaford will start erection of another addition to the power house and also the construction of a new flume to take care of another power unit. When the new plant is in operation it will then double its electrical power output for the village but even at that, the village will still have to buy power from Hydro as new buildings in Bancroft and those under construction will require plenty of power.

At present there is no power available for the new hospital which is under construction and the new high school which is already completed and in use has not sufficient power to operate its equipment. The high school board is seriously contemplating the installation of a portable power unit that will take care of their requirements temporarily.

Start Work On New Lindsay Plant

LINDSAY, Oct. 22 — In connection with the start of a new plant, Industrial Commissioner D. McQuarrie of Lindsay wants everybody to turn out at 11 o'clock Saturday morning for the sod-turning ceremony. He made it known that the event will be attended by Hon. Leslie Frost, Hon. A. Welsh, Lindsay Mayor and Council, to be held on the site of the new $2,000,000 Visking Corporation plant. The plant construction contract has been awarded to the Robertson Construction Co., with the building site 17½ acres in the East Ward.

Try For World Record

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 22 (CP).—Two sets of fliers, half a continent apart, set their sights Thursday for the world's air endurance record of 726 hours. Over Palm Springs, Calif., Dick Reidel and Bill Barris topped 44 hours as their four-place cabin plane droned on without missing a beat. Meanwhile, at Dallas, Tex., two rivals, Pred Vinmont and Bert Simons, were aloft since 7:01 p.m. EST Wednesday.

PEIPING, Oct. 22 — (CP). — Pro-government Chinese press dispatches conceded Thursday night the Communists had captured Changchun, hungry capital of Manchuria.

ALBERT GREEN has been appointed superintendent of buildings at the Ontario Agricultural College in Guelph. Mr. green has been chief engineer of the college.

Omemee H and S Hears Talk On Water Levels

OMEMEE, Oct. 22 — (ENS) — The Omemee Home and School Association spent a profitable hour at their October meeting Monday evening with all local talent.

The Parents Roll Call designated the shield to Miss Jones for this month. It was voted to send a basket of fruit to Mr. L. M. Curtis, public school principal who is confined to his home through illness. Due to the very small balance in the treasury some means of raising funds was discussed. The president Mrs. S. Northy presented a suggestion that a euchre party be held Nov. 5 in Miss Graham's schoolroom. Transportation was arranged for those wishing to attend the regional home and school conference of District No. 10, to be held in St. James United Church, Peterborough, Friday, October 22, afternoon and evening sessions.

Current events were ably dealt with by Mrs. C. Whitmore. She discussed low water levels in Canada and the United States causing power shortage with reforestation as a possible remedy. the record breaking number of beef cattle sold on Manitoulin Island this year, recent visitors of note in Canada and possibilities of another world war in the near future.

Mrs. H. Bent gave a health talk specializing on the volume of immunization for children. She told the number of treatments required for each disease and the duration and degree of their effectiveness.

Mrs. A. Stephenson spoke on home and school membership emphasizing the responsibilities of membership with special reference to the 16 rules in the manual.

For special numbers the gathering was delighted with Miss Dorothy Connell's singing of "In the Garden of Tomorrow" and a reading by Mrs. V. Lang entitled The Common Touch.

Principal Hough moved a hearty vote of thanks to all taking part in the program and suggested that the 16 points be typed and a copy given to each member.

A cup of tea was served after the program.

Registration Down College Service Cut

TORONTO, Oct. 22 — (CP) — Decreased registration at the University of Toronto has forced curtailment of services supplied the students by the students administrative council, student president Gordon Gwynne-Timothy said Thursday.

This year's budget was based on an expected enrolment equalling last year's 17,689, but actual enrolment this year is only 15,684, leaving the council short some $7,000 in student fees.

To meet the drop in revenue, the SAC will cut the sudent daily newspaper, the Varsity, from eight to four pages one day a week and charge students for Torontonensis, the University year book.

Food Cut Off

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 22 — (Reuters). — Newfoundland's 10-day-old rail strike has cut off food and other essential supplies from all parts of the island, and only small freighters are moving, it was reported here Thursday night.

96-Year-Old Mill Closes At Georgetown

GEORGETOWN, Ont., Oct. 22. —(CP).—An annual payroll loss of $150,000 faces this Halton county town next month with the closing of its oldest industry, the 96-year-old Barber paper mill now the property of Provincial Paper, Ltd.

Its old machines can no longer meet the competition of newer and faster machines and its building, tucked against the banks of the Credit river, can not be enlarged enough to install new ones.

Approximately 80 employees will be pensioned, transferred or helped to find new jobs.

Mayor Joe Gibbons said the closing wouldn't cripple the town of 2,500 people. But he'd be happier to see the wheels turning for the good of the town's morale.

Modern Civilization Owes Much To Chinese Rotarians Told

In an address "Our Very Great Debt to the Chinese," Dr. A. T. Currelly, Curator of the Royal Ontario Museum, told the Kiwanis Club on Thursday that among the things our civilization had acquired from the Chinese were silk, the stirrup, paper, printing, the compass, gunpowder, hard-glazed dishes and tea.

He said that the Chinese looked on warriors as the lowest class in the community and he contended that development of Europe's "iron - mechanical civilization was due to its concentration on war and armaments.

"Our own civilization is not anything to be too proud of," he said. "The men who wanted to make good found that the best thing to do was to become armourers. Because of this they became skilled in handling metals."

Dr. Currelly stressed the point that Europeans had tended to neglect other skills as they concentrated on preparing for war.

"We should have been building up something of value, not wasting our skills in preparing for war," he said. "A good deal of the time we didn't think what was building around us."

Despite the Europeans' ability to handle metals he said it was hundreds of years before they learned to put a hole in the axe and then put the stick through the hole. That was learned from the Chinese, he said.

At the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto he said there were metal parts from Chinese crossbows dating back to about 1000 B. C. He traced its use after the Greeks got it from the Chinese and said it was enlarged and made into large wall-crushing ballistas.

In an interesting disgression, he said, the advent of these war machines forced the Europeans into long, square-shaped masonry to protect themselves from the mechanical-propelled missiles.

He described the route taken by the silk caravans which went from China to Alexandria when the price was a pound of silk for a pound of gold.

Dr. Currelly said paper was not known in Europe until about 1200 but it was known in China at the time of Christ and was made by pulping old fish nets. The secret of making it came from the Arabs who had captured some Chinese as slaves.

The histories of the compass, gunpowder (not used by the Chinese for warlike purposes) and printing were all cited by Dr. Currelly as indicative of Chinese skils.

Elimination of the disease-ridden wooden trenchers and the substitution of hard-glazed dishes is a major debt that Europeans owe the Chinese, he said. They were introduced into England about the time of Charles the second.

The coming of tea helped to make the Europeans a more sober people and was generally beneficial, he said. Until then beer had been the household drink as water was laden with typhoid. By boiling the water in the process of tea-making, he said, the people unconsciously protected themselves from disease.

Dr. Currelly was introduced by Ernie McWilliams and thanked by Walter Howell. President E. G. Pridham was in the chair.

Joseph Malloy was the only guest.

Russian Efforts To Jam Radio May Boomerang

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP).—Russia's reported all-out effort to smother "Voice of America" radio broadcasts may be boomeranging.

American listening posts have picked up a total of 18 Soviet stations, mostly centred around Moscow and Vladivostok, which state department officials say are used to "jam" the "Voice" programs.

These officials add, however, that they have reason to believe the jamming never succeeds entirly and that the reaction of Russian listeners therefore is one of intensified interest; they want to find out what information it is their government seeks to deny them.

The United States is not trying to retaliate by jamming Soviet broadcasts to this continent, the authorities say, but is making a special effort in its broadcast to Russia to tell Russian people all the news their government may not be giving to them.

There is evidence that this news is getting through, officials say, citing the Kasenkina case as an example.

Travelled Fast

When Mrs. Oksana Kasenkina jumped out of the window of the Soviet consulatae in New York several weeks ago, the "Voice" picked up news reports of the incident and began broadcasting them to the Soviet Union within a matter of minutes.

Observers in Moscow reported later that within three hours, news of what the refugee Russian teacher had done was widely known over the Soviet capital.

George Allen, assistant state secretary, said in a domestic radio broadcast earlier this week that ambassador Walter Bedell Smith's early estimate of 8,000,000 "Voice" listeners in the Soviet Union has been revised upward three or four times. Other officials said this means Smith now thinks the number of listeners exceeds 24,000,000.

Can't Determine Value Yet Of Fluorination Water Supplies

TORONTO, Oct. 22 — (CP) — Health Minister Martin said Thursday night insufficient evidence has been obtained to assess the value of the fluorination of public water supplies in reducing tooth decay.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the annual meeting of the Academy of Dentistry, Mr. Martin recalled that his department is co-operating with Ontario and with the health authorities of Brantford on a project which seems to establish the value of fluorination.

The dental conditions of 1,800 children in Brantford are being checked over a 10-year period, during which time fluorine is being added to the city's water supply. An equal number of children are being checked in Sarnia where there is no fluorine in the water, and in another Ontario city whose water supply has a natural fluorine content. He did not name the third city.

While not giving details of the experiment, he said "it is amazing to think that one part per million of sodium fluoride added to the community's drinking water might lead to such a startling reduction as from 40 to 60 per cent in dentals caries."

"The officers of my dental division tell me that while there are high hopes for this measure, in the light of present evidence there is not yet sufficient proof of its usefulness to suggest a widespread application of water-fluorination," said Mr. Martin.

"In addition to the treatment of water supplies with sodium fluoride, great interest is being taken by the dental health division in the topical application of sodium fluoride to children's teeth, by which new cavities may be reduced by as much as 40 per cent, according to competent observers."

Save Two Children

WELLAND, Oct. 22.—(CP).—Two young children, left alone in their home in nearby Thorold township, Thursday were rescued unconscious from the smoke-filled dwelling. Two motorists, Earl Savigny and Roy Scalon of Fonthill, Ont., saw smoke coming from the house and carried out Carol Ann Sibbett, six, and her brother, Douglas, two. Police said both parents were at work.

Former Lock Operator James Davis Dies

Former operator of the Peterborough Lift Lock for 29 years, James Robert Davis, 75, of 708 Armour Road, died on Thursday in hospital following a short illness. He had been retired from the Department of Transport seven years ago. He was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and came to Peterborough from Tweed 42 years ago.

He leaves his wife, the former Nettie Lucas, two daughters Mrs. K. Campbell (Grace) of this city and Mrs. Fred Kugler (Wanetta) of Toronto, and one son Garnet of Peterborough.

Mr. Davis was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church and of the Masonic Order AF and A M. He was a veteran of the First World War and a member of the Canadian Legion, Branch 52, BESL.

Funeral service will be held at the family residence on Sunday, at 2 p.m. Rev. Charles G. Boyd will officiate, and burial will be at Victoria Cemetery, Tweed.

Fined Second Time

MONTREAL, Oct. 22.—(CP).—Judge Armand Clouthier Thursday fined Mrs. Yvette Beauchamp, real estate operator, $2,000 for having continued a furniture-selling scheme, in connection with rentals, for which she previously was fined $600. Mrs. Beauchamp's husband, Rosaire, was fined $20; L. P. Gaudreault, $100, and Mrs. H. Holly, $25.

Still Trying To Throw Away All Waste Radioactive Atoms

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—(AP).—One of the still secret projects of the United States Atomic Energy Commission is how to get rid of waste radioactive atoms. Some facts have been published, but most of the conferences are behind closed doors. The hazards are radioactive solids, liquids and gases getting into the air, ground or water. Even oceans are not considered safe.

There are two kinds of radioactive risks, short-lived and long-lived. The long-lived is the problem. Short-lived stuff can be stored until it dies. But some of the long-lived material may be as hazardous a century hence as it is today.

Dr. Forrest Western of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory tells some possibilities of protection in a report to the Greater New York Safety Council, published in the scientific journal, Nucleonics.

May Concentrate

Sufficient dilution, by spreading thinly in water, air or ground, would be safe. But there is no assurance that plants will not pick up hot atoms and concentrate them. Dr. Western cites an unnames species of algae that may concentrate them eough to emit rays which can be detected many feet away.

At Bikini other observers said oil slicks picked up thousands of times more of the radioactive atoms than the water. Small boats became temporarily unsafe from hot atoms in marine growths on their bottoms.

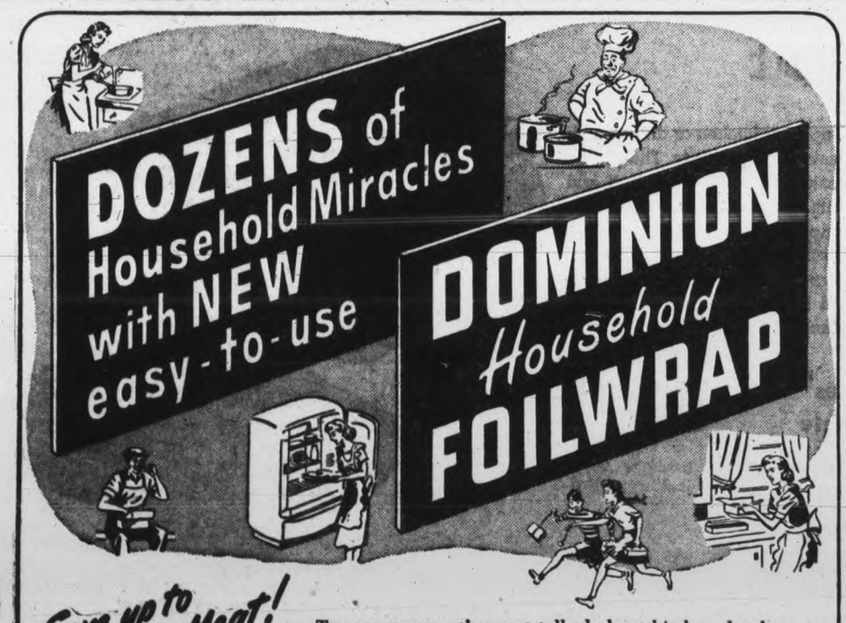
One proposal is to put radioactive stuff in the solutions used for making concrete. This concrete would be made into solid blocks and sunk in an ocean. Even if the blocks broke after a century, not much radioactivity would be expected to escape. A difficulty is that some radioactive chemicals might prevent the concrete from setting.

Metal Cans Considered

Metal cans have been considered for the ocean. No tests have been published as to whether any can is yet known that will remain tight for a couple of centuries.

Another study is on mixing the dangerous atoms with non-radioactive chemical elements. Thi mixing would use the same ele ment. For example, radioactive iron would be mixed with non-radioactive.

Once mixed, the radioactive stuff presumably never would become separated, for one of the most difficult problems of the atomic age has been to find methods of separating atoms of the same element.



Exactly how much radioactivity human beings can safely stand is not known. Tolerances are set unusually low to protect personnel working in laboratories, and results have been fairly satisfactory.

Chapleau Loses Isolation Hew Road Out of Forest

CHAPLEAU, Ont., Oct. 22—(CP). — Car owners in this Northern Ontario railway town 137 miles west of Sudbury look for an early end to the highway isolation which now limits them to drives 43 miles south into the bushland and home again. Contractors now are hacking eight miles of new road to the south through wide jackpine plains and around timber-clad hills. When they finish that, another 12 miles will link the road south from Chapleau to another stretching north from the provincial highway system at Thessalon, some 110 miles south of here on the shore of Lake Huron.

The dream of a road outlet for this community of some 2,600 persons had its inception in 1923 when pioneer resident Tom Godfrey, the town's first car owner, supervised the first road building program. Now 70, Godfrey asserts that he will drive the first car to traverse the completed highway.

For much of its way, the road skirt the turbulent Mississagi River which draws its name from the Ojibway tongue of Indians who once trapped and hunted along its banks. Mississagi is the Ojibway word for Big Mouth.

The road traverses an outdoor apradise. It winds through rugged awe-inspiring hills, many of them topped with dark green pine.

It follows the trail taken by Hudson's Bay Company fur traders from the ancient trading post of Laloche on Manitoulin Island. It passes ruins of old lumber camps, abandoned after the loggers stripped hills and valleys of their cloak of pine.

When projected work is completed, it will cross the Mississagi near one of Ontario's great scenic wonders — Aubrey Falls, known to comparatively few Canadians.

Trying To Speed Up Power Generators

NIAGARA - ON - THE - LAKE, Ont., Oct. 22. — (CP).—Hydro chairman Robert Saunders said Thursday night that his Commission is doing everything possible to speed up the completion of new power generating units.

He told the annual meeting of District Five of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association that the present power shortage exists because a scarcity of water at generating units has cut 3,500,000 kilowatt hours from the Southern Ontario system.

"We are looking at every single source of power to relieve the situation before 1951," he said. "There will be a great measure of relief if we have normal snow and rain during the next 12 months.

"If we had the water right now that we had at this time last year, Hydro would be meeting the demand. It isn't meeting demand because of a factor beyond the control of Hydro."

Hint Blackout For Noranda

NORANDA, Que., Oct. 21 (CP) —Indications that the twin cities of Rouyn-Noranda may soon join browned-out districts of Northwestern Quebec because of power shortages were seen here to-day.

E. V. Harrison, vice-president and general manager of Northwestern Quegec Power Company termed the situation "alarming." The company supplies most of power for this area.

Meanwhile, a new source of power is being rushed to completion by Quebec Hydro and is expected to be ready by mid-December. The new site is in the town of Cadillac, 38 miles south of Noranda.

"We may have to introduce rationing here earlier than last winter," said Mr. Harrison. "It may possibly come before Christmas. Rainfall lately did not give us as much water as we had hoped for."

A survey is being made of the company's reservoirs and consumers have been requested to conserve power voluntarily.

The La Sarre Power Company of La Sarre to-day began providing only one-half hour of service every two hours. Seven towns in the area are affected.

14,000 Made Idle In 2 Plant Strikes

DETROIT, Oct. 22 — (CP) — Strikes at the Dodge main plant and United States Rubber Company idled more than 14,000 Detroit-area workers Thursday.

The trouble at Dodge, which idled 8,000 was straightened out in time for a resumption of normal production on the afternoon shift.

But at the rubber company, where 6,000 men were not working and the plant shut down, resumption of work was not expected until Monday.

The Dodge trouble started Wednesday when a worker in the trim department was given a three-day suspension for running to the time clock. Angered, 24 trim department employees struck Thursday, necessitating the laying off of 8,000.

At the rubber plant the trouble started Wednesday when 40 workers in the finishing department struck in a dispute over rates for piece work.

ROSENEATH, Oct. 22 — (ENS) —That God works through the medical physician was the principal thought developed in a talk by Mrs. R. C. White as she conducted devotions on "Luke, the Physician" at the United Church W. A. meeting on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Harold Taylor was hostess the meeting was held in the town hall and president Mrs. B. Thackeray presided.

Treasurer Mrs. Fred Norris reported receipts for the past month were $70.08, $55.10 of this amount was Fenella parsonage boards contribution to certain improvements and installments, on the parsonage.

The bank balance is $269.88.

The parsonage board on the charge has been instructed to shop for a new bedroom suite for the parsonage.

Many articles including pillow cases and aprons were handed in, and a quilt the "roll call" made and exhibited at fall fairs winning first honors was on display. Mrs. Fred Norris made the quilt, a beautiful piece of needle work, and has presented it to the society to raise funds. Goods were distributed for sewing.

Mrs. A. Braithwaite reported 14 messages of various kinds and two boxes of fruit sent out.

Mrs. A. Pringle convener announced the following numbers: readings by Mrs. F. Norris, Mrs. Neil Sherwin, Mrs. I. Skuce, and Mrs. Ivan Thackeray, and contests arranged by Mrs. Earl Waldie.

Speakers Enjoyed

YWCA '38 Club members enjoyed a talk by Miss Muriel Ball on the "Queen of the Seas" at their meeting this week. The speaker described the "Queen Mary" as she first went into service as a luxury liner, her transformation into a troop ship, and her re-conversion to passenger ship. Miss Marion Pogue gave a book review on "No Trumpet Before Him" by Neila Gardner White. This described the life of Paul Phillips, a Methodist minister in New York state. A sing song was led by Miss Hazel Wilson. Miss Hazel Mutton read a letter of appreciation for flowers sent to Mrs. Paige Rowell. Refreshments were served at the close by Misses Maxine Elliott and Hazel Rennie.

Badges, Awards Presented St. John's G.A.

Senior officers of the WA were entertained at the regular supper meeting of the Girls' Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church this week. Leaders, Mrs. T. H. Floyd and Miss Margaret Stevenson were hostesses assisted by Miss Gwen Sorby, and guests from the WA afternoon branch were Mrs. H. C. Sootheran and Miss Margaret English. Guest speaker was Mrs. G. R. Langley, retiring Deanery officer, who was welcomed by Miss Margaret McCulloch, assistant leader.

Mrs. Langley gave a splendid outline of GA activities and explained the Badge work. Speaking directly to the girls, she gave helpful advice and encouraged them in missionary efforts. "The church needs you and you could not do without the church" she told them.

Badges for Bible and Mission study were presented by Mrs. Langley to Alma Stewart, Ruth Floyd, Shirley Brown, Grace Record and Jean Stewart. Dorcas Badges were given to Sylvia Caldwell, Shirley Brown and Jean Stewart. For two years of outstanding work in St. John's GA Branch, two rings of merit were awarded to Cecelia Record and Shirley Brown. These awards are approved by the Dominion Board of the WA.

A short devotional period was held with president Ruth Floyd in the chair. Scripture was read by Sylvia Caldwell. Diocesan Girls' Secretary, Mrs. J. E. Hollman of Toronto, was unable to attend the meeting through illness.

Cost of Homes Far Too High Women Advised

Mrs. W. H. Morton, convener of housing and town planning for the Local Council of Women, gave a brief outline of the recent city planning convention which she attended. Held in Toronto, it was attended by delegates from Halifax to Vancouver, and from California and New York.

It was pointed out that experts expect it will take 20 to 30 years to solve the housing problem which is in an emergency state at present. Only about one-third of the people buying homes today can afford them. At present prices it is estimated the buyer's salary should be about $200 per month at least. People are unable to rent satisfactory accommodation because with building costs doubled since 1939 it is unprofitable to build rental houses. One speaker made the suggestion that "shelter" be considered as a commodity just as other products of the country.

The population in Canada is increasing very rapidly through marriage, birth and immigration. Building statistics now show an average of one house for every two marriages, it was stated. It is unfortunate that many existing houses are being occupied by one or two people, usually parents of grown-up children who have married and moved away.

"It is unlucky for us that we did not have a housing plan in 1930," Mrs. Morton said. "There is need of houses for children and for grandmothers, and for the latter it is proposed to build small houses of several rooms with modern facilities, just for them. Housing experts agree that older people should live alone. Houses should not be built too close and should have a nice view. There should be a "green belt" nearby and no "through" traffic in residential areas. There should also be neighborhood shopping districts and community centres for each section. Town planners say the "gridiron pattern" of streets, such as we have in Peterborough, is not advantageous."

All speakers at the convention urged government legislation, both Dominion and Provincial, for "subsidized housing" Mrs. Morton reported. They say it must come, just as the children's allowance and old age pensions.

Mrs. W. Addyman, president, was appointed to lay a wreath on the war memorial on Remebrance Day.

Mrs. F. Merrett was appointed to act as hostess at the Governor General's reception on November 25. The Local Council of Women is preparing the list of invitations for this reception.

Forms for nominations of officers and conveners of the Council for 1949-50 were distributed and must be completed and returned to corresponding secretary, Mrs. B. W. McClennan, 481 Gilmour St., by November 18. Mrs. W. H. Morton and Mrs. Jas. Dutton were appointed to the nominating committee with Mrs. McClennan as chairman.

Conveners were reminded reports to Provincial Council of Women must be sent in shortly and the meeting will be November 25-27. Speakers will be Miss Elizabeth Long on radio work, and Miss Nora Frances Henderson, outstanding social worker.

Mrs. K. Simpson volunteered to assist with work of the Civic Arena Tag Day on Saturday.

There was much debate from the floor on the program to be arranged for the annual meeting in January. It was sugested that a formal installation ceremony for new officers be held at a later date, following a banquet at which there would be an outstanding guest speaker. Many affiliated societies are unable to take part in regular afternoon meetings and it is felt that such a plan would give them an opportunity to be with other members of the Council and thus have a feeling of "belonging," as well as as the benefit of a speaker. The decision has been left in charge of the sub-executive committee.

Succee-Downer Nuptials Held Mark St. Church

In Mark St. United Church the marriage of Harriet Catherine, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Downer, and John Douglas, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Succee, all of Otonabee. The Rev. A. M. Partridge performed the ceremony and Mrs A. E. DeNure played wedding music Dahlias, stocks and carnations decorated the church.

The bride's gown was of white chiffon with full bodice and skirt fitted at the waistline, and had long bishop sleeves. A lace yoke was inset at front and back and finished with Peter Pan collar. Her shoulder veil of embroidered net was caught to a halo headdress and she carried a cascade of Bettertime roses. She was given in marriage by her father and attended by Miss Audrey Succee, sister of the groom. The bridesmaid was in blue sheer with gathered bodice and round neckline and wore a matching halo headdress and carried pink carnations in a cascade bouquet.

Mr. Keith Atchison was groomsman. Ushers were George Downer and Lloyd Succee, brothers of the bride and groom.

Receiving at the reception afterward in her home, the bride's mother was gowned in grey crepe with satin trim, black hat and corsage of red roses. The groom's mother, who also received, wore black with grey hat and rose corsage.

For going away the bride changed to a grey suit with black accessories and red fox fur. After their wedding trip to Ottawa they will reside in Otonabee.

ST. JOHN'S SCHOOL

The meeting of St. John's Home and School Association took place Tuesday, in the school auditorium with Mrs. Bernard Holland, president, in the chair. Guest speaker of the evening was Miss N. Schell, a former high school teacher in her native Holland.

Following introduction by Mr J. V. Anglesey, Miss Schell expressed deep pleasure in the reception given her in Peterborough. Her talk concerned, "Life in Holland" with regards to family, society, education and economics.

Miss Bernice Greenan, convener, and her committee prepared a most interesting program for the fist meeting of the year. It opened with a piano duet by Miss Joyce Shaughnessy and Miss Muriel Butcher. This was followed by the Rev. Gerrard F. Sullivan, chaplain of the association, presented diplomas to the graduates, accompanied by souvenirs as a gift from the Home and School Association.

Those receiving diplomas were: Barbara Hollingsworth, Lois Johnson, Linda Simmons, Rita Grady, Jack Cross, Patricia Monaghan, Lloyd Livings.

Father Sullivan, in his address to the graduates, took as his subject the quotation, "There is a tide in the affairs of men, which taken at the flood leads on to fortune". "Education without religion as a basis would make a man master of many things but not a master of himself, he stated.

The specially repared table of publications arranged by the committee under convenership of Mr. J. V. Anglesey attracted much attention.

At the conclusion of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served by Mrs. George Maloney and her committee.

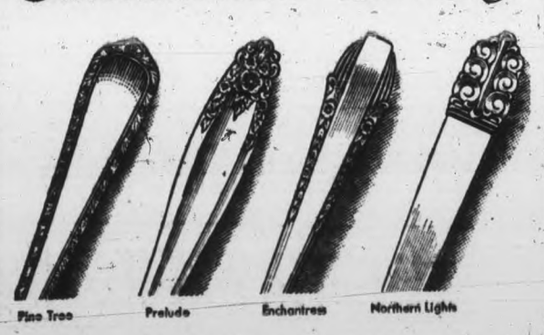
Canadian Work To Be Shown N.Y. Exposition

OTTAWA, Oct. 21.—(CP).—An exhibition of handicraft, the work of Canadians across the Dominion, will go on display next month at the 25th annual Women's International Exposition in New York.

A preliminary peek at the exhibit, arranged by the Government Exhibition Commission, disclosed a widely varied selection of articles ranging from a thick woodsman sweater and water-resistant socks made by the Cowichan Indians of British Columbia, to a lacrosse stick from Cornwall.

Valued at about $2,000, the exhibit contains more than 60 pieces and is the first of its size which the commission has sent outside the country.

For the benefit of visitors to the exposition, the commission has provided a brief explanatory descriptive.



"Canadian handicraft today reflects the primitive arts of Canadian Indians, the 16th Century French and Artisan settlers and the varied origins and skills of later-day immigrants, resulting at its best in art objects of superb workmanship and design."

While the exhibit doesn't contain more than one or two samples of leatherwork, there is a wide collection of pottery, wood carving and woven goods.

A brilliantly colored "Habitant" sash by Karen Bulow of Montreal is among the French-Canadian pieces. There is a thick pile hooked rug made by Mrs. Wesley Cole of Spring Valley, P.E.I., and a plaque-like group of figures by Dora Wechsler of Toronto.

Several baskets, a buckskin shirt, and a box of birch bark are among the exhibits of Indian craft. There also is pottery made by Thomas Mitchell of Toronto, and silver jewelry fashioned by Nancy Meek, also of Toronto.

Girl's Mother Talks Her Out of Wedding Plans

DEAR MISS DIX: I am having mother-in-law trouble before I even get a wife. I have been engaged for six months to a girl with whom I am very much in love and who I sure loves me, but her mother has made her break off with me because she has scared her so about getting married she is afraid to risk it.

Dorothy Dix

In a way, you can't blame the mother, because she had a very unhappy marriage. Her husband, with whom she didn't get along, was always beating her up, so she made up her mind to protect her daughter from the dangers of marriage by keeping her single. But it seems to me she has overdone it. The only man her mother would be willing for her to marry is one who is a plaster saint and a millionaire. I am neither, but I am a regular guy, have a good trade and could support a family.

What should I do?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Forewarned is forearmed, says the old proverb, and inasmuch as the girl's mother has shown you just what sort of an interfering, trouble-making mother-in-law she would make, it seems to me that the girl isn't your dish.

Beware of Domination

Of course, I know that you will say that you are marrying Sally and not her mother, but that is where you guess wrong. Every man practically commits bigamy when he marries for unintentionally he gets Mama thrown in along with his bride until death—or the divorce courts—do them part.

Sometimes Mother is the best wedding present a man gets. She doesn't go to live with the young couple nor stick her fingers in their pies, and she builds Sally's husband up to her so that Sally thinks she has married Prince Charming instead of just a plain ordinary guy. But many another man gets a mother-in-law who is a first aid to divorce. She never lets her daughter forget that her duty is to her instead of her husband. She runs the daughter's house. She fills her mind with suspicions of her husband and makes her feel that she has thrown herself away on a man who can't give her a mink coat and pearls.

Any man who wants to be happy though married should take a long, appraising look at the girl's mother before he pops the question.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: If a husband is allowed to go out occasionally at night by himself what is a wife supposed to be doing while he is away enjoying himself? I should think she should be permitted to step out with her girl friends. After all, if she trust her husband to go out, he should trust her also.

I would like to have your opinion on this matter.

A FUTURE BRIDE

ANSWER: My opinion is that if a boy and girl do not have sufficient faith in each other's love and honor and honesty to trust him or her to go out anywhere alone, they had better call the wedding off. There can be no happiness for them in marriage because each will be filled with suspicions and jealousies and spy on the other's every move, and that can give rise to nothing but perpetual fights between them.

The only happy marriages are those in which the husband trusts the wife as he trusts his God, and in which the wife is like the one who said that even if she should see her husband kissing another woman she would not believe it. She would know that it was her lying eyes.

Nor do I think there can be any happiness in a marriage in which neither party has any personal liberty. I cannot imagine a husband loving a wife long if every time he went downtown of an evening he had to ask permission to go, nor can I vision a contented wife who was so enslaved to her husband she couldn't go to the movies with a girl friend without a written pass from him.

Home and School

SACRED HEART SCHOOL

First meeting this fall of Sacred Heart Home and School Association on Tuesday evening was addressed by Miss D. O'Leary, school nurse. She said there are three types of medicine—curative, research and preventative, but in the field of public health nursing preventative is applied and the work is educational. It included child hygiene, communicable diseases, decay of teeth due to faulty nutrition and mental health.

"Malnutrition occurs in the home of the rich as well as the poor" said Miss O'Leary. "Well balanced meals including milk, eggs, fruit, vegetables and meat, every day, are essential and breakfast is particularly important to the school child."

Foundation for good mental health is the home where the child is treated as an individual, not expected to be perfect, and no comparisons are made. "An ideal home is where all members feel at home and the child feels wanted and understood" she said. "The home which provides training for good adjustment shows a blending of freedom and responsibility." Another important aspect of mental health which she explained is the overcoming of fear.

"It is evident that good health of children required the combined efforts of the home, school and community," said Miss O'Leary in conclusion.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. J. Cairns and thanked by Mr. DeNoble.

Mr. F. Kircaldy, president, opened the meeting and extended a welcome to the new principal, Sister Adal.

Refreshments were served at the close by Mrs. D. McDougall and her committee.

Few General Rules to Follow Using Honey

BY KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 22 —(CP)—The queen was in the parlor eating bread and honey—but she also might have been eating honey bread, honey cake or honey-pudding, so many are the dishes the clever cook can concoct from this all-round food.

By following a few general rules practically any recipe can be adapted to the use of honey.

1. Measure honey in liquid form. If it is granulated, heat over warm water until liquid.

2. For every cup of honey, reduce the liquid called for in the recipe by one-fifth.

3. One cup of honey is as great in sweetening power as one cup of sugar.

4. Use one-quarter to one-half teaspoon soda to each cup of honey.

5. Increase the amount of salt by one-eighth to one-quarter teaspoon.

6. When substituting honey for sugar in cake, reduce the liquid of the recipe by one-fifth and use half honey and half sugar.

7. In milk puddings, pie fillings, add the honey with the thickening agent.

Honey Graham Bread— ingredients: one cake yeast; one cup milk, scalded and cooled; four tablespoons honey; one cup warm water; two tablespoons melted butter; four cups graham flour, one cup sifted bread flour; one teaspoon salt.

Dissolve yeast in water, add honey, shortening and milk. Then add flour and salt gradually until dough is formed that can be handled. Knead thoroughly, being sure to keep soft. Cover and set aside in a warm place to rise, about 1½ hours. When double in bulk turn out on board and mould into loaves. Place in well-greased bread pan, and cover and let rise for about one-half hour. Bake one hour.

Honey Angel Cake—ingredients: one-half cup fruit sugar; one teaspoon cream of tartar; six egg whites; one-half cup flour; one-quarter teaspoon salt; one teaspoon flavoring; one-quarter cup honey.

Sift sugar five times. Sift flour five times. Combine and add one-quarter teaspoon cream of tartar. Sift five times again. Partially beat egg whites, add remaining cream of tartar, add salt, finish beating. Add honey to egg whites slowly, fold in dry ingredients carefully. Add flavoring. Pour into an ungreased angel cake pan and start in a very slow oven, then increase the heat.

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 —(AP)—Take a look at your elbows, madame, if kitchen chores are backbreaking drudgery.

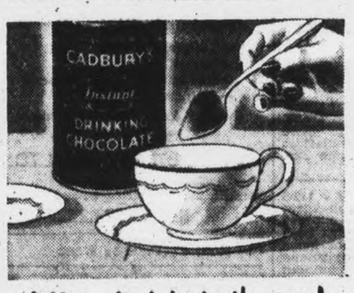
Efficiency engineers, watching women baking pies, peeling potatoes and washing dishes, have found that the comfortable, restful height of your "working surfaces" parallels your elbows.

So, if your kitchen counter is waist high, stop worrying about that pain in your back. Start rearranging your kitchen. Its not as hard or expensive as it might seem.

The New York Heart Association, interested in saving the energy of thousands of homemakers who must take things easy, has developed a "work simplification" kitchen. Primarily designed for women with impaired hearts most of the ideas can be happily adopted by the hale and hearty.

The Heart kitchen has two work counters; one for such activities as baking which use long handle implements; the other for food preparation using short utensils. The baking counter is 32 inches high—so you don't have to reach up to wield an egg beater. The other is set 36 inches above the floor, so you can scrape carrots with arms comfortably placed, elbow height, in front of you. Of course, if you are an out-size, it's always possible to work sitting down from a chair which places you at the proper working height.

Much thought and effort has gone into the actual planning and arrangement of the kitchen: The committee, headed by Dr. Lillian Gilbreth, efficiency engineer, concentrated on putting every item in a spot where it could be reached without wasted steps.



Stored Near Sink

Fresh vegetables, sauce knives and such items are stored near the sink, because you usually use them with water—and it saves a special trip to the faucet. Roasting pans, skillets, canned vegetables (and the can opener) are within arm's reach of the stove—point of original use.

It takes extra energy to bend and stretch, so the experts have used higher shelves and low drawers to stow utensils and foods which are used infrequently. Shallow shelves, they found, are work savers, too. You don't have to remove a stack of sauce pans to reach the frying pan back of it.

By rearranging one woman's kitchen in an experiment, Dr. Gilbreth and her associates were able to cut down to one-sixth the number of steps a woman took to make coffee cake. She had been wasting five out of every six steps by poor planning.

The Heart Association's work simplification program isn't confined to the kitchen: Its experts recommend long-handled dust pans and brushes, as well as mops

6—In Memoriams

FLEETWOOD—In loving memory of our dear mother,, who passed away October 21, 1918.

Deep in our hearts lies a picture
Of a loved one laid to rest,
In memory's frame we shall keep it
Because she was one of the best.

—Remembered by daughter Belle.

Paul Whiteman King Of Jazz Here Next Friday

Paul Whiteman, America's King of Jazz, is coming to Peterborough with his famous orchestra of 45 musicians and 15 entertainers.

Admirers of the late George Gershwin's music will have an opportunity of listening to a Whiteman concert of special selections from "Rhapsody in Blue" and other well-known works of the New York composer. The concert, sponsored by the Kinsmen and Rotary Clubs to help finance their welfare work, will be held at the Armouries on Friday, October 29, at 8.30 p.m.

It was Whiteman who first introduced "Rhapsody in Blue" at a semi-classical and popular jazz concert in 1927. Critics hailed the combination of Gershwin's music and Whiteman's conducting, and the press and public welcomed it enthusiastically as well.

Whiteman, now the acknowledged dean of modern American music, has only a polite smile for those who believe that jazz is just a passing fad. As America's jazz king he has been playing his particular brand of symphonic jazz for more than 20 years to appreciative audiences.

His brief comment on the subject is "Jazz doesn't die. It was always with us long as people had muscles to dance with. I didn't invent it. . . Just believed in it."

Perhaps his greatest accomplishment is that he made jazz "respectable" by taking it out of smoke-filled honkytonks and serving it in a more refined manner to dinner-jaceted audiences.

One the same night that Whiteman plays for a Peterborough audience, the winning ticket on the Rotary car will be drawn.

Tickets for out-of-town people who wish to attend may be obtained by writing to Box 1031, Peterborough, with cheque or money order enclosed. They will also be obtainable from any Kinsman or Rotarian, as well as at Miller's Drug Store, Elliott's Drug Store, Comstock's Furniture Store and Selkirk's Men's Shop.

Loyal Order Of Moose Elects New Officers

At a well attended meeting of the local Lodge of the Loyal Order of Moose new officers were elected for the ensuing term as follows: Vern Forbes, past governor; Roy Wanamaker, governor; O. Axford, junior governor; G. Wakeling, prelate; C. I. Nixon, secretary; J. J. Douglas, treasurer; trustees, A. E. Ellis, J. Begg and A. S. Pepe. After the installation of the officers a class of new candidates were initiated by the degree staff of Port Hope Lodge who were accompanied by a number of the members of that lodge. Plans were formulated for the showing of the pictures "The Child City" and "Life Begins Again" at the next meeting on Nov. 4.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

Annual Meeting

The annual meeting and election of officers will be held in the Empress Hotel on the evening of October 28. Provincial Commissioner Tisdale will be guest speaker. Everyone interested in scouting has been invited to attend. Tickets can be obtained through Wilf Shiner, phone 5368, or through the chairmen of the various group committees.

Registration

October 31 is still the end of the year and new registrations should be in the hands of the secretary before that date. Peterborough Scouts have been urged to get this matter settled right away.

Badge Board

One result of the last Scouters' Council was the settlement in the idea of holding a badge board at least once each month. This matter is in the hands of the special committee and a report is expected by the end of the month.

Scouters Council

A Scouters Council was held in All Saints parish hall last week. About 30 members of the Association were on hand to hear and act under the leadership of Field Commissioner Art Jackson of Toronto. Refreshments were served at the conclusion by the local Association. The next meeting will be on Nov. 11.

Bronze Arrow Course

Plans are going forward for the holding of a Patrol Leaders course. All patrol leaders in the city are asked to arrange to attend.

1st St. John's

Several new chums and recruits have joined both the Pack and Troop recently. One or two investitures and many tests have been passed. The Rover Crew will not be registering this year owing to the boys being spread over all Ontario.

2nd St. Luke's

New members welcomed to this Scouting game recently are Ross Reid, Neil Cox, and Bill McNabb who have been acepted as new Chums into the Pack. Many of the boys are turning in their registration fees. Mr. Ingham attended the Pack meeting.

3rd St. George's

A new assistant is expected soon down south. Bill Jordan is in need of assistance in running both Pack and Troop.

4th Sacred Heart

Leader Claire Dionne is doing a fine job as both Cub and Scout master. This group held it own on Apple Day.

5th All Saints

Peggy Houghton has taken up the reins in the Cub Pack. Scouter is Art Rose. All Saints is the only complete group in the city now having Cubs, Scouts and Rovers and rumours are floating around that there will soon be a Senior Patrol atached to the Group.

All Saints Rover Crew

The Rover Den is nearing completion and plans are being made for the official opening. At the election of officers last week Rover Gord White was named Mate and Squire Doug Harris assistant. Rover Walter Booth is Keeper of the Purse and Squire Jim Webb, scribe. The crew's first investiture will be held around the end of November in conjunction with the annual banquet.

6th K. O. C.

Scouter Rivard is getting some assistance from a former Scouter from out of Town. It is also reported that Cub Pack will soon be under formation with this group.

7th St. Paul's

District Cubmaster Q. McKinney was a visitor to the Pack at the last meeting, assisting in the running of some games and telling a story at Red Flower. Willima C. Walters was made welcome as a new chum to the Council Rock.

8th St. Andrews

Scouter Stan McGann reports the Troop going full steam ahead but Cubmaster Rod McNab has lost his assistants.

9th Park Hill

The toy shop is getting in shape for full operation. Anyone having toys to be repaired desiring to donate them are asked to phone Scouter Bradley at 5130.

10th St. James

The Pack is under process of reformation but Scouts have folded for the time being.

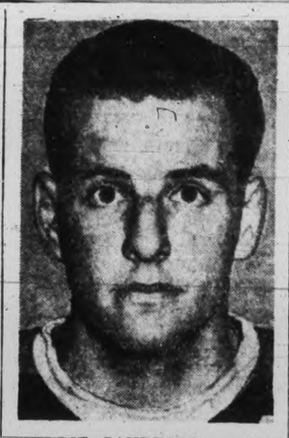
11th Knox

Parents are anxious to get the Cubs and Scouting going at this church.

12th George St.

Since the first of the month the following work has been carried out: Promotions, to Sixer, Paul Hetherington to the Green Six, Billy Douglas, Blue Six, Ross Magee, Black Six, Seconds, Howard Alton, Red Six, Wayne McNamee, Blue Six, Val Armstrong, Black Six. New Chums accepted, Bob McGregor, Jack Tighe, Edwin Hewitt, Kenneth Rea, David Iley, Grant Harding, Donny Gilders, Roddy Tucker. Tests passed Douglas Woodward, Bobby Woodward, Marvin Tighe and Petter Stewart, skipping.

The Troop received a good strengthening when the following boys left the Pack and joined the Troop through the going up ceremony: Donald Lang, Sam Kingdon, Bob McKinney, Nadrew May, Marshall Weir, Raymore Turnbull and Paul Brown. Good Scouting all.



Both the 13th and 14th Units seemed to have faded into discard.

15th Salvation Army

Mrs. Bullied with her husband are carrying on the work of the Pack and notices went out this week calling the Troop to colors.

16th Trinity

Field Commissioner Art Jackson dropped into the Troop meeting last week and took over the running of games and instruction, giving a short talk on discipline. Scouter Cy Davis is retiring for a while. In the Pack Sidney Dinsdale passed knots, Bert Haubeck, Union Jack, Peter Chown, Skipping, Larry Gray, cleanliness, Charles Honey, bookbalancing. Scouter Henry Nokes spoke to the boys on Fire Prevention. Charles Hoen was invested into the world wide brotherhood of Scouting on that evening with his mother present to witness te ceremony. Bob Malby Malby and Bruce Hill were presented with their Sixers Stripes and Paul Sparrow is now wearing his two year Service Star, Peter Chown, another progressor, got his First Star and Raymond Henwood is now second in the Black Six.

EDDIE SANDFORD, sophomore centre of the Boston Bruins, is the current NHL scoring leader. He has six points, made up of four goals and two assists.

OF TARTAR ORIGIN

The first Bulgarians were a Tartar tribe that crossed the Danube from the north about 697 A.D.

Bank Manager Given Transfer

Harold E. Wales, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, is being transferred from the Peterborough branch to the Kingsway branch, Toronto.

Mr. Wales, whose home is Milton, Ontario, came here in November, 1945, from the branch in Cornwall. Since he was first employed with the bank he has lived in many southern Ontario cities and towns.

During his stay here Mr. Wales was an active Kiwanian and treasurer of the Peterborough Recreation Commission. He was a member of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club and the Peterborough Club. And he was vice-chairman of the Board of Stewards at George Street United church.

Replacing him will be R. E. Macdonald, senior assistant-manager of the main branch in Toronto. Mr. Macdonald was at one time an accountant at the local bank.

PROPERTY OWNERS TO MEET

Owners of property from every province will meet at the 12th annual conference of the Ontario Property Owners Association in Toronto on Oct. 25 and 26. They will discuss and study housing, rent control and evictions, assessment and taxation and other problems confronting property owners.

CLEAR LOGIC APPLIED

CLEARCUT LOGIC is applied by the new Laws to all such matters as exposed cards. For instance, the declarer is never subject to penalty for exposing a card, and no card of his hand ever becomes a penalty card because the opponents are not harmed, and may be helped, by such an exposure. If he plays more than one card to a trick, he designates which is his play and merely picks up the other. Exposing his hand after the wrong defender's opening lead was covered yesterday. Intentionally exposing his hand otherwise causes his act to be treated as a claim or concession of tricks.

When a defender faces a card on the table, or sees the face of a card belonging to his partner before he is entitled to, such a card becomes a penalty card except as specifically provided otherwise in the Laws. A penalty card must be left face-up until played, but if a defender picks one up and declarer plays from either of his holdings before requiring it to be faced again, it ceases to be a penalty card. A penalty card must be played or led at the first opportunity when doing it does not constitute a revoke. If a defender has two or more such cards, the declarer may designate which is to be led or played. If a defender improperly exposes his remaining card or cards, the declarer may treat the remaining cards of either defender as penalty cards, the hand of the other defender being picked up, if exposed.

Any player, including dummy unless he has forfeited his rights as explained Tuesday, may ask any player having failed to follow suit if he has a card of the suit led, and may demand that an opponent correct his revoke. A player must correct his revoke in any of the first eleven tricks if aware of it before it becomes established, or in the twelfth trick if aware of it before the cards have been mixed together; no penalty for a revoke in the twelfth trick.

To correct a revoke, the offender substitutes any card of the led suit. A revoke card from a defender's unfaced hand becomes a penalty card; any other revoke card is unpenalized. The non-offenders may withdraw any card played after the revoke but before attention was drawn to it.

A revoke in any of the first eleven tricks becomes established when the offender or his partner leads or plays to a subsequent trick or signifies intention to do so by naming a card, claiming or conceding a trick or exposing a hand.

Establishment of a revoke causes the revoke trick to stand as played; it counts in transferring tricks as a trick won after the revoke. After play ceases, two tricks are transferred to the non-offending side if the revoking side won two tricks after the revoke, one if it won only one afterward, none if the revoking side won no tricks afterward or if it was a subsequent revoke in the same suit by the same player or if attention was first drawn to it after the cards were mixed together or if it was made in failing to play any card faced on the table including dummy's hand or a penalty card.

Right to inspect a trick and ask each player to name his card is granted to declarer and either defender before his side has led or played to the next trick. After play ceases, the tricks and unplayed cards may be inspected to settle a claim of revoke or of honors, or number of tricks won or lost; if after such a claim an opponent so mixes the cards that the claim cannot be proved, it must be allowed.

TOMORROW—Defective tricks, tricks appropriated wrongly, failure to comply with a penalty, claims and concessions of tricks.

Treated Boy Like Son Smiths Say

"Given Lots Of Food And Pocket Money"; Offer Of Home Made

TORONTO, Oct. 23 — (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith say they have nothing to hide in their treatment of Gordon Kelly, 19, who ran away from their home and told police he had been starved and tortured.

They said in an interview Friday night in their lawyer's office that they had cared for the child from the time he was a month old until he ran away from their suburban Summerville home last Wednesday.

At first they received $28 a month from his mother, Marjorie Kelly of Toronto, for his board, they said. Then the money diminished to $25 and then $15 a month and for the last three years they were paid nothing for his support, they claimed.

"If I had turned him out, where would he have gone?" asked Mrs. Smith. "He knew no other home and I always thought he was fond of me until this happened. He always called me 'aunty' and my husband 'uncle'."

Given Good Care

Mrs. Smith claimed she and her husband provided the Kelly boy with the same care they gave their own children. He always ate with the family, went to a movie once a week and was given pocket money.

"We took Kelly out of school when he was 13," she said. "He was frail and our family doctor, one of Toronto's most prominent medical men and a coroner, recommended that the boy should be given as much fresh air and sunshine as possible. We put up a tent for him in the garden so he could be outdoors."

She said the boy had always been small for his age.

"He eats very heartily, more than any other member of my family. But he's one of those boys who, no matter how much they eat, never show any difference."

Well Pleased

The Smiths said that during most of their 32 years' married life they had taken in children through the Children's Aid Society. They said that during that time they were visited regularly by Society inspectors who reported they were well pleased by the conditions they found at the Smith home.

One complaint was made in 1946. That was caused by Kelly and another boy running away at intervals and begging at various houses.

John Gibson, a wealthy business man in Long Island, N.Y., Friday night telephoned Toronto police to offer to provide a home for the boy. Gibson said he read of the boy's plight, and, having a small son of his own, was prepared to take the Kelly boy into his home. The offer was turned over to the suburban Toronto township police handling the case.

HOME AND SCHOOL Association regional conference was held on Friday at St. James' United Church Sunday School, where more than 125 ladies attended. Top photo, Left to Right, Mrs. D. F. Downey, Toronto, home education convener; Mrs. E. Chambers, district chairman; Mrs. A. W. Nelson, council president, and Mrs. J. O. Arrowsmith, president of the Ontario Confederation. Find Army's Best Corporal Really Civilian In Disguise

PORTSMOUTH, England, Oct. 23—(CP).—Troops in hut No. 6 thought Sydney Nix, 29, was the best corporal the British Army ever had. He joked all the time. He gave kindly advice. smiled tolerantly at horseplay. He woke them up in the morning but never hurried them from bed.

But what men in hut No. 6—and the rest of the 1,100 men in Hilsa Barracks here—didn't know was: Sydney wasn't in the army at all.

He was fined £10 ($40) Friday for falsely representing himself as a corporal, getting army food under false pretences and receiving a pair of boots from a soldier.

This story emerged from the evidence:

Nix was discharged from an artillery unit in 1946 and joined the territorials (militia). He encountered domestic trouble and one night while consoling himself in a pub he met two regular soldiers who suggested he come and stay at their barracks.

Changed Uniform

He changed into his territorial uniform and accepted the invitation. Every night he would go to barracks, have dinner and go to bed. Every morning he would get up, leave camp, change clothes at a sister's house and go to work.

In the camp where personnel is constantly changing, Nix soon became known as "one of the oldest inhabitants."

One day he decided time was ripe for a promotion. He tore off his two good-conduct stripes, reversed them and presto!—became a corporal.

He lost his civilian job last September and moved into barracks full time. By painstakingly staying out of officers' way he managed to escape detection until recently, when unable to produce a pay-book at a sergeant's request.

Emerson DP's Will Be Moved

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 — (CP) — Displaced persons living in the Emerson, Man., camp will be moved in the near future regardless of reports on conditions under which they have lived, Arthur Macnamara, deputy minister of labor, said Friday.

Mr. Macnamara said the men would be moved in about a week's time when work in the sugar beet fields where they have been employed comes to an end.

They are being taken on for work in St. Frances, Ont., logging camps by the Ontario and Minnesota Paper Co.

"The camp was only temporary," Mr. Macnamara said of the Emerson establishment.

The Manitoba Health Department issued a report Friday on the condition under which the men have lived describing them as "basically satisfactory" but making recommendation concerning personal hygiene.

Charge 2 Toronto Men With Bank Robbery

TORONTO, Oct. 23 — (CP) — Garth (Dusty) Miller and Peter Brown, both of Toronto, were charged Friday with the $5,000 robbery of a Ridgeway bank Sept. 2.

Miller and Brown were arrested Wednesday along with five other persons when Toronto police uncovered a cache of small arms in an east-end house. Other arrested and charged with having offensive weapons were Ronald McGee, Norman Sullivan, Marjorie McGee, Mrs. Helen Sullivan, and Viola Philipson.

Miller, Brown and McGee were identified Thursday by members of the bank staff and provincial police as the men who robbed the bank. Provincial police said, however, that McGee had established an alibi accounting for his presence at the time of the robbery and was not charged.

Western Allies Shut Off Russ Gas Supplies

BERLIN, Oct. 23 (AP)—Large areas of the Russian sector of Berlin were without gas today after the Western powers shut the mains at sector borders to prevent seepage eastward of supplies produced by works in blockaded Western Berlin.

A United States spokesman said the embargo against eastern Berlin was imposed for two reasons.

1. Gas pressure in Soviet mains was so low because of plant repairs undertaken there that supplies from hard-pressed western Berlin were being drained off.

2. Reprisal for firing of German non-Communist employees at head offices of the city's gas works, which are located in the Soviet sector. The repairs in Soviet sector mains were understood to be necessary because of equipment damaged by the substitution of Silesian coal in the place of Ruhr coal, for which the plants had been adapted.

Russian supplies of Ruhr coal have been cut of by the Western Allies counter-blockade imposed in reprisal for the Soviet land blockade of Berlin.

Headquarters of western Berlin's German police announced meanwhile that the Communists had released the remaining 27 of 47 western-sector police arrested during last month's city hall riots. The release of the first 20 was announced Thursday.

Pope Urges Jerusalem Be Internationalized

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 23 (AP).—Pope Pius recommended internationalization of Jerusalem and nearby holy places in an encyclical made public today.

"International guarantees could also insure free access to Holy places throughout Palestine," the pontiff said.

The encyclical, directed to the College of Cardinals, was entitled "In Multiplibus"—the first two words of its latin text.

"Among the multiple preoccupations that assail us in this period," the Pope wrote, "the war that convulses Palestine occupies a special place."

Chinese Evacuate Honan Capital

NANKING, Oct. 23 — (AP). — The government has ordered the evacuation of Kaifeng, capital of Honan Province, and nearby Chenghsien, a railroad city, reliable sources here said to-day.

These sources said the step was taken to shorten the government's defence lines, concentrate troops for an attempt to crush Red Gen. Liu Po-Cheng's Central China armies.

The government's military spokesman here declined to confirm the Kaifeng report, but the evacuees who reached Nanking said dependents and government workers were being moved from both cities and that troops were expected to be moved southward to new positions along the Peiping-Hankow railroad.

Dewey Stranded

ALBANY, N.Y., Oct. 23 — (AP). — Governor Thomas E. Dewey was stranded on a stalled train for two hours Friday night. The Republican Presidential nominee was aboard the second section of the New York Central's Wolverine when it pulled up about 40 miles south of Albany. He was on his way home from New York. "Engine failure," the Central explained.

Fear Shooting Stars Drill Space Ships

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—(AP)—A space ship of the future has a 50-50 chance of being drilled by a shooting star, or meteor, on the average of about once every two year of flight time.

These calculations are made by C. Grimminger of the Douglas Aircraft Company and released today by the Journal of Applied Physics.

For this rate of risk, Grimminger says, the ship would be flying at 300 miles or more above the earth.

Lower down, the atmosphere would slow the speed of shooting stars, or burn them, and reduce the dangers.

These meteors are particles of stone or metal, ranging in size from less than a pinhead up to 20 tons.

There are, Grimminger says, about six a day, weighing between 100 and 200 pounds, that get through the air to the earth's surface.

Halt Trouble With Arms If Necessary

Immediate Deportation Of All Foreigners Involved, New Ruling

PARIS, Oct. 23 — (AP). — Communist union leaders called for a general strike Monday throughout the highly-industrial St. Etienne area as France moved closer to martial law in the strike-closed coal field.

The union order was given after the government called up an estimated 50,000 troops and state police to reinforce units trying to maintain order in the coal fields. At least two miners were killed and scores of police and strikers wounded Friday. Casualties during three days of fighting neared 200.

More violence was possible today at Montceau-les-Mines where pickets at the Les Alouettes mine released 120 police they took prisoner in clashes Friday. The seven largest mines in the area 55 miles southwest of Dijon still are in the hands of the strikers.

The call up of more troops and police, including the 1948 class of soldiers which already had been discharged, was decided upon at an emergency cabinet session Friday night.

The cabinet also ordered troops to use their arms in defending themselves against attacks and empowered district governors to ban any meetings, if necessary.

Immediate deportation of all foreigners taking part in battles against troops and police guarding the mines also was ordered.

A cabinet spokesman said the steps "do not coincide exactly" with complete martial law, known in France as a "state of siege."

No curfew has been imposed, military courts have not replaced civil ones and the army has not been given the all powerful rights it would have under a full state of siege.

The interior ministry said the two miners were killed at Firminy, five miles southwest of St. Etienne, where 1,500 strikers attacked troops guarding the pits.

There also were reports of shootings at three other mines, two in the St. Etienne area and at Montceau-les-Mines, about 100 miles to the north.

The strike which began Oct. 4 had shut down almost all coal mines in France and the country has lost well over 2,000,000 tons of coal.

It has been estimated that monetary losses from the strike just about equal contributions under the European recovery program.

HONOR SIR ERNEST

HAMILTON, Oct. 23.—(CP).—Sir Ernest MacMillan, Dean of the Faculty of Music at the University of Toronto, said Friday night that the fine arts are "fundamental to the safety and preservation of our society." He spoke at the autumn convocation of McMaster University, at which he received an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters.

May Arm Siamese

LONDON, Oct. 23—(AP).—A Foreign Office spokesman said today that Britain is considering a request to supply arms to the Siamese Army. Commenting on a published report from Bangkok that Britain has agreed to re-equip eight Siamese battalions, the spokesman would say only that the government had "received certain recommendations" from British authorities in Siam.

Discuss Future Commonwealth Structure Plans

LONDON, Oct. 23.— (CP). — Communications between commonwealth members and the future structure of the commonwealth were two of the dominating topics at the commonwealth talks which ended Friday.

Few major official changes in commonwealth relations are believed to be pending immediately as a result of the 12-day conference.

It is felt, however, that the commonwealth prime ministers or their representatives will be back for a similar conference within two years. By then, issues raised during the meeting just ended should have crystallized and clear-cut decisions may be taken.

An important problem discussed around the conference table at 10 Downing St. concerned communications between commonwealth members. Home governments will consider means for improving commonwealth discussion of foreign and economic affairs and defence.

It is understood that the British government stressed the exchange should be a communal affair—not just an overflow of information from London. This point could not be argued on the grounds that full partnership in the commonwealth requires full participation in its problems.

Future Structure

Away from the conference table the main problem is believed to have ben the future structure of the commonwealth. The question as to whether countries which no longer accept the crown as a symbol of their relationship can remain commonwealth members remains unsettled.

Many observers at the start of the conference were convinced that India would force an immediate decision on a new formula covering the position of republics.

But Prime Minister Nehru of India apparently showed no haste to quit the commonwealth and he is said to feel that an arrangement can be worked out.

Canada seems willing to accept this theory, perhaps inspired by a feeling that if written agreements now are necessary to maintain the commonwealth—and possibly expand it—they should be negotiated.

Arab Forces, Said Syrians Launch Offensive Against Jewish Positions

UN Political Committee Approves Arab Move To Postpone Consideration Of Palestine Problem For One More Week

TEL AVIV, Oct. 23—(AP).—Arab forces, believed to be Syrians, attacked Jewish positions north of Lake Hula and captured a height at Sheikh Abbad, the Israeli command announced today. The height is in the region of Manarah, between Syria and Lebanon. The spokesman said the Arab offensive was launched during the night and "severe fighting continues this morning."

(A Lebanese communique said Jewish forces with tank support attacked El Houle where they were repulsed after a day's fighting by Lebanese artillery. The report said 200 Jews were killed.)

Earlier United Nations truce observers had reported all quiet in the Negav area in southern Palestine.

All Israeli still was blacked out Friday night in fear of bombings.

In Cairo an Egyption War Ministry spokesman said Friday night a Jewish plane dropped a bomb on an Egyptian position at Deir Suneid, in southern Palestine, after the UN cease-fire went into effect.

In Haifa dispatches said U.N. truce headquarters announced negotiations would begin at once to implement the security council's resolution for withdrawal of both Jews and Arabs to the lines held Oct. 14 when the fighting broke out.

Postpone Consideration

PARIS, Oct 23 — (CP). — The United Nations political committee today approved an Arab move to postpone consideration of the Palestine problem for one week.

The United States voted with the Arab states. The postponement move carried by a vote of 19 to 16. Fourteen countries, including Great Britain, abstained.

Committee chairman Paul-Henri Spaak of Belgium adjourned the body until Monday morning.

The security council meanwhile waited for Moscow's answer to the compromise plan to settle the Berlin crisis, offered by six "neutral" members in the Council Friday.

Send French Cruiser To Port In India

PONDICHERRY, India, Oct. 23 —(AP). — A French government spokesman said to-day a French cruiser has been ordered to this port as a result of Friday's disorders in Mahe.

The rioting was blamed on tension over municipal elections which begin to-morrow in Pondicherry, capital of the French possession, and three other French seattlement towns.

Meanwhile the Mayor of Mahe is reported to have wired the Indian government that the French administration in the town has collapsed, and asked that the administration be taken over.

New Clues Lead To Grave Near Stratford

KITCHENER, Oct. 23—(CP)—The mystery of the missing Mrs. Emma Phol took a new and bizarre turn Friday as police investigated the possibility the woman may be buried at Stratford, 25 miles east of here.

Mrs. Pohl, 37-year-old mother of two children, has been missing since Sept. 13. She disappeared after leaving her home to collect a long-outstanding debt of $600 from William Stuart, belieyed by police to be the last person who saw the woman.

Details are meagre in connection with the search's new twist. However, the trip to Stratford is known to have followed a report from a citizen on what he believed was a freshly-dug grave.

Two Waterloo township police officers, reported to have visited Stratford, returned here Friday night but refused to tell reporters were they had been during the day. Police officials said there had been no new developments in the Pohl case.

At Queen's Park in Toronto, officials said no order had been issued by the attorney-general's department for exhumation of a body in the tSratford district.

However, C. R. Magone of the attorney - general's department said: "The local coroner has power to order a grave opened if he deems it necessary to conduct an inquest into some person's death."

Bad Ship Fire Almost Quelled

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP).—The Venezuelan motor ship Ciudad de Garacas, which last night was believed to have been abandoned after fire broke out aboard her, is proceeding to Norfolk, Va., and the fire is almost extinguished the coast guard reported early today.

The coast guard said a message at 3.15 a.m. EST, from the ship advised that ships going to the vessel's rescue had proceeded on their original courses.

The message added that the Caracas would "advise if require assistance."

HUNTING TIME—From coast to coast in Canada, it is now hunting time. Nimrods are trying out their hunting dogs and their guns on Canada's wild life. Bill Handburg and his pointer display their first hour's bag as the season opens.

Tells Canada Comb World For Markets

TORONTO, Oct. 23 — (CP). — Canadian exporters were told Friday they must comb the world for markets. The annual meeting of the Canadian Exporters Association was told that traditional markets for Canadian goods are disappearinf. They must find new places to sell the Dominion's rapidly-growing production.

M. W. Mackenzie, deputy federal trade minister, said Canada now is the world's third trading nation—with bigger per capita exports than any other country in the world. But practically every important country was using trade controls and mo[illegible]s could eb expected to start [illegible]-saving programs.

HAMBURG, Oct. 23 — (Reuters). — Five hundred German students from the combined British and United States zones are visiting the United Kingdom this autumn for narvest work. They are expected to remain for about two months.

U.S. And Canada Soon Begin Military Treaty

PARIS, Oct. 23.—(AP).—High American sources predicted today that the United States and Canada in the next few weeks will begin drafting a military treaty pledging full aid to the five-power Brussels Alliance.

The sources said the process of drafting a treaty will begin soon after the United States elections, although their result is not expected to affect the plan as both major parties have committed themselves in principle to backing the Brussels Alliance.

The infomants said the alliance would link Canada and the United States in formal treaty relationships with Britain, France and the Benelux countries (Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg).

The whole concept of the projected North Atlantic pact will be the main subject of discussion by the foreign ministers of the Brussels pact signatories when they meet here Monday for a three-day conference, responsible British sources said.

Congress Stumbling Block

There remains, however, at least one major consideration—how such a treaty would fare with the United States Congress.

A list of countries, drawn up by Britain which she would like included if the union is extended, shows them in this order ofpriority—Erie, Iceland, Portugal, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Greece, Turkey and Italy.

American informants indicated the broad outlines of a North Atlantic alliance already are in existence. They expect the treaty will be ready for ratification and signature by the middle of 1949, barring any extaordinary developments which might call for a new approach to the whole project.

British sources said Foreign Secretary Bevin will tell the Brussels partners that six other commonwealth members in addition to Canada have informally underwritten the union:

Have 'Food Riot'

TORONTO, Oct. 23 — (CP) — "food riot" at Toronto's Don Jail in which prisoners threw the soup at each other and threw dishes against the wall, today was being investigated by inspectors of the Department of Reform Institutions. The inmates created the disturbance as a protest against the pea soup which they said was too weak.

COMMITED FOR TRIAL

LILLOOET, BC. — Lloyd D. Williams, 30-year-old miner, charged with the axe-slaying of Mrs. Martha Stickney, 50-year-old cafe owner, has been committed for trial. Mrs. Stickney owner of the Gold Pan Cafe at Gold Bridge, BC, scene of the uranium finds, was killed September 18.

Need Rebirth of Religion To Bring Peace—Mrs. Foote

MILLBROOK, Oct. 23—(ENS)—Mrs. John Foote, of Port Hope, wife of Major Foote, VC, was guest speaker for the fall thankoffering service of Grace Presbyterian Women's Missionary Auxiliary on Wednesday. The president, Miss Agnes Johnston, was in the chair. Members of the other church auxiliaries of Millbrook and Centreville, and friends from Port Hope, were among those present by invitation for the gathering.

Members of St. Andrew's Society took the worship service. Mrs. G. A. Spicer sang a solo and Miss M. L. Collins of the Anglican Auxiliary, was at the organ. Mrs. Clifford Larmer and Mrs. Gerald Armstrong received the offering, and Mrs. J. R. Thompson introduced the guest speaker.

The international situation, fraught as it is with danger of a third world war, and what women, through their missionary organizations, might do to influence world events was the theme of Mrs. Foote's address.

"Today we have a choice between Communism, which regards man as existing for the good of the state; and Christianity, which regards the state of existing for the development of the individual, and of the nation. Men are no longer satisfied with just as belief in material things, or in thinking of Jesus Christ as merely a teacher of good moral tenets. A rebirth of religion has become a necessity. Only through allegiance to the truths taught by Christ can peace be brought to the world."

Mrs. Foote urged that Christians keep themselves well informed on world conditions; that we learn a lesson from our enemies who spared themselves no effort to spread their doctrine and especially to win the young. We should work just as hard, she said, to spread Christianity, and to bring our young people into a practical knowledge of its facts and ideals. Necessarily we must put enthusiasm into this work, trying to inspire others to become active workers also. Our thanksgiving is that we may have a share in spreading the gospel, and using our missionary endeavor as a means of combatting the evil teaching of Communism, propogated with such intensity of purpose over all the earth.

Mrs. Z. Seaton moved the vote of thanks to Mrs. Foote.

Boxing Champ Tries Singing On Broadway

By PAT USSHER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 — (CP)—Singing instead of fighting is the current occupation of Don Reid, former amateur welterweight boxing champion of Canada.

Don, who is from Montreal, is entertaining the patrons of the Raleigh Room at the Hotel Warwick with his tenor voice. The 185-pound Reid, making his debut as a hotel-room singer, is in the middle of a three weeks' engagement.

He gives out mainly with romantic numbers and the customers are reported to be appreciative The Montrealer aims at winning some honors in the field of music to go alongside his boxing trophies.

Theatre-lovers' Specialty

"The Leading Lady," with author Ruth Gordon playing the principal role, ns a play strictly for theatre-lovers. Perhaps it should be seen only by audiences of stage people. For Miss Gordon has gone at some length into the woes of an actress who has dominated in life by her actor husband, both on and off the stage. When he dies, she finds herself still tied to his memory and unable to act on her own. The climax comes, not very convincingly when she at last discovers she must stand on her own feet and make her own reputation.

The new vehicle at the National Theatre, unhappily, is a series of jerkily-strung-together episodes which is downright tedious in spots. But Miss Gordon gives a warm and understanding performance as the forlorn actress; John Carradine is admirable as an outspoken and dashingly handsome critic, and Ian Keith is properly gruff and boorish as the dominating actor. Donald Oenslager devised the handsome period set and Mainbooher supplied the lavish costumes for the era, the opening of the 20th century.

"Japhet," a comedy about a meek Englishman whose love life becomes tnetangled after he arrives in the United States, is due to play in Toronto the week of November 8 after an initial run at Princeton, NJ. The cast of the play, now in rehearsal, includes Ernest Truex and Vicki Cummings. It is due on broadcast at the end of November.

Story Of King

The SON of GOD.

Have you a brilliant son whom you are hoping to send to the higher schools of learning? Would you dedicate him to the greatest work of being a missionary. He and his generation are stepping into a dark age. Its only salvation is the Good News that Jesus Christ is the King of all men and the Saviour of the world. What an ideal for your son that he is a chosen vessel of the Lord.

THE LORD JESUS SAITH: THE HARVEST TRULY IS GREAT, BUT THE LABOURERS ARE FEW. PRAY YE, THEREFOR, THE LORD OF THE HARVEST, THAT HE WOULD SEND FORTH LABOURERS INTO HIS HARVEST.

Jenson Estate Now Settled

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 — The first and final accounting of the estate left by Franz Oskar Hafslund Jenson, merchant seaman made by the Public Administrator filed here in the Surrogates' Court, stands to-day judicially approved by Surrogate William T. Collins.

He lived with his parents, Andrew and Christofa Jenson at No 122 Park street, North Peterborough, Ont., and lost his life when his boat, S.S. Silver Star Park owner by the S.S. Park Company, Ltd., collided with S.S. Mangora in the vicinity of Hen and Chickens Lightship at Buzzard Bay, Mass., on April 12, 1945 his body, to this day, has not been recovered.

According to the administrator, he filed suit against the two companies owning the two ships, and finally settled with the Park S.S Company, Ltd., for $6,000 and since that is all that the seaman left, in his accounting, he charged himself with the $6,000, against which he credited himself with $1,643 for administration and other expenses, leaving a balance of $4,357 for further distribution.

In signing the decree, Surrogate Collins directed that the administrator pay to the City Treasurer $225 being commissions and costs; pay to the decedent's father and mother, each $2,065 and, with that done, he was freed from all further liability, as embraced in his schedules.

6,000 Fingerlings Put In Rice Lake

COBOURG, Oct. 23.—(ENS).—Showing of the film, "Call of the Kawarthas" was one of the features of the meeting of the Northumberland Fish and Game Protective Association Thursday night to mark the opening of the fall and winter activities of the organization. The newly-appointed president, Bill Arnott, occupied the chair.

Jack Yardy of Castleton, urged that the club run off a shoot for turkey or geese before Christmas and he was assured by the president that the matter would be taken up by the directors. H. O. Taylor, retiring president, referred to the excellent film, and said that such a presentation made it all the more apparent that the one dollar membership fee in the association was very little in comparison to the value received.

Speaking of the activities of the association during the past year, Bill Arnott said that 3,000 fingerlings lunge had been put in on the south shore of Rice Lake this year and the same number on the north shore. He paid tribute to the co-operation received from the Dept. of Lands and Forests. Improvements in the rifle range were alsoo reported.

Police Arrest 14 Gamblers

The coffers of the city of Peterborough were enriched by $485 today as the result of a police raid on a gambling game last night.

In court today Harold Blackwood, 301 King St. was convicted of keeping a common gaming house and was fined $60 and costs by Magistrate Philp with the option of 45 days at hard labor. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

Several complaints were made to the police by neighbors of Blackwood. They reported a large number of men in his home, and as a result the police received a search warrant and raided the King St. premises.

They found 13 men there and seized several large plywood slabs which they allege were used as tables.

P.C.'s Mesley, Edmison, McDonald, O'Donaghue and McKay carried out the raid.

Thirteen found-ins were each fined $30 and costs: Neil Harrington, Chemong Park; Ronald Horton, Chemong Park; Max Hayman, 68 Lansdowne St.; Alphonse Spencer, 610 Armour Rd.; Robert Garvey, 534 Armour Rd.; Elmer Muncey, 649 George St.; Harry Johnson, 64 Aylmer St.; Charles Newton, 503 Stewart St.; Robert Primeau, 34 Cricket Place; James Smith, 468 Reid St.; Bernard Delaney, 256 Wolsley St.; John Dwyer, RR 6 Peterborough; William O'Brien, 51 Wolsley St.

Find Montreal Plant Sent Buses To Africa

MONTREAL, Oct. 23. (CP) — Victor M. Drury, president of Canadian Car and Foundry Company Ltd., said Friday night that his company had sold motor buses to South Africa, but he didn't know if the Canadian-built buses mentioned in a Johannesburg dispatch as having been tampered with before delivery were the same ones.

The Johannesvurg story said 400 luxury buses purchased in Canada by South African Railways have been taken out of service because of grinding powder found in their oil-feeder lines.

"We sold some buses to South Africa, but I don't know if these are ours," said Mr. Drury. "I am going to look into the matter," he added.

Of 100 buses ordered from Canada by the South African company for delivery this year, 75 have been found to have this same defect, the Johannesburg story said.

Examination by engineers showed the trouble was caused by grinding powder in the oil system. It had been established that the powder was introduced before the buses arrived in Africa.

Operating Room Blast

FAIRFIELD, Me., Oct. 23 — (AP). — A patient died in the Central Maine sanatorium's operating room Friday and two doctors suffered ear injuries when an anaesthesia machine gas bag exploded. State Institutions Commissioner Harrison Greenleaf said Charles Bagley, 25, died five minutes after the blast, which he said did not damage the operating room.

US Ambassador Expects Peaceful Term

OTTAWA, Oc. 23 — (CP). — Canada's new Ambassador from the United States said Friday he does not expect the Dominion to be a diplomatic "hot spot."

Laurence A. Steinhardt, fresh from an assignment in politically wracked Czechoslovakia, indicated he looked for a peaceful tenure of his new job.

The amiable new envoy told a press conference he was "no discouraged" over the ominous situation in Europe.

"I think in the long run things will work their way out in Europe," he said. "They always have before."

But when reporters asked him point-blank if he could say from his European experience whether there might be war, he just answered:

"I don't know."

The minister, a bronzed man with thinning iron-grey hair, arrived here Thursday night to succeed Ray Atherton.

The Ambassador talked of the amicable relations between Canada and the United States.

"There is an affection between our two countries that nothing could disturb," he said with vigor.

Two Sides Of The P.C. Party

The Progressive Conservative party produces some of the best literary propaganda seen in Canada; neither the Liberal nor C.C.F. parties can touch it in this respect. We have received, for instance, a nicely-printed pamphlet called "Lunar Broadcast", which is the best piece of Canadian political satire that we have seen since Homo The Sap appeared during the war; it purports to be the script of a broadcast from the Moon, given by the Man in the Moon, discussing Canadian politics and economics. Having demonstrated that Canada has ceased to be a free enterprise country, that it has abandoned Parliamentary government, and that the Liberal party has sold out to the Leftists, the Man in the Moon declares that the only salvation for this country is to get down to fundamentals — these fundamentals bearing a strong resemblance to the theories of the Progressive Conservative party, although that party is not named.

• • •

It is unfortunate that the excellent Conservative propaganda is so badly out of touch with the brand of Conservatism expressed in the most recent of that party's platforms. That document promises that the Conservatives, if given a chance, will reduce taxes and increase government expenditures — a promise made long ago by the C.C.F., and not taken seriously by the Conservatives when it had the C.C.F. stamp on it. It has been said that the Conservatives expect to do this by reducing taxes within the compass of the present Government's surpluses; as no strict figuring was done to compute the cost of the new services we cannot attach much importance to this. Nor could we discern any provision for the inevitable levelling off in business, wages and employment in the Conservative platform. Do they think, perhaps, that the present surpluses are so large that they will last forever? The Conservative party, when framing its platform, took no account of the fact that Canada is now enjoying an exhilirating but dangerous boom, much of which hangs on the Marshall Plan—that is to say, upon the money of American taxpayers. What would happen if the American taxpayer suddenly suffered severe curtailments?

• • •

The excellent pamphlet, "Lunar Broadcast" and the Conservative manifesto cannot be made to agree. A clever propagandist's demonstration of straightforward, Honest John economics on one hand, and a party platform of the most reckless optimism and irresponsible promises on the other simply will not match. As for moving to the Left, the Conservatives have gone much farther in that direction in their promises than the Liberals have yet gone in reality.

The Screen 'Hamlet'

Sir Laurence Olivier's screen version of Shakespeare's Hamlet which is now being shown in Montreal is "a hit, a very palpable hit". The editing by Alan Dent, the acting and directing of Olivier and the wizardry of the camera have refurbished and refreshed Shakespeare and reaffirmed his power to move both the groundlings in the pit and the gentlemen in the gallery. It is a superior movie by even 'box-office' terms. Yet to people familiar with the text of the play and who have seen stage versions it presents some difficulties on first viewing.

The difficulties are more emotional than intellectual. It is like seeing an old friend in strange surroundings and clothes or like coming upon illustrations to a familiar story which do not fit in with one's own conception of the tale. This Hamlet is presented in a medium new to it and Olivier has come to terms with the newness not by attempting to appease and disguise it, but by departing from the Hamlet of tradition whenever the camera and screen can justify the opportunity. The ghost of the dead king is realistically weird and not merely a draped voice. Prince Hamlet is fair-haired and is frankly not a youth in whom boyhood is blooming. When Polonius asks Hamlet what he is reading, the Prince replies "Words, words, words" not ponderously in the nineteenth century manner, nor tautly and irritably in a Gielgud version, but tartly and teasingly. The scene becomes a first-rate comedy turn under the roving eye of the camera.

In Olivier's Henry V the cinematic treatment expanded the play's scope by taking it farther from the audience than any stage will allow. An opposite technique is used in his Hamlet. The play is greatly expanded by taking the audience nearer to the people on the stage through the camera's myopic eye. Thus we are forced into immediate intimacy with the Danes of the play; we see the slightest curl of Hamlet's lip. The versions of character and personality conceived by Olivier and his brilliant group are compelling because they are brought so close to our eyes. So on the first viewing, a spectator who is familiar with the play may feel a tension because his own conception of the drama conflicts with the Hamlet so forcefully set before him on the screen. This tension results temporarily in the film losing its intended emotional appeal.

The friend of many Hamlets may find Olivier's too old. His blond hair is gray in several lights, his sallow complexion becomes the pasty-yellow of a chronic and old invalid. Shakespeare's Hamlet is between 25 and 30 years of age, Olivier himself is now 41, but as Hamlet he seems at times to be fifty. Norman Wooland as Horatio is strong and sympathetic, but he seems to us to be, like Hamlet, too old, and he has the appearance of a Sicilian grandee. The youth of Terence Morgan (Laertes) and Jean Simmons (Ophelia) is refreshing and perhaps in deliberate contrast to the mature Hamlet.

The editors and directors of the film could not avoid emphasizing one of the many "problems" of the play. Although a voice informs us at the beginning that "This is a story of a man who could not make up his mind", it is not Hamlet's indecision which was played as the central theme but the conflict between his veneration for women and his revulsion from male desires and conduct.

There will be many criticisms of the film because it is such a great one. None can deny that it is strong, articulate and thrilling.

"The Rain Of Ruined Leaves"

Our autumn trees are like the phoenix which kindles its own death-fire, sings its glorious requiem and then falls in death, later to rise verdant from its own ashes. Two short weeks ago the hills and valleys and streets were gorgeous in colour, triumphant even. But the beauty had a melancholy hue, for soon, soon the leaves would become sere and drop to the ground as cerements. Now the wind and rain and frost have wrought their havoc, the trees are baring and soon will be gaunt and wintry. Underneath our feet is the sad cushion of faded glory. The cycle has been fulfilled of which Lampman wrote:

Sly frosts shall take the creepers by surprise,
And through the wind-touched reddening woods shall rise
October with the rain of ruined leaves.

Rent Control

The new measures on rent control announced by Mr. Abbott on Friday will not cause either tenants or landlords to rejoice. Nevertheless, each party has reason to feel that a satisfactory compromise has been made. The tenant need not fear the bogey of unrestricted inflationary rents until at least 1950; controls will be maintained. The landlord, faced with higher municipal rates and high costs of keeping his property in repair will have an extra ten per cent. on his rentals, if he has not already taken advantage of the ten per cent. increase available to him under certain conditions last year. In order to meet the increased costs of heating, any landlord who provides heat for the tenants may increase his rents an additional five per cent.

The new Federal regulations lean toward the tenants rather than the landlords, for the new increases authorized are less than were generally expected, even by tenants. One interesting part of Mr. Abbott's announcement is that which provides for the Federal Government turning over the rent controls to any provincial government which wishes to take them up in its own province. That should effectively silence the criticism of Premier Duplessis of Quebec. He will now have to take them up or shut up.

Diary Of A Complacent Man

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: Met a man today who boasted intolerably about his child. It is eighteen months old, I think he said, and he asserts without a blush that it has a vocabulary of three hundred words. I believe that I was expected to show awestricken admiration, but as I have no idea what vocabulary may be expected in a child of that age I held my peace and nodded as though prodigies were an old story to me. Frankly, I do not care how large a vocabulary any child has; I am only interested in what it says, and not always in that. What is the use of a large vocabulary of words if the child has only a small range of ideas? . . . Every now and then I meet grown-ups who are taking some vocabulary-stretching exercises, having fallen victim to the delusion that the more words they know the more valuable their opinions will be. But nonsense is nonsense, whether expressed in polysyllables or in grunts and snorts. Three hundred words! Pah!

MONDAY: Our quaint neighbours, the Americans, have concluded the local baseball tournament which they boastfully call the World's Series. What would happen, I wonder, if some Norwegian or Siamese baseball team were to insist upon entering this cosy little contest and beat them? They would drown the stage with tears, and split the general air with horrid speech. I have always thought that the international nature of cricket served as a useful check on English pride. Just when the Motherland was beginning to think well of herself a pack of gangling Australians or Dutch-speaking South Africans would land on their shores, and knock the spots off the Old Girl at her national game. The Americans are very careful that nothing of the sort should happen to them. . . . Read today that the man who invented the curve pitch had died. I am sceptical about the curve pitch, and I should like to have a scientific showdown on the matter. Once when I was a boy a friend showed me a metal cup which he concealed in his hand, and which he had bought on the understanding that it would enable him to pitch a curve. As a matter of fact, he couldn't hit the side of a barn.

TUESDAY: Saw the film of "Oliver Twist" and enjoyed it greatly. But what an old cheat Dickens was, and how the film producers have abetted him in his deception! In the book, and in the film too, Oliver speaks with a degree of gentility which would cause comment at the Court of St. James. Where he picked up this goodly speech in the workhouses, undertaking parlours and thieves' kitchens where he spent his life is not stated. But when Dickens wanted sympathy for an Under Dog, he took great care to make that Under Dog a very fancy little animal indeed. Life is not so kind. At one time in my callow youth when I could still be persuaded that it was my personal duty to reform the world, I did some work in a boys' club in a poor quarter of an English town, and met many lads who were much better off than Oliver Twist. Candour compells me to record that they not merely lacked Oliver's fine speech, but also his fine feelings, and if an old gentleman had tried to take them into his home they would undoubtedly have bitten him. But the writers of reforming novels are invariably well-intentioned crooks.

WEDNESDAY: I see by a Toronto paper that "a pretty co-ed" has distinguished herself by eating a grasshopper. The thirst for beauty in Toronto press circles is astonishing. They will describe anyone who gets into jail, or lost, or murdered, or who eats something inedible, as "pretty". What they will say when a really pretty girl gets into the news, I cannot imagine. Their standards are so low that even I ←——! But I can imagine the report: "Lovely Samuel Marchbanks, glamorous Eastern Ontario redhead, appeared in court today charged with kicking the stuffing out of a dog which he alleged had been rummaging in his garbage can. Testimony was given by Dr. Flop, well-known psychiatrist, that the winsome defendant had developed an idea that he was persecuted by dogs, owing to the fact that he really was persecuted by dogs". I am forced to conclude that Toronto reporters think any female who is not a certified gorillia is a beauty, or that Toronto news photographers are bunglers. Why, they even said that Evelyn Dick was pretty, and printed pictures of a stout, motherly party with an ill-considered hair-do to prove it!

◇ ◇ ◇

THURSDAY: No man's newspaper writings should be saved and produced in evidence against him. Take the case of G. B. Shaw, who served a term as a drama critic about 1895: today I was reading what he said about the first appearance of "The Importance of Being Ernest"; he did not think much of it; this play, which is now pretty generally acknowledged to be one of the great farces of our literature, appeared to Shaw to be old-fashioned—as if that made any difference, so long as it was good. But the funniest thing in the review is Shaw's assertion that the comedy was not of a high order because he was not "touched" by it. It is a popular delusion (and therefore the last thing one would expect G.B.S. to embrace) that really funny things are also "touching". Sentimental twaddle! And, by the way, was anybody ever touched by any of the comedies of old Barney Shaw, the Swan of the Liffey?

◇ ◇ ◇

FRIDAY: As the Ontario Hydro is suffering from what certain advertisements (not theirs) call "waning powers and general debility" I have to install a kerosene heater in one room of my house which I used to heat with electricity. This brings to my notice the appalling rise in the price of kerosene since my boyhood. In those days everybody had a large can of the stuff in the woodshed, with a potato stuck on the spout, and if a stove was not burning satisfactorily you poured a gallon or two of kerosene on the flames. Women were burned bald, doing this, and children were consumed like little phoenixes (although they never rose again from their ashes) and even fathers of households were Called to Their Reward, blazing like heretics in the fires of the Inquisition, and shrieking to be extinguished. But with the cost of kerosene nowadays only the very rich would be able to afford this form of spectacular demise.

◇ ◇ ◇

SATURDAY: Of late people have been picking on me because I am what they call "complacent". By this they mean that I refuse to share their hysterical fears about another war, about Russia, about the atom, about the commercialization of Sunday, about divorce, about juvenile delinquency and whatnot. Because I do not leap about and flap my arms and throw up all my meals when these things are mentioned, they assume that I am at ease in Zion. As a matter of fact I have my own well-defined field of worry, which I exploit to the full. But it seems to me that a little complacency would do nobody any harm at present and I am thinking of incorporating complacency into the platform of the Marchbanks Humanist Party—a retrograde movement of which I am leader and sole support. "Tired of Clamour? Try Torpor!" How's that for a campaign cry?

Drug Traffic In Canada

By K.M.M. IN THE WINNIPEG FREE PRESS

THE seriousness of the drug traffic in Canada was underscored by K. C. Hossick, chief of the department of health's narcotic control division, when last week at Vancouver he told the Canadian Chief Constables' association that as much as $42 million in merchandise is probably being stolen each year by Canadian drug addicts to get money to satisfy their craving.

He calculated this loss hypothetically, figuring that there may be about 2,000 addicts who have to steal to get their daily supply; and that somewhere around $40 million worth of goods would have to be stolen annually at "fence" prices in order to provide the average addict with the $20 to $30 a day he would need to buy his drug illegally.

The fact that Mr. Hossick, though he is in the business of controlling drug addiction, had to guess at the figure of probable loss serves also to emphasize that there are no exact figures available on the extent of drug addiction. The recent department of health report on the matter based its estimates of the number of addicts in Canada largely on convictions under the Opium and Narcotic Drug Act, and the annual report of Canadian penitentiaries.

It is, however, reasonable to suppose that this is the best base for statistics on drug addiction. Theft is the only recourse for most of the unfortunates in the toils of the drug habit, and sooner or later they are caught by the police and their addiction is discovered.

As everyone knows, the drug traffic is carried on with the greatest secrecy and cunning which, from its very nature, is abetted by the addicts. And it is internationally recognized that drug addiction will never be stamped out until rigid control can be exercised over supply right at the source, in countries where drugs are produced. So far little progress on this vital front has been made. It has been estimated that as high as 80 per cent. of the production of some narcotic drugs cannot be accounted for legitimately.

Even so, to relax control on that account would be disastrous. Every practical measure must be applied to hold the line and keep the traffic at a minimum. Thus, taken together, the statement of the narcotics control chief and the health department's report would indicate that improvement can be made along three lines—a closer check on addicts, whatever the difficulties, so that the extent of the Canadian traffic will be more accurately known; more rigid control of drugs coming into the country; and, most important of all, the development of public institutions specializing in the study of drug addiction and its cure.

Gadget And Grail

An English writer in the New Statesman and Nation tells of the vitality he found in American education, despite its academic shortcomings, during his experience as a visiting teacher in the United States.

As contrasted with the students in English schools—"where talking still tends to be an offence and marching in twos the technique"—he found American 13-year-olds on educational trips to factories asking such questions as: "How much do the workers have to pay for your social benefits?" "How many strikes have you had?" "Why is it that you have Negroes working only in the foundry?"

This will be good news to many Americans who have feared that education in their country was failing to give the student a grasp of the practical problems confronting society. But the English writer balances this praise with reference to the debilitating skepticism he found among American youth—a skepticism extending to moral values and constituted authority, a skepticism which, for instance, dismisses Joan of Arc as "applesauce." This he attributes to the growth of American "materialism" and the cult of material success.

There is, of course, plenty of idealism as well as materialism in America. Yet a well-meant warning is useful. The skeptical, inquisitive, eminently practical mentality may enable a Connecticut Yankee to dazzle King Arthur's faded court with his material accomplishments, but these do not entitle him to scoff at the quest for the Holy Grail. — Christian Science Monitor.

Middleton's Northwest Rebellion Story Is Edited By Old Millbrook Boy

Few can recall that raw March morning in 1885 when crowds lined the sidewalks, bidding God speed and a safe return to Toronto's citizen soldiers en route to suppress Louis Riel's half-breeds and Indians who had risen against the government in Saskatchewan.

Soldiers still went to war in all the glory of scarlet and rifle-green, and as they marched to the old Union Station the band of the Grens played "The British Grenadiers" and that of the Queen's Own Rifles, "The Girl I Left Behind Me." It was an unforgettable sight. So was the triumphant return of the troops on a broiling July day when cheering multitudes welcomed home the now bronzed and tattered veterans.

One of those veterans was young George H. Needler, native of Millbrook, Ont., a Varsity undergraduate who had gone all through the entire campaign as a corporal in the QOR. He was to become rofessor of German at the University of Toronto, and as major, to command the COTC from 1916-19. Prof. Needler, now 82 and retired, has been a distinguished contributor to Canadian historical literature. He was obviously well qualified to edit, annotate and publish the unofficial story of the Northwest Rebellion by General Sir Fred Middleton, who wrote the official record of it in 1886 for Ottawa. The unofficial story appeared originally in four sections in the United Service Magazine of London, England, in 1893-4. Hitherto this had never been published in book form.

Be it said that Prof. Needler modestly omits any mention of the fact that he himself had been a soldier in that campaign. The book includes a preface by Prof. Malcolm W. Wallace and an introduction by its editor, with critical explanatory notes. General Sir Frederick Dobson Middleton, born at Belfast in 1825, saw service in the Maori war and later in the Indian Mutiny. He came to Canada in 1884 as commander-in-chief of the British forces. So he was 60 when the rebellion broke out and he was put in charge of Canada's little expeditionary army composed entirely of Canadian militia.

The United States would not allow armed forces of another power to travel through their teritory, but Middleton and two aides, in mufti, were permitted to journey by rail to Winnipeg via Chicago and St. Paul—it took three days and nights. At Winnipeg, Middleton hurried west with the 90th Battalion of that city and some small units, to Qu'Apelle, his headquarters. The main body of the troops was obliged to cross 106 miles of frozen bays and gaps in the uncompleted line of the CPR on the north shore of Lake Superior, in below zero weather. But west of Port Arthur the rails stretched on to the Rockies.

Faced by a wiley foe and out in a vast wild country, Middleton had a hard task. Only nine years previously General Custer and his entire force of U.S. cavalry had been wiped out in Montana by the Sioux under Sitting Bull. Fortunately the warlike Blackfeet in Alberta had remained loyal, largely through the fact that General Strange, commanding in the far west, had a ranch out there, and was on friendly terms with Chief Crow Foot. But a bad defeat or some tactical blunder might have roused the whole Indian population and brought on a general massacre of white settlers in the Canadian West. Many of the rebels who were mostly good shots and skillful in fighting from ambush were equipped with Winchester repeating rifles, whereas, most of the troops had to rely on the old single-shot Snider service rifle. Of course, there were some field guns and a couple of not too effective gatling guns—fathers of the machine gun.

Most of the white population of Saskatchewan had taken shelter in small stockaded forts and in fortified villages along the North Saskatchewan River, protected only by a few Mounted Police and armed civilians. They were a long march north of the railway and the rescuing troops. Middleton had to rely while on the march upon the single government telegraph wire across the plains for communication with his base and the settlements. Riel, hoping to use it to make terms with Ottawa after defeating the troops, had cut only one portion of the line.

Middleton dashed about on horseback directing fights and a bullet went through his fur service cap. It was touch and go at Batoche, where the red coats made targets for a strong force of rebels. The relief of Battleford and Prince Albert were epics. Fish Creek and Cut Knife were hot battles. Steamers on the Saskatchewan acted as transports and warships. The dramatic surrender to him of Louis Riel and of Poundmaker, are dramatic episodes in a vivid chapter of Canadian history.

Middleton was criticized for accepting as a present some confiscated furs. He was rated by Col. Denison on paper for not using the cavalry. General Strange, Col. Otter and Col. Irvine of the Police disobeyed his orders at times, knowing the local situation better. Middleton was partial to the few British regular officers in his force, but he gave unstinting praise to the courage and initiative of his Canadian citizen soldiers and commanders. Some day the rebellion will be done on the films as the story of the CPR is now being done.

New York Church Mecca For Brides, Actors, Tourists

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Little Church Around the Corner, sandwiched between mid-Manhattan's skyscrapers, became 100 years old this month. Year by year its magnetism increases.

Almost everybody it seems wants to get married there and 150,000 people have. Almost every tourist wants to see the place and, just last year, 90,000 did.

Sentiment hangs like ivy around this Epsicopal Church of the Transfiguration. There are the new brides entereing tremulously and the old brides, nostalgia softening their eyes, coming back on anniversaries. There are the children brought from Australia and Switzerland and other distant parts of the world to be baptized in the church where their mothers were married.

There are the stained-glass windows, memorials to celebrities of the theatre. This is also known as the actor's church. Cornelia Otis Skinner, Peggy Wood, Toronto-born Raymond Massey, Walter Hampden and Jose Ferrer still attend it. There is the bride's altar, studded with jewels taken from old engagement rings and family heirlooms—gifts of past brides.

There is the church's history. The first service was held in a private home on the first Sunday of October, 1848. The church was consecrated on its present site on 29th street in 1850, at a time when nearby Fifth Avenue, in that section, was little more than a cow path and the best people lived farthest downtown.

It was 20 years before the church got its popular name. In 1870, an actor friend of Joe Jefferson, the comedian, died. Jefferson asked the minister of a nearby church to conduct the funeral service. The minister, mindful of the anti-theatre prejudices held by moralists of his day, refused, but suggested "there's a little church around the corner whey they do that kind of thing."

Whereupon Jefferson offered his now famous benediction, "God bless the little church around the corner," hurried there and was accommodated.

Actors in dressing rooms all over the United States began to talk gratefully about the little church. Songs and poems were written about it. Its connection with the theatre became permanent. Later the operetta "Sally" used the church in its theme. In an upstairs room, above the altar, the Episcopal Actors Guild was organized, with George Arliss as the first president.

Through the years, funeral services have been held in the little church for Edwin Booth, Maurice Barrymore (father of Ethel, John and Lionel), Henry Miller, Vernon Castle, Daniel Frohman and many other great names of the footlights.

The little church's list of brides and grooms include Irene Castle, Ann Harding, Robert E. Sherwood, James Montgomery Flagg, Rollin Kirby and Stephen Leacock, the Canadian humorist and economist.

In its 100 years, the little church has had only three rectors. Dr. Randolph Ray has been there 25 years. He says he heads a church which conducts more weddings, funerals and baptism than any other in the United States.

Since the first bride of 1850 approximately 75,000 weddings have taken place in the church.

Busy as it is with weddings, the Little Church Around the Corner is not Gretna Green. It won't marry persons who have been divorced or persons under 22 without parental consent.

With PETE McGILLEN

TAGGING OF DEER conforming with a regulation introduced this year seems to have been pretty well balled up, because of a story originating in Toronto which stated clearly that the tag must be put on the deer as soon as the animal is killed. That is wrong. I had a call from the Hon. Harold R. Scott stating that the tag need not be placed on the deer carcass until the hunter is ready to leave camp with his prize. On the other hand, tags must be placed on moose carcasses just as soon as the animals are shot. This tag looks somewhat like the metal tag or seal used on boxcar doors, and once it is placed on a carcass it is there permanently as the tag is destroyed in removing it from the carcass. If a hunter had to tag his deer say a mile from camp, then drag the carcass through the woods, the tag would probably tear out of the flesh during this operation. So, all these hunters in Haliburton who have been criticizing the tagging law, will probably fall in with it now that the details have been made clear. The hunter whose camp is two miles from a road, would probably be excused if he didn't tag the deer until he reached his car on the road.

WHERE TO GO this winter is a poser for many resort owners who can't take holidays in the summer. A few are heading for British Columbia, hoping to spend the winter in either Victoria or Vancouver. Others want to relax in sunny Florida or California, and one of these people reports room rates alone without meals at Fort Lauderdale, St. Petersburg or Miami is about $100 a week. With each person allowed only $150 under Foreign Exchange Control regulations that doesn't sound so good. However some of the veteran travellers claim they can whittle these rates away down, and have a long holiday on the $150. Canadians travelling by car in the U.S.A. take advantage of their credit cards to buy gasoline, oil, tires and some even have minor repairs charged on it, then pay their bills in Canadian currency when they return. There apparently is no objection to this arrangement. The order setting the annual travel quota of $150 was made Nov. 18 last year. I wonder if that means, the 1949 quota can be used after Nov. 18 of this year? How about it, Mr. Dolan?

AN OPEN SEASON on black, grey and fox squirrels falls on Nov. 12 and 13. Bag limit is five squirrels per day. The pelts of these animals aren't worth much, mostly because local dealers do not get enough of them to make it worth their while. Squirrels make a delicious meat pie, or they can be pot-roasted, broiled or oven roasted in a pan. In short if there is anyone who is clever enough to knock of five squirrels or even a pair, they should try eating them. Squirrels are thorough-going vegetarians, and quite suitable for the table. They can be cooked just the same as a chicken. Skin them, then lop off the head and legs, and quarter them. Allow the meat to soak in salt water overnight, wash the parts again, and they are ready for the pan. The meat looks like veal and tastes like chicken. An old squirrel will be strong, so an onion can be cooked with the meat to get rid of the wild taste. But be sure to toss out the onion. It is advisable too, if the eater is squeamish, to cut away the stomach lining between the ribs and hind legs. I don't do that, it is just wasting good meat.

PROTECTED AREAS in Stony lake are favorably regarded by resort owners according to statements made at a special fish and game meeting last Monday. Bill Ianson, Viamede, said the lake should have at least one such sanctuary, and he suggested a bay west of the resort. Tom Curvin, Clear View Camp, said it was a fact such sanctuaries were valuable, and George Jeffery, Glenwood also spoke in favor of at least one sanctuary. For years South Bay near the east end of the lake was closed, but is now open, and there is not a single sanctuary in this huge stretch of water. Application would have to be made to the Dept. of Lands and Forests, and when this is done, they make a survey to ascertain the feelings of the residents regarding such a move. Fishing has been falling off in the east end of the lake, and this is the time to do something about it. Heavier restocking, and if possible the introduction of about 12 pairs of adult bass would help a lot too. The important thing is for someone to make application.

CIGARETTES AND CIGARS are blamed for many bush fires in the broad timber lands of southern and northern Ontario. It seems to me that some enterprising person could capitalize on this condition by inventing an ash tray for cars. Sure there are ash trays in the cars now, but they are all in the wrong places. I am a right hand driver, and I hold the cigarette in my left hand, but where is the ash tray. Way over in the centre of the dash—so what happens? I flip ashes out the left window vent, and the butt goes that way too. If there was a magnetic or even a suction cup ash tray available that could be stuck on the left door, and removed at will, then I am sure, a pile of cigarette butts would never hit the pavement or the road alive. There was a hint of a magnetic ash tray some months ago, but it seems to have died. Just imagine a small tray that would clamp to any piece of metal. Hot dog, that would be a smoker's dream, and how clean the car would be too.

THREE HUSTLERS who can't see anything but success have a ski program underway at Haliburton that should put the village on the Ontario winter sports map. They are Harold Bishop, Roy Hanna and Glen Austin, and all they need now is a heavy fall of snow. The ski hill has been brushed out, the tow is in place, at least four lodges are all set to accommodate winter visitors, there is money in the kitty from associate memberships. Hal Bishop is owner of Highlander Hotel in the village, Roy Hanna is editor of the Highland News, and Glen Austin works at Curry's garage. They have the complete support of the merchants and lodge owners, and it looks as if Haliburton will get its baptism in the realm of skiing before very long. The ski hill and tow is close to the village, and plans call for a refreshment booth at the foot of the ski tow.

DUCKS ARE NUMEROUS at Pigeon lake, Lake Scugog, Deer Bay and Rice lake, with the cold rain pelting down, and duck hunters snuggled by the fire at home, the speeding ducks are whipping across the marshes and feeding almost undisturbed. A week ago when the rain was teeming down, the ducks were moving, and Redheads were among them. The hunters who braved the choppy waters and cutting winds did well, but mighty few were out. It's a funny thing about duck hunters, most of them are all enthused for the opening, then after firing a few shots, they cool off and forget about the ducks. The real hunters skip opening day, wait for the fall ducks to come down, then go out and bag their limits. One day this week more than 200 wild geese, honking shrilly, passed over the city southward bound.

Plank or Gravel Road From Peterborough To Rice Lake Proposed In October, 1846

By HARRY THEOBALD

The copy of the Peterborough Gazette of Oct. 17 1846, which was delivered to Dr. Hay, father of the late T.A.S. Hay who was for years city or rather town engineer, combines interest in both its date of publication and survival and in the remarkable preservation of its paper.

It is only slightly faded, its crease is unworn and there is not one tear in it.

Presumably this relic of the issue of the Gazette of exactly 102 years ago was kept intact in the library of Mrs. Hay, a sister of Mrs. J. D. Collins, who was the mother of Mr. J. Durham Collins, insurance agent.

The Gazette office was at the southeast corner of the market square, and in all probability its windows had an unbroken iew of the Otonabee River. Travel in those pioneer days followed the river, from Peterborough to Rice Lake with its busy port of Harwood and other wharfing places from Bewdley at the west end down the Trent to Hastings.

The river supplied water power for industry and navigation by the comparatively easy water route that avoided the rough and sketchy road, only recently hewn from the bush, leading west and south from Peterborough skirting Rice Lake, to Port Hope.

For advantages of proximate location, the community began at the river's edge and gradually moved out to George St., fanning from there to the west, the north and south. Obviously, the Gazette was conveniently placed. Not far from its corner at Water and Charlotte Streets was the location of the first government building, for years the centre of the hopes of settlers obtaining Crown grants of land and implements and livestock.

The Gazette was a four-page sheet, set by hand. Its subscription rates were: 12 shillings and six pence, paid in advance; 15 shillings at the expiration of six months; £1 at the end of the year. Cash, then as now, yielded various premiums.

Stray glimpses of the geography of the town are reflected in some of the advertisements. For instance:

"To be let. The store attached to the Gazette office, with an excellent cellar beneath, and convenient office adjoining. The premises are well situated for business, being at the corner of the Market Square, close by the landing-wharf of the steamboat, and almost in the centre of the town. The store itself is spacious enough for any retail business, and is amply fitted with shelves and counters."

That signifies commercial and realty value in the vicinity of the Gazette corner because of its adjacence to the landing wharf.

Another advertisement offers for rent "the premises adjoining the Gazette printing office, consisting of a neat and commodious house, an excellent garden, coach-house and stable, the whole in complete repair, and well suited for the accommodation of a small genteel family. The situation is remarkably convenient, pleasant and healthy, being in the centre of the town, near the market place, and on the banks of the Otonabee River, of which it commands a delightful view. For terms of tenancy apply to J. Chamberlain."

Significance of that "ad" is the open prospect of the river from the place next door to the Gazette. It is likely that the river extended broadly as a bay over the present site of the CPR freight sheds.

These are a few gleanings that serve to identify in part that business section of the town which naturally set itself up in the most active location.

That indication from the newspaper of 102 years ago should probably be qualified as comparative, because George St. was then as now the main street, even if the flow of communication with the world beyond was by way of the river. An intimation of the difficulties of travel is found in an advertisement by D. E. Boulton, solicitor, Cobourg: "Take notice that an application will be made at the next session of the Legislature for an Act to incorporate a company to erect a plank or gravel road from Peterborough to Rice Lake to meet the ferry across Rice Lake, authorized to be made by the Cobourg and Rice Lake Plank Road Company.

Ten years or more later a railway was laid from Cobourg to Harwood, crossing a roadbed fill in Rice Lake to Hiawatha and continuing through Otonabee to Peterborough. Its terminus here was the present coal yard of McCarthy & Johnston on the south side of Hunter St. in Ashburnham.

The United States was at war with Mexico, and the Gazette published several columns of news of its progress clipped from the New York Herald, Buffalo Courier and London Times.

lis: Houston at Tulsa.

People and their needs and interests were much the same then as now. They had to buy boots and shoes, clothing, groceries, wash tubs, corn brooms. One "ad" extolled the benefits of Comstock and Company's sarsaparilla for all sorts of ailments and the maintenance of "the great blessing of good health".

Some of the elderly pioneers worried about bald heads and the warning of thinning hair. William Bell, medical dispensary, somewhere in town, advertised Oldridge's Balm of Columbia in five reassuring verses that wigs were no longer necessary. Here's one verse suggesting the license of advertisements in those days.

"Now on my head are glossy curls,
In ringlets fine and brown;
In strongest wind my hair unfurls,
But does not leave my crown."

Oldridge's secret evidently did not survive himself and William Bell who carried in in stock for gentlemen whose foreheads were showing signs of expanding.

Another advertisement: "D. Coate, M. D., licentiate in physic and midwifery. Present residence at the Union Hotel."

Job of Choosing President In United States Involved

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON—Twelve states if they voted solidly for one of the candidates, could elect the next President of the United States, regardless how the other 36 states voted.

That is because the constitutional responsibility for choosing the president and vice-president rests on an "Electoral College". The over-all popular vote is not the decisive factor.

The Electrocal College was set up in 1787 by the writers of the Constitution. Some changes were made in its functions by the 12th amendment to the Constitution, ratified in 1804. It was created because the founders of the country were doubtful about the ability of the people to make a wise choice in a free election.

It is provided that each state shall choose a body of "electors", one for every senator and congressman the state sends to Washington. The electors may not be congressmen or other persons holding public office for gain.

There are 96 senators and 435 members of the House of Representatives—a total of 531. Thus, 531 electors must be created to choose a president.

It is the tradition and custom that the party getting the majority of votes in each state gets the support of the entire group of "electors" in the state.

The number of House members a state sends to Washington is based on population. In addition, each state has two senators. New York, the most populous state, sends a total of 47 to Congress. And the whole 47 Electoral College votes goes to the candidate, who gets the most votes in that state.

Because of the Electoral College set-up, it is possible for a candidate to win the presidency with the support of only 12 states: New York, Pennsylvania, California, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, Texas, and Wisconsin.

Together they have a total of 269 members of the Electoral College. A simple majority of 266 is all it takes to win.

If no candidate has a majority, the House of Representatives decides the winner. That has not happened since 1825.

There have been many efforts to abolish the college or alter its method of operation to make the choice of presidents more reflective of popular choice.

The Constitution left it to the state legislature to decide how the electors should be chosen. Originally they were to be appointed and left to exercise their own judgment, with orders to report their choice to Congress on the first Monday after the second Wednesday in December of the election year. However, for 100 years or more, the states have chosen the electors in party contests.

The group may still constitutionally and legally, choose as president and vice president any persons legally qualified to hold those offices. Nevertheless, they are confident to rubber-stamp the choice of the people.

It will take a constitutional amendment to get rid of that part of the United States electoral machinery.

In this year's election, each party, in each state that it is legally on ballot, offers its slate of Electoral College candidates. In some states, those are the only names on the ballot. In others, the Electoral College names do not appear, but the candidates' names are used and a vote for the candidate is a vote for the slate of electors of his party. Some states use both the candidates' and electors' names.

When the results are known, the electors of the party which wins the majority of votes in any state cast all the Electoral College votes for that state.

There is strong agitation for a change by which the votes in the Electoral College would be allotted according to percentage of the total vote won by each party candidate.

In 1876 Samuel Tilden won the largest popular vote but Rutherford Hayes was elected president because he won the big states and got the majority in the Electoral College.

In 1940 Wendell Wilkie was only 240,000 votes short of the total won by Franklin D. Roosevelt in New York State but Roosevelt got all 47 electoral votes.

After an election, the electors in each state go through the formality of confirming the vote of the people, sending to to Washington. January 6, at the joint session of Congress, the sealed report is opened and the results announced. The president is inaugurated Jan. 20.

Sometimes electors who can afford the trip come to Washington for a formal "election" in December and hold a banquet to celebrate completion of their quadrennial task. Then the Electoral College is out of a job for another four years.

KIDNEY ACIDS
Rob your Rest..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on 'nerves'—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better. 136

Look at your will

through her eyes

Leaving your wife your worldly goods may mean leaving her a world of cares too. Would she be able to cope with problems and responsibilities arising in connection with taxes, real estate and investments? Would she be able to carry on without dissipating much of the estate in taxes and fees for special services? Affection and consideration may best be shown by providing for a trust fund in your will, and by naming the Grey & Bruce as your executor. Your estate will then be looked after for the utmost benefit of your family, for it will have the advantage of group judgment, skill and, experience.

We will be pleased to help you with your estate planning — without obligation.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Just a brief mention for early Saturday readers of this column of grid activity locally this aft. The Lindsay-PCVS junior joust was this morn, while St. Peter's are playing their junior game in Lakefield. But up at the Oval at 1.15 p.m., Orillia Bombers and the Panthers clash in an ORFU intermediate fixture, while at 3.00 there Albert College of Belleville plays the senior PCI-ers a four-point COSSA group contest. Both these Oval games are highly important and sure to show a lot of thrills and hard battling to the big crowd of fans expected. The ORFU schedule winds up today and the school schedules finish in another week. Then the playoffs.

* * * * * *

Bill Fry of Toronto has announced the intermediate football playoff dates for group winners. Ontario semi-finals are on Nov. 13 with Niagara against Southwestern Ontario, and the Central Ontario champs going against the Eastern Ontario winner. The final will be staged Nov. 20. And there's talk of a challenge game between the Ontario champion and the Quebec intermediate victor, with also the possibility of the Eastern Canada winner going against Western Canada. However, the CRU won't sponsor these inter-provincial intermediate games—not enough dough in it for them—so we doubt if anything comes of such plans.

* * * * * *

Some Will Be Back

While there will doubtless be some changes in the local OHA senior "B" lineups this coming hockey campaign, some of the 1947-48 faces will be seen again with the Petes and Legionnaires. We don't know how many yet, of course, but imagine some of the leading scorers with their respective clubs last semester will be urged to turn out again, anyway. As well as some of the better defencemen and the goalies. If you take the pick of last year's lineups and bolster both with some real talent, then fans here should see smart hockey this winter.

* * * * * *

Joe Rochetta led the Legion scorers last season with 21 goals and 16 assists for 37 points in the 24 games his team played, schedule and playoffs. Right on his heels was Bob Greenlaw with 23 and 11 for 34 points in 22 tilts. Bill Crowley was another prolific scorer with 30 points in 24 contests and Ernie Nicholls clicked for 29. Besides starring on defence, Johnny Godfrey and Ned Vitarelli were strong on sniping, too, the former being in on 24 goals and Coach Ned in on 19. From there on, the other scorers were: D. Vitarelli, Parnell, A. Nicholls, H. Greenlaw, Burns, D. Mortimer, P. Nicholls, Hicks, Coughlin and Magee.

Headed The Parade

Coming over to the Petes' roster, we find Honey Tompkins heading the parade with 19 tallies and 11 assists for 30 points in 16 games played. Bun Kingdon was next with 14 and 12 for 26 points in 17 tussles. Joe Blewett got 17 and Red Creighton 16, while Freddy Mortimer was in on 15 and Fred Garvey 13. Those are the double-figure snipers, the others in order being: J. Creighton, J. Mortimer, F. Parsons, Jopling, Montgomery, Heal, Horton, Burton, Reid and T. Parsons. So there you have it—that's the batting averages for last year. This time we'll be seeing some of these guys going again but on home ice.

* * * * * *

A lot of criticism has been levelled lately at the OBA for permitting playoffs to drag out too long, and no doubt some of it is warranted. London Majors declined to meet Toronto Staffords in senior "A" finals, claiming it was too late in the season and they'd had a snowfall in London. The Brantford-Kingston senior "B" finals weren't played, nor the intermediate "C" series. We don't know what happened the latter, but it turns out that Kingston Locos kept stalling with Brantford and finally decided to default the series, saying they'd lost several players to hockey. And London Majors can blame themselves for their late series. The Petes were put into OBA senior "A" semi-finals against Toronto, while the Falls and London were to meet in the other semi-final series.

* * * * * *

They Made A Choice

As it turned out, the Majors went into the international sandlot series with an American team and won it. But the Falls, meantime, sat around and did nothing, while the Staffs were putting out the Petes. Then Staffords were sent into more semi-finals against Niagara Falls and won out. By this time, London had finished their sandlot series and wanted some action. Why didn't they think of that earlier? Why blame the OBA when they got into this Congress business on their own? Of course, the OBA does allow a lot of stalling as cold weather approaches, and now threatens to disallow Congress play during Ontario playoffs. Something will have to be done as no one wants to watch amateur ball playoffs after the world series is over. There's too much over-lapping of sports' seasons the year around on the Canadian scene.

Flyers Swamp Galt 6-0 Sullivan Teepees' Scorer

By The Canadian Press

Fleet Sid McNabney made it look easy Friday night.

The speedy winger nipped three goals—two in four minutes of the first period—as Barrie Flyers juniors swamped Galt Rockets 6-0 at Barrie, in one of the five Ontario Hockey Association games Friday night.

In other junior games, Guelph Biltmores climbed into a four-way, third-place tie with Oshawa, Galt, and Stratford, by beating Toronto Marlboros 5-3.

The league-leading St. Catharines Teepees lengthened their margin in the junior race by edging out Toronto St. Michaels College 4-3 at St. Catharines.

In the senior loop, the high-flying Hamilton Tigers made it four-for-four to fatten their margin over the second-place Owen Sound Mercurys, with four points, as they bested Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen 5-2 at Hamilton. Owen Sound Mercurys swept to their second straight victory by defeating Stratford Indians 7-4.

Wide Margin

Barrie had a wide margin on the play in their tilt with Galt.

McNabney started his scoring spree at the one-minute mark of the first period when he picked up a loose puck in front of Galt's nets. His second goal came minutes later on a pass from Gord Pennell. McNabney got his third tally in the second period.

Guelph Biltmores won their first game in two starts when they downed Toronto Marlboros.

It was a close game for two periods with each team scoring twice in the first period, Dan Kewley and John MacMurray counting for Marlies and Gar Vasey and Frank Bathgate tallying for Biltmores.

Cinch Game

After playing through a scoreless second period, Biltmores clinched the game by counting three times in 51 seconds of the third stanza with Lorne Plumb, Don Richardson and Ron Rubic tallying the goals.

Bob Galand tallied Marlies' third goal in the latter moments of the final period.

St. Catharines Teepees, unbeaten this season, spotted the Irish the lead on two occasions but found enough punch to roar back.

Sullivan Scores

Don Rope of St. Mikes opened the scoring in the first period and Marcel Clement and George Sullivan moved St. Kitts' ahead in the second period with one counter apiece. St. Mike's drove ahead in the third stanza with markers by Bob Sabourin and Con Bonhomme. But then Con Switzer and Don Evans scored to give Teepees the edge.

Hamilton Tigers, sparked by Clare Shillington with two goals and three assists, had little trouble disposing of Kitchener-Waterloo.

Shillington started the Bengals off with a 1-0 lead in the first period that was lengthened with a counter by Jim Conick.

Tom Smelle tallied Tigers' third goal early in the second session. Bobby Bauer, former Boston Bruin forward, notched the Dutchmen's first goal minutes later.

Conick, who also played a major part in the victory with two goals, got his second tally mid-way through the second period.

Dutchmen's Art Herchenratter nipped a goal mid-way through the last period.

Splits Goals

Owen Sound split four goals with Stratford in the first period and a pair in the third. But Mercurys grabbed their edge in the middle session, when they scored four straight goals, after Indians had forged ahead 3-2 in the first few minutes.

Jack Ingoldsby led Mercurys with two goals. Buck Forslund, Tommy Burlington, Doug Gillespie, Mike Shabaga and Freddie Smith nicked singletons.

Doug Mullen, Bill Walsh, Mickey Roth and Ken Stemmler counted for the Indians.

In today's game in the senior loop, Stratford play Owen Sound and Hamilton meet Kitchener-Waterloo.

In the junior circuit, Marlboros and St. Mikes play host to Guelph and St. Catharines respectively in an afternoon doubleheader while Stratford Kroehlers clash with Oshawa Generals and Barrie at Galt in night games.

McCahan To Play Pro Basketball

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(AP).—Bill McCahan, Philadelphia Athletics pitcher, has signed to play pro basketball this winter with Philadelphia Spahs of the American Basketball League. If Bill pitches one no-hit game there, he likely will be out of a job....And Connie Mack probably hopes that playing all winter on the "million dollar" pier in Atlantic City won't give McCahan any ideas about the figures on his baseball contract....Lou Boudreau, manager of the world champion Cleveland Indians, will be honored by his alma mater, the University of Illinois, at to-day's football game against Purdue... The Herald-Tribune's Harold Rosenthal wonders if the Illinois band will spell out "Bill Stewart."

Lil Arthur King, recently crowned British Empire lightweight boxing champion, will be managed in future by Frank (Blinky) Palermo of Philadelphia, it was announced in Toronto Friday night.

Dave Yack, who has handled King in his last 14 fights, said that he had sold the contract.

"I think Palermo will be able to do more than I could for the boy," Yack said. "After all, Blinky has all the proper connections in the largest cities and he is experienced in handling world champions—and you can bet that King's going to be a world champion too."

Palermo also manages Ike Williams, world's lightweight champion, and Billy Fox, light heavyweight contender.

King, 21, will make his first bout under Palermo's guidance in Philadelphia, Nov. 8 and will fight in New York, Nov. 19, but his opponents have not yet been named.

The United States' brightest stars were sent to the sidelines at Mexico City Friday as Czechoslovakia's Jaroslav Drobny and South Africa's Eric Sturgess stroked their way into the finals of the Pan-American tennis tournament.

Drobny, defending champion and No. 1 seeded contestant, staged a bristling rally to elminate the veteran Frank Parker of Los Angeles in an exhausting five-set duel, 8-10, 2-6, 11-9, 6-3, 6-4. Sturgess, fourth seeded, put skids under Richard (Pancho) Gonzalez, United States champion from Los Angeles, 11-9, 6-0, 6-4.

Charlie Conacher, coach of Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League, said Friday night he will marry Sunny Michas of Vancouver. Conacher, in Toronto for tonight's game with the Maple Leafs, said the date has not been set. It will be his second marriage.

University of Toronto and McGill University divided honors Friday in exhibition rugby and soccer games. McGill edged Varsity 6-5 in English rugby while the Blues handed the Montrealers a 4-2 defeat in soccer.

Hans Gerschiler, runner-up to Dick Button of United States in the Olympic figure skating championships in Switzerland last winter, will leave Montreal today for Schumacher where he has accepted an instructor's position at the Porcupine Skating Club. The European skating star arrived in Montreal Wednesday and has made several appearances at the Verdun auditorium to the delight of the city's skaters who turned out tosee the Olympic ace practise.

Tony Pellone gained a unanimous decision over rough Roman Alvarez in a 10-round welterweight scrap Friday night at New York's St. Nicholas arena. Pellone was cut under both eyes while Alvarez was slashed over the right orb.

Florian Takes Both Aurora Divisions

AURORA DOWNS, Ill., Oct. 23 — (AP). — Florian, four-year-old gelding owned by Dr. Mack E. Moore of Piketon, O., Friday night won both divisions of the $9,000 Aurora Downs trotting derby, establishing a track record in the 6½-furlong first section.

Driven by Oscar Silvey, Florian did the distance in 1:30 2-5 to beat the record of 1:40 set last Tuesday by the mare Proximity.

Tonight marks the wind-up of the grand Circuit portion of the meet here and will be featured by a $3,000 free-for-all pace in which Dr. Stanton, owned by W. L. (Lindy) Fraser of Forest, Ont., winner of last year's Aurora Downs pacing derby, will engage seven others.

Pete Peterson To Test Mask

There'll be a new (to Peterborough fans anyway) wrestler in the main bout in the Brock Arena ring on Wednesday. The latest sensation to hit the heavyweight wrestling ranks is Col. Peter Peterson, most decorated athlete of the U.S. Army during the late war. Peterson, a beautifully built specimen, is the greatest wrestler to come out of the service ranks and has agreed to appear here against the Masked Marvel for his first test in the local ring. There will be no time limit to the match and the fighting Colonel is confident he can upset the Mask's impressive reign in these parts.

Pete Peterson

Big Ben Morgan and Pat Flanagan have been re-matched after Wednesday's semi-final. Flanagan won that one on a disqualifcation but he thinks he can get a more solid victory on this second attempt.

In the opening bout Nick Vicarelli, the local mat light, gets another "shot" at Mike Futa, the big middleweight who beat him here last Spring.

Manager Jim Laidlaw is also dickering with Tuffy Truesdale, the Alligator-Man, to bring in his latest, and by far wildest alligator, for a session after the main bout is over.

Hawks, Leafs Battle For Win

By The Canadian Press

The top and bottom rungs of the National Hockey League ladder are riding on the outcome of tonight's games.

Two undefeated teams will battle it our for first place and two winless teams will battle it out for the cellar slot.

The first-place Montreal Canadiens, with two wins and a tie in three games to date, are hosts to Detroit Red Wings, victorious in both their games and tied for second place with Boston Bruins. Chicago Black Hawks, defeated in every one of their three starts, visit Toronto to take on the world champion Maple Leafs who have dropped both their games.

Toronto moves to Detroit and New York Rangers go to Boston for the Sunday night games.

By winning both games, Detroit can move three points ahead of the pack while the Leafs—if they cut their losing streak—can move up with the leaders.

Executives of both winless clubs said yesterday they wern't worried by the big zeros in the win column.

Find Daring New Operation Aids Bad Artery Cases

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23 (AP).—A spectacular new operation to restore arteries stopped up by injury, hardening or other disease was demonstrated for the first time yesterday to the American College of Surgeons.

The arteries are slit lengthwise for as much as two feet. Clotted blood, dead tissue and fat-like substances clogging them are literally scooped out until the inside diameter is large enough.

Since it was first tried a year ago about 100 such operations have been performed, said Dr. Louis Bazy, surgeon of St. Louis Hospital, Paris, who developed the technique.

Only arteries in the legs, arms, and lower abdomen have been worked on thus far, Dr. Bazy said, however, he planned to try it on the big arteries nearer the heart, where hardening and clots are more deadly.

The operation is daring, not only because of the length of the cuts, but also because it removes the normal inner lining of the blood vessel. There has been a long standing belief that arteries must have this special lining, otherwise blood would clot as it passes through the vessel.

Dr. Bazy reported he found the white blood cells attach themselves to the raw new inner surface of the treated artery, forming a new lining.

When lesser arteries are mangled by injury and closed by clots or debris or choked by the hardening process, nature often takes a hand by rerouting blood through still smaller blood vessels, and detouring it around the blockaded section. Often the detour channel is not large enough to carry sufficient blood to the parts of the body beyond the blockade. This may mean a damaged or crippled arm or leg. The new operation can remedy that, Dr. Bazy said, as well as some cases of hardening that result in high blood pressure and some of the blood vessel damage from diabetes.

STRENGTHEN WITH USE

The eyes, unlike other parts of the body, get stronger with use.

CAUSE SHORT CIRCUITS

Moths have caused many electrical short circuits.

THE WRECKAGE OF A DUTCH KLM AIRLINES Constellation lies scattered on the ground after the four-engined airliner crashed into a power line in thick fog near Arbolton, Scotland. Thirty-nine passengers, including nine Americans, died. One passenger who survived is in serious condition.

3 Main Issues Emerge In By-Election

SASKATOON, Oct. 23—(CP)—Three main issues—the federal government's record, the cost of living, and monetary reform—have emerged from federal by-election campaigns waged in Rosthern constituency by Liberal, CCF, and Social Credit candidates.

The resignation of Walter A. Tucker, Liberal, necessitated the federal by-election Oct. 25. Mr. Tucker, leader of the Liberal party in the province, was returned as member for the provincial seat.

W. A. Boucher, Hoey, Sask., merchant and Liberal candidate in the by-election, has been seeking support on the record of the Federal government and its social security program.

The Liberals have carried on a determined campaign, spearheaded by Agriculture Minister Gardiner, who has laid stress upon the benefits to be derived from the proposed development of irrigation and power on the South Saskatchewan River by means of a dam at Outlook.

Health Minister Martin, who supported Mr. Gardiner, dealt extensively with the federal government's new health program and social legislation.

Vigorous Campaign

The CCF party has conducted a vigorous campaign. Agriculture Minister I. C. Nollet of Saskatchewan campaigned in the northeastern part of Rosthern riding in behalf of P. G. Makaroff, Saskatoon lawyer and the party's candidate.

The Social Credit candidate, George W. Beilhartz, Rosthern businessman, contested Rosthern constituency in the Saskatchewan general election unsuccessfully.

Dr. J. N. Haldeman of Regina, Saskatchewan leader of the Social Credit party, pressed the campaign in the last week, condemned both Liberals and the CCF, and advocated a return to the widest form of free enterprise.

Rosthern riding, traditionally a Liberal seat, contains strong CCF elements. In the general election of 1945 Mr. Tucker received 6,898 of the 13,667 votes cast. C. A. Mycroft, CCF candidate, followed with 4,678. J. H. Currie, Progressive Conservative, polled 1,299 votes and L. F. Kurtenbach, Social Credit candidate 792.

Christian Ideals Threatened Dr. Chester New Tells Baptists

"Everything we as Christians hold dear in the world is threatened today," said Dr. Chester W. New of McMaster University, speaking to the initial session of the 12 Brotherhood Conference of Baptist Churches in Murray St. Church on Friday night.

He told his masculine audience of about 40 members which had been drawn from scattered centres in Ontario that "we have to fight for what we believe: we do it in business, politics and education." And he warned the conferees not to shirk the battle.

"We've found the thing that gives life its satisfactory meaning," he said. "And we want to make it possible for other men and women."

Subject of his address was "Looking Forward As Stewards." His definition of time, abilities and material possessions based on the conviction that these are a trust from God to be used in His service for the benefit of all mankind."

Principal object of the stewardship campaign was education in Christian living and another more tangible aim was the raising of $225,000, 25 per cent more than last year.

In an eloquent plea for funds Dr. New said "Christian giving is the acid test of Christianity, and he stated that the giving of money had occupied an important place in the history of the Christian Church.

He said there was too much reluctance on the part of many Baptists to give to foreign missions. "Almost two-thirds of the church members in Quebec and Ontario are giving nothing in the mission side of their envelopes."

The speaker was introduced and thanked by Frank Inrig of Toronto.

The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray St. Church welcomed the visiting delegates in the names of Murray St., Park St., Gilmour Memorial and Lakefield churches.

Objectives of the brotherhood which includes representatives from all men's organizations in the Baptist Church are: to deepen the spiritual life and interest the men in all phases of service in the Christian Church; to arouse a spirit of fellowship in church life and develop the stewardship of time, talents and resources.

Majority of the delegates which will be coming from as far away as Windsor and London for the two day conference will arrive today.

There will be two conferences with various speakers leading discussion groups. In the early evening an address "Looking Forward In Evangelism" will be given by the Rev. Dixon Burns.

A banquet will be held at 6 p.m. at Murray Street Church and a forum "A Forward Looking Program for Brotherhood" will be conducted by Jack Arnott. The closing address "Looking Forward with Lay Leaders," will be given by the Rev. Alfred Price.

Jurymen Taken To Death Scene

LA MALBAIE, Que., Oct. 23—(CP).—Jurymen hearing the case of Lionel Huard, Canadian Army veteran, charged with murder in the drowning of his English war bride, will be in the tiny village of Ste. Therese de Colombier today to view the death scene and examine the ramshackle home of the couple.

The shack in which the couple lived with their two children was described in court as primitive.

The 150-mile trip will be carried out under heavy police escort to keep the jurymen from talking to any persons in the village.

The trial goes into its second week on Monday.

La Malbaie residents who packed the small courthouse since the trial opened last Tuesday grew disinterested Friday in the proceedings when the Crown produced a half-dozen neighbors of the Huard couple.

They testified on weather conditions, winds and tides on May 9 last when the drowning occurred.

Obituary

WILIAM JOHNSTON

HAVELOCK, Oct. 23—(ENS)—The funeral took place here recently of William Johnston, 65, of Smiths Falls, a former resident of Havelock. Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh conducted the service and burial was made in Maple Grove Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Stephen McQuigge, James White, Alex Ferguson of Smiths Falls; Peter Haig, Wiliam Althouse, James Seabrook of Havelock.

Born in Belmont township Mr Johnston was a son of the late David Johnston and Margaret Hubble. Several years ago he was pensioned by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company with whom he was employed as a conductor, owing to a heart condition, and he has been in ill health since that time. He was a member of Smiths Falls United Church and of the Brotherhood of Trainmen. He was unmarried.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. Wiliam Dunn (Ella), Kingston; Misses Maude and Pearl Johnston of Smiths Falls; two brothers, Fred of Havelock and Jack of Smiths Falls. Harry Hubble, Mrs. O. Parcels and Mrs W. Davis of Havelock, all cousins.

Advertising Men Elect Bill Garner

MONTREAL, Oct. 23—(CP).—Advertising managers of eastern Canadian newspapers ended a two-day meeting Friday and announced the formation of an organization to be known as the Newspaper Advertising Managers' Association of eastern Canada.

Announced objective of the new association is to increase efficiency of advertising departments.

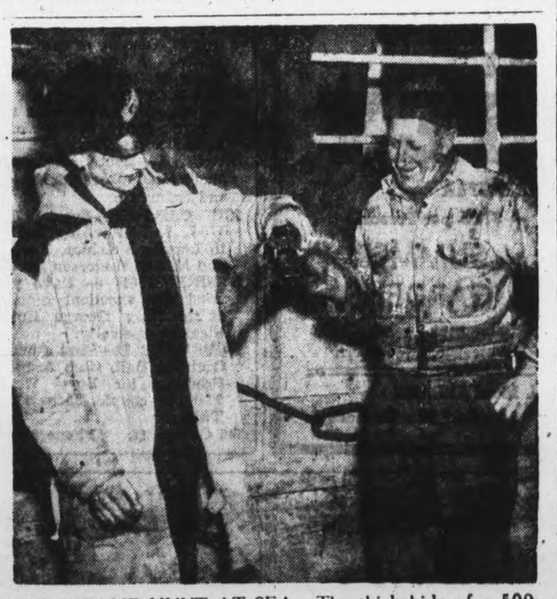
The following slate of officers was elected:

President, T. H. Johnstone, Ottawa Journal; First Vice-President, Martin Livingston, Halifax Herald and Halifax Mail; Second Vice-President, Wilfrid Staban, La Tribune, Sherbrooke, Que.

Directors: Paul Hogue, La Presse, Montreal; Ross Bates, St. Catharines Standard; St. Claire McCabe, Galt Reporter; Bruce Campbell, Montreal Star; J. C. Anderson, Kitchener Record.

Secretary - Treasurer: W. J. Garner, Peterborough Examiner.

Surveyor's Hopes Finally True



BRIDGE RIVER, BC, Oct. 23—The 36-year-old dream of a retired surveyor will come true today. Geoffrey M. Downton is going to push a klaxton button that will set the British Columbit Electric Company's new $22,000,000 Hydro-Electric plant in motion. The plant, which produces 62,000 horse-power, is very largely the result of Downton's dream.

Situated about 130 miles northeast of Vancouver, the unit is one of 10 which will eventually produce 620,000 horse-power for industry in the BC coastal area. It is part of a $50,000,000 expansion program designed to lure industry and business from the East.

The actual planning of the scheme is almost fantastic.

Mission Mountain divides the Bridge River, a relatively small body, from Seton Lake, the source of the power. To the casual eye the two appear to be on the same level.

Downton discovered there was in reality a drop of 1,200 feet from the lake to the river. He envisaged a decapitated mountain, allowing the lake's waters to roar down the drop, and a power plant at the head of the river. That was in 1912. Now the vision is complete.

BIG GAME HUNT AT SEA—The thick hide of a 500-pound Polar bear which terrorized the crew of the Norwegian freighter Topdalsfjord when it broke out of its cage in mid-Atlantic is proudly displayed by Third Officer Bjornulf Egelind (left) and ship's carpenter Halvard Nylind after their arrival in Montreal.

CONTAMINATED BY RADIOACTIVE energy as a result of participation in the Bikini atom bomb test, the U.S. navy destroyer Hughes is shown as it was in the process of being sunk 140 miles off the California coast. The ship is one of a lengthening list of naval vessels rendered unfit for human usage by after-effects of the atomic bomb. But before she sank to her watery grave, the Hughes acted as a target vessel for naval reserve airplane pilots who bombarded with rockets and set her afire in a simulated combat exercise. Picture shows splashes of projectiles hitting the destroyer and some that came close.

HARWOOD, Oct. 23—(ENS)—The elimination public speaking contest was held in Harwood school on Wednesday evening before a full audience.

There were 20 students in the contest. Judges were Mrs. A. Larke, Miss Harness and Miss Cornish.

Community singing took place while the judges were deciding the contest. Pauline Drope sang a solo and Helen Oakleaf played a piano solo. Audrey Stevenson and Carlene Wellwood sang a duet, with Miss Wright accompanying.

First prize was won by Helen Oakleaf, second by Pauline Drope, third by Carlene Wellwood and fourth by Audrey Stevenson. All were senior students of the school. Helen Oakleaf and Pauline Drope will represent Harwood school at Cold Springs tonight.

No More Power Cuts For Toronto People

TORONTO, Oct. 22 — (CP). — Chairman Robert H. Saunders of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission said today no further Hydro restrictions are contemplated for the Toronto area, thanks to "the wonderful co-operation" of Hydro consumers.

Hydro consumption in the Toronto area Thursday was 1.8 per cent more than the allotted quota.

At nine a.m. today the southern Ontario load was 1,000,000 kilowatts, compared with 1,395,000 at the same time Thursday.

Story Of Air Trip To India Told At Marmora

MARMORA, Oct. 23—(ENS)—Marmora Women's Institute entertained Marmora District Chamber of Commerce at the monthly diner meeting in St. Andrew's church hall on Thursday evening. It was the Chambers' first "ladies' night," and President Alex Fraser opened the meeting. About 100 persons attended.

Mr. Fraser thanked the Women's Institute for catering and pointed out that proceeds were being devoted to defray the cost of redecorating the town hall. He explained the objects of the chamber, declaring it was not a social club but a business organization concerned with the bettering of the district in business and welfare.

R. E. Bonter proposed the toast to 'The Ladies.' The reply was given by Mrs. James L. Shannon.

Bernard W. Hughes spoke of the loss the entertainment committee had sustained in the death a few months ago of Lt.-Col. A. V. Yates.

The speaker, Frank Murray, of the Belleville radio station, gave a talk on a trip to which, he as a flight lieutenant, made during the recent war. The aerial trip commenced at Oban in Scotland and finished at Kaarchi, while the rail journey in India took this officer to Bombay. The speaker mentioned the thrill of seeing Gibraltar on the first stop and referred to the rock being without a water supply other than that obtained from cachets or pools filled with rain. On the opposite side of the straits to this honeycombed citadel was a wonderful beach which he visited. Next seen by his crew were the sponge divers of Djerva, a small island off Java. In Morocco, they had their first sip of Moorish wine of sweet and exotic flavor. Then came a night trip over the district when they passed over places including Tobruk. The heavy wreckage of war was sighted at lawn. Later they struck the Nile delta. He mentioned that the demarcation between desert and delta was very strong. The deserts were found to be so hot by day and so cool by night. Transjordan and the Dead Sea were passed over and then Baghdad with its many minarets and domes and its evil smell was nevertheless found fascinating. Karachi is a city of strange contrasts. It has extreme poverty and also extreme wealth within its limites. It also has the largest airport in India. Mr. Murray having described the life of Indian servants, said it was hard for the outside world to do much for India because the people there were so independent. In turn, he then described the sacred cows, road vendors, snake charmers and beggars who chase you from pillar to post. He said that one has always to bargain before making a purchase. In spite of the strange smells and unsightly appearance of beggars, India holds a glamor for the visitor.

The rail trip to Bombay had interesting features for him. There is much confusion and bustle at an Indian railway station. The whole family comes to see a member depart by train. The first and second class coaches are comfortable and air conditioned. Not so the third class which are windowles and have hard seats. At the stops, vendors are there with strange drinks and weird sweet things. Bombay, he found, was the most fascinating cosmopolitan and wealthy city of India. Here were to be met the Parsees who control the industries and whose women are the most beautiful of the natives of India. The big hobby in Bombay seems to be kite flying and even old men carrying canes indulge in this pastime. Bombay, he discovered, is the only city where lepers can wander in the streets unhindered and unrestricted. He witnessed a presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's opera, "The Mikado" performed by a cast that was a mixture of Indian and white artists.

In his closing remarks he mentioned that the Indian is full of creative instinct and his religion overshadows all things.

A vote of thanks was accorded the speaker by H. A. McNally. J. F. Baker led in a short sing-song, with Mr. Alex Fraser at piano and then sang "Somewhere a Voice is Calling."

The adoption of minutes of the September meeting was the only business coming before the meeting. "O Canada" was sung at its close.

The exhibit showed original photographs and manufacturing processes used in printing the 1939 commemorative issue of the Royal Visit stamps.

Two-Piano Team On Air Sunday

Peterborough' first Two Piano team of Charles Allen and Gwen Craw will be heard in their third broadcast over radio station CHEX on Sunday at 5:30. Sponsored by The Examiner, Mr. Allen and Mrs. Craw are presenting programs of music appreciation. Their lead off number on Sunday's program, which will be broadcast from the studio of A. Comstock and Sons, will be "Sheep May Safely Graze" by Bach. This arangement has been made from a soprano aria taken from the "Birthday Cantata". The piece has a fresh pastoral character and the accompaniment is an example of Bach's surprising power of tone-painting. Mary Howe, an American composer, has transcribed it for two pianos.

Other numbers will be "On A Merry Folk Tune" by Albert Elkus; "Valse From Serenade For Strings" by Tschaikowsky; duet one piano four hands "Spanish Dance No. 2" by Moretz Moszkowski; "Night and Day" by Cole Porter and the final number will be "Waltzing Matilda" founded on and Australian tune by Thomas Wood.

Gets 7-Year Term

TORONTO, Oct. 23 — (CP) — Edwin Goodwin Friday was sentenced to seven years in penitentiary for attempted rape. He was convicted Oct. 20 of attacking Trixie Traxell, 26-year-old hospital technician, last July 9 in the lonely east-end Don Flats. Miss Traxell broke her leg when attempting to escape.

Gregory Peck One Film Actor Who Always Keeps A Level Head

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 23 (AP)—Gregory Peck, who seems to keep a level head despite his rocketing to stardom, tells how he does it.

Other new stars have soared as rapidly in recent years, but none has earned such a solid position in the movies. In fact, many of the stars who came up during the war years are now displaying the frailty of their popularity.

Not so Peck. The lanky La Jolla lad has his feet firmly fixed on Hollywood soil. And with good reason. He has enjoyed a succession of important pictures Not only that, he has borne his fame gracefully.

Peck is a source of constant amazement to the Hollywood press corps. Many stars pose as self-effacing, but his modesty doesn't seem to be phoney. He apparently refuses to believe he is as important as producers think he is. He is never too busy to do favors or grant interviews.

Naturally, tis phenomenon intrigued me. So I bearded him on the "Great Sinner" set, where he is already pretty well bearded for his role as Dostoevski. Here's his philosophy:

"If acting is an art, it is an art only as Laurence Olivier, Raimu, Ralph Richardson, Fredric March and those of similar calibre practice it. There are no pitfalls if you have a healthy respect for acting, if you keep in mind improving your work.

"If there are more pitfalls in the picture busines sthan on the stage or elsewhere, it is because of the abnormal spotlighting of personalities. If you realize the wordage turned out on you is no more than part of the business, it ceases to be a pitfall . . .

"Just keep your mind on your work and keep some of the real actors in mind and you haven't time for pitfalls."

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

History in the Old Testament — Scripture—I Kings 4:21-11:13 — By Alfred J. Buescher

Solomon succeeded his father, David, on Israel's throne. Two women came before him, each claiming to be the mother of a certain child. Wise Solomon offered to cut the babe in two and give each half, but when one protested she would rather give it up than see it killed, Solomon gave it to her.

King Solomon built the magnificent temple to the Lord in Jerusalem, the work taking seven years. Then he called all the people of Israel together, the Arc of the Covenant was carried into the holy place, and King Solomon, raising his hands to heaven, dedicated the temple with prayer.

King Solomon's riches and wisdom were known far and wide. The Queen of Sheba heard of them and came to Jerusalem to see if it was true what had been said. After talking to the king the queen departed to her home, convinced that all she had heard was true.

As Solomon grew older, his many wives from strange lands turned his heart away from Jehovah, and for them he built high places for heathen gods. The Lord told him that for this his punishment would be that the kingdom would be divided.

MEMORY VERSE: Psalm 33:12

Story of King Solomon Makes Fascinating Reading

Scripture—I Kings 4:21-11-13

The history of any people makes fascinating reading. In the past half century much history has been in the making, and many books have been written—and are still to be written—about this momentous period in the life of mankind in all parts of the globe.

It may be that two thousand years hence, people will be reading about the present times, the young will be studying about them in schools and colleges, and wondering how it must have been to live in these stirring times.

So we look back in our Bible to the history of the Jewish nation of nearly three thousand years ago, to see how things were with those ancients and get some idea of their way of life, and the government under which they lived.

The period which is assigned for today's lesson is of Israel in its golden era, when after the regimes of Kings Saul and David, Solomon, son of David and Bathsheba, came to the throne.

"And Solomons ruled over all the kingdoms from the river Euphrates unto the land of the Philistines, and unto the border of Egypt; they brought tribute, and served Solomon all the days of his life."

We are given an astounding account of the provisions needed for even one day in the life of Solomon's court, of his riches in horses, sheep and other livestock,

MEMORY VERSE

"Blessed is the nation whose God is Jehovah."—Psalm 33:12.

and we read that "he (the king had peace on all sides round about him. And Judah and Israel dwelt safely, every man under his vine and under his fig tree, from Dan even to Beersheba all the days of Solomon."

Besides the riches of the earth, God had given Solomon "wisdom and understanding exceeding much, and largeness of heart, even as the sand that is on the sea shore." And his wisdom and his wealth were known to the ends of the then known earth.

The story of Solomon's judgment concerning the two women who each claimed a baby as her own is well known, but always interesting. Two women had each given birth to a man child on the same day and in the same house. At midnight one woman's babe died, and when the other arose to feed her baby next morning, she found a dead child in her arms, and it was not hers. She claimed the mother of the dead child had taken her living babe, and put the dead infant into her arms, saying it was hers.

The two took the baby and their dispute to Solomon and told their stories, each claiming the living infant. Solomon listened, then sent for a sword, and when it was brought, he said, "Divide the living child in two, and give half to the one, and half to the other."

Then the real mother of the child told the king to give it to her rival. She would rather see it alive and well even if she had to give it up, than to have it slain. The other woman, however, said, "Let it be neither mine nor thine, but divide it."

"She is the mother; give her the child," Solomon said of the real mother, and all Israel heard the king's judgment and "feared the king."

The building of the great temple in Jerusalem, which David was not permitted to build, was a work of seven years. Hiram, king of Tyre, who had loved King David, helped with men and materials, and at last the gorgeous, costly temple was finished. The description of its building and the materials used makes most interesting reading.

At the last the Ark of the Covenant was brought in by the priests and carried into the holy place, and the glory of God created a cloud in the temple so dense that the priests could not see to minister. Then Solomon dedicated the building to the Lord God with a most beautiful prayer.

History tells us also of the visit to Solomon of the Queen of Sheba —whose name we do not know— to verify the things she had heard about Solomon, his power and wisdom. She went back to her own country convinced that all was true.

With all his wisdom, Solomon was not a perfect man. He married many women from strange lands, and they led him to a knowledge of their heathen gods and induced him to build high places for these gods. So the Lord came to him and told him that as a punishment the kingdom would be divided—but not until after his death, for the sake of his father, David.

The Universal King

A superscription (the King of the Jews) was written over Him in letters of Greek and Latin and Hebrew.—St. Luke 23:38. Jesus said: Saul of Tarsus is a chosen vessel unto Me. —Acts 9:15.

The private secretary of Pontius Pilate had a brain wave. He wrote "the crime charge" in the three important languages of that age. Multitudes of Jews flocked to the Passover from all parts of the Roman Empire; many of them could only speak Greek, others Latin and the minority Hebrew. Very probably Pilate nodded approval when he saw the superscription. But when St. Luke and St. John thought upon the superscription years later they saw the Hand of God in the writing on the Cross teaching its wider meaning that Jesus is the Universal King of the world.

HEBREW. The Language of the Old Testament. It was the vehicle to reveal the truth of the One living God. The Jews were privileged but the Truth took centuries to develop. "Here a little, there a little; line upon line; precept upon precept, according as the people were able to bear it." God's purpose was that the Jews should pass it on to the rest of the world. They refused.

GREEK. A language flexible and sensitive to the thoughts of man. It was to carry forth the new religion that Jesus Christ is the Son of God in a mysterious sense of the word and to be the Redeemer of all men. The Gospels and the Epistles were written in Greek to reveal for every age the deepest thoughts of God in the revelation of Himself in Jesus Christ our Lord.

LATIN. The language of the conqueror of that age. Its very words were strong an energetic and logical. It is the choice of authority and power. Its laws have left their mark on every age since; it is the voice of rule. The Roman officer defines it to the Lord Jesus: "I say unto this man, come, and he cometh; to that man, go, and he goeth."

In the fulness of time Saul of Tarsus met the Lord Christ, risen from the dead, at the gate of Damascus and surrenderd to Him completely. He is proud to call himself the slave of Jesus Christ. He is the man whose birth, training and education made him a chosen vessel of the Lord, fitted to carry the Message to all the world.

HE IS A HEBREW. He is proud to call himself "a hebrew of the Hebrews". From his childhood he spoke Hebrew. Though he lived in a pagan city when he entered his home he found it was a part of Jerusalem. He was being taught loyalty to his race. So you can understand his prayer that Israel might be saved.

He was a GREEK. Born in Tarsus, one of the great university cities of the Empire, he spoke Attic Greek, the speech of the cultured. This was why in Athens he was invited to speak on Mar's Hill to the scholars of that city.

He was a LATIN, a ROMAN Born a Roman Citizen he had many privileges. He had the right ot appeal unto Caesar. He was privileged to meet many of Caesar's household, men who recognized his strong personality and ability and later to stand before Caesar himself and proclaim that Jesus is the Universal King,

New Waiters Need Training Inspector Says

Sanitary Inspector R. M. MacPherson in his monthly report for September to Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, shows that a great deal of time was spent in inspecting restaurants to make Peterborough a high-standard city in which to eat; in all 32 visits were made. While the usual recommendations regarding Fall cleaning were made, Mr. MacPherson observed several new waiters, both men and women who lacked appreciation of their jobs as food handlers. He recommended again te need of a food handler's course similar to the one held last February through the Peterborough branch of the Health League of Canada. Arrangements are being made to hold another course in November.

In the inspection of housing where the installation of sanitary conveniences were necessary for a long time but where unusual difficulties existed, the sanitation department have been able to make a great deal of progress.

A considerable number of complaints in regard to industrial and household pests were answered. There were eight cases of rat infestation and others of roaches, bed bugs and mice. The inspector on a new compound used as a also conducted encouraging tests ratcide which promises to be the best agent so far for control and eradication.

Field Events Set For Tuesday

Those field events which were postponed because of rain at the Kiwanis Club's Little Olympic Games last Saturday, will be held on Tuesday ata 4.30 p.m.

Boys who did well on Saturday are advised to make a special effort to attend as a shield will be awarded for the highest total points in each class. And present standings may be changed in the concluding events on Tuesday.

Still to be run off are: boys under 12 years, standing broad jump; boys 12 and 13, running high jump and standing broad jump; boys 14 and over, running broad jump, standing broad jump and the eight-pound shotput.

The special committee headed by Harold Rehill and Al Clark expects to complete these events in about an hour. An entry of 275 grade school students was recorded on Saturday.

CLOSE PART OF BAY

Hon. Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests, announced today that Nottawasaga and Owen Sound Bays on Georgian Bay has been closed for all fishing both sport and commercial for the balance of the calendar year. This is a new step in fish management aimed at restoring the fish populatoin.

Kin's National President Presents Omemee Charter

Presentation of the charter of a brand-new Kinsmen Club was the feature of the Friday night proceedings of the District Council meeting of the Association of Kinsmen Clubs, District Eight, being held here this week-end. The Omemee Kinsmen, sponsored by the Peterborough Club, received their charter from the hands of Kin's National President Ed Freeland of Fort Erie. It was received by the Omemee Club's president.

The proceedings, at the Kawartha Club, took the form of a regular meeting of the Peterborough Club and there were more than 125 visiting and host members present. Peterborough President Stanley Gilmore was chairman. The stag banquet was followed by a social evening of entertainment for the out-of-town service clubbers with the city members as hosts.

Representatives are registered from all part of District Eight. Members are present from clubs Bobcaygeon, Bracebridge, Cobourg, Englhart, Huntsville, Iroquois Falls-Ansonville, Kapuskasing, Kirkland Lake, Lake Temiskaming, Lindsay, Matheson, North Bay, Omemee, Oshawa, Peterborough, Rouyn-Noranda, Sault Ste. Marie, Sudbury, Timmins, Toronto Downtown, Toronto North, Toronto East, Toronto West, Val d'Or, Whitby.

On Friday afternoon, following a luncheon at the Empress Hotel attended by more than 100 Kin and their wives, a business meeting was held at Kawartha Club. District Governor George Budreo of Cooksville, in opening remarks, explained the reasons for the council meeting.

National President Ed Freeland addressed the meeting on the policy of the Canada-wide organization for this year as formulated by the national executive and the annual national convention.

Useful talks on Kin Education and Kin Information and the national club magazine "Kin" were given by Douglas Cheeseborough and Phil Hollaway, both of Oshawa. Included was a demonstration on the suggested manner of conducting a club meeting.

Final full day of the meeting is today, which will include an official greeting of the city by Mayor Ovens; roll call of the clubs, and business reports. Finale will be the Governor's ball at the Kawartha Club tonight.

Louis Braille Group Hears Fine Address

About 40 members of the Louis Braille society attended the monthly meeting on Wednesday night at Dixon House to hear a short address by the Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon and to enjoy a social evening.

Dr. Gordon spoke on fellowship and stressed the necessity for it in the world today. A number of the members found the subject so interesting they discussed it informally after the meeting.

After the routine business, the society was entertained by some of its own talented members. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Farthing played classical and popular airs on the piano.

Later, Mrs. Farthing proved her versatility by tap and variety dancing. She was accompanied by 75-year-old Lawrence Lehey at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser joined in the festivities when they arrived later in the evening. Refreshments were served under the supervision of Mrs. Richard Whalon and Mrs. Floyd Curtis. President Thomas McQuade was in the chair.

RIGHT ON THE QUOTA

Peterborough's power metering Friday was exactly at the quota, 240,000 kwh. There won't be any threats of cut-off from Hydro if the city's use of electricty remains around that level. The appeal to the public still holds—please don't waste any power.

Girls At Knitters Plan To Strike

LINDSAY, Oct. 23. — According to Walter Miner, president of the Textile Workers' Union of America, CIO, at Knitters, Ltd., Logie St., Lindsay, 55 members will go on strike, the date to be set by a director of the union.

Mr. Miner said today: "Some time ago the company conciliator at a meeting of the conciliation board, agreed to a four-cent cost-of-living bonus. Since that time the company made a cut of four cents per hour and 13 cents per hour for piece work.

Rent Regulation Changes Said Inadequate

Every attitude from mild disappointment to emphatic disapproval has been expressed by local real estate men discussing Finance Minister Abbott's new rent control regulations.

Expressing the mild view was J. R. Sinclair, real estate salesman, who said "It is very little recompense for the poor landlord who has been holding the bag for some years now."

"Any government that dared to take rent controls off today would soon plunge us into chaos," said Mr. Sinclair. "When commercial ceilings came off the rents doubled and tripled, and the same thing would happen to domestic rents."

But he contended that the 10 per cent increase to landlords who did not take advantage of the possible 10 per cent increase in May, 1947, "doesn't mean very much. Some were expecting a 20 per cent increase," he said.

Mr. Sinclair pointed out that those landlords who took advantage of the May, 1947, offer were obliged to give their tenants a two-year lease, binding on the lanlord but not on the tenant. Now, he said, the Finance Minister has just removed the lease clause.

"Many landlords at the time wanted the increase, but didn't want to tie up their property," he said.

Coal Prices Up

And he was of the opinion that the five per cent increase to the landlord when he supplied the heating facilities was inadequate. "For example: Take a five-room apartment for which he receives $40 a month. He is allowed to add five per cent which comes to $24 a year. In the past three years the price of coal has gone up about $5 a ton. And if five tons of coal were burned that would be $25. He would be getting not quite the increased price of the coal."

In a flat denunciation of the new regulations proposed by the Minister of Finance, J. A. Gibbs, a Hunter St. realtor, said: "In a free country a man should have that which he owns. If a man owns a home he should have possession of it."

After discussing the merits of the provision whereby a landlord may give a tenant six months' notice of he had bought the place by Nov. 1, 1947 and agreed neither to sell nor rent before April 1, 1950, Mr. Gibbs said, "If a man owns the property he should be able to do what he likes with it and not be told what he has to do by dictators."

Mr. Gibbs claimed that "the increase is nothing" and added "all controls should be lifted in a free country."

He said that the only solution to the present problem was to abolish all rent controls. And he stated that there were about 1,000 rooms in Peterborough which would be, let to tenants if the ceiling on rents were lifted.

Commenting on Abbott's offer to vacate the rental field in favor of provincial governments after March 31, 1949, Mr. Gibbs described it as "playing politics" and said the federal government was trying to pass the buck because of an imminent election.

Referring to a recent meeting of real estate men from across the Dominion, held in Hamilton, he said that only Quebec remained in favor of rent controls and that was because the large majority of the families there were renters.

In a careful statement to the Examiner, William Tinker said:

"The new rental regulations are a natural step toward the total decontrol of housing, and as such are welcomed by all property owners. It seems only fair that people who purchased homes for their own use some years ago should now be allowed to occupy them."

He was of the opinion that the five per cent increase on heated apartments would also be a boon to the landlord as oil and coal have recently been boosted in price — in some cases, he said, more than 50 per cent within the past two years.

"The advance of five per cent in rentals cannot be described as erring on the side of generosity," he said.

One hopeful sign, he felt, was the fact that properties which in future became vacant would automatically be decontrolled.

"Personally I would not like to see complete decontrol until houses are much more plentiful than now," said Mr. Tinker. "And as far as Peterborough is concerned that will not be for a considerable time."

WINS DO WAWARD

Donald McGillis, owner of the McGillis Hotel, has been advised that his nephew, 14-year-old John Lowe of Montreal, has been given the Dow Award for bravery and also the newly-instituted Award for Bravery (Air Cadets). He saved the lives of seven people after their boat overturned in a squall at Lake Brome last June 30. An eighth person was drowned. The young hero is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Lowe, 7506 Champagneur Ave., Montreal. His mother is Mr. McGillis' sister.

PAY ALL PRIZES

Directors of Norwood Fair will pay all prize monies to the winning exhibitors, G. A. Brethen, president, told the Examiner today. "We are able to do this by the generous support of our many friends in the district, for which we are grateful." It is remembered that the fair day was spoiled by rain. Directors are confident they would have 15,000 to 20,000 people. They are keeping faith with the exhibitors who may have been wondering since Thanksgiving Day about the state of the fair's exchequer.

COMPETED AT GUELPH

None of the junior teams from this district was mentioned in the reports today of the winners at Guelph Friday of the intercounty judging competition. Peterborough sent two dairy cattle teams: Bill Brealey and Howard Clysdale of the Norwood calf club, and Leo Moloney and Alan Stewart of the Peterborough calf club. There were five teams from Durham. The only winning team from east of Toronto was the Brockville pair in the poultry section. The winners compete at the Royal Winter Fair for the national title. They will be Ontario's representatives.

BURNS LEAVES

Leaves being burned on the road at 468 Cambridge St. brought firemen to the scene to extinguish the blaze. Fire Chief George Smith commented that many people are still unaware of the fact that before they light a fire to burn leaves or rubbish they must first get the permission of the fire department.

HALLOWE'EN DECORATIONS

One of the never-failing signs of the change in seasons is the change in the window displays of downtown shops. Vacation themes have been packed away for another year and the Hallowe'en decorations, usually including the black witch on her broomstick, are now appearing in store windows.

3-LB. POTATO

Percy King of the post office showed the Examiner today a potato which he rated a whopper. It is a Green Mountain grown by Frank J. Leahy of the Warsaw Road, and it weighs 2 lbs. 15 oz. And Henry Blakely, the former potato king of Manvers, says the Green Mountain can still hold its own with any of these new varieties. Possibly that will end any potato competition in the Examiner window this season. Two bags planted got Mr. Leahy fifty.

Taggers Busy Seeking Funds For Civic Arena

Contributions — purely voluntary — to the Civic Arena Fund have been pouring into the George Street Headquarters during the past few days. No less than $600 has been contributed by public-spirited citizens wishing to help the children of Peterboro obtain a covered rink.

On Friday afternoon a cheque was received from the Peterborough Lumber Company for $150 as well as another from the Beaver Lumber Company for $125.

All day Friday people were dropping in to Headquarters and donating sums ranging from one to $25. Canvassers were also out in full force in the evening and many of them reported back with considerable amount from private individuals.

With the city still only partly covered during the past four days the Civic Arena Committee has wisely decided to carry the campaign over to next week. This will give all house-to-house and "special names" canvassers an opportunity to thoroughly comb the city for additional contributions to help swell the total to $20,000.

Early his morning Mrs. William Addyman of the Arena Committee and her organization of 100 taggers were out on the streets busily tagging for the campaign. By tonight it is expected that several hundred dollars from this source will be added to the general fund.

Any voluntary canvassers wishing to help the campaign next week are asked to contact Arena Headquarters at the old United Cigar Store on George Street, two doors from Charlotte. Additional help of any kind will be greatly appreciated.

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

HOUSE NO. 79 — Where else but on the Pacific Coast would you find this delightfully refreshing style of one-storey design? Yes, there's an air about it that shouts loud it's proud to have its foundations on British Columbia soil. As readily identified with west coast design as the popular Colonial home in Ontario, it brings a distinct style to Canadian home architecture. Perhaps the most noticeable feature is the large extent and unusual handling of windows . . . not only on the broad facade, but throughout the house. A study of the place shows a convenience in room arrangement difficult to criticize. Landscaping is particularly well handled, effectively combining with the end wall of rubble stone to provide pleasing relief to the unusually bold and uninterrupted roof line. For further information write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Care Taken In Choosing Fixtures For Bathroom

There was a time not so long ago when plumbing was taken for granted. The builder gave it only the most casual attention. "Put in a bathroom", he told the plumbing contractor, and that was that.

This of course, was "way back when" the bathroom was just a utility room and before artist-designers took the tub, lavatory, sink; closet and faucets in hand and gave them smart styling, colour, and eye appeal.

Different Today

To-day it's different. Fixtures are carefully chosen and everyone knows that the ratio of bathrooms to bedrooms has been stepped up in recent years. The bathrooms may, of course, be set back to back, effecting a substantial saving in supply and waste piping as well as labour.

The choice of the fixtures for the bathrooms and powder rooms is all important.

Here are a few points to be kept in mind in selecting plumbing fixtures:

1. Choose fixtures that are smart and distinctive. A few dollars more will give you a fixture that will be far superior in appearance.

2. Select well known branded fixtures in matched sets, that is, fixtures that harmonize in design as well as colour.

3. Devote particular attention to the selection of the lavatory. It should be the most beautiful fixture in the bathroom. Choose one of generous size. Keep in mind the fact that the lavatory will be used as a make-up table. See that it has generous space for bottles and toilet articles.

4. Go in for tubular lighting on each side of the medicine cabinet.

5. By all means have a good shower, either over the tub or in a separate waterproof compartment. Provide handsome shower curtains of oiled silk matching the drapes.

Use of Colors

Colour treatment in the powder room is essentially different from that for the bathroom. The bathroom, as a larger room, should be treated with more restraint than the powder room. It is a generally accepted rule among interior decorators that smaller rooms will "stand" stronger contrasts in colours. Hence such combinations as black fixtures with the walls in yellow, tan, or peach; blue fixtures with mottled blue or silver walls; red fixtures with ivory walls may be used in the powder room with stunning effect.

In the bathroom, on the other hand, the preference is for fixtures in the pastel shades—soft ivories and yellows, cool greens, tasteful blues and pinks. Such combinations as ivory fixtures with peach or apricot walls or tan fixtures with ivory walls are in good taste. Ivory, in particular, is an extremely versatile colour. Its prominence in interior decoration today is because of its adaptability and conservatism. It can be used successfully under various lighting conditions and in innumerable combinations with other colours.

The fundamental rule in the creation of a bathroom colour is to start with the fixtures. The colour of the fixtures is the basic or tonic colour for the room. Colors for the walls and floor, woodwork, shower curtains, drapes, and accessories should be selected with harmony or contrast to the fixtures in mind.

CCF And Social Credit Oppose Pearson In Algoma By-Election

MASSEY, Oct. 23 — (CP). — External Affairs Minister Pearson seeks a Commons seat Monday in the Federal by-election in Algoma East. He faces opposition from CCF and Social Credit candidates.

The Northern Ontario by-election is one of two due Monday—the other is in the Saskatchewan riding of Rosthern — and was brought about when Mr Pearson entered the Federal Cabinet on Sept. 10 as Secretary of State for External Affairs and Thomas Farquhar relinquished the Algoma East seat on his behalf. Mr. Farquhar was appointed to the Senate. z z z z z

The CCF candidate is Lorne Callahan, 47-year-old welding foreman and part-time farmer from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. Standard-bearer for the Social Credit Party is John J. Fitzgerald, 56, executive of a lumber company in Blind River and a former manager of the Montreal Merchants' Association. The Progressive Conservatives announced some time ago that they would not oppose Mr. Pearson.

Mr. Callahan, in his campaign, has contended that the Liberal Government took a high-handed action in appointing a man from outside Parliament to an important Cabinet post and then offering him to the electors as their representative. CCF speakers have coupled with this contention an attack on the Liberal administration over rises in the cost of living.

Neither Responsible.

Mr. Fitzgerald has held in his campaign that neither of the parties opposing Mr. Pearson were responsible for keeping the External Affairs Minister away from recent United Nations meetings and London conferences. He suggested that Mr. Pearson's campaign could have been left to Liberal stalwarts while the minister himself went abroad.

Mr. Pearson, energetitc, 51-year-old former Canadian ambassador to the United States, has called for electors' support on the grounds that the government had considered his experience and qualifications and selected him for the External Affairs Ministry. At the same time, he lashed out at what he described as the Socialistic policies of the parties opposing him.

Before moving to Northern Ontario, Mr. Callahan lived for 21 years in the Bruce Peninsula's Grey County and had a farm there. He now operates a farm on St. Joseph's Island, 30 miles southeast of Sault Ste. Marie, and for part of each year works as a welding foreman with the Abitibi Power and Paper Company in Sault Ste. Marie. He is married and has five children.

Full-Time Secretary

A native of Sherbrooke, Que., where he lived for 22 years, Mr. Fitzgerald was full time secretary of that city's Board of Trade at 21. Later he organized the Montreal Merchants' Association, now known as the Better Business Bureau, and served as its manager for seven years. After resigning from the Association, he spent four years in Montreal real estate; published a Montreal weekly newspaper, the Beacon, for a year; went to British Columbia for three years in the interests of the J. J. McFadden Lumber Company, and in 1937 moved to Blind River where he was appointed vice-president of J. J. McFadden Holdings Ltd.

Forde Has To Keep Silent But Hands, Eye Expressive

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 (CP).—The most expressive things in town this week are the big blue eyes of Francis Forde.

The second most expressive things are the small, active hands of the same man.

Mr. Forde is the Australian High Commissioner in Ottawa, a former army minister, deputy prime minister and, briefly, prime minister in the Labor Government. He was defeated in the last election and became a diplomat.

This week he has as his guest Robert Gordon Menzies, an old foe and an old friend, Liberal and Opposition leader, another former prime minister — and still a politician.

Sections of the Canadian capital have been treated to the strange and somewhat humorous spectacle of the two old political enemies going everywhere together, calling one another Bob and Frank, one of them doing all the public talking.

Mr. Menzies told reporters on arrival there was a general feeling that the Labor Government would be defeated next year. Mr. Forde looked down at his black and pointed shoes. His hands were behind his back.

Mr. Menzies told a press conference there had undoubtedly been a trend against the government in the last year. Mr. Forde looked far, far into the ceiling and his fingers playing among his fingers across his stomach.

Let Him Wonder

Mr. Menzies said there were indications Australians would back Socialists but not too much Socialism. Mr. Forde smiled a light, vague and wistful simle.

Mr. Menzies said he had not the slightest idea whether an Australian Liberal was like a Canadian Liberal and said he'd like to be told the difference between a Canadian Liberal and a Canadian Conservative. The Canadian reporters let him wonder.

Mr. Menzies wisecracked to the Canadian Club that he held a "humble but aspiring office." Mr. Forde's eyes chuckled and his hands drummed happily among the bread crumbs on the tablecloth.

Finally a reporter brought it right down to their linked pasts and Mr. Menzies laughed, "Oh yes, we've battled for years; I've gone into his riding and spoken against him more than once."

"Ever lick him?" someone asked.

Mr. Menzies twinkled at the muted, helpless envoy.

"Ultimately," he said.

Life Imprisonment

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Oct. 23 — (AP). — Pearl Silverman, 18, who said she beat her young brother to death with a hammer because her parents gave him "more love than I got," was sentenced to life imprisonment Friday. She was described as a psychotic by both the defence and the prosecution.

UN Hope For Peace

OTTAWA, Oct. 23 — (CP). — Acting Prime Minister Howe said Friday that the United Nations still "remains the centre of man's hopes and efforts for peace and justice." In a message issued in connection with the observance of United Nations Day on Sunday, Mr. Howe said the United Nations offers opportunities of international co-operation for peace and welfare.

Study Mobilization

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 — (AP). — Top figures in American industry conferred Friday with government officials in planning for mobilization of the total resources of the United States in the event of war. Arthur M. Hill, chairman of the National Security Resources Board, said other conferences are being arranged with leaders representing United States civic, labor, professional and other organizations.

Hospital Sweepstakes Draw Is Completed

DUBLIN, Oct. 23—(AP)—The Irish Hospital Sweepstakes draw on the 1948 Cambridgeshire was completed Friday with the drawing from a big steel drum of tickets winning cash prizes aggregating £39,973 ($159,292).

A draw was made of 50 tickets winning residual prizes of $1,435 each. Then there was a drawing of 440 tickets, each of which carries a prize of $200.

Less than 200 spectators were in the lottery room when the draw started and no excitement was evinced as during Thursday's draw for the big prizes.

Fire Destroys Boat

TOBERMORY, Ont., Oct. 23 — (CP). — The Wauseda III, a pleasure craft owned by Harold Berner of London, Ont., was destroyed by fire of unknown origin Thursday night at Rattlesnake Harbor on Fitzwilliam Island, it was learned Friday. Loss is estimated to be about $25,000.

CAPTAIN KOENE D. PARMENTIER, in command of the ill-fatted New York bound Royal Dutch Airlines plane, was one of the 37 passengers aboard who died when the plane crashed in flames near Prestwick, Scotland.

Year In Jail

MONTREAL, Oct. 23 — (CP). — Three Great Lakes seamen who pleaded guilty to boarding a ship moored in the Lachine Canal without legal authority were each sentenced Friday to a year in jail. The three were identified as Joe Crowe, Francis Gallant and Dalmire Nightingale. Two others, Kenneth Racky and Roy Sheard, who also pleaded guilty, will be sentenced Oct. 28.

Tortured By Parents

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23 — (AP) — An eight-year-old boy testified in court Friday that his father held him while his mother thrust his left hand over the open flames of a gas stove. Found guilty, the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kremer, were ordered to pay $200 fines each or spend 90 days in jail.

Union Severs IUMMS Ties

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Oct. 23.—(CP).— The Port Colborne Refinery Workers' Union Friday voted 624 to 57 to withdraw from the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (CIO) and seek affiliation with another union.

John Shedden, local president, said in a statement the vote showed the membership "no longer wish to remain affiliated with a union that is under suspension from the Canadian Congress of Labor and is dominated by an administration that follows the Communist party line."

The CCL suspended the Smelter Workers' Union earlier this year, announcing the reason was an attack on a CCL officer in the union's newspaper.

L. R. Carlin, Eastern Canada director of the Smelter Workers' Union, described the vote as illegal. No matter what the result, he said, the parent union was the official bargaining agent between the International Nickel Company, Ltd., and its employees in Port Colborne.

Hope To Fill Vacancy

QUEBEC, Oct. 23 — (CP). — Premier Duplessis said Friday it is hoped to fill the Quebec Legislature vacancy caused by the death of Mines Minister Jonathan Robinson before the next session due to open in January. Mr. Robinson, who sat in the House for Brome county, died suddenly in Montreal Oct. 11.

Liberal Caucus Held On Power

TORONTO, Oct. 23.—(CP). — Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, said Friday that a caucus of Liberal members of the new Legislature decided to urge that a legislative session be held soon to discuss the power shortage.

"The government is asking for increasing sacrifices and it should take them into its confidence by giving them full details," he added.

All but two Northern Ontario Liberal members—Charles Cox of Fort William and J. M. Newman of Rainy River—attended. Ross McEwing, Wellington North, was elected chairman.

Members organized committees to study each branch of government. Chairmen are: W. L. Houck, Hydro, Highways, Housing, Travel and Publicity; J. A. Brown, Waterloo North, Finance and Mines; Ross McEwing, Agriculture, Planning, Development and Conservation; Campbell Calder, London, Education, Legislation and Law Enforcement; H. J. Walker, Welland, Labor; Charles Cox, Lands and Forests; George Gordon, Brantford, Municipal Affairs and Don Baxter, Prince Edward-Lennox, Health and Welfare.

The committees will meet again in mid-November.

COUNT FELIX VON LUCKNER, famous commander of the German commerce raider "Seeadler" during the First World War, is shown aboard a Canadian National Railways train en route to New York. He arrived at Montreal aboard a Swedish cargo liner. He plans an extended visit to the United States but did not disclose its purpose.

CHARGED WITH STEALING "hundreds of thousands of dollars" worth of gems from several celebrities, George Feld, 38, hides his face as he sits in New York police headquarters beside desk covered with stolen jewels. Film star Gene Tierney and singer-actress Gertrude Niesen were alleged to have been two of the victims of Feld.

Mr. and Mrs. James Corkery Mark 70th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. James Corkery of Toronto are celebrating there today the 70th anniversary of their wedding. Mr. Corkery was born in Peterborough 95 years ago. He was a younger brother of the late John Corkery, for years postmaster in this city. On leaving school he was employed on the surveying staff of James Fitzgerald of Peterborough, Ontario land surveyor, father of the late James W. Fitzgerald, OLS.

The Fitzgerald home was on the north side of Park Hill Road, a spacious red brick house set in the pines on a broad property west of Benson Ave.

The original features of that estate have virtually vanished in all the realty changes which have extended through Geraldine and O'Carroll Avenues, streets unthought of in those old days of the Smithtown hill.

Mr. Corkery remained for some years with Mr. Fitzgerald in the course of his work of surveying for the government the districts of Muskoka and Parry Sound, then sparsely settled and remote. Following his surveying experiences, Mr. Corkery took up farming in the Parry Sound district. He acquired 200 acres of land, heavy with virgin timber, and gradually cleared 60 acres for tillage.

Mrs. Corkery, 88, whose maiden name was Mary Barrett, was born at Normandy in Grey county, and with her husband was a pioneer in their settlement of the Parry Sound country. They were married on Oct. 22, 1878. Mr. Corkery was in the Klondike in the Yukon territory when the gold rush to that part of the far north started about the turn of the century, and spent some years in gold mining. In 1904 Mr. and Mrs. Corkery with their family of five children moved to Toronto.

They are celebrating their wedding anniversary with high mass this morning at St. Francis Church, Toronto. With them will be their five children, Joseph and Thomas of Detroit, Mich.; James, Lawrence and Mrs. S. Smythe (Kathleen), of Toronto; also 11 grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Mrs. William O'Hagan of Detroit, who was her sister's bridesmaid on that happy occasion 70 years ago, will be present at the reception.

Pond On George St.

The boyhood home of Mr. Corkery was on the lot bounded by George, Perry and Rink Streets and Olive Ave., Lake St. was the south boundary of the town. The Jackson Park creek that empties into Little Lake at Townsend St. expanded south of that street into a wide pond in which bull rushes grew luxuriantly. It spread out close to Rink St., and made the round of a large part of that block to the present site of the Miller lacrosse bowl.

Sawdust from the Alfred McDonald lumber mill, which not so many years ago occupied the point that has been converted into a lakeside park, was dumped into the big frog pond that was known as Spaulding's Bay. As the circle of the bay receded before this enroachment, it was replaced with a piling ground for the lumber and slabs that were drawn across George St. from the mill.

The west side of the bay was used for years as a city dump, chiefly for ashes and factory waste. Barefoot boys gleaned scrap copper wire and brass sockets from the old lamp department of the Canadian General Electric Company, played hide and seek among the lumber piles and made thrilling leaps from their flat tops to the cushioned landing of the sawdust.

By that time George St. had become the main north and south thoroughfare. In Mr. Corkery's boyhood traffic to the south and east, such as it was, followed Aylmer St., skirting the bay. Those years were prior to the coming of the C.P.R. The municipality spent some money on the surfacing of Aylmer St., levelled and smoothed it so invitingly that betimes it was used for races, foot and horse, from Dalhousie St. or thereabouts, to the Lake St. boundary. And as a speedway it acquired the name —Rapid Road.

Mr. Corkery was born in 1853, and his older brother, John, in 1848.

Children's Theatre Project At London

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 23 — (CP). — This city is gaining something of a reputation for stage premieres, but it will offer something new on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 18, when the London Little Theatre will offer a children's bill with a cast of local juveniles.

It will be presented on the historic stage of the Grand Theatre which is owned by the L.L.T.

It is the first step toward a children's theatre which, it is hoped, will be organized on a membership basis like the Parent organization.

The project is in the hands of a committee under W. H. Hogg and Miss Edna Lancaster.

Plays for the premiere will be "The Frog Fairy" from the fairy tales of the brothers Grimm with Miss Lancaster directing and Bernice Harper as ballet mistress; and "legend" by Hilda Smith, which Mrs. Henry Schoenfeld will direct.

U.S. Plans To Finance Big Newsprint Deal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP). —The United States Economic Co-operation Administration on Friday announced it will finance a $4,000,000 British purchase of newsprint in Canada. The deal cover approximately 40,000 tons of newsprint. This tonnage is part of an already negotiated contract calling for Britain to buy 100,000 tons from Canada.

The order originally called for twice that tonnage, but was reduced because of the dollar shortage in the United Kingdom.

E. MILES FLYNN, internationally-known mining engineer of Galena Hill, Yukon Territory, is shown as he told a news conference in Washington that the U.S. critical shortage of base metals needed by industry could be eliminated by "tapping a great treasure chest" of such metals that lie beneath Canada, from Quebec to the Yukon. Flynn made his statement as the department of commerce experts met with base metal producers to discuss the depleted defence stockpile of critical metals.

Philip's Zest Undimmed Under More Formal Routine

LONDON, Oct. 22 — (CP). — The Duke of Edinburgh entered into a new phase of his life when he retired from the activ list of the Royal Navy and went on half-pay.

As Consort of the future Queen he has entered on a long series of official engagements that call for more observance of formalities than has been his custom. In other words, he can have his pint of beer, but not with the boys in the pub.

The fast, low-built sports car which flung him into a ditch during his engagement period has gone—lent to Lieut. Michael Parker, Equerry to the Royal couple. Prince Philip now uses a sedate stream-lined saloon driven by a chauffeur at calmer speeds.

But while he now is conforming to a more formal pattern, Philip still cannot be called sedate. Impatient of delay, he races along the quiet corridors of Buckingham Palace to the peril of old-fashioned retainers plodding slowly about their duties.

Soon ofter the delivery of his new car he dashed to Buckingham Palace from the Admiralty at lunch time and actually tested it out in the near-sacrosanct inner quadrangle where the King and Queen often take an after-dinner stroll.

Down at Windlesham Moore, where the Princess and the Duke have rented a country house, he rigged up a cricket net on the lawn recently and soon had Elizabeth's surprised chauffeur and her personal detective bowling to him.

In the grounds of Windsor Castle Philip turned out for the household cricket team, and proved a useful all-round—a forceful bat, keen in the field and a trier as a bowler. This winter he intends to play squash in town, and wants to take up hockey during week-ends.

When it became known Princess Elizabeth was expecting a baby, a well-meaning official proposed that Philip should remain on the active list of the Royal Navy with a sinecure appointment in London or Portsmouth which he could leave whenever he liked.

Philip turned down the proposal with an emphatic "No." He said he wanted his position made clear and unambiguous, even if it meant leaving the service for a while. As a result, he was put on the Navy's half-pay list.

So far, however, he has made no attempt to interfere with the official side of Princess Elizabeth's life. He wanted to take her to the Riviera for a holiday this year, but made no protest when overruled.

Bootlegging Drive

VANCOUVER, Oct. 23 — (CP) — A drive on bootleggers was planned by police today following evidence given in juvenile court of promiscuous teen-age liquor parties in a west end home. It was testified that certain bootleggers operating as taxi companies provided most of the liquor consumed.

SHOWN ABOVE is Prince Alfred Hohenlohe of Austria, who was one of the 38 killed in the KLM Airline crash near Prestwick, Scotland. He was en route to Toledo, Ohio, to attend the wedding of a step-daughter, Sylvia Southard, 22, who will be married to John Tiedtke, Toledo business man, on Saturday, Oct. 30. Prince Alfred's wife, widow of James W. Southard of Toledo, is now visiting in Toledo.

Investigate Death

CHATHAM, Oct. 23 — (CP). — Provincial Police today were continuing investigation into the death of Frank Raes of R.R. 2 Comber who had been dead about three days when his body was found in a house Friday. Police said he had been living with a brother, Louis, termed a recluse who failed to report the death.

The tea was served by Miss Dorothy Carpenter, Mrs. W King, Mrs. C. Gertley, Mrs. J. McNeil and Mrs. J. McCallum. Misses Ruth Barrie and Irene Chapman displayed the bride's trousseau.

Helen Burke in Blush Satin Bride of Irvin Albertson

In St. Peter's Cathedral this morning the marriage was solemnized by the Rev. P. P. Butler of Mary Helen Isabel Burke and Irvin Joseph Albertson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jatrick James Burke of Peterborough, and the groom a son of Mr. Irvin W. Albertson and the late Mrs. Albertson of Kingston.

During the nuptial mass Mr. A. DeNoble sang Cesar Frank's "Panis Angelicus" and Rosewig's "Ave Maria.' The wedding music was played by Miss Doris Strickland. Bouquets of bronze 'mums were on the altar table and banking of fern on either side.

The bride's period wedding gown of blush ivory satin was fashioned with nylon net yoke inset in the fitted bodice and a bustle effect on the graceful skirt. Her full-length veil of ivory tulle illusion fell from a poke bonnet of matching net, and she was carrying a cascade of white roses and 'mums. Mr. Burke gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Maurice Maloney of Kingston as maid of honor and Miss Mary Dunlay of Hasting as bridesmaiad were in matching bouffant frocks of frosted moire taffeta in apple green and mauve. They wore poke bonnets in matching material and carried muffs of bronze and yellow poms.

Mr. Joseph Clesse of Kingston was groomsman for his brother-in-law. The ushers were John Burke, cousin of the bride, and James Ashie.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Burke chose a gown of crushed grape with matching feather hat and wore a corsage of Johanna Hill roses. She received the guests after the ceremony in the Green Room of the YWCA, assisted by the groom's aunt, Mrs. J. F. Grant, who was attired in a brown ensemble and wore Briarcliffe roses at her shoulder.

For her wedding trip to Northern Ontario the bride wore a suit of grey gabardine with hat and accessories in loganberry shade, and her topcoat was of navy gabardine.

Parents Need Re-education Speaker Says

"The Home and School movement in Ontario began 32 years ago and now coming into maturity it brings a new point of view to the teachers and parents who meet through it to study the needs of children. It is fully realized by Association members that new equipment and new methods are needed in schools to keep children in pace with a world of atom bombs, jet planes, television, etc." So Mrs. J. O. Arrowsmith of Toronto, Provincial president of the Federation, opened her address to the regional conference Friday afternoon.

It was learned by instruetors during the war that youths who made a poor showing in school could become brilliant students under the methods employed and win recognition as leaders. Therefore it is felt there must be a change in the curriculum of secondary schools. "It is up to members of local associations to "catch the vision" and see what can be done in their schools" the speaker said.

"At one time there was training for all jobs except that of being a parent," but this has not been true for the past 20 years. Now, if a parent is interested, he or she can obtain help from many sources. The parent who is apathetic to responsibility to attend a course so he may understand something of the world in wnich his child will live. It should become a routine that when the child enters kindergarten, the parent goes to school," suggested Mrs. Arrowsmith. "Many parents are immature and unable to make the adjustments for better living their child needs. They need to be informed on how to be good citizens of a democracy. Through radio, television and visual aid they can be re-educated and keep pace with the children, and they will become prepared to accept the responsibility of parents."

Educationists are now placing a new emphasis on the home and spiritual teaching. Parents are being urged to take up home and school work so they can be guided in their duty. They can only lead the child to a certain point, however, — it is he who will inhabit the world of tomorrow—so that they must see that his adjustment in youth is as complete as possible. "Few of us are yet adjusted to the speed at which pointed out.

"A better nation in a better we live today," Mrs. Arrowsmith world is the aim of the Home and School in action," she said in conclusion.

Home Education Imperative Delegates Told

"Home education" as defined by Mrs. D. F. Downey, Toronto, convener for Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations, "is the study of human needs, physical, mental, emotional and social, so that problems of the home, school and community may be effectively dealt with." Addressing the regional conference in St. James United Church Friday afternoon, the speaker said that the real purpose of this branch is often misunderstood, many people believing it to cover ways of decorating the home. "The main thing in life is to be happy" she said "and home education is a study of ways and means of helping to be happy."

"We all know we cannot depend on experience for progress and science now depends on tested knowledge. What has been successfully applied in science and medicine can and must be applied in human relations."

To institute home education study, each association must have a convener who will be a leader in finding the way, not necessarily an example. She should be chosen for her enthusiasm and sense of responsibility and she should feel honored. General meetings can be held with home education as the topic, and the speaker urged a study group be started in every association. Specially prepared material is available for these groups compiled by experts, it is easily followed, covers all phases of the subject, and a list of questions included with each pamphlet provides material for discussions. The speaker also suggested encouraging subscription to the magazines which give monthly articles on this subject.

150 Delegates Attend H&S Conference

Regional Conference of Home and School Associations in District Ten, held Friday afternoon and evening in St. James United church, was opened by Mrs. A. W. Nelson, president of the Home and School Council of Peterborough. Mrs. R. Parnall led in devotions.

Roll call revealed 150 delegates in attendance from Bridgenorth, Hastings, Havelock, Lakefield, Lindsay, Marmora, public and separate schools, Omemee, Wilberforce and from 14 Associations in the city.

Before introducing the guest speaker, Mrs. E. Chambers of Peterborough, district chairman of the Ontario Federation, addressed the members. "Membership in Home and School develops the parents' knowledge of their children's needs. Through study groups they can become better parents," she said. "The true meaning of mental and moral discipline is learned and the basis for becoming the type of parents the world needs." Only through education in the heart of every person can we bring about world peace."

Mrs. O. Laderach, convener of publications, reviewed the books and pamphlets that were on display, and for sale at costs ranging from one cent to two dollars. "There is no need for a convener to wonder what her duties are when she has so many booklets to help her," she said.

Announcement was made of "United Nations Day" which has been officially set as October 24. "Education Week" will be November 14 to 20, and all members were asked to arrange a special church service for the opening day. In Peterborough it will be held at All Saints' Anglican church in the evening, with Home and School members attending in a body. An invitation has been extended by the University Women's Club for members to attend a lecture on "Child Psychology" by Dr. Hawk at the public library on Saturday, November 6.

A period was set aside for group conferences and general discussion of problems. They were led by the following: presidents' conference, Mrs. J. O. Arrowsmith; conveners', Mrs. E. Chambers; teen-age discipline, Mrs. W. G. Scott; hospitality, Mrs. A. W. Nelson; duties of grade parents Mrs. W. Beggs.

During the dinner hour, the Rev. F. W. Craik extended greetings from the church and a welcome to all. Mrs. F. W. E. Harris extended greetings from the Board of Education, and Mr Frank Dorris from the Separate School Board.

A vote of thanks to the Home and School Council, to the minister and Board of Governors of St. James church and to Mrs G. Harris and members of the Women's Auxiliary who served dinner, was moved by Mrs. L. M. Richardson.

A hearty sing song was led by Mr. J. Telford with Mrs. W. R. Philp, pianist for the conference, accompanying.

Dane Suggests Recreation For Older People

An exceedingly varied program of recreational activities that will appeal to persons past middle age was suggested by Mr. Jane Dane, addressing the Soroptimist Club Friday evening. Endless possibilities for expansion of the present Golden Mile Club, which has been organized by the service club during the past year, were cited by Peterborough's recreational director. "Recreation for the aged is a community job" he said. "It is not enough to reach some of the older folk. The goal is to reach all of them."

Mr. Dane suggested that more organizations co-operate in exploring the whole need and meeting it completely, activities similar to those now being held each week in the YWCA can be held in space easily accessible to the various natural neighborhoods of this city. Eventually there might be a permanent centre set up with a highly varied program where men and women would spend most of their waking hours. He recommended that ground floor rooms be used with kitchen facilities handy because eating together is the best aid to enjoyment. The program might take the form of any adult group, except that it not be strenuous. Some of the many suggestions were art, chess, china painting, concerts, crafts, dramatics, dressmaking, discussion groups, lectures, millinery, whittling, parties, playreading, public speaking, quilting, stamp collecting, weaving and woodcarving.

Not forgetting the personal touch in such a program, Mr. Dane suggested sending birthday cards at the proper time to all members and keeping in touch with anyone who does not appear when expected.

"It is possible that such a group would do some kind of community service" the speaker said and suggested leadership of younger groups, baby sitting, making games and the like for veterans hospitals and writing letters for and to disabled veterans, toys and doll clothes for needy children as some ways in which older people may give to the community.

ST. JOHN'S AYPA

At a business meeting of members of St. John's AYPA held in the parish hall this week, the following officers were elected: President, Miss Cecelia Record; vice president, Frank Wilkinson; secretary, Miss Ruth Floyd; treasurer, Donald Ferguson; program convener, John Gerrow; lunch convener, Miss Grace Record; AYPA magazine convener, Philip Webster; press correspondent, Miss Pat Wilkinson. Meetings will be held each Wednesday evening.

Best Teachers Make Use Visual Aid in Classroom

"Efficient use of audio-visual aids in the classroom is the most vital point in education today" Mr. C. E. Wilkinson told delegates and members attending the regional conference of Home and School Associations in District No. 10 Friday evening. "The use of visual aid in teaching is as old as man himself," the speaker continued, and pointed out primitive man with his drawings and gestures, and Jesus, the greatest teacher, who continually uses parables and refers to familiar objects.

The best eachers today make use of all visual aids available, slides, films, movies and flat pictures for projection. These are prepared by experts who probably spend a year on compiling the pictures and information, which can hardly be compared with the time a teacher may devote to preparing a lesson. In addition, it is found that beams of light in a darkened room cause full attention to be focused on the screen. The teacher also stated that during such periods misconduct is eliminated from the classroom.

Phsychologists have proven that 85 per cent of knowledge comes by way of the eye and most of the rest by ear. Naval school authorities have reported that facts are remembered up to 55 per cent longer and that students learn 35 per cent more when audio-visual systems are used. In the schools, it is found that the attitude is improved, it heightens the ability to think, new and voluntary reading is greatly increased, and it is found the pupils flock to the school library afterward to find out more about the pictures they have seen.

"These fact bring us to the conclusion audio-visual education is so valuable educators cannot afford to delay putting it into use," Mr. Wilkinson said. "Peterborough is just a perfect size for setting up such system effectively" he continued and listed the main requirements for doing so and its probable cost. "Many boards in this country are denying children the best in education to have a few paltry dollars." We continually waste money on other things, but we deny our children."

For effective use of audio-visual aids there must be a completely dark classroom. In an elementary school about 20 films per grade are needed and these cost $50 each. Mr. Wilkinson advised procuring the best director available to instruct the teachers. To illustrate his points the speaker asked a number of questions regarding two wellbirds, the bob-o-link and the blue-jay. No member of the audience felt qualified to answer all of them, so an 11-minute film was shown, after which almost all would have answered several dozen questions correctly. Other types of audio-visual education were also demonstrated on the screen with Mr. Quirt McKinney and Mr. Chas. McBride operating the projectors.

The speaker, who is on the staff of Whitney School, Toronto, was introduced by Mr. Quirt McKinney.

Barbara Pollard, T. McNeif Honeymoon in New York

Pink and white 'mums decorated St. Luke's Anglican Church today, setting for the wedding of Barbara Elizabeth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pollard of Peterborough, to Thomas M. McNeil, son of Mr. A. McNeil and the late Mrs. McNeil of Norwood. Their vows were pledged before the Rev. W. J. Gilling.

Before the bride entered the church Mrs. A. Spencely sang "The Lord's Prayer" and during the signing of the register she sang "O Perfect Love." The Rev. A. F. Dowdall played the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was in a beautiful gown of white slipper satin with long train. The tiny waisted basque bodice had a high neckline and long sleeves. Circular ruffles accented the rounded hipline and gave a peplum effect on the full skirt. Her circular veil of tulle illusion fell to finger-tip length from a Juliet cap of white feathers, and she carried a cascade of American Beauty roses with white 'mums.

As bridal attendant Miss Irene Chapman, wore a frock of mauve taffeta, styled with sweetheart neckline, puff sleeves and full skirt with bustle back. Miss Ruth Barrie was in turquoise corded silk, fastened at the front with tiny covered buttons, and styled with cap sleeves and bouffant skirt. Miss Joan MacCallum, flower girl, was in pink taffeta with basque bodice buttoned down the back, and dainty ruffles edging the high neckline and ruffle dcap sleeves. The billowing dirdnl skirt was highlighted with a blue velvet ash. All wore bonnets to match their gowns and mittens and they carried Colonial bouquets of yellow 'mums, pink roses, and for the flower girl a small nosegay of blue 'mums and pink roses.

The groom was attended by his brother Mr. David McNeil. Ushers were Wilford Buck and James McNeil, brother of the groom.

At the reception following in Hooper's Palm Rooms, Mrs. Pollard, the bride's mother, received her guests, gowned in heaven blue crepe with accessories in burgundy shade and wearing a corsage of American Beauty roses. Mrs. Rogers of Norwood who received for the groom, was in a black and white ensemble and wore deep red rose corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. McNeil will spend their honeymoon in New York city and return to their new home on River Road S., Peterborough. When going-away the bride was wearing a turquoise crepe dress, a black topcoat trimmed with chinchilla, and black accessories.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Experts in Other Fields But Neglect Homemaking

One of the strange things about women is that, although they all desire and expect to marry, have children and make homes and, although most of them realize this ambition, few of them think it worth while to prepare themselves for the life work they plan to undertake. They don't look upon domesticity as a career for which they have to fit themselves. They wouldn't dream of taking up any other occupation without being trained for it, but thy think that running a family is a sort of jackleg trade that any dumb girl can pull off without any previous knowledge or experience.

Dorothy Dix

This simple fact, that we ignore so completely, goes a long way towards solving many of the problems over which scientists and social economists and moralists puzzle their heads in vain. For it is at the bottom of the restlessness and discontent of women, of family fights, of juvenile delinquency, of divorce, and of the failure of so many men of ability to succeed.

Fail to Prepare

This is a sweeping indictment to bring against women for their failure to prepare themselves for marriage, but it is a just one. For that women are not lacking in brains, or industry, or any of the quality themselves, is abundantly proved by the number who hold down key positions with big firms, and who have achieved fortunes for themselves as lawyers, or doctors, or merchants, or what not.

Women know that they must be experts elsewhere to succeed, but they feel that they can bungle the wife and mother career as much as they like, and still get away with it. So we have multitude of women who loaf on the job. All of us know dozens of women who never learn how to cook and who feed their families on poisonous food. We know other dozens of women who keep their husbands' noses to the grindstone with their extravagance, and other dozens who are querulous and complaining to the men who support them.

That the failure of women to be good wives causes more divorces than all the sirens, is a matter of common knowledge. The ancient wheeze about the bride's soggy pies and burnt roasts isn't funny. It is stark tragedy. Men marry to get comfortable homes, as well as for love, and when the bridegroom discovers that Angel Face doesn't know anything more about how to run a gas range than she does about how to manipulate a Flying Fortress, the honeymoon sets.

And no one can doubt for an instant that is is the delinquent mothers who are responsible for the delinquent children. It is the mothers who complain about being tied down by their babies; who never have time to talk with their children or play with them; who are never at home when their children come from school; who park their children with their neighbors while they go off to amuse themselves; who do not make their homes places of good cheer and good comradeship, who bring up the youngsters who fill the police courts and the jails.

Being a wife and mother is the most complicated job on earth. What a pity that women don't oftener think it is worth while preparing themselves for it!

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, October 24

Sunday's horoscope is a rather discouraging one excepting for the quiet pursuit of Sabbath vocation or avocations. Visiting, study, cultural pastime of spiritual aspirations are in order. Health and home affairs may be considered. Serious matters are best postponed as the mentality is confused or befuddled, and the emotions and feelings leans toward the subtle or erratic, with deceit and craft ideas or urges creating regretful mistakes and complications.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is should plan in a framework of unimportant affairs, since the judgment is definitely under a cloud, inciting to mistakes, false moves and a state of mind and emotions that could culminate in trouble of a sinister and unworthy character. Postpone all serious activities and seek relaxation, health and social uplift on a foundation of truth and sound principle. Beware of all snares, traps and schemes in business contacts.

A child born on this day should be early trained and disciplined on a course of integrity, honor and high principle, its trend being toward the "easiest way."

For Monday, October 25

The astrological forecast is for a static or difficult state of affairs, with much opposition or lack of support from those sources from which capital, influence and hearty approval is essential in putting over new and important projects. Practical and constructive ideas and well worked-out plans and processes may break down such resistance, winning over the opposition. Sound sense and good nature help.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have a period ahead in which a policy of "going it alone" might conserve the energies and mollify the temper, since there is little to be expected in the way of cooperation from influential sources. Conflict and opposition may arise from such, making sound preparation on practical lines, well executed and put over with force, initiative and strenuous determination, to win out. This aggressive attack and good nature might eventually break the ice and impress opposing forces. Hard work, creative and concentrated efforts could have surprising influence.

A child born on this day possesses initiative, practical creative talents and energies for a successful career, winning its way with scant assistance from high places.

Deanery Meeting Reports Given

MILLBROOK, Oct. 23—(ENS)—Reports from the recent WA deanery meeting at Cannington featured the October meeting of the WA of St. Thomas' Anglican Church on Monday at the home of Mrs. C. M. Westmacott. Mrs. A. E. Chevis, president, led the opening worship, assisted by Miss M. L. Collins. Those who brought Cooke, who presided at Canning-reports were Mrs. W. E. Massey-ton, and Mrs. Chevis. Mrs. Hamilton of Bethany was elected the new deanery officer.

Two members, Mrs. J. E. Allen and Mrs. H. M. Trick, were welcomed to the meeting after an extended absence because of illness.

Report was made that the deanery meeting will be at Millbrook next year.

The box for voluntary offerings, taking the place of the usual fall silver tea, was on the table. Mite boxes will be brought in at the November meeting, when the new study book will be introduced.

Hostesses for the supper hour were Mrs. Westmacott and Miss Rose Macnamara.

Wavell Backs Aeneas' Stand 2,000 Years Ago

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, Oct. 23 (CP). — Aeneas, for 2,000 years thought a poor type because he obeyed the high command left poor, enamored Dido to commit suicide in grief, at last has found a defender.

Field Marshal Lord Wavell, former Viceroy of India, soldier and poet, as President of the Virgil Society has come to the rescue.

He has presented Virgil's hero from the military point of view in one of the raciest translations the Aeneid—allegedly familiar to high school and college classicists—has received.

If Dido plunged a dagger in her bosom and threw herself into her funeral pyre because unable to persuade Aeneas to drop his military career, marry and settle down she was, said Lord Wavell in an address to the society, just more demonstrative than most soldiers' luckless sweethearts.

Certainly it took orders from the highest level — the War Cabinet" on Mount Olympus — to get Aeneas to leave Carthage and Dido. (The Field Marshal noted, too, the feature unusual in modern conflict of the same War Cabinet commanding the opposing armies!).

"Victorian moral standards certainly can't be applied to happenings of 2,000 years ago," he said, concluding that the "Dido business" had been over-emphasized against the hero.

Aeneas was patterned after Caesar.

As a general, said Lord Wavell, Aeneas was effective in pedestrian, but lacking in imagination. Otherwise he never would have been taken in by the Trojan horse — the Wavell translation of "Timeo Danaos et Dona Ferentes" was "Always look a gift horse in the tummy".

And as for the line congratulating Ascanius on scoring his bull's-eye on the boasting Numanus—"Macte novavirtute puer, sic itur ad astra"—Lord Wavell renders them, "Attaboy, you for the next Olympic Games."

Commenting on Lord Wavell's reading, The Times editorialized: "When he (Lord Wavell) stood at the end of the day, master of all positions, Virgil had been liberated from the army of commentators and grammarians so long in occupation of the Aeneid and had emerged as the divine poet seen through the eyes of the soldier."

ANTHROPOLOGY STUDENTS from University of Toronto started a three-day "dig" just north of Weston at Black Creek Friday, unearthing remnants from a prehistoric Iroquois Indian village. Though task was no picnic, one thoughtful student, Al Chaplin, Meds student from Toronto, brought along a portable radio to help while away the time in the open-air classroom. His fellow-digger, Patricia Orange, Pass Arts, from Welland, obviously enjoys the music and her work.

Foresees Battle Of Century Over Steel Industry Nationalization

By MICHAEL O'MARA.

LONDON, Oct. 23 (CP). — The shadow of nationalization is lengthening over Britain's privately-owned steel industry and government planners and industrial chieftains are choosing sides for the battle of the century.

Skirminishing has started. Walk down a main street in many a British town and you'll see billboards carrying slogans like this: "Steel is monopoly capital at its worst" and "Steel—a potential tool of Fascism."

Other boards shout back: "Steel needs private initiative" and steel is turning out the goods."

It's not just the British Iron and Steel Federation that's defending the industry as presently constituted. Other big industrialists who fear eventual nationalization —notably several major brewers —are also advertising "ag'in the Government."

A sidelight is that breweries ship stronger ale into the Teesside steel area than into other parts of the country. Object is to help workers with their present output drive.

The major battle will likely be joined in the next session of parliament. The Labor Government is on record that it will nationalize iron and steel before it goes to the country in 1950.

Battle-Line

Here's how the battle-line shapes:

On the one side will be most members of the Government and most rank-and-file Labor supporters. On the other will be the Conservatives, a handful of Labor men who have split with their party on the issue and the powerful lobby organizations of big British business.

Should the bill pass, it is likely the House of Lords, dominated by a big Conservative majority, will throw it back to the Commons. This may widen the present rift between Upper and Lower Houses. There's no predicting where or how the fight will end.

Planners who favor nationalization (such as Ian Mikardo, Labor Member of Commons from Reading, writing recently in the Leftist weekly, Tribune) argue their case this way:

1. The industry represents a growing concentration of power in the hands of individuals, sufficient to endanger the workings of a "Socialistic Commonwealth."

2. Present iron and steel masters have failed miserably in the past to run the industry at maximum efficiency and show no signs of doing better over a long term in the future.

This sort of suggestion has steel men hitting back hard. The present growing integration of the industry, they say, is ample safeguard that there will be no return to the bad old days when 34-40 per cen of the workers were regularly unemployed.

And look at steel's mounting output, compared, say, to that of the national coal mines. Steel is going up; coal is holding its own, if that. What sort of argument is that for bureaucratic control?

Camp Kawartha During Season Served 149 Boys

This past summer 149 boys—86 of them from Peterborough—attended Camp Kawartha on Clear Lake, which is operated by the Y's Men's Club.

In a report to the Y's Men's Club on Thursday night, Don Duncan, Camp director, told of the year's activities. About 55 boys were accommodated each week and the average stay was 2¼ weeks.

Also staying at Camp Kawartha were 19 boys from the Children's Aid Society, four from the Port Hope Children's Aid and 14 from the United Church of Lindsay.

The program stressed group work. Archery, whittling, leather work, art and woodcraft were used to supplement the physical activities. The new playing field was found to be handy for both organized sports and other unscheduled games.

The regular balanced program was supplemented by special outings which included three visits to Camp Inglestane and one to the campers at Young's Point. Boat trips were taken to the Kawartha Beach for swimming lessons and tuck.

Altogether, 61 boys registered as non-swimmers and 43 were successful in receiving beginners' cards. The remainder could float or swim a few strokes. Standard YMCA lifesaving cards were issued: 117 received the first cards, 58 the second, 17 the third, 12 in the fourth and 6 the final card.

Mr. Duncan commended the camp committee under the chairmanship of Allan (Bun) Henry for the efficient way the boys' camp was run. The Rotary club's camp chairman, Jack Gillespie, also received praise for his help.

The Clear Lake Camp is managed and maintained by the Y's Men's Club which looks upon this boys' work as their chief community project. The Rotary club lends financial assistance.

Ontario Tobacco Crop $39,000,000

SIMCOE, Oct. 223.—(CP). — Ontario growers of flue-cured tobacco stand to gain more than $39,000,000 from this year's crop, estimated at 96,00,000 pounds.

A price of 41¼ cents was set Friday as the minimum average by a market appraisal committee of the Ontario Flue Cured Tobacco Marketing Association which met Friday in this community in the heart of southwestern Ontario's rich tobacco-growing district.

The price is 4¾ cents a pound higher than the minimum average rate set last year.

NO DECISION ON RENTS

REGINA— Saskatchewan Government will make no decision on rent control until the Provincial Cabinet is able to consider definite advice from Ottawa, Saskatchewan's Attorney-General J. W. Corman said.

Rent Control Offer Studied

TORONTO, Oct. 23 — (CP)— Premier Kennedy said Friday night that his cabinet will consider "as soon as possible" Finance Minister Abbott's announcement that any province could—after next March 21—take over or abolish rent controls.

"This will have to be thoroughly studied before any comment can be made," he said.

Both property owners and labor leaders protested the federal government's decision to permit certain rent increases next spring.

J. Ernest McMillan, vice president of the Ontario Property Owners' Association, said the new order was "most Innocuous." He said the increases being allowed were not even "a small drop in a large bucket" compared to the increased costs borne by property owners.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

COMMON SENSE USED

ONE PLAYER, praising the new laws that went into force on October 1, said they constitute merely a summary of what constitutes the common-sense way of treating each irregularity that may develop during a game. An example is the way of treating a defective trick, to which one player has played too many cards or has omitted playing to it. If attention is called to the lapse before a player of each side has played to the next trick, the error must be rectified; a card withdrawn from such a trick, if from a defender's unfaced hand, becomes a penalty card.

After each side has played to the next trick, a defective trick stands and a hand with too few cards merely does not play to the last trick or tricks and, if it wins a trick with its last card the lead passes to the player at his left; a hand with too many cards forthwith faces and adds to the defective trick, but without changing its ownership, a card it could properly have played to it.

A trick appropriated by the wrong side must be restored on demand and its scoring value credited to the correct side.

Failure to comply with a lead or play penalty when able to requires the offender to correct his error if aware of it before his side plays another card; if the wrong card was from a defender's unfaced hand, it becomes a penalty card, and a card played from the hand to the offender's left may be withdrawn if played after the error but before attention was drawn to it; if failure to comply is pointed out after the offending side has played another card, the incorrect card may not be withdrawn, but after play ceases tricks are transferred as though the offense were an established revoke.

Whenever the declarer intentionally exposes his hand, claims or concedes any tricks or suggests curtailment of play, it is deemed a claim by him; play should cease, he should place his hand face-up on the table and immediately make an adequate statement of his intended line of play; any time thereafter a defender may face his hand and suggest a play to his partner; declarer may not enforce a penalty for any irregularity from such a faced hand. The claim must be allowed if both defenders accede, or if either allows his hand to be mixed with other cards; either defender may require that play continue.

When either defender requires that play follow declarer's claim, he must play on with his hand face-up, may make no play not consistent with his statement; unless he stated his intention to do so when making his claim may not lead a trump while either defender has a trump and may not finesse either in the suit led or in trumping the suit led; if he attempts such a prohibited play, either defender may require him to withdraw it, provided neither has played after it.

A defender may show any or all his cards to declarer to establish a claim or concession. A concession of a trick which cannot be lost by any play of the cards is void if attention is called to the error before the cards are mixed together.

6—In Memoriams

HUNT—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, William George Hunt, who passed away October 24, 1943.

If all the world were ours to give
We'd give it, yes, and more,
To clasp the hand of father
And hear him speak once more,
If you have a father,
Treasure him with care.
For you never know his value
Till you see his vacant chair.

—Ever remembered and sadly missed by wife, sons William, Leigh, Desmond; daughters Josephine and Eileen and grandchildren.

CASEY—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, John Wesley Casey, who passed away 4 years ago, October 25.

Gone into that light that shines so fair
Gone from the earth of sorrows and care
Resting those hands that toiled there best Gone dear Dad, gone to rest.

—Sadly missed by his loving wife, daughters and sons.

TRUDE—In loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs. W. F. Trude, who entered into rest one year ago October 24, 1947.

We think of you, our mother dear,
Of all your gentle ways;
Your courage and unfailing cheer
Which love alone repays.
Remembering your kindly voice,
Your heart so warm and true;
Our hearts ache when we are sad,
To know that we have lost you.
The pearly gates were opened,
A gentle voice said come,
And with farewells left unspoken,
You softly entered home.

—Sadly missed and ever remembered by husband and family.

Charge Lindsay Man

Russell Lucas, 37, of Lindsay, is being held for careless driving pending a side-swipe accident with Fred Mason of Lakefield. It occurred at 8:30 p.m. on Friday evening at the west end of the Canal Bridge at Bridge Street, as both cars were travelling along the highway in opposite directions. Damage to both cars is estimated by observers to be $50, and the accident was investigated by Police Chief Garnet Samis.

World News In Brief

Taken from Wires of Canadian Press.

LINDSAY — A man made a special trip to this Victoria county town Friday to pay a restaurant bill. There was a crush of people in the place when he had a meal several weeks ago and he went out without paying. He said his conscience bothered him and he returned with the 98 cents.

BURLINGTON — An increase of $430,604 in Burlington's assessment for 1948 was announced by assessor William Johnson. Population has kept pace with the assessment, rising from 4,943 last year to 5,105.

TORONTO — An armed, masked man pushed his way into the east-central home of Ernest Weagle, a blind man, and threatened to shoot Weagle and his wife if he didn't give him money. He left when he failed to find any.

TORONTO — Harvey Blackstock, 36, and his wife, Molly, 35, both of Winnipeg, were charged with illegal possession of drugs. Police said they found the woman in the act of administering drugs.

TORONTO — A man who wanted a free car ride went to extremes to get it. He hailed cab driver Fred Vincent, told him to drive to the city limits, pulled a gun and told him to drive to a highway junction east of the city. Then he got out and told the cabbie to keep going. He did not ask for money.

TORONTO — The adjustment committee of the Ontario Civil Servants Association approved a new method of filling government positions, designed to recognize both ability and seniority. The vacancy is first advertised in its own department and, if unfilled, is referred to the director of personnel who consults other departments.

Employs 128

TORONTO — The Toronto branch of the Society for Crippled Civilians employs 128 crippled and aged people in its own business, including radio, watch and clock, stove, bicycle, toy, furniture and clothing repairs, it was revealed at the Society's open house. More than 600 civilian crippies are looked after by the Society which receives no government grants.

TORONTO — Dr. Harold K. Box, research professor of dentistry at the University of Toronto, has been elected a fellow in dental surgery at the Royal College of Surgeons, England.

TORONTO — City hall's marriage licence bureau doesn't net the city any revenue — but Alderman Allan Lamport would like to brighten it up just the same. The parks committee turned down his suggestion that flowers from city greenhouses be used to decorate the office.

Crushed By Glass

NEWARK, NJ. — Ten tons of falling glass crushed a 49-year-old warehouseman to death at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant. The victim was James Fife, who was working with two other men in stacking glass with an electric crane when the pile collapsed.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz said the United States Navy has a force 4,000 officer and men trained in Arctic conditions. The Arctic Corps was trained two years ago in the Navy's Antarctic expedition, Nimitz said at a press conference.

STUART, Fla.—A dairy hand investigating a smell of roasting meat at the Pennock pasture near here found 12,000 pounds of it smouldering in a heap. Lloyd Minear, manager of the dairy which has one of the finest Jersey herds in Florida, said 13 of his pedigreed cows—each about to calve—apparently walked into a 2,300-volt power line which fell into the pasture.

PORTSMOUTH, Eng.—An audience of 3,600 screamed with horror when Mme. Carmen Dieu Donne, a French trapeze performer, plunged 40 feet during an act at a circus. She landed on her feet but collapsed. Taken to hospital with rib injuries, her condition was reported satisfactory.

MONTREAL — Karl Taylor Compton, prominent American scientist, said he believes Russia has not yet been able to manufacture atomic bombs. "We believe we know what the Russians are able to do," said Mr. Compton, who was recently appointed president of the Bureau of Scientific Research and Military Development at Washington.

WHEELING, W. Va. — Bishop John H. Swint of the Wheeling Roman Catholic Diocese announced he will excommunicate parents who allow their daughters to participate in beauty contests. Bishop Swint removed 19-year-old Mariruth Ford of Wheeling from the church after she participated in the state beauty pageant at Moundsville last summer.

HALIFAX— Dalhousie Universtiy Students' Council decided to expropriate and destroy the latest issue of the Dalhousie Gazette, which lampoons the Halifax Mail. When the issue appeared under banner "The Halifax Mail" Council President Russ McKinney banned all copies. About 250 copies of the 1,800 run found their way into student hands. The Council decided that the issue was in "poor taste."

LONDON, Eng. — K. R. Bokman, managing director of the Swedish Lloyd Steamship Company, said following Anglo-Swedish trade talks in London additional imports from Sweden to Britain to the value of £8,000,000 ($32,000,000) had been agreed on, and Sweden had undertaken to import goods worth £70,000,000 from Britain.

Dane Suggests

for recreation for the past middle age group, and loneliness is a marked characteristic among these people" Mr. Dane pointed out. Other cities where this project has advanced have such special programs for old folks as a section of a playground reserved for horseshoes, shuffleboard and a quiet corner for quieter games and visits. Another included older people in weekly family picnics followed by a stage show and watching a softball game.

A creative writing group which publishes its work annually and a community theatre with older people taking part are some other activities. Twenty-four grandmothers organized themselves into a club which holds closed meetings because they don't want the youngsters cramping their style.

Recreation for older adults in rural areas has not received much attention as yet. Some services to this group suggested by the speaker are turning home-grown wool into knitted garments, hooking rugs, making birchbark baskets and weaving. A central library could provide recreational reading through a book wagon service.

Mr. Dane also touched on the work now being accomplished by the Peterborough Recreation Commission. In a brief history of the movement he states the Canada National Physical Fitness Act was proclaimed, October 1st, 1943, when it was decided the best preventative measure for mass mental and physical illness and increase in crime would be an all out mass recreation program.

Though a most democratic act, it has not been accepted by three provinces, New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario, and the latter is now running her own show.

"Recreation is not only sports, but considered to be any leisure time activity engaged in for its own sake" said Mr. Dane. "In other words, doing something just for the joy you get out of doing it." The activity may be a personal hobby, some experience shared with a large or small group. It may be commercial or not, under private or governmental auspices, organized or not. He also gave many reasons why the program should be sponsored by the Recreation Commission as well as the assistance lent to clubs and organizations who are doing a public job. "Our function is to promote recreation where there is a need, to co-ordinate the various groups in conducting a public recreation program and assist financially wherever possible."

Mr. Dane was introduced to the members by Soroptimist Mrs. Dorothy Sullivan.

COUNTY FARM NOTES

By HARRY THEOBALD

First Artificially Bred Holstein Calf Second Prize-Winner at Peterborough Show . . Subsidized Dinner Looks Like Bargain Of Season . . . US Buyer Says Presidential Elections Next Month Affect Export

The second prize juniorheifer calf at the recent Holstein championships in Peterborough was artificially bred.

"Barrondale Given" from the herd of Stanley B. Watson of Agincourt was an added entry in that class of twelve young females born since January 1 this year. Apparently it was an afterthought, for Mr. Watson's name was not among the Ontario county breeders listed in the program.

This test-tube calf was the very last of the single entries in the competition. Its name had to be pencilled into a blank place preceding the class for county herds. And "Barrondale Given" was beaten only by Norman McConkey's Lifloc Barbara Ann Sceptor by Elmcroft Sceptor out of Lifloc Bonnie Supreme.

Strung out behind her in the placing by the judge, Harvey Swartz of Waukesha, Wis., were ten youngsters of natural conception. The Watson heifer calf was the lone specimen of the artificial method of insemination which has spread into the Peterborough district since the first day of last May.

She was the first of her kind to appear in a Holstein show ring of this district, and the recognition she claimed should be an encouragement to those breeders who are trying the artificial form of begetting. More than 100 of the farmers of this district comprise the local group in association with the Maple breeders. Possibly some of their Black and White calves may be good enough to emerge from the county show next year and go on to the championships.

At any rate, "Barrondale Given" made Holstein history in Peterborough last week, and on the strength of her placing second she must be regarded as more than a novelty.

Frank Paterson mentioned her to Norm McConkey at the show. His laughing reply was: "She must have had an awfully good dam." The allusion in that remark was that Mr. McConkey is one of the Peterborough Holstein men who are retaining their own her sires, and are continuing their breeding around them.

THE JERSEY BULL, Golden Fern Jester, won Reserve Senior and Reserve Grand Championships and the Ayrelawn silver trophy in very strong competition at the All American Jersey Show, now being held at Columbus, Ohio. This great show bull is at the head of the herd of Roslyn Park Farm, owned by George Hancock, Galt, Ontario. He was second to the Reserve Senior Champion at Columbus last year, and has won many championships both in Canada and the United States.

HOLSTEINS TO THE ROYAL

Five Peterborough Holsteins were selected this week for the Royal Winter Fair by Roy Ormiston, fieldman, who was in charge of the championships show here last week.

They are J. T. Tully's junior female champion, and winner of the junior yearling heifer class, "Otonabee Signet Audrey" and his reserve junior champion bull, "Otonabee Pabst Prospect", winner of the bull calf class; N. W. McConkey's reserve junior female champion, "Lifloc Signet Rebecca", second in the junior yearling heifer class to Mr. Tully's junior champion; also Mr. McConkey's first prize junior heifer calf "Lifloc Barbara Ann Sceptor".

The fifth animal chosen by Mr. Ormiston was the third prize winner in the aged cow class at the recent championships, "Glenmore Jean Abegweit", owned by Charlie Moore of Smith.

These Holsteins are intended as single entries in their respective classes at the Royal, but Mr. Ormiston is also planning a district herd of six. The program includes a competition for four herds chosen by the four fieldmen whose Holstein territories cover the main area of the province. Each of them picks out a district herd of senior and junior bull, and two senior and two junior females.

Mr. Ormiston's first stage in arranging his herd is to get the animals to the Royal, enlisting the co-operation of county breeders, and then pick out his herd from the entries.

THE FARMER'S JOB

"It used to be said that a prosperous agriculture depended on the top six inches of the soil. Today, it depends on more than that—the top six inches of the soil, plus the top six inches of the farmer."

That is a paragraph from a recent pamphlet issued by the Department of Agriculture entitled "Agriculture in Ontario".

"In other words the farmer today must mix brains with his soil in order to make a success of his operations. He must be a scientific agriculturist as well as a skilled business executive.

The modern farmer has to be a great deal more than a tiller of the soil. He has to have knowledge of chemistry to understand and meet the needs of his land for fertilization treatment. He has to be something of a botanist to understand crop production, and to identify and deal with the many weeds which can ruin his crops. He has to know something about entomology to clean out insect pests. He has to be a bit of a veterinarian to take proper care of his livestock.

He has to be a motor mechanic to keep his machinery in good running order, a nutritionist to understand the scientific principles of feeding his animals, a salesman to dispose of his products, a bookkeeper to keep records and accounts of his operations.

All of these things—and many more—are involved in successfully farming as it has developed today. It requires more skill and knowledge and business acumen than does the head of the average urban industry. The complexities, the risks and hazards, and the varied type of activity on the mixed farm today are such that the farmer must be equipped scientifically and in a business sense in order to continue producing and marketing the food that is needed by the urban dwellers, and at the same time earn a fair return for his labor and investment.

C. T. Russell, Montreal, of the Steel Company of Canada, will be the speaker at the Peterborough Junior Farmers' dinners at Club Aragon Friday, Oct. 29 at 6.30 p.m. Don Milburn will be chairman. Dancing will wind up the evening.

✦ ✦ ✦

BEEKEEPERS' DINNER

Hon. W. A. Goodfellow of Northumberland county, Minister of Welfare in the Ontario government, will be the guest speaker at the district beekepers' dinner Monday Oct. 25 at Club Aragon.

Allan Brown said yesterday attendance would probably be more than 150 members and friends from Peterborough, Victoria, Durham and Northumberland counties. A program of entertainment is being arranged.

STUART HEREFORDS SALE

Saturday, Nov. 13, is the date of the sale of 42 of the nationally famous Herefords of Old Orchard Farms, developed by Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart, Jr.

The announcement in the Countryman of the first annual auction at Old Orchard Farms, east of the Liftlock, recalls the prestige this herd has already won at the Royal "with a commanding number of champions and grand champions". The entire 1948 show herd is being offered at this sale. It will likely attract Hereford breeders from western Canada who are coming east for the Royal Winter Fair during the following week.

DURHAM CLUBS TO O.A.C.

Durham county sent five junior teams to the O.A.C. judging competitions this week. They have been chosen by Ed. A. Summers, agricultural representative, Bowmanville, as follows:

West Durham swine club: Orville Hindman, Hampton; Allan Werry, Enniskillen.

Senior grain club: Ray Challis, Bethany; Donald Prescott, Burketon; Murray Osborne, Bowmanville.

Potato Club: Bev. Gray, Nelson Gardiner and John Morton, (spare) all of Port Hope, R.R. No. 1.

Dairy calf club: Judith Stenger, Enniskillen; Margaret Tink, of Hampton; Walter Tink, Bowmanville.

Beef cattle club: Wm. Ferguson and Richard VanCamp, Nestleton; and Stanley McCabe, Janetville.

ELECTION YEAR MARKET

"Pennsylvania dairy barns are pretty well filled with heifers, the market is dragging, but cows ready to milk are selling fairly well," Clarence Lyons of Mountjoy, Pa., told The Examiner this week.

"It may be an effect of the presidential elections next month. You usually see a decline in business in election year. I'm up on this trip to buy milk—that is cows with well-filled udders. Since the middle of August there has been a change in the market for the younger cattle. I had a sale at my place Sept. 29, but bidding was not so active as it was last spring and fall. We are hoping this is just an election lull in the market."

Mr. Lyons said he was taking home the last animals of a Peterborough Ayrshire herd he was buying on an order from a breeder in the States.

"I'm coming to the Royal next month, bringing a junior yearling bull I bought from Norm McConkey. He's the youngest son of the Mata Hari cow Lifloc Signet Tahari."

IN THE PLOWING MONEY

Vern Campbell was three times in the money at the provincial plowing match; second for $16 in the two furrow open tractor class on the first day; second for $25 in the tractor class Wednesday for those who had not won a first or second in that class prior to this year; and 13th for $10 in the Esso champion tractor class Friday.

Other local money winners were: El Kelk, $20; Henry Sharpe $16; Llyle McMillan, Norwood, $25; Reg Ferguson, $10; David Garbutt $20 and his brother Elwin $10; Roy Seeney, Cavan, $32; John Hooton, Cavan, $16; Allen Thompson, Cavan, $10.

OSHAWA SHORTHORN SALE

The L. Cadesky herd of Harvey township will be represented in the blue ribbon Shorthorn sale at the Oshawa fair grounds Friday, Nov. 5. Fourteen breeders are consigning 30 females and six bulls. John Baker of Hampton is sales manager.

HOLSTEIN SALE MONDAY

An advertisement of the All-Canadian Holstein sale at the Coliseum, Toronto, Oct. 25, is built around a photograph of the Peterborough world champion 3-year-old 2X producer Liftloc Mata Hari Supreme. The text quotes her record: "905 lbs.' fat from 19,635 lbs. of 41.6 per cent milk. Member of the winning 'get' by Supreme Grand Slam at Peterborough, she sells in the All-Canadian. She is due in November to Elmcroft Sceptre. Her previous calf sold for $5,000. Apparently N. W. McConkey decided to part with his "very good" young cow by way of the all-Canadian auction which offers 12 bulls and 71 females.

CO-OP ANNUAL, OCT. 25

An increase of 517 members, from 1,833 to 2,350, will be reported at the annual meeting of Peterborough District Co-Operative Services in the assembly hall of the Collegiate Institute Monday evening, Oct. 25.

Actually it is 18 months since the last annual meeting when the date was changed by resolution. Gross business turnover for the period has been $6,216,000 as compared with $1,872,000 in the previously reported year.

Sales of merchandise was $634,000 in 1946, and in the last 18 months the total was $2,414,000. This department embraces a wide range of goods, seed grain, fertilizer, roofing, steel fence, building materials, electrical equipment for house and barns, and many other farm supplies.

The three district branches have already held their annual meetings and appointed directors: Havelock—Isaac Anderson; Sunderland—Merrill Bagshaw; Warkworth—Howard Evans.

Co-Op estimates that it saver the farmers of this district $100,000 by stocking heavily with feed grain early in 1947. When supplies were exceptionally short, fifteen carloads were arriving daily for a time.

Clifford D. Graham, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Toronto, is the invited speaker for the meeting Monday night.

THIS DINNER SHOULD BE A SELL-OUT.

Just a further word about the Farm Forum dinner at the Empress. It should be a quick sell-out at one dollar a plate. That's the bargain dinner of the season. And it's subsidized, 50 cents a ticket. To promote the cause of rural hospitalization and medical services, the Federation of Agriculture agreed to contribute the subsidy. The farm forum and the community medical service plan are two projects the Federation hopes to see adopted in Peterborough county. So, you get $1.50 dinner for one buck. The line forms on the right. Please don't push. Alex Huston has ten tickets, but he shouldn't have them long. Phone Frank Paterson's office, or oring the money around and make sure of your tickets. William McCarthy of Dufferin is going to tell the story of hospitalization as it has been adopted in 22 counties.

NORWOOD'S THANKS

To those loyal friends who proved their interest in the Norwood Fair by attending Thanksgiving Day "in such very adverse weather," Mr. G. A. Brethen, president, expresses for the directors their sincere appreciation. Circumstances were discouraging, but the net results were better than could have been expected, the president said.

BUS TRIP TO THE ROYAL

Peterborough Junior decided this week to arrange a bus trip to the Royal Winter Fair. The exact date has not yet been set, but seats are being ordered for a night performance, and notifications should be made at once at the agricultural office.

WENTWORTH GROUP HERE

On a bus tour to Ottawa and Montreal, a group of 29 junior farmers from Wentworth county, the Hamilton area, are coming to Peterborough late Tuesday, Nov 2, and on Wednesday morning they will visit the De Laval plant and Quaker Oats, leaving at noon. They are being accompanied by W. G. Maritt, agricultural representative, and Miss Anne Jackson.

FARM FORUM DINNER

Federation of Agriculture is sponsoring a dinner in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel, at 7 p.m., Nov. 3, to stimulate interest in the Farm Radio Forum. Claire Burt, Forum secretary, Toronto, will discuss that rural enterprise which has developed into a fine success in many parts of the province. There will also be a speaker on medical and hospital services.

11TH AT LINDSAY

Peterborough's two junior plowmen David and Elwin Garbutt, Lakefield RR2, placed 11th in the intercounty class with tractors at the provincial plowing match at Lindsay last week. Nineteen counties were represented in this competition. The Lakefield brothers split $20.

C. D. GRAHAM, Deputy Minister of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, will be the guest speaker at the annual meeting of Peterboro District Co-Operative Services Monday Oct. 25 in the auditorium of the Collegiate Institute.

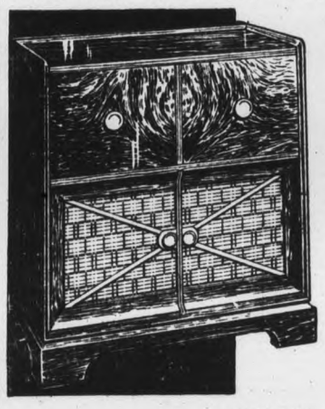
Potato Prices Too Low Farmers Say

Carleton County is harvesting "its first real crop of corn grown for grain." Three mechanical pickers are at work.

Ontario farmers are completing the potato crop. Yields and quality are satisfactory, but, as in Middlesex, "there are many complaints at the price "around $1 a bag to the producer. In Dufferin potatoes "are moving at 90c to $1."

The weekly report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture says the average yield for the Renfrew 500 bushel potato club was 402 bushels an acre. Two members took off 686 bus. of Chippewa and 535 of Warba varieties, respectively.

Nineteen animals sold for $5,175 at the Grey County Shorthorn sale. Dairy cattle are on full winter rations in Elgin and most sections of the province.



Pasturage has ended for the good herds. Haldimand says: "Many farmers have been feeding since August, and in a few cases the amount of feed supplies on hand is where it ordinarily is in January."

Hastings reports "a keen demand tor export cattle which is very hard to fill." Middlesex beef cattle men bought feeders at the Moose Jaw sale at $22.50 to $23 per cwt for loads. Young pigs are selling from $12 to $15 A strong demand for all surplus cattle continues in Elgin.

The rains of last week have improved plowing conditions across the province. Leeds comments that work is "pretty well up to schedule."

FLEEING MAN KILLED BY POLICE GUNFIRE

RENNY MADDEN, 15, Philadelphia, Pa., the "friendly boy next door," was remembered in the will ob Mrs. Emma G. Yeager, now probated, and rewarded for his kindness to the 74-year-old widow, Renny, who had always been Mrs. Yeager's pet, was left the Yeager home and a $10,000 trust fund for "his education, maintenance and support." The will also established a $30,000 trust fund jointly for Renny, his 13-year-old brother, Bernard, and his sister, Mary Sue, 19. They will receive the principle when they reach 21. To top it all, Renny's mother, Mrs. Mary A. Madden, was left $5,000 "in appreciation of her many kindnesses to me."

Western Powers Discuss Alliance With Canada-US

PARIS, Oct. 25—(AP).—The Foreign Ministers of the five-power Western European Union met today, with a possible military alliance with Canada and the United States reported foremost of their agenda. Authoritative British and American sources said linking of the Brussels Union with the North American powers in a North Atlantic pact will be the central theme of the sessions which began this morning.

Official British sources said the Ministers decided soon after today's meeting began that future sessions will be completely restricted. Because of the nature of the talks, these sources said, official spokesmen of the various delegations will not hold briefing meetings with correspondents.

There will be a joint communique when the talks end, the sources said.

Informed British sources said Sunday night Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain will give his conditional endorsement to a French-Belgian proposal for a Western European Parliament.

The Parliament, to be chosen from among the deputies of the five national legislatures, would have consultative authority. The five nations in the Union are Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Bevin's support for a Western European Parliament is expected to be conditional on a greater amount of co-ordination by the various governments to give the Parliament a more solid foundation.

British sources said, however, that Bevin hopes to make some "constructive propsals" on Western European unity when he delivers his statement.

When the project of an eventual international Parliament was broached by the French last summer, Bevin avoided any commitments, pleading he had to consult with the Commonwealth countries. French circles said the Commonwealth Dominions had given the scheme their blessing at the recent London meetings.

The Foreign Ministers also will take up a report from their Defence Ministers who last month agreed to weld their military high commands into an integrated general staff under Field-Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

Voting Spotty In Algoma East

MASSEY, OCT. 25-(CP)- Voting was spotty in volume today in the scattered riding of Algoma East as voters went to the polls in a federal by-election in which External Affairs Minister Pearson seeks a seat in the House of Commons.

The former career diplomat is opposed by Lorne Callahan, C.C.F., and John J. Fitzgerald, Social Credit.

At Little Current on Manitoulin Island where 800 voters are registered in three polls, more than 100 ballots were cast by 10:15 a.m., two hours and 15 minutes after polls closed. The weather was clear and warm there and the early turnout was considered heavy.

A heavy mist lay over the community of Thessalon on the north shore of Lake Huron and the deputy returning officer there said voting was comparatively light. Chapleau, in the far north of the riding, reported "light but regular" voting. There was a mist there too.

Polls close at 6 p.m. and this community some 75 miles west of Sudbury will be the focal point for compiling returns. Returning Officer J. W. Darby has his headquarters here.

Toss Bottle Away Girl On Highway Cut

KITCHENER, Oct. 25.—(CP).—A bottle thrown from a passing car resulted in painful injuries to Ruth Kurtz, 17, of Centreville Saturday night. The girl was standing at the edge of the highway with her mother and sister, not far from their home when the accident occurred.

They were waiting for a bus to Kitchener, said Provincial Constable Edward Pettly, when an arm appeared out of the window of a car travelling toward Kitchener. A moment after the beer bottle struck the pavement a sharp piece of the shattered glass struck Miss Kurtz in the face and seriouly cut her hose.

Soviet Uses Veto On Compromise

Russia Wants To Lift Blockade By Stages, After Currency Shift

PARIS, Oct. 25 — (CP). — Russia vetoed tonight the small-power proposal for a compromise ending the Berlin deadlock.

The vote, in the United Nations Security Council, was nine in favor and two against.

Russia and the Ukraine voted against. The Soviet dissent constituted a veto, Juan A. Bramuglia, acting council president, ruled, and the resolution was rejected.

Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky had told the Council he was prepared to veto the small-power compromise if it came to a vote.

With both arm flailing the air, Vishinsky denounced a six-power resolution aimed at settling the crisis arising from the Soviet blockade of Berlin. He said it was unfair to Russia.

Vishinsky said the Berlin question should never have been brought before the Security Council in the first place. Earlier, an authoritative source said the three western powers had rejected a Russian counter-proposal for ending the blockade.

The Soviet deputy foreign minister said his main objection to the six-power proposal was that the blockade was to be raised at once, "only talks will be organized" immediately on the currency reform demanded by the Russians.

"We cannot accept that," he declared.

The six-power resolution called for immediate lifting of the blockade, adoption of the Soviet mark as the sole currency for Berlin by Nov. 20 and meetings of the big-four council of foreign ministers by Nov. 30 to discuss the whole problem of Germany.

Accept Resolution

British, French and United States delegates all informed the council, before Vishinsky spoke, that they would accept the resolution.

Today Vishinsky told the council he had to protect the Soviet zone of Germany against a "danger" created by introduction of the western mark into Berlin.

The Russian plan, one informant said, called for lifting of the Berlin blockade by stages, in conjunction with currency revision and other adjustments of the German problem. The west has insisted that the Russians must lift the blockade before further direct negotiations take place.

British, United States, French and neutral delegates considered the Russian plan for an hour at a meeting in the apartment of Juan Atilio Bramuglia, Argentine Foreign Minister and acting president of the security council.

After decision was reached against the Russian plan, Bramuglia went to tell Andrei Y. Vishinsky Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, the western answer.

Bramuglia was reported to have tried to convince the neutrals and the western group they should accept a new draft he prepared after he saw Vishinsky twice Sunday night.

Canadian Force Teams With US On Manoeuvres

OTTAWA, Oct. 25. (CP)—The five-ship Canadian task force visiting Pearl Harbor is teaming with units of the United States Navy and Air Force for joint exercises in the Pacific, Defence Minister Claxton anounced today.

The exercises, under combat conditions, are the "most thorough workout" by Canadian and American forces since the end of the war, he said. They include defence against submarine torpedo and air attack; bombardment firing, evasion tactics and control of air strikes.

During the voyage to Hawaii, the Canadian ships became an "enemy" fleet and were located and shadowed by US planes.

In another operation, six US subs were to locate and "attack" the Canadian cruiser Ontario, her screening destroyers Cayuga, Athabaskan and Crescent and the frigate Antigonish. The Canadian ships' defences were supplemented by US combat aircraft, organized and controlled by Ontario.

Prior to arrival at Pearl Harbor, they were subjected to a dawn "attack" by US Air Force planes. US Navy aircraft provided cover for the Canadian force.

During the 16-day visit at Pearl Harbor, Ontario will do bombardment firing and exercises in defensive tactics against torpedoes and air attack. The destroyers and the frigate will engage in anti-submarine practice—individually, as a group and in company with US Anti-sub forces.

To acquaint Canadian personnel fully with American tactics and methods, arrangements have been made for officers and men to go to sea in US submarine and escort vessels.

Terrorists Strike

PANAMA, Panama, Oct. 25 (AP).—Two persons were wounded and four police officers were abducted on Sunday night in a series of terrorist incidents here. Jose Daniel Crespo, Minister of Government, issued a statement early today blaming "extremist elements of opposition parties" for the violence. He ordered police to shoot any person found engaging in acts of terrorism.

Soviet Launches 15-Year Plan To End Drought

MOSCOW, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Soviet Union today launched a 15-year super-plan to abolish drought and double Russia's grain harvest.

Announcement of the giant scheme to ward off dust bowls by revolutionary reforestation schemes involving 300,000,000 acres of collective state farms was made in special editions of leading Soviet newspapers Sunday.

Briefly, the complex project is planned to eliminate the effects of the dread "sukhoveyi"—the hot dry winds that sweep across Russia's agrarian districts from the Caspian and central Asian deserts.

The project provides for:

1. The planting of eight basic systems of forest belts in four defence lines over which all the dry winds from the Asian deserts must pass to enter European Russia. The total length of these belts is more than 3,000 miles.

2. A field-by-forest defence on every collective state farm throughout Russia — about 300,000,000 acres. These farms before 1965 will plant 15,000,000 acres of forest.

3. The establishment of more than 45,000 reservoirs and artificial ponds on collective state farms. These will be used for irrigation, manufacture of hydro-hydro-electric power and for maintaining the high level of ground water.

4. Eighty thousand collective farms in the next six years will be put on a new improved grass and crop rotation system. This system has been devised especially to produce a high grain harvest despite droughts and to provide fodder for animal husbandry.

Plane Hits Barracks Three Killed In Crash

CHANUTE AIR BASE, Ill., Oct. 25.—(AP).— Three men were killed Sunday night in a crash here of a C-47 United States Air Force plane carrying 22 persons

Nineteen injured, taken to the base hospital, "probably owe their lives to the fact that the plane first hit two empty barracks," Brig.-Gen. F. R. Upthegrove, commanding general, said.

The twin-engined cargo plane, approaching the base in a heavy ground fog, chopped a corner off one barracks and then plowed through a second barracks before smashing to the ground.

Those killed were the pilot, co-pilot and crew chief, all in the plane's crumpled cockpit.

Order U.N. Council Hear Truce Complaint

PARIS, Oct. 25.—(AP) —The Security Council was ordered today to meet at 4.30 a.m. EST tomorrow to hear Egypt's complaint that Israel broke the United Nations' cease fire in the Negev desert.

Heavy fighting also was reported in Northern Palestine. United Nations observers said the Jews bombed and shelled Lebanese towns. Acting mediator Ralph Bunche talked with Lebanese Premier Riad El Solh about the fighting in the north.

Last week the Security Council ordered Egyptian and Israeli forces to halt the war in the Southern Palestine desert area.

Mahmoud Fawzi of Egypt first asked last Saturday that the Security Council meet on Sunday to consider the continued fighting. But Warren Austin of the United States, October president of the Security Council was in London then.

Half French Key Mines Under Police

Set Up Road Blocks Every 3 Miles, Using Armored Cars

PARIS, Oct. 25 (AP)—Interior Minister Jules Moch announced today police have occupied about half the key northern French minefields, strike-bound for three weeks. He said that, within seven hours after beginning their drive, the police took over some 280 square miles and made about 15 arrests. The areas occupied lie between the Belgian border and the Douai-Lille road, Moch said, and include the whole Valenciennes group of mines and part of the Douai group.

"We do not come to fight against the strike," Moch said in a radio speech. "We come to prevent the destruction of hundreds of billions of francs of national wealth, endangered by the criminal decision to abandon safety machinery."

The Communist-called strike has already cost the country the loss of 3,000,000 tons of coal.

Sympathy Strikes

Limited sympathy strikes have been ordered by the Communist-led confederation Generale du Travail. In St. Etienne there was a 24-hour general walk-out ordered for the funeral of a miner killed Friday when police occupied the Cambefort mine.

In the Zube department of Northeastern France, 20,000 striking textile and metal workers went back on the job this morning after non-Communist unions signed an agreement for a 10 percent pay boost.

Road Blocks

Road blocks were reported every three miles in the Douai area and heavy police and troop forces were on the roads. They used armored cars and heavy machine-guns in patrol.

Some mines have been flooded and weeks may be required to put them back in service after the strike ends.

The government sent thousands of troop reinforcements into the strike-bound areas yesterday. No violence was reported.

Take $4,000 Cash From Grafton's Store

HAMILTON, Oct. 25—(CP)—At least $4,000 in cash was stolen from Grafton's store on James St. North Sunday night by safecrackers who dug through a brick wall to get in to the office vault.

The money was stored in cash boxes in an outer chamber of the vault. Another large sum of money was saved when the safe in which it was kept resisted the efforts of the burglars to break it open.

The men climbed conduct wiring to a third floor window to get into the building.

Exceed World Output

TORONTO, Oct. 25 — (CP). — World consumption of wool, cotton and rayon since 1945 has exceeded world output, it was revealed today by Morton Savell, of New York, speaking at the convention here of the Canadian Woollen and Knit Goods Manufacturers Association.

Good Entertainment

GENEVA, Switzerland, Oct. 25 — (AP). — A rodeo company "from the savage west" put on a combination rodeo and riot Sunday night at the Palais des Expositions. The event left policemen and performers bruised and ruffled and 27 of the cast of 40 under arrest. The trouble started when a hardy Genevan took up the rodeo company's offer of 1,000 Swiss francs (about $250) to anyone who stayed on the back of a bronco named "Income Tax" for 10 seconds. The Swiss horseman, whose name was lost in the scuffle, declared he rode "Income Tax" for 10 seconds. The cowboys—who billed themselves as coming from Texas—said he was up only four seconds and not on any bronco named "Income Tax." The argument roared into a free-for-all.

Employment Hits New Peak Of Five Million

OTTAWA, Oct. 25. — (CP). — Canadian employment has hit another new peak.

In its 12th quarterly survey of the country's labor force, the Bureau of Statistics estimated that 5,042,000 persons were working in the first week of September.

That's the biggest number ever to hold jobs in Canada. It was a boost of 34,000 from a year previously.

And, at the same time, the Bureau estimated the number of unemployed had dropped to 67,000 representing decreases from last year and the year before.

Of those employed, the Bureau calculated 3,932,000 were men and 1,110,000 were women.

The figures are based on a cross-section survey of about 30,000 households. The labor force is made up of civilians of 14 and over who have jobs or are looking for work.

The estimate indicated farm employment had dropped off slightly during the year. It was 1,247,000 in early September, 50,000 down from mid-August of 1947 and 70,000 below the figure for the same time in 1946.

Report Given

Employment in industries outside agriculture stood at 3,795,000, a gain from the total of 3,709,000 a year before.

By regions, Quebec showed the greatest gain during the year. The total off employment on the prairies fell off by 10,000.

Quebec employment jumped from 1,348,000 to 1,384,000. In the prairie provinces, there was a drop from 1,022,000 to 1,012,000.

For the other areas, these increases were shown:

Maritimes, 430,000 to 434,000; Ontario, 1,769,000 to 1,772,000. British Columbia, 439,000 to 440,000.

On the unemployment side, those unable to get job totalled 1.3 per cent of the labor force. Of the 67,000 unemployed, 14,000 were women.

Ontario's percentage was 1.1.

TESTIFY AT TRIAL

KINGSTON, Oct. 25 — (CP).—Gordon Lunan, convicted of espionage, will testify at the trial of Norman Urquhart and Austin Craft, charged with the murder of John D. Kennedy, Kingston Pnitentiary messenger.

Eight Cruisers Scour Area In Night-Long Hunt Till Companion Captured

Manhunt Cloaked In Unusual Secrecy Police Order Reporter To Write Nothing Or Take Consequences

WINONA, Oct. 25—(CP).—One man was shot and killed by a policeman Sunday night and a second, suspected of stealing an automobile, was captured early today hiding in a grapery, a few feet from where his companion fell. Provincial Police identified the dead man as Carl W. Kobialko, 24, of Caistorville, near this Niagara Peninsula fruit centre, 10 miles east of Hamilton. Police said he had come to this district from "somewhere in Western Canada."

Captured was Wasel Kobac, or Kobuc, 21, who had been living with Kobialko at Caistorville but came not long ago from Yorkton, Sask. He was remanded today until Nov. 1 on a charge of automobile theft.

Police said the car, stolen from Hamilton, Oct. 19, contained a small arsenal of revolvers and rifles and at least one large knife. It was covered with mud and gave every appearance of hard driving.

Scour District

Eight police cruisers carrying 16 police officers scoured the district for Kobak after the brief gun battle. Kobialko died in the back yard of William Utter who was entertaining his daughter's school principal at Sunday dinner.

Inspector Charles Wood of the Criminal Investigation Department of the Provincial Police took personal charge of the manhunt which was cloaked in unusual secrecy. Inspector Wood set up his headquarters at the United Church here.

The shooting followed a chase in which a police car forced the stolen car off the road and it swung into a lane beside the church. A second police cruiser swung up and two men jumped from the stolen car and ran down the lane, firing at the police as they went.

Constable Douglas Garrett of nearby Grimsby returned their fire and one man staggered. Inspector Wood said he was struck in the head by a bullet. The man went a few paces and then plunged over a sudden dip of ground to fall dead in a refuse dump.

The other man, running desperately, dashed into a clump of trees and disappeared.

Cordon Off Area

A cordon of police was thrown about the area. Neighboring residents were warned by police not to speak to newspaper reporters.

When a reporter asked police permission to use a telephone, a corporal at the scene said: "If I see anything about this in your paper tomorrow, we'll come look-

Family Of Seven Die As Fire Sweeps House

MASSILLON, O., Oct. 25—(AP)—A family of seven was wiped out early Sunday when fire swept their small frame house seven miles southwest of here. The dead were identified as Harry Dovoll, 30, a railroad fireman; his wife, Vivian, 28, and their five children, Jimmy, six; Evelyn, five; Howard Leroy, three, Billy, two and Allen, two months.

Socialists Defy Russ Threat Of Prosecution

BERLIN, Oct. 25 — (AP). — Berlin's socialists gave a defiant answer today to a Russian threat to prosecute six leaders of the anti-Communist city government accused of "war-mongering."

A statement published in the official Social Democratic newspaper charged that the Soviet action was intended to terrorize the people of Berlin.

The newspaper added that the people of Berlin, as well as their political leaders, desired peace but that "peace now is endangered by nothing so much as by the actions of the Soviet military administration."

The Russian threat to councilmen was contained is a letter Col. Alexis Jelisarov, Soviet deputy commandant, wrote to Walter Schreiber, a Christian Democrat who is deputy chairman of the city assembly.

The Russian specifically accused Ernest Reuter, Socialist city councilman and chief of Berlin's transport department; Otto Suhr, Socialist chairman of the council; acting mayor Ferdinand Freidensburg; Socialist city councilmen Franz Neumann and Kurt Mattick, and Liberal Democratic councilman Rudolf Markewitz.

He said they made speeches at the Sept. 9 rally "of a Fascist and militarist nature which were violations of allied control council laws for Germany."

Senator White Dies Suddenly

PEMBROKE, Oct. 25 —(CP)—Senator Gerald Verner White, active in Canadian politics for 42 years, died in hospital Sunday night after a brief illness. He was 69.

He was a Conservative and a son of a former speaker of the House of Commons, the late Hon. Peter White. He was elected to the Commons in 1906 for the constituency of Renfrew North, which his father represented until his death that year.

Senator White was re-elected in 1908 and 1911. He did not seek re-election in 1917 and was appointed to the Senate in 1919, shortly after his return from overseas service with the army.

His death creates the 14th Senate vacancy. The Liberal strength in the 96-seat Senate is 63. Conservatives hold 19 seats.

Senator White will be buried at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday with military honors from the Presbyterian Church at Pembroke.

Hint Taxes Reduced In Spring Budget

THESSALON, Ont., Oct. 25 — (CP)—Revenue Minister McCann hinted Saturday taxes will be reduced in the federal budget, due next spring.

"None of us like to pay taxes and we all look forward to the day when taxes will be lower, which I can promise you will be in the not-too-distant future," he told a meeting of Algoma East Liberal Constituency Association here.

Dr. McCann spoke on behalf of External Affairs Minister Pearson, Liberal candidate in today's Algoma East by-election.

Mackenzie Criticizes US Tariff Laws

Says Ban Against Canadian Products Prolongs Adverse Balance

BOSTON, Oct. 25 (CP)—Canada's top trade official told Americans today "our manufacturing industries are too frequently excluded from your markets."

M. W. Mackenzie, deputy minister of trade and commerce, said in a speech prepared for delivery before a conference on distribution, "the basic difficulty in our trade is a U.S. tariff which is on the whole more protectionist than our own."

He summed up the problem:

"You sell us twice as much as you buy from us. But, apart from emergency measures now in force which are enabling trade to continue, there are no markets to which we can look in the foreseeable future that can provide us with cash with which to settle an adverse merchandise balance with you that last year amounted to more than $1,000,000,000.

"The foundation for a healthier commerce between us—and for a commerce that will expand rather than contract—must rest upon conditions that will enable Canada's exports to the U.S. To rise much more closely to the level of your exports to Canada."

Mr. Mackenzie contended that the main reason Canada is the best customer the U.S. has is Canada's industrial development.

Great Fallacy

"There is no greater fallacy than to believe that industrialization eliminates the possibilities of trade on the grounds that industrial countries produce everything for themselves and become independent of one another's goods. In the case of Canadian-American trade, exactly the opposite is true.

"As Canadian industry expands, we buy an abundance of new machinery, equipment and service parts from you. As our labor force becomes industrialized, our wages and incomes rise and we have become a high-standard-of-living country, producing a huge market for the sale of your consumption goods. Furthermore, the pattern of our manufacturing industries is more likely to be complementary rather than competitive with yours."

Mr. Mackenzie marked the Geneva and Havana trade concessions as important but said they were only a step in the right direction. Canada stood ready to go on.

2 DP Camps 'Very Poor' Ottawa Says

Find Accommodation Bare Minimum; Conditions Improved

OTTAWA, Oct. 25—(CP)—The living conditions of displaced persons at Emerson, Man.—described by federal investigators as "very unsatisfactory" — have been "materially improved," Labor Minister Mitchell said Saturday.

The same improvement has been made in three other D.P. camps in Manitoba, he said in an 800-word statement. Mr. Mitchell also released the reports of five men who inspected the camps following disclosures by a Winnipeg newspaper.

The newspaper said displaced persons at Emerson were living in "squalor, filth and misery" under conditions they felt were in many cases worse than in camps in Germany.

One of the investigators is Fred J. White of Winnipeg, regional superintendent of unemployment insurance. Accommodation at Emerson, he reported, was "what could be termed 'a bare minimum.'"

Keeps Aloof

In Winnipeg, Agriculture Minister Campbell of Manitoba said he would not associate himself with the federal investigators report. He maintained that investigation by provincial authorities showed conditions at Emerson were "much above the minimum standard."

Mr. White's report said in part:

"It appeared to me that there was over-crowding in the dormitories . . . One very serious omission at this camp (Emerson) was the lack of hot water for washing. . . . the sanitation facilities were inadequate. There is no staff responsible for the care of the privies or dormitories. Each person is expected to look after his own with the result that the condition is demoralizing . . . "

Mr. Mitchell said he believes the "main difficulties" are due to insufficient camp help and "some carelessness on the part of the men themselves."

Threatening Letter

But "the worst feature of the whole affair" was a letter sent to the Emerson D.P.S. "implying that men who failed to carry out instructions might be sent back to Germany."

This letter, which federal and Manitoba officials disclaim, was signed by an official of the Manitoba farm help service.

"Not only was the letter unwarranted," said Mr. Mitchell, "but it was contrary to the well-publicized instruction of the Labor Department that threats of such a nature were not to be even hinted at."

3 Hunters Drown

TABER, Alta., Oct. 25 — (CP). — Three duck hunters were drowned in an irrigation storage reservoir near here Saturday when their boat upset. The dead are Allan Merida Jensen, 35; Parley Bynumhill, 26, and John Walter Myre, 24. All were from Taber.

FIRST MECHANICAL CORN PICKER operating in Peterborough county made local harvesting history on the Petrie farm, south from No. 7 Highway, at the school east of Burnham's woods. The arms of the machines, at the Left, loosen and gather in the ripened cobs, which are then husked and carried to a wagon, on the opposite side of the machine. The driver of the picker is Irvine McIntosh, and the little boy on the wagon, which is drawn by the machine, is Billie Petrie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Petrie. The yield from the six acres was not known at the time the job was under way. This is the first hybrid corn crop grown for feed grain to be harvested by a mechanical picker in Peterborough county. W. W. Dawson, Otonabee, used a harvesting combine with satisfactory results last year.

Corn Picker Harvests Crop Of Hybrid Corn In Otonabee

A mechanical corn picker was gathering a promising harvest of feed grain Friday afternoon on the Petrie farm, down the road that crosses No. 7 Highway at the west of the Mark Burnham woods.

The machine is also booked for Clarence Coons and Bert Armstrong. The operator was Irvine McIntosh, son of Gordon McIntosh, twice warden of Peterborough county.

The significance of the work of Earl and Kenneth Petrie was its fresh evidence that hybrid corn can be grown to maturity in this area. And hybrid corn means nutritious feed for farm stock, including poultry and hogs.

Sown after the middle of May, the hybrid corn, ripening within 90 to 95 days, did well on the field of fairly heavy Otonbee loam that grew hay and clover last year. The Petrie treatment was about 300 pounds of fertilizer to the acre.

"It didn't do very much for the first few weeks, but it gradually began to improve, weathered the dry spell through most of August and September, and was probably inbetter condition for harvesting three weeks ago before the rains came," Earl Petrie told the Examiner. "I'd judge there is about 20 per cent moisture in it."

The corn picker does more than its name connotes. It gathers the cobs from the stalks, husks them and delivers them into a wagon that is drawn by the machine. When one wagon is loaded it is hauled away, and another takes its place.

Few cobs escape the clutches of the picker. If an odd one is missed here and there, the hogs or cattle will get them in the field. Farmers know that it does a clean job. The final stage is in the care against effect of moisture.

The Petrie corn was spread on the upper floor of an airy shed, and will presumably be fed as whole grain. Some farmers have been enquiring about buying a supply for chickens, turkeys and hogs.

Will Dawson combined a field last year with satisfactory results. He said he took off a lot of grain, and he had no trouble with it at any time, after it came through a late September frost. He put in another planting this season, but the long dry spell through late summer was too much for it. Only this week he was wishing he had that same stock of feed corn on hand for the months ahead.

Expectations last winter were loking forward to a fairly large seeding of the hybrid variety and also to the prospect of a picker for the crop. The picker is available, but the fields are few.

Volume of the Petrie yield could not be estimated Friday afternoon, but the cobs were dropping fairly plentifully into the wagons.

Earl Petrie said he felt convinced that corn could be generally sown earlier than the established practice. The idea that it should not be in the ground before June 10, has weakened a lot in his reckoning. He also holds more firmly to the opinion that nutrient results are better if the planting is earlier, that is within reasonable caution.

An elongated area of high pressure lies in a northeast-southwest line across southern Ontario this morning. The easterly motion of this high pressure area is for the time being retarded by a storm moving rather slowly northeastward along the Atlantic coast.

Skies are generally clear in our regions. The few patches of cloud which remain are dissipating rapidly. Over northern Ontario a strong flow of relatively warm dry air from the central sections of the continent gave temperatures in the mid-50s in extreme northern sections Sunday. Today maximum temperatures in those regions should exceed the 60 mark. Tuesday promises to be clear and warm in all except extreme northern regions where the approach of somewhat colder air will bring some cloudiness.

Forecasts:

Eastern Lake Erie, Niagara and Lake Ontario regions — Overcast today and tonight, clearing Tuesday morning. A little warmer Tuesday. Winds light.

Summary for Tuesday: Mostly clear and a little warmer

Lake Huron, Georgian Bay and Haliburton regions — Variable cloudiness today clearing tonight. Tuesday clear and warmer. Winds light.

Summary for Tuesday: Clear and warmer.

New Army Head Disciplinarian

LONDON, Oct. 25 (Reuters)—A 60-year-old stern disciplinarian who carried scars of 10 battle wounds, is the newly-appointed head of western Europe's land forces.

Gen. Jean de Lattre de Tassigny is the land chief under Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery who heads the defence forces of the five-country Western union.

De Tassigny loves order and believes in many of the "old school" methods for turning out the perfectly disciplined soldier.

After the fall of France, he served in the unoccupied territory and in Tunisia, and headed a plan to prevent the complete occupation of France. Betrayed, he was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment in 1943.

The same year he escaped by sawing the bars of his cell, cutting out a wood windowframe, and evading the 50 policemen, picked to guard him.

ing for you." No information was available until after Inspector Wood arrived. It was after he came that photographers were allowed to take pictures. Earlier a corporal had said: "We have nothing to say. We have instructions from the highest authority to say nothing."

After hearing the shots and seeing flashlights, Mr. Utter stepped out of his house. Police ordered him to go back inside. Later Mr. Utter told reporters he had heard four or five shots in rapid succession and suggested a machine gun may have been used.

Other residents also were warned to go back into their homes. Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Buckingham said they heard five shots.

Pick Up Several Men

During the long search, police cruisers picked up a number of young men and brought them to Inspector Wood's headquarters in the lane beside the church. One, wearing a white sweater, was picked up as he ran along the roadside. No information was given out by police as to what was done with these youths.

Dr. Isaac Crack, assistant coroner at Hamilton, said the body was removed to the morgue at Hamilton General Hospital.

Two young people coming home from Hamilton were stopped during the search and police told them: "Don't go down there, we've just shot a man and there's another armed man free."

Kobak appeared in magistrate's court at Hamilton today on a charge of theft. He stood expressionless, his hands in the pockets of his grey tweed topcoat, as he was remanded to Nov. 1.

St. Laurent Is Back At Desk In Ottawa

OTTAWA, Oct. 25 (CP)—With Louis St. Laurent back at his desk, the capital is buzzing anew with guesses asto when he will take over from Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

The acting prime minister said Sunday night on his return from London, where he represented Canada at the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference, that the date still is up to Mr. King.

One thing is certain: the new leader of the Liberal party won't become prime minister until Mr. King, recovering in London from a sudden illness, returns to Canada.

Mr. St. Laurent told reporters Sunday night that Mr. King probably will be back in Ottawa by the end of October, as planned.

Industrials Dipped Downwards Today

TORONTO, Oct. 25 — (CP) — Industrials dipped downwards as profit-taking entered the market on the Stock Exchange here today. Trading was heavy in a stronger gold list with speculatives in the limelight. Base metals also weakened.

Prices slipped from the opening bell in industrials, but showed signs of recovering in mid-session. Utilities and papers led the downward trend and losses ranged up to a point. Steels were also easier and liquors weakened while foods were the only group to show advances.

Nicholson continued the highlight in golds, trading for a gain of 14 cents.

Consolidated Smelters, International Nickel and Noranda dipped fractions in a weak base metals list. Reeves MacDonald, Waite Amulet, Silver Miller, Labrador and Gulf Lead were down 3 to 20 cents.

Fear Livestock Hunter Victims

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 25.—(CP). —Clerk Gordon Abbott of nearby Mosa township said today that farmers are strongly critical of the Ontario Land Department's action in setting Nov. 8-10 for deer hunting in the township because the district's noted livestock, still in pasture, will be endangered.

Township council named Dec. 2-4 as the deer season and has ben awaiting departmental approval. Mr. Abbott said it is likely an official protest will be made over the change.

"Early November is no time for deer hunting in cattle country," he argued. In the three-day open season early in December last year, 80 deer were shot and not one farm animal was hit because most of the stock had been stabled for the winter.

Mosa limited deer hunting licences to its own residents.

Dr. W. Cornell Dies At Mountain 'San'

HAMILTON, Oct. 25—(CP), — Dr. W. G. Cornett died this morning at the Mountain Sanatorium following a lingering illness.

He was born April 28, 1897, at Lansdowne, Ont. He was the youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cornett. He attended public school and collegiate in Kingston, and graduated in medicine from Queen's in 1921, followed by a year's interneship at the Hamilton General Hospital.

He studied at the Lutheran Hospital, Brooklyn.

In 1925, he joined the staff of the Mountain Sanatorium.

He was one time associate professor of medicine at Queen's University and served on the university council of the university, as well as on the Alumni Association executive.

For many years Dr. Cornett was actively associated with the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps.

Labor Dept. Names Geneva Delegates

OTTAWA, Oct. 25 (CP)—The Labor Department today announced the names of Canadian delegates to a meeting of the International Labor Organization's petroleum industry committee at Geneva Nov. 10-20. The delegates will said from Halifax Thursday aboard the liner Aquitania.

The Canadian representatives:

G. E. Nixon, Liberal Commons member for Algoma West, and V. C. Phelan, Labor department director of information, representing the government; John Buchanan of Toronto and Elroy Robson, Ottawa, workers' delegates; W. Yalden-Thomson and R. F. Hinton, both of Toronto, representing employers.

Fred Grainger Dies

NORTH BAY, Oct. 25.—(CP).—Frederick Grainger, 66, resident of North Bay for 38 years and father of the publisher of the North Bay Daily Nugget, J. F. Grainger, died Sunday night in hospital. He had been seriously ill for two weeks.

Unhurt By Nazis Franz Lehar Dies In Vienna

VIENNA, Oct. 25—(AP)—Franz Lehar, composer of The Merry Widow and one of the last links with the light-hearted music of Vienna's past, died Sunday in Bad Ischl, Austria. He was 78.

The man whose operettas were known and sung throughout the world had been ill for two years. His other hits included Springtime, Gypsy Love, The Count of Luxembourg, The Land of Smiles, The Man With Three Wives, and The World is Beautiful. Although his fame came primarily from his light music, he also had composed several sonatas, symphonic poems marches and dances.

Dr. Franz Wurnik said death was due to cancer, but Lehar also had gastric ulcers, double pneumonia, and heart ailment.

The composer's funeral will be held next Saturday. He will be buried beside his mother and his wife.

Unharmed By Nazis

Lehar was born in Komorn, Hungary, April 4, 1870. He lived in Vienna for 37 years prior to the Second World War, leaving that city in 1939 for Bad Ischl. His wife, Sophie, was a Jewess, but was not molested during the Nazi regime because of her husband's world-wide fame. Lehar had refused to take any part whatever in the Nazi movement.

When Vienna fell to the Russians in May, 1945, Lehar and his wife, at that time seriously ill, fled to Zurich. His wife died there in 1947; and Lehar returned to Bad Ischl.

Lehar's love for music was inherited from his father, a military bandmaster. He studied at the Prague Conservatory and began his career as a conductor of military bands in 1894-96. On the advice of the great Czech composer, Anton Dvork, he later devoted himself to composition.

His first opera, Kukuska, was first presented in Leipzig in 1896. When Lehar resigned as oberleutnant from Emperor Franz Josef's Austrian Imperial Army in the Spring of 1902 to devote full time to music, his army friends said he was crazy.

Just 3½ years later, Dec. 30, 1905, his first great musical hit, the operetta The Merry Widow, had its world premiere in Vienna.

This work was an instantaneous success. It was soon being given in every corner of the world. In Buenos Aires it ran simultaneously in five theatres in five different languages.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP is a lot of little things

YOU CAN SAVE ELECTRICITY

The tremendous post-war growth of Ontario's industries has resulted in unprecedented demands for hydro-electric power. To keep these industries producing, every one of us must cut down our use of electricity. You can save power by turning off all lights in rooms not in use . . . by switching off electric stoves and other appliances as soon as you are finished with them. Use electrically heated water sparingly . . . do not use electric heaters or grates. Save all the electricity you can . . . in your home, your office, your shop . . . and prove your "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.

Welsh Attends Lindsay Plant Sod Turning

LINDSAY, Oct. 25 — (CP). — Planning Minister Welsh said on Saturday that the Ontario Government offers no apology for the hydro shortage. He said the power scarcity stems from Ontario's great industrial expansion.

Mr. Welsh spoke at the turning of the first sod for a $2,000,000 sausage casing plant (Visking). The speech was his first public address since he became Minister of Planning and Development into the Kennedy Cabinet.

"The hydro situation in Ontario should not be a matter of apology but of congratulation," he said. "It has meant great development of power and power plants in Ontario and because of great industrial expansion there is a shortage....

"Industrial development has has been so marked in Ontario that I predict that the province will, in time, become the industrial centre of the British Empire."

Mayor Charles Lamb and Industrial Commissioner Dan McQuarry welcomed Visking to Lindsay, and R. H. McDowell, chief engineer of the company, turned the first two sods at the north-east corner of the factory site.

Gets 14 Days In Jail

LINDSAY, Oct. 25. — Edward Thornback, 23, was sentenced to 14 days in jail and Ken Copeland, 17, allowed off on suspended sentence for two years on the charge of breaking and entering and theft at Bowlaway Lanes and Master Feeds Elevator. The magistrate, in sentencing Thornback, said that the accused was taking the matter as a joke and that there had been too many breakins around the district of late.

Rescue Buffalo Man From Boat

PORT COLBORNE, Oct. 25.—(CP).—M. Merkling, 42, of Buffalo, was rescued from a drifting, powerless motor boat in Lake Erie several miles off Port Colborne harbor Sunday by the freighter A. J. Drury.

After renting a boat Sunday morning, Mr. Merkling had stated he would do some trolling, but after travelling two or more miles in Lake Erie, the motor stopped and the craft began drifting farther out into the lake. The fisherman lost the oars and could not prevent the boat from drifting. At 4.00 in the afternoon Mr. Merkling saw an approaching freighter and managed to hail the vessel. He was taken aboard the Drury and his small craft was towed from the stern of the ship.

After several minutes the motor boat broke loose from the freighter and was picked up by another passing vessel, the H. W. Smith, also bound for Buffalo.

Resort Owner Gets 2 Months

COBOURG, Oct. 25.—Joe Kelly, Rice Lake tourist establishment proprietor, was sentenced to two months in jail by Magistrate R. B. Baxter this morning when found guilty on a charge laid under the Liquor Control Act of keeping for sale. He was also found guilty of having liquor in an illegal place and was fined ten and costs. The conviction will be appealed.

The charges were laid after Provincial Police seized several cases of beer in a building at Joe Kelly's on Aug. 15. At his trial, the accused claimed that some of the beer belonged to his guests.

Magistrate Baxter said that it seemed peculiar that Hoffman, one of the guests who had testified he owned some of the beer, had not applied for its return.

"I don't like to convict you. You have a good business and are respected. I can't understand why you resort to this unless it is greed," commented the magistrate.

Motorcycle Catapults Into Train, Youth Dies

FORT ERIE, Oct. 25—(CP).—Richard Radford, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Radford, was instantly killed early this morning when a motorcycle on which he was riding catapulted into the side of a gondola freight car being shunted on the New York Central siding at a low level unprotected crossing.

A New York Central crew in charge of Engineer Wodle, and Conductor D. R. Boyd was shunting cars into the Horton Steel Company's yard at the time. Radford, proceeding north on Central Avenue, en route to his home, apparently did not see the moving train. Dr. Sandford English, who was called by Fort Erie police, pronounced Radford dead upon his arrival. Radford had a fractured skull, both legs broken and other internal injuries.

Fire Razes 2-Storey Dwelling At Massey

SUDBURY, Oct. 25—(CP).—Fire completely destroyed the two-storey dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Reid at Massey, 90 miles wets of here, Sunday evening. Prompt action by the town's volunteer fire department saved the Pilgrim Holiness Church, some 30 feet away.

Cause of the fire is unknown, but fire fighters said it seemed to have originated in the rear of the building where the kitchen is located. The house is owned by Mrs. Alec Corrigan, of Rouyn, Que.

Mrs. Reid and her son, Bob, 16, were alone in the house when the fire broke out about 6.30 p.m. They escaped uninjured. Mrs. Reid's husband has been employed at Sarnia for almost a year.

Six Baptized

ROSENEATH, Oct. 25. (ENS)—Six babies were baptized on Sunday morning in the United Church by Rev. R. C. White. They were: Donald Glenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Parker; Linda May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Parker; Charles Edward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Roberts; Shirley Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cephas Robins; Audrey Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Coyle, and John Francis, son of Mr. and Eric Darling. Holy Communion was served at the close of the service.

Power Use Up Again Commission Warns

COBOURG, Oct. 25 — (ENS).—The public effort in conserving power the week before last has taken a change for the worse as last week saw sharp increases that put the consumption well above the quota. It is felt by the Utilities Commission that the public relaxed economy measures when they saw that the town was keeping within a few kilowatt hours of its quota and the general let-up resulted in power consumption taking a sudden surge upwards. Figures for Friday show that the town went over the quota by 1,360 kwh to make it four days in succession that the quota was exceeded.

The public will receive a severe jolt when more drastic power interruptions are imposed, a threat which will be carried out of the consumers do not reduce current use at once, the Utilities Commission said Saturday.

COBOURG, Oct. 25 — (ENS).—Thornton Purkis, Toronto advertising man, was the speaker at the annual Rotary Club Ladies' Night. Mr. Purkis, who makes periodic trips to Europe, spoke of the great need of the British people and suggested that at Christmas time, his listeners remember friends in Britain and send them gifts of food.

Chairman of the evening was Douglas Tait, president of the Rotary Club, and with him at the head table were Claude Fowler, president of the Kinsmen Club; Mrs. Dave Houstan, Dave Houstan, president of the Kiwanis Club; Miss Christine Reynar, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club; Thornton Purkis, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Manning, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Rawcliffe.

Dr. Frank Lloyd conducted the sing-song, with Mrs. T. H. McClelland at the piano. Guests were Mrs. L. V. O'Connor, Mrs. H. Loukes, Mrs. McClelland, Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford of Trenton, Mrs. R. Gibson of Lethbridge, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Newton of Trenton, Mr. and Mrs. C. Pyland of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jex, Mrs. Christine Smillie, Miss E. Rogers, Colborne; Winston Fisher, Russell Simmons, New York City; Miss Madeline Rooney and Dr. Rodney, Hoarde, London, Eng.

Roy Willmott proposed the toast to the ladies and the response was made by Mrs. Russell Manning. Dr. Fred Blackwell delivered an address to Mr. and Mrs. Lester Caughey, who for many years have been host-hostess to the Rotary Club and who have sold the hotel and are retiring from the hotel business. Harold Gummer conveyed the thanks of the club for the excellent banquet to the hotel's new owners, Mr. and Mrs. R. Stephens.

Cost-Sharing Plan Offered By Pressmen

TORONTO, Oct. 25.—(CP).—A cost-sharing plan for working hour changes resulting from power-saving was urged in a statement issued Sunday night by the exectutive of the Federation of Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Unions of Ontario.

The executive said local unions should try to arrange with management for a plan whereby both employer and employee "would share the cost and inconvenience of any hour adjustment or change of work days" necessitated by the power shortage.

It recommended that where hours or days are changed, work should be at the rate of one-half the usual overtime premiums except on off-shifts "where the usual rate of premiums should apply."

Stockwell Stresses Need Some Outlook

KINGSTON, Oct. 25.—(CP).—Major-General H. C. Stockwell, commandant of the Royal Military Academy, Sandhurst, Eng., said here during the week-end that it was important that the youth of Britain and Canada share the same outlook.

General Stockwell paid a week-end visit to the Royal Military College here. Asked to comment on the possibility of joint training of a Western Union or United Nations armed force, he said: "It is far too early to talk of that. The Western Nations Union is very much in its infancy."

He will visit the United States Military Academy at West Point before returning to England.

George Linton Wins Contest

ROSENEATH, Oct. 25. (ENS)—George Linton won first place and the Fraser Trophy at the public speaking contest on Friday, sponsored by the Trustees and ratepayers. His subject was "Hydro". He is a pupil of Mrs. Fred Lewis in the senior room, Roseneath School, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Linton. He will go to the county finals at Hastings on Nov. 12.

Second prize and the Alnwick Township Trophy was won by Linda Arthur, who spoke on "Old Fort Henry", at Kingston. She is a pupil of Mrs. R. Crego, West School, and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Arthur.

Frieda Broadworth spoke on "Newfoundland, our newest Province." She won the third prize, the Fenella and Roseneath Women's Institute Trophy. She is a pupil of Mrs. Lewis in the senior room, Roseneath, and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Broadworth.

The Fraser Trophy was presented by Trustee Ross McCracken, the Township Trophy by Reeve O. J. Robins, and the W.I. Trophy by Mrs. J. Waldie, president of Fenella W.I.

Charlton Grigg, secretary-treasurer of the board, presided and on behalf of the board presented each contestant with a book.

The judges were: Rev. R. C. White, Miss Merla Braithwaite and John Loukes, the latter announcing the decision.

Program numbers included two songs by the north school juniors; a piano solo by Lois Arthur, a chorus by Roseneath school senior boys, and a song by Sharon Noonan, junior room, Roseneath. Mrs. Louis King played the accompaniments.

Anniversary Service Held At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. Oct. 25—(ENS).—The Rev. A. S. Trueblood of Parkview United church, Stratford, was guest speaker at anniversary services in St. John's United church Sunday. Miss Jean Scaites of Toronto, was guest soloist. Both are former residents of Campbellford.

At the evening service, Mr. Trueblood spoke on the text, "The Upper Room."

Special music for the occasion was under the direction of Charles Howey. The choir sang two anthems. Mrs. E. J. Johnson played "The Angel's Serenade" on the violin.

"O Lord Most Holy" and "He Shall Feed His Flock" were sung by Miss Scaites, and Miss Johnson's second number was a violin obligato, with solo parts by Mrs. C. Howey, Mrs. A. G. Watson, W. Henson and G. Lucy.

THE SOCIETY for the Advancement of Management has announced that Henry Ford II (above) has been awarded its "Human Relations Medal." The award is given annually to the businessman whose company does an outstanding job in the field of employee and industrial relations. The citation hails Ford for his "untiring efforts to minimize layoffs during recent model changeover in his plant.

Found On Highway

In magistrate's court on Saturday, Patrick McGowan, no fixed address, was convicted of drunkenness in a public place and on his plea of guilty fined $10 and costs. McGowan was picked up by provincial police on Friday night when he was found wandering about on No. 7 Highway.

Grand Jury Criticizes Low Pay At Penal School

COBOURG, Oct. 25.—(ENS).—Recommendations designed to better conditions in a number of institutions in Northumberland and Durham counties were contained in the report of the grand jury to the present fall assizes. The jury commented as follows:

"Industrial school at Bowmanville—we suggest that at the swimming pool a ventilating fan be installed as the rising vapor from the pool is causing disintegration of the heating systems and pipes and also is causing the plaster to fall. The services of a bull dozer are required to grade the athletics field. The salaries paid the staff are too low for the services rendered. Otherwise we find the school and grounds in very good condition."

"Children's Aid, Port Hope—there is no criticism in the care of this building, but the jury feels that the building could be enlarged in order to care for more children since it is so difficult to find foster homes for them."

Counties Home for the Aged—the air is unpleasantly stagnant, which could in a large measure be overcome by installation of one more fan and the windows be opened at the top and draft-deflecting boards be installed so that the inmates be not subjected to direct draft. The sleeping quarters of the inmates are far too crowded and more room is needed."

'Town Hall, Cobourg— the sheriff's office requires a new floor for the reason that odors from the basement are coming through the old floor and the air is very unpleasant. The Judge's office requires redecorating, both walls and ceiling. The Judge's chambers are also badly in need of re-decorating. More chairs are needed in the magistrate's room and a new cover for the table."

Cobourg Assizes Now In Third Week

COBOURG, Oct. 25 — (ENS).—Assize Court swung into its third week this morning with only the first civil case, a jury action, cleaned up. The jury retired on Friday afternoon and when they failed to reach a verdict after a length deliberation, they were directed to present a sealed verdict to the sheriff and report back today. The case is a damage action in connection with an accident. There is another jury case to go on before five cases on the non-jury civil docket, most of them divorce actions, proceed.

WHAT PRICE DEMOCRACY?

Democracy is without price . . . no one can ever take it for granted or assume it is paid for in full. It is an inheritance we are duty bound to pass on . . . not only to the next generation, but to our fellow men everywhere who have yet to enjoy its full benefits.

Democracy grew from a great ideal . . . that all men are born free and equal and are deserving of the same privileges. It can live on only if we constantly strive to fulfill this ideal and protect the priceless freedoms won.

Moderation is one of the chief safeguards of democracy. By being moderate in our thinking, in our actions, and in our pleasures, we are living democratically.

As The House of Seagram has so often stated, by being moderate in all things, including the enjoyment of whisky, we are acting for the common good.

Men who Think of Tomorrow Practice Moderation Today!

U.S. Election: The Polls And The People

With voting day in the United States Presidential election one week from tomorrow, the contradictory evidence presented by the polls and the people still features the campaign. According to the polls, Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York will be elected President by a substantial margin. Yet President Truman continues to attract large audiences, consistently outdrawing Governor Dewey and making remarkable showings even in cities regarded as Republican strongholds.

* * *

Estimated figures show that President Truman has been seen and heard by 3,800,000 people from Labour Day to the beginning of this week, and on Monday 200,000 citizens in Miami, Florida, watched him drive to a large audience at the American Legion Convention; from Miami he went to address a record, and friendly, audience at Raleigh, North Carolina. Two instances of his superiority over Governor Dewey as a political attraction were provided by audiences in St. Paul, Minnesota, and Hammond, Indiana. Minnesota is represented by two Republican Senators, yet 21,000 people turned out to hear Truman, and only 7,000 to hear Dewey; Indiana also has two Republican Senators, but Truman drew 20,000, Dewey only 7,000.

* * *

A further contradiction is provided by the press of the United States generally. It is almost unanimous in predicting the defeat of President Truman—and only slightly less unanimous in desiring that defeat. Even in his home State of Missouri, President Truman has little press support. When The St. Louis Post-Dispatch came out for Governor Dewey the other day, it completed the lineup of every major newspaper in the state against President Truman. And the great majority of all metropolitan newspapers classified as "Independent Democrat" are so independent that they are ardent supporters of Governor Dewey and the Republican Party.

* * *

The fact that President Truman has consistently drawn larger audiences than Governor Dewey does not necessarily mean that the polls and the press are wrong—but it could mean that, and it is the only evidence of uncertainty in a campaign marked by Republican complacency regarding the outcome. It is possible that the drawing power of the office rather than that of the man accounts for Mr. Truman's large audiences; there may be other reasons, such as curiosity or admiration for a man making a courageous fight against seemingly unbeatable odds. Or it may be that the large crowds actually herald one of the greatest upsets in United States political history, for that is the label that will be used if Mr. Truman is the winner when the election results are all in.

The Changed Map Of Europe

Despite the western allies having no territorial ambitions in war-time and the fact that thus far a peace settlement has still not been made over Germany, the map of Europe has changed noticeably. The chief instrument of change was Soviet Russia. We list below the principal boundary modifications.

Finland has lost to Russia a large section in the north and another section to the south-east in the area of Lake Iadoga. The Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania have disappeared into the corporation of the U.S.S.R., giving the Soviet Union an extensive Baltic coastline. The Konigsberg section of East Prussia (formerly German) has been annexed by the Soviet Union, and the capital of East Prussia has had its name changed from Konigsberg to Kaliningrad. Russia has also acquired eastern Poland and Ruthenia (formerly a part of Czechoslovakia). It has also acquired from Roumania Northern Bukovina and Bessarabia.

To compensate Poland for her losses to Russia, the remaining part of German East Prussia, the former free territory of Danzig (now called Gdansk), and a large part of Eastern Germany (Silesia and Pomerania) have been ceded to Poland. Stettin, the chief city of Pomerania, is now called Szcbecin. The large German city of Breslau, capital of Silesia, the largest German province, is now prettily named Wroclaw.

Czechoslovakia has secured from Hungary a small area bordering the Danube. Roumania has ceded southern Dobruja (a rather small area on the Black Sea south of Constanta) to Bulgaria. The Dodecanese Islands between Greece and Turkey in the eastern end of the Mediterranean have been transferred from Italy to Greece, and Venezia Giulia (the territory next to Trieste) has been transferred from Italy to Yugoslavia. Italy has also lost a few acres to France on the Franco-Italian border near Monte Carlo.

It is interesting that the chief territorial changes have taken place between Russia and her various satellites. It is not likely to foster excessively cordial relations among the satellites themselves or between them and Moscow.

Jewish Aggression

Another armistice has been ordered in Palestine and once again accepted. The Jewish offensive in the Negev desert (the southern third of Palestine) has resulted satisfactorily from their point of view; it is reported that Beersheba, an important Arab centre, has been captured. The Israeli army can afford now to take another rest from fighting.

Why has the Israeli army again been fighting? There is the excuse that the Egyptians have been acting aggressively and that the Arabs generally are in arms against the Jews of Palestine. There is the reason that the Jewish army, well-equipped, well-integrated, well-led, has been consistently successful against poorly organized Arab forces. Each time the Israeli army takes the field it can be reasonably sure of making some territorial gains. While U.N. is dawdling about de jure boundaries between Arab and Jewish Palestine, the Jews are establishing de facto ones.

The Jewish Agency for Palestine has not been slow in accusing the Arabs of "acts of aggression to alter by force the settlement of the future government of Palestine approved by the General Assembly of the United Nations". (The sentence quoted is from the heading of two memoranda submitted to the U.N. Palestine Commission in February and March last.) It can hardly be doubted that the Jews have been committing acts of aggression to ensure that U.N. does not change its mind by adopting the recommendations on partition prepared by the murdered Count Bernadotte.

That is the real reason for the most recent fighting in Palestine. The Jews and Israeli Government are using force to get what they want, lest political manoeuvring fail them.

Misleading War Phrases

A despatch from Paris quotes an alarming editorial in the French daily L'Humanite. This newspaper accuses the American Secretary of State (General Marshall) of planning a "test of force" with the Soviet Union next spring. "Marshall is hammering out the basis of a vast geo-political military plan aimed at bringing a diplomatic showdown in the cold war with Russia next spring". This is less shocking than it seems at first reading. L'Humanite is a Communist paper and not unskilled in selecting phrases which pervert facts. The sentence quoted above means little more than that the Marshall Plan (E.R.P.) and the West Europe union may be in effective operation by the spring.

It is not only Communist papers which play tricks with words. The American news agency "Associated Press" (A.P.) indulged on Tuesday in a misleading and reprehensible distortion. Its Paris report on U.N. and the Berlin blockade referred to the Soviet Union, Britain, France and the United States and, as distinct from them, the "neutrals". The word occurred several times in the despatch—for instance, in this sentence:

> Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister, sat mute throughout the answers by British, French and United States delegates to questions asked by the six neutrals of the Council.

The "six neutrals" indicated are Argentina, Belgium, Canada, Colombia, China and Syria. Has war already broken out? Are all nations now either belligerents or "neutrals"? The best interpretation that can be put on such reporting is that A.P. has been guilty of editorial comment in a news despatch.

Words like "neutral" under these circumstances distort the news. It is propaganda. The unwary eye passes over the word without a quiver, but the mind retains the impression of a world at war. A hundred such turns of phrase a week create war-fever They are the tactics of Colonel McCormack of Chicago and should not be used by a reputable news agency.

"Of Cabbages And Kings"

By PETER ELIOT

ONE of the most fascinating characters of the early nineteenth century was the little-known Francis Jeffrey, editor of the Edinburgh Review. His biographer, Henry Cockburn (more respectably known as Lord Cockburn) tells a story of an occasion about 1790 when the future editor of the famous Review, when seventeen, helped to carry Boswell to bed "in a state of great intoxication." Next day when Bozzy learned who had performed this important piece of work, he rapped Jeffrey on the head, told him he was a very promising lad, and prophesied that if he went on as he had begun he might outdo "Bozzy" himself.

◇ ◇ ◇

FRANCIS Jeffrey never became a Bozzy but he became world famous in the short space of twenty years and acquired considerable literary reputation. Jeffrey was spoken of in the same breath with Sir Walter Scott—no one dreamt of any anomaly in coupling a book-reviewer with the most popular and well respected poet of the day. Both Campbell and Moore, two writers who were pounced on by Jeffrey, agreed that he was the ablest critic of his day. Hazlitt described him as "the prince of critics and the king of men". He was worshiped by both Carlyle and Macaulay.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE Edinburgh Review was planned in Jeffrey's flat in Edinburgh in 1802. He was doubtful of its possibilities and only agreed to contribute to the first four numbers. Sidney Smith—the famous "Smith of Smiths"—was its first editor. Jeffrey took over in 1803 and guided its fortunes for the next twenty-six years. Its high critical standards were due to his cool, clear and judicial mind—the type of mind that is not rushed off its feet by the reputation or personality of an established author. Moore—suffering under the keenness of Jeffrey's pen—challenged him to a duel. Yet when the critic learned that the poet was in distress he immediately offered him £500, with apologies for his "presumption."

◇ ◇ ◇

W. MACQUEEN-POPE in Haymarket: Theatre Of Perfection tells — in highly readable form—the story of the most comic Haymarket character. He was eccentric Robert Coates, son of an Antigua sugar-planter, who at thirty-six came to London to "cut a dash." Speaking of his clothes the author says, "they were outrageous even amongst the Regency bucks. Summer and winter, he covered himself with furs, and diamonds gleamed from his costume wherever room could be found for them. His buttons were diamonds, as were the buckles of his knee breeches."

◇ ◇ ◇

COATES was under the illusion that he could act and he chose the Theatre Royal, Bath, so that he could play Romeo. The audience never stopped laughing; and next day "Romeo" Coates was the talk of the town. The idiot cried at the end, "Haven't I done well?", claiming that the reading of Romeo improved on the original! Next he took the Haymarket, and again the audience split its sides. For the part he wore "a sky blue spangled cloak, red and very tight pantaloons, muslin vest, a full bottomed wig and—an opera hat. . . . He was wooden to a degree, yet he could not keep still for one moment—the hall-mark of the amateur! . . . They laughed continuously and uproariously. Then came the cry of "Cock-a-doodle-do." Coates interrupted his speech and crowed back at them in delight.

"Ah, you like my acting, do you?" he asked. "I'm a good actor."

IN the tomb scene, it is related, he dragged Juliet round the stage like a sack, by her hair; and for the death scene he spread an enormous silk handkerchief on the stage, which brought roars of delight. Stopping he moved to the front and said: "Ah, my friends, you may laugh if you like. But I'm the sensible one. Do you think I'm going to spoil my nice new clothes on these dirty boards? Not I."

When the audience, now sick with laughter, cried "Encore" he rose up in triumph to die all over again, but poor Juliet, who'd had enough, scuppered him by stepping to the front with a witty and clever paraphrase. "Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "please don't encourage him, I beg of you".

"Dying is such sweet sorrow
"That he will die again, until tomorrow."

◇ ◇ ◇

WHEN Cyril Maude in 1898 staged Henry Arthur Jones' The Manoeuvres Of Jane, and so "gagged" for laughs, Jones, furious, pursued Maude everywhere he went. When that actor took his ride in Rotten Row, he would hear hoof-beats pounding up behind him. Then he would hear Jones calling him, accusing him of his gags, deriding him. Maude would break into a canter, so would the author. Maude would make his horse gallop: the author did likewise. Round they would go in a mad chase, and above the thudding of the hooves Maude could still hear the jeremiad of Jones. But Maude stuck to his guns. He kept the gags in—and added to them.

JOSEPH Wood Krutch in his recent Samuel Johnson, a Biography gives much serious consideration to Boswell. He makes use of the recently discovered Boswell papers, for example to contest a modern view that Boswell was a literary artist who, instead of reproducing Johnson's conversation accurately, took liberties with it and "improved" it. There were certainly apparent instances of this:

One instance has long been famous, since it happened to be revealed by a comparison of a passage in BOSWELLIANA with the corresponding passage in the Life, and was therefore one of the few bits of evidence available before the discovery of the Private Papers. In Boswelliana Johnson is reported to have said of old Sheridan and his scheme for the improvement of elocution: "He is like a man attempting to stride the English Channel," and then: "It is like setting up a candle at Whitechapel to give light at Westminster."

"NOW WHAT?"

Mystery Of A Son Of Dickens

MORRIS LONGSTRETH IN THE R.C.M.P. QUARTERLY

THE Force's tie-in with the creator of Mr. Pickwick, David Copperfield, Mr. Micawber, and the Wellers, rests on official records, yet has the glamour of mystery.

Charles Dickens' third son and fifth child was born January 15, 1844, and christened Francis Jeffrey. Later he was nicknamed Chickenstalker by his affectionate and doting father. For some unexplained reason he was educated on the Continent. He was brought back to England to go into business but could not stick it and left for India to visit his brother Walter, who died while Francis Jeffrey was on the way out. He joined the Bengal Police and became district superintendent in his 20's.

At Charles Dickens' death in 1870, Francis Jeffrey, now suffering from sunstroke, returned to England. In spite of inheriting his father's gold watch, he was not always punctilious as regards time. He outstayed his leave in London and lost his commission in India. He came to Canada in the Spring of 1874 and on November 4 of that year was appointed sub-inspector in the new North West Mounted Police, as the Force was then known, but "lost" a couple of days in Toronto.

This lapse from punctuality cost the junior officer nearly $200 as he had to defray the expenses incident to rejoining the Force from his own pocket.

HOWEVER, he shook down into the service and saw 12 years of active duty which culminated in the half-breed uprising of 1885 and his defence of Fort Pitt, a police outpost on the north branch of the Saskatchewan river. The story can be read in all the histories. His gallantry was praised in the press and a medal awarded. Sir Henry Fielding Dickens, the last surviving child of the great novelist, shortly before his death 15 years ago, asked that this medal be placed in some museum connected with the Mounted Police and for the past five years it has reposed in the R.C.M.P. Museum at the Depot barracks.

Francis Jeffrey's increasing deafness and debility led to his being invalided in 1886 with a gratuity of 12 months' pay in appreciation of his services. Three months later he was dead. His body lies buried at Moline, Ill

The mystery begins when one starts to think about this man, so long in a responsible position, so little known. His father's biographers barely mention him. His brother officers found him an enigma. A few intimates called him "Dickie", but his manner is most often described as absorbed, almost morose. He had two confidants, an Irish retriever and a favourite shotgun. The most familiar picture given by his associates is that of a thin, smallish, heavy-bearded man with reddish brown hair strolling off on the prairie with these companions, neither of which could embarrass him with questions.

People persisted in asking why he did not follow in his father's footsteps and write books. When sufficiently goaded he had an answer to that. He would write one book, he said acidly. Its subject would be the prohibition-dry Northwest Territories, its title "Thirty Years Without Beer". It would have been a corker.

IT is a commonplace that the sons of genius almost never exhibit the drive, the intensity, the quality of inspiration of the father. So one accepts Francis Jeffrey's differences, his saturnine moods in contrast to Charles Dickens' expansiveness and exuberance. Perhaps his coldness was a mask for sensitiveness. Perhaps his tendency to withdraw may have been a seeking of what William Penn called the "fruits of solitude". It must be difficult to be the offspring of one of the most loved and idolized men of your time. To Francis Jeffrey it may have grown intolerable.

Yet I think the mystery goes deeper than that. Why did Francis Jeffrey Dickens decline to talk about his father? Where was the natural pride in such a family celebrity? In a broadcast, Mr. James McCook pictures Charles Dickens' gold watch that "timed the pages of David Copeprfield and marked the minutes as the Indians howled about Fort Pitt" as a drama of contrast which the elder Dickens would have seized with rapture. But the son disposed of the gold chain to a batman and the watch itself to an acquaintance. Did he feel no attachment to the heirloom? Or none to his loving father? And is so, why? Some psychoanalyist may have the answers.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time . . .

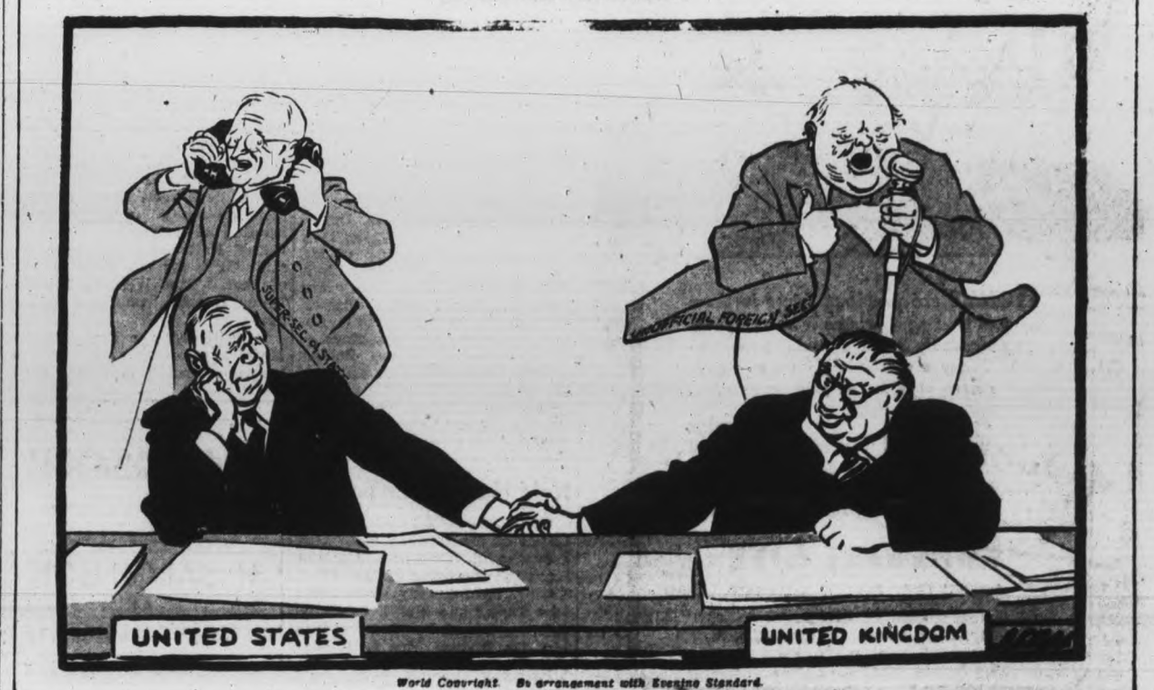
Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour: whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world.

But the God of all grace, who hath called us unto his eternal glory by Christ Jesus, after that ye have suffered a while, make you perfect, stablish, strengthen, settle you. (I Pet. 5: 6, 8-10.)

◇ ◇ ◇

For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ; who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works. (Titus 2: 11-14.)

ONLY HIM



Said the dresser to the acress: "There's a man at the door who insists on coming in."

"Did you ask for his card?" inquired the star.

"Yes, but he only laughed and tried to kiss me."

"Oh, let him in," said the actress. "That's my husband."

Places Cornerstone

WOODBRIDGE—Premier Kennedy placed cornerstone of an $8,000 Canadian Legion Hall in this York County community. Speaking later a drumhead service, he said: "This cornerstone not only does honor to this branch of the Canadian Legion but also symbolizes the greater vision of freedom for which the Legion throughout Canada stands."

NIAGARA FALLS — Representatives of Canada and the United States Sunday celebrated United Nations Day with a ceremony on the international boundary at the centre of the Rainbow Bridge. In a brisk wind which bore spray from the great falls, the United Nations flag was unfurled.

BUENOS AIRES — Jose A. Arrieta, a Uruguayan newspaper man employed by Reuters News Agency here, was released by Argentine Federal police after being in custody nearly 24 hours. He declined to say what he was questioned about, except that it did not concern his work as a newspaper man.

BATAVIA, Java — An official announcement said Indonesian Republicans have swept Communists from city strongholds and consider the military revolt crushed except for rebel attacks in isolated areas. President Soekarno said the only remaining task is to purge rebel remnants from back areas.

HELSINKI — Police and strikers clashed for the second straight day outside the Arabia porcelain factory. The skirmish began when 100 club-wielding police charged about 1,000 strikers and onlookers who were milling outside the factory gates trying to prevent non-strikers from entering.

TORONTO — The city coroner's office reported a two-months-old infant died in Mercer Reformatory from accidental suffocation during the night. No inquest will be held. The mother, a prisoner, discovered the child's death when she went to feed it in the reformatory nursery.

Printer Dies

MIAMI, Fla. — Irving I. Stone, 93, dean of American printers and retired mechanical superintendent of the Chicago Daily News, died. Among the many inventions by which he helped improve the printing trade are the automatic tension and reel by which rolls of newsprint can be changed on big presses without slowing the operation.

HONG KONG — Mrs. Richard Morrow-Tait and her navigator, Michael Townsend, have left continuing their round-the-world flight. The fliers, who reached Hong Kong from Indo-China, have been held up twice since leaving Britain Aug. 18—at Marseille, France, and Calcutta, India—both times by damage to their plane.

MOSCOW — The weekly magazine Literary Gazette criticized Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt on grounds she is "using a popular name for purposes alien to that person who was one of the founders of the United Nations." It was the first serious criticism of the late president's widow in the Russian press.

LONDON, Eng.—The BBC announced after consultations extending over many years a decision has been reached to broadcast Holy Communion services. Rev. Francis House, director of religious broadcasting, said the decision was often deferred because of a feeling among some churchmen that a broadcast of Christianity's most solemn ceremony would be irrevelent.

FORT ERIE—A lake freighter with mixed cargo was aground on a Lake Erie reef off Port Abino, five miles southwest of here. The ship, owned by the Columbia Transportation Company, grounded on the reef during an early morning fog while outbound for Buffalo.

SUDBURY, — Oscar Handula was convicted of attempting to murder Hermel Tremblay, 44-year-old bush workers. After four hours deliberation a jury decided 43-year-old Handula, of Peterbell, Ont., fire a .410 shot gun at Tremblay in Handula's bush cabin Aug. 22 in an attempt to kill him. Sentence will be passed at the conclusion of the fall assizes.

OSHAWA. — William Forsythe has received a cheque for $9.91, his share in salvage money from a torpedoed oil tanker he helped keep from foundering 600 miles off the coast of Newfoundland. Forsythe was serving as a navy signalman on the corvette Mayflower in March, 1942, when he took part in the rescue of the Imperial Transport.

KINGSTON. — Arthur Wallace Havelock Robb has been made an honorary chief of the Mohawk Indians with the tribal name of "White Pine Chief". He spent 17 years studying the tribe's history and piecing together its ancient lore in preparation of an epic entitled "The Thunderbird".

WELLAND. — Electro-Metallurgical Company and Page-Hersey Tubes Ltd., have signed new wage agreements with the United Electrical Workers (CIO). The Electro contract, covering about 1,400 employees, provides for an additional 12 cents an hour now and two cents more next April. At Page-Hersey, 1,100 workers will receive increases which average 18 cents an hour. Former basic rates were not given in the UEW announcement.

Educationist Dies

LOS ANGELES.—George Edwin Burnell, 85, religious educationist whose home in nearby Arcadia was a mecca for students from all over the world, died. He was the author of more than 1,000 reports in the fields of metaphysics and sacred literature, used widely in religious institutions.

JACKSON, Calif.—Albert M. (Mike) Treynor, 64, novelist and screen playwright, died after a short illness. A former newspaper drama critic in New York and Chicago, he later was a screen playwright for 20th Century Fox, RKO, Columbia and other Hollywood studios.

HORNING'S MILLS.—A 30-man search party found two young boys who were lost in the bush. When searchers from this Dufferin county community came upon them, the boys, Jimmy Fraser, 10, and Richard Harrison, six, were preparing a Boy Scout style bed of leaves and boughs on which to spend the night in the woods.

Dutchmen Trip Tigers 4-0; Teepees Tied

By The Canadian Press

Both junior and senior Ontario Hockey Association league-leaders were slowed down over the week-end.

St. Catharines Teepees juniors were forced to a 2-2 tie with the underdog St. Michael's College Majors in Toronto Saturday afternoon. Hamilton Tigers, riding a four-for-four winning streak, took a 4-0 loss from Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen.

In other week-end junior games, Oshawa Generals bested Stratford Kroehlers 5-2, Galt Rockets edged out Barrie Flyers 4-3 and Guelph Biltmores defeated Toronto Marlboros 5-3.

In the other senior game, Stratford Indians moved into a second-place tie with Kitchener-Waterloo by defeating Owen Sound Mercurys 6-5. Both Stratford and Kitchener-Waterloo — with five points — trail Tigers by three points.

St. Michael's College, led by rugged defenceman Tim Horton who scored the only two tallies, displayed a neat brand of hockey as the drove in on Teepees.

St. Kitts, who had won their first four starts—counted on goals by Jack MacIntyre and Fred Hildebrand.

Netminding Tops

Kitchener - Waterloo gained their win largely by the sterling netminding of Marcel Pelletier, who gained his first shutout in five games.

Tigers, minus the assistance of star forward Clare Shillington, managed to keep the Dutchmen scoreless in the first period. In the second frame, Trent Anderson and Pete Grasser tallied.

Don Bauer notched Dutchmen's other two goals in the final period.

Guelph Biltmores moved into a second-place five-way tie with Windsor Rockets, Oshawa, Galt and Barrie, with their victory over the cellar-dwelling Toronto Marlboros. Marlies have yet to win a game in three starts.

Frank Bathgate paced the winners with a three-goal splurge. Bill Mullen and Jack Ewing took singletons.

Marlboros' snipers were Bob Galand, Harry Lee and Neil Grenke.

Stratford Indians took their second-place tie when they outscored Mercurys.

With less than one minute left in regulation time, Billy Flick scored the winning counter. Top scorer for the Indians was Mickey Roth, with two goals. The others went to playing-coach Bill Woodward and Joe Nelmes.

McReavy Stars

Pat McReavy took top honors for the Owen Sound squad with three goals. Tommy Burlington and Art Hayward got singletons.

Oshawa Generals led Krohlers 2-1 at the end of the first period on goals by Keith Montgomery, formerly of Peterborough, and Dick Gamble. Pierre Cadieux got the return tally minutes later.

Generals added two more in the middle frame—Thompson and Palmer doing the honors. The third period saw Blair and Palmer get their second goals before O'Hearn notched one for Stratford.

Only one game is slated on tonight's OHA schedule—Stratford Kroehlers playing host to Windsor Spitfires.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Fort William Columbus Hockey Club has granted the transfer to Stratford Kroehlers of Danny Lewicki, 17-year-old winger.

Ed Romano, president of Columbus Club, announced Lewicki's release Saturday. Lewicki figured in a bidding battle between Stratford of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League, and director Conn Smythe, of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Smythe wanted Lewicki to play with Toronto Junior Marlboros. Lewicki wanted to play with Stratford, Romano said. Smythe paid Providence Reds of the American Hockey League more than $10,000 for the winger, now at Stratford.

At Stratford, J. H. Wyatt, president of the Stratford club, confirmed the transfer. He said the club has been assured no difficulty will be experienced in obtaining Lewicki's transfer from the Thunder Bay Hockey Association.

Kent Phillips of Saskatoon, president of the Canadian Rugby Union, announced Sunday he had received "disappointing news" concerning the Canadian junior football final, scheduled to take place in the east Nov. 20.

Mr. Phillips said that apparently there was some difficulty being experienced in obtaining a sponsor for the proposed final. Unless a sponsor was forthcoming in the near future there may not be an east-west final this year.

The CRU president said that, in the face of the existing situation, he was authorized by the Saskatoon Hilltop junior club, "in the event of Hilltops winning the western Canada championship they could guarantee complete expenses of the eastern champions to Saskatoon for the national final on Nov. 20.

Joey Bomber, from the W. J. Frewster Stables, Saturday won the featured fifth race at the opening day of Toronto Dufferin Park's fall race meet—the 40th anniversary of the track.

Leading the way from start to finish, Joey Bomber finished a length ahead of John Stuart's Watchrack, and did the 1 1-16 miles in 1:53 2-5. Watchrack was more than six lengths ahead of Exploiter and the favored Patroy was fourth.

Dr. Stanton, owned and driven by W. L. (Lindy) Fraser of Forest, Ont., won both ends of the Aurora Downs Pacing Derby for the second year in succession as grand circuit harness racing ended Saturday night at Aurora, Ill.

In the fifth race, a $3,000 divided free-for-all pace at 9-16ths of a mile, Dr. Stanton easily whipped seven other pacers. He was sent into the lead at the start and remained there to make every pole a winning one.

Dr. Stanton reeled off the distance in 1:08 and returned $3.40 to those in the crowd of 5,500 who backed him to win.

In the second half of the pacing derby, the $3,000 free-for-all pace at one mile, Dr. Stanton won in even easier fashion in 2:05 2-5 to return $2.60 for first.

Toronto horsemen Sunday night refused to accept the resignation of William F. Morrissey as president of the Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Association.

Morrissey told a special meeting he wished to resign because of the failure of all tracks associated with the incorporated Canadian Racing Association — except the Ontario and Hamilton Jockey Clubs—to co-operate with him when he sought improvements for horse operators.

Vic Obeck, director of athletics at McGill University, Montreal, confirmed Saturday a report that plans are in the making to expand Molson Stadium to a major football bowl seating 35,000.

Obeck said the plan had not yet been presented for approval to the McGill athletic board but interest had already been shown by university officials.

1 Billion Cigarettes Smoked In August

OTTAWA, Oct. 25. — (CP). — Number of cigarettes released from bond for consumption in Canada rose to 1,318,000,000 in August from 972,000,000 in July and 1,180,000,00 in August, 1947, the Bureau of Statistics reported.

During the first eight months of 1948, a total of 10,103,000,000 cigarettes were released from bond compared with 9,501,000,000 in the similar period of 1947.

Cigars released from bond during the month totalled 15,400,000 against 13,600,000 in July and 14,200,000 a year ago, bringing the eight-month total to 134,300,000 against 137,300,000 in 1947. Cut tobacco released amounted to 2,057,000 pounds against 2,019,000 in July and 2,191,000 last year, while plug tobacco released totalled 133,000 pounds compared with 144,000 in July and 218,000 last year.

Alouettes Unzip Surprise Attack Upset Argonauts And Riders; Western Downs Queen's 19-12

By The Canadian Press

Montreal Alouettes unzipped the week-end's surprise package and practically guaranteed themselves a spot in the Big Four football playoffs.

They beat the suddenly-rejuvenated Toronto Argonauts 22-17 Saturday then rolled to a 35-13 victory Sunday over Ottawa Rough Riders.

Argos' defeat Saturday practically eliminated them from football playoffs this year. Showing flashes of the form that carried them to three consecutive Dominion championships, the Scullers came within a touchdown of winning but fumbled away four touchdowns.

Two touchdowns with five minutes to go gave Ottawa a 17-8 victory over Hamilton Wildcats Saturday in the other Big Four game.

In the western football conference, Calgary Stampeders finished their 10-game season undefeated and untied by rolling to a 19-0 victory over Regina's last-place Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Hamilton Tigers beat Sarnia Imperials 18-1 for their eighth straight victory in the Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union and Toronto Beaches Indians took over second place in the league by blanking Windsor Rockets 6-0.

Down Queen's

University of Western Ontario Mustangs chalked up their 25th consecutive intercollegiate victory—a 19-12 win over Queen's—and the University of Toronto came back after two consecutive defeats to plaster McGill 41-0.

Argos touchdown twins—Joe Krol and Royal Copeland—were back in form as Argos battled back from a 22-6 short end to come within five points of Alouettes. Four backfield fumbles were converted into touchdowns to give Lew Hayman's boys the victory.

Virgil Wagner went for two majors with Bronco Reese and Bob Cunningham each adding one. Steve Nemeth converted two trys.

Krol, recovered from a knee injury that had him limping for three weeks, scored one touchdown, pitched a touchdown pass to Copeland and converted two of the three Argo majors. Byron Karrys scored one of the touchdowns.

Alouettes despite the bruising they got from Argos, took to the air Sunday to overwhelm the first-place Rough Riders.

Jim Toohey and Bob Cunningham each collected two more majors, Wagner and Bruce Coulter got one each. Veteran Ches McCance converted four of them and Fred Kijeck kicked a single. Bob Paffrath's touchdown put Riders briefly in the lead in the first quarter and Tony Golab got one in the second quarter. Eric Chipper converted two and Howie Turner kicked a single.

As a result of the upset, Argos must win their next two games and the last-place Hamilton Wildcats must spill Alouettes if the Scullers are to make the playoffs.

Ottawa was stretched to the limit Saturday by Wildcats. Trailing 8-5 in the last quarter, Riders went ahead when Bert Haigh and Buck Rogers went over for touchdowns. Paffrath got one in the second quarter after a scoreless first period.

Heavy kicking by Ralph Larue held Ottawa at bay for the first three periods while Benny Dyack got Hamilton's sole touchdown.

Western's victory over Queen's brought them within a game of the 26-straight-win record set by a Queen's squad in the early 1920s. Toronto's defeat of McGill left Varsity, Queen's and McGill all with one win and two losses.

Bruce Cummings threw four touchdown passes as the Blues smothered McGill with a surprising aerial attack. On the other end was Bill Danylchuck who caught two of them and intercepted a McGill forward to go for another and ran 18 yards for a fourth touchdown.

Lakefield Gets Grid Win Over St. Peter's

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 2—5(ENS).—Lakefield High School football team defeated St. Peter's High by a score of 32-12 in a scheduled COSSA football game played here Saturday. Forward passing played an important part in the game, with the victors completing six of the eight passes attempted, three of which went for touchdowns. Lakefield dominated the first quarter and Coyle and Kelly each got a major score. Neither was converted. St. Peter's retaliated in the second quarter and scored seven points on a rouge and Crowley's converted touchdown. In the second half, the home team allowed the visitors only one major score while they amassed 22 points. Twist made two touchdowns and a convert, while Coyle garnered 10 points on two of Kelly's touchdown passes. This is Lakefield's last home game of the schedule. They have one remaining game in Lindsay on Oct. 27, and the season will end with the annual rugby dance at Lakefield Memorial Hall Nov. 5. Lineups:

Lakefield—Kelly, J. Sloan, D. Sloan, Pearson, Berger, Crawford, J. Sabatino, J. Deck, D. Calberry, Coyle, Blake, P. Calberry, Twist, Wilford, E. Sabatino, Knox, Darling.

St. Peter's—G. Crowley, Fitzpatrick, Cavanaugh, Brioux, Wolfe, Heffernan, Hickson, Richardson, Monaghan, Pecard, C. Crowley, O'Neil, Laplant, Armstrong, Fitzgerald, Ryan, Basiano.

Argonauts, Wildcats In Sudden-Death Tilt

TORONTO, Oct. 25.— (CP).— To decide the Big Four Junior A group championship, Toronto Argonauts and Hamilton Wildcats will play a sudden-death game in Hamilton this week, probably Thursday.

The winner will play St. Catharines, the other group winner, in St. Catharines next Saturday.

The Big Four junior champion will go to Montreal Oct. 30 and the winner of that game will meet the ORFU junior champions for the eastern Canada title the following Saturday.

SOUND GAME—Wally Graham, though not the top scorer—Johnny Green was—turned in a sound game for PCVS seniors Saturday here as they walloped Albert College 58-0 to gain a playoff spot. Wally is playing good football again this season.

Campbell Cup Presented To The Petes

The Hugh Campbell Trophy, emblematic of the Central Ontario Baseball League championship, was presented Saturday night to Manager Ed Murphy of the Petes at a social gathering of club officials, players and their wives at a Bewdley cottage. A number of the players were on hand, including Larry Edwardson of Port Hope, and they had an enjoyable time.

The trophy was presented by its donor, Hugh Campbell, who put it up for competition this year, and he represented the COBL in the presentation. Vern Dawson, club president, extended his congratulations to the players on their success the past summer.

Manager Eddie Murphy praised the work of Howie Dalton who led the league in hitting, and Howie replied that you had to be lucky.

The club voted a donation of $50 to the Civic Arena.

PCVS Seniors Lambaste Albert College

By FRED MAYBEE

Bev. Goulding's senior PCVS football squad decisively defeated Albert College here Saturday by a score of 58-0. A slippery field made the going tough for both teams.

PCVS took an early lead in the first as Green kicked a single to Merkeley from an attempted field goal. Later he plunged over for a try and converted as Coon and Graham combined to take the pigskin to the two-yard line. Good all-around team play continued to pay dividends at the 12 minute mark as a 43-yard pass, Graham to Green, was good for another major. The convert was wide. Wally Graham took the ball 25 yards to the Albert 15 early in the second on a fake end run play from whence Bill Coon plunged over on second down and Green converted. Graham next recovered a fumbled ball after the kick-off and ran 35 yards to score and Green again drop-kicked the convert.

A Field Goal

Northcott kicked a neat field goal from placement with Thompson holding half way in the second quarter. The latter later pulled a clever play as he pushed the ball as he was tackled after chasing a loose ball on a blocked kick and enabled Bill Coon to fall on it for another try. Northcott took a Green pass near half time and ran 20 yards to score. Green converted both. Graham, Green and Thompson each scored majors in the second half. The entire PCVS team looked good, with the line blocking well and giving their backfielders the protection they needed to roll up the biggest score to date. For Albert, Yakes and Merkley shone in defeat.

Albert College— Flying wing, Buchanan; halves, Yates, McConnell, Gillespie; quarter, Merkley; snap, Grieve; insides, Simard, G. Showers; middles, Baker, Holmes; outside, Middleton, Beavis; alternates, Taugher, G. Mills, Slater, Harris, Palmer, Belyea, R. Showers, Nash, Alyea, Shaw, B. Mills, Richmond.

PCVS — Flying wing, Coon; halves, Thomson, Graham, Northcott; quarter, Green; snap, Killingbeck; insides, Buck, Hempstead; middles, Lowes, Beavis; outsides, Swanston, Grainger; alternates, Sergeant, LaPlante, Payne, Welsh, Stacey, Fitzpatrick, Woodcock, Wright, Lane, Stuart, Robinson, Ward.

Referee, Ted Early; umpire, D. Duncan; head linesman, F. Brown.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

And what opponent does the Masked Marvel meet in the main pro mat bout here Wednesday night? None less than a former colonel of the American army, one Col. Pete Peterson. Fresh from a war, the big officer felt he could tackle anything, and also the dough wouldn't do any harm, so he started grappling for a living—as who isn't these days? Anyway, he is reported big and strong as well as speedy, so his tangle with the hooded horror might be right interesting. Pat Flanagan and Ben Morgan, the bearded mountain, are rematched in the semi-final, the huge guy not thinking much of a previous disqualification for slapping over the ref. And the prelim has Ben Sharpe in against Lee Henning. Quite a card.

* * * * * *

So the Panthers up and beat Orillia Bombers 16-6 here on Saturday to make a playoff spot. After losing their first two starts, they got rolling and won four in a row to get in there. Swell stuff, and now they meet Orillia here Saturday in first of a home-and-home series, points counting, for the group title. The Bombers battled all the way, having a 6-0 edge at one time and only trailing 10-6 till out in the fourth quarter. They, too, pulled a lot of fake plays to open it up and Middleton's 60-yard run for a try on an intercepted forward was a honey. They'll be tough yet. But Panthers clicked well this game, both front walls and both backfields working in fine fashion all through.

* * * * * *

A Smart Touchdown

Jim Conlin and Freddy Garvey got nice touchdowns on plunges after they and their buddies worked the ball right up the field. But the fanciest major count of the game was a fake placement by Russ Scriver and his long and accurate forward pass to Reg. Burns, who took it smartly over the line. Spike Matthews went good all the way, as did Ron Hodson and others. Mick Magee made an impressive comeback and set up one touchdown with one of his bulling plunges. The guy is a great all-around athlete. But they all did okay as a team and gave a good-sized crowd plenty of thrills in a pretty open battle. More on 'em later.

* * * * * *

As for the senior PCVS 58-0 win o'er Alberta College, what can you say about one like that? Except that Bev Goulding's smart squad beat them all the way from here to Belleville and that's that. Johnny Green again shone on the attack, scoring over half their points, while Coon, Graham, Northcott and Thomson were also potent pointgetters. With a powerful line shaking the heroes free in every frame. They looked real good as the opposition wasn't as bad as the score sounds—rather it was a classy club clicking like castanets throughout. The win assured them of a group playoff spot, in case anyone was worried.

Juniors Also Victors

It was a clean sweep in football at home Saturday as the junior PCI-ers whipped Lindsay 34-11 for their fifth straight win. Once again, Alex Londry's lads showed class with their forward flips, completing eight of 10 in a pretty fair fixture. Brown and Griffin each had two touchdowns, with Evans and Armstrong getting one each, four being converted. Jensen did some neat receiving, and the line worked hunkydory as the Lindsay boys kept battling right to the finish. In the other junior joust, Lakefield played solid football at home to defeat St. Peter's 32-12. The latter plays PCVS at the Oval on Wednesday aft.

* * * * * *

Walt Murphy advises us that the championship crests for the peewee Petes and the Tadpole Spitfires are held by him at the George St. CNR office, and players may call in for them. Also, the juvenile all-star lacrossers, who went into OLA playdowns, should call in. Walt has the theatre tickets donated by Harry Yudin. The Petes, OLA senior "B" and all-Ontario champs, will be dined by Ostrander's at the Kawartha Club at 6.30 Wednesday night. Club officials, players and their wives or girl friends—but not both at once, of course—are invited to this "do" to mark the end of the season.

Received COBL Cup

Senior baseball Petes had a cottage party down Bewdley way on Saturday eve, along with their wives and friends, a most enjoyable gathering. Hugh Campbell presented his trophy on behalf of the COBL to the league champs, Manager Eddie Murphy receiving it. Prexy Vern Dawson added his congrats to the players, and Howie Dalton drew praise for his hitting prowess the past season. The club is donating $50 to the Civic Arena. They're a fine bunch and we really enjoyed our association with them, and hope most, if not all, of them are back in harness next diamond semester.

PCVS Juniors Get Win Over Lindsay

PCVS juniors continued their winning ways at the Oval Saturday, as they defeated Lindsay 34-11 in a clean, hard football game. Passing again proved an effective factor in victory as Alex Londry's boys completed eight of 10 forwards for valuable gains.

Warren Brown crashed through for a try at 5.40 in the first quarter as he and Evans, who made 22 yards on two plunges, aided by a 10 yard pass, advanced play to Lindsay's 10. Led by De Bois, Burn and Maidens, Lindsay pressed hard into local territory and dominated play until mid-way in the second, when a 40 yard pass, Griffin to Evans, was followed by a boot to the visitors' 15. McIlraith then recovered a costly fumble and PCVS again embraced opportunity as Brown crashed over to score. Griffin tossed to Armstrong for both converts. Evans and Griffin combined early in the second half to score as the former carried 25 yards to the visitors' 40 and Griffin then carried all the way on a neat cut back around right end. Conversion failed.

Fought Back

Lindsay fought back and De Bois scored at the eight minute mark on a series of steady ground gains led by him and Burns. De Bois kicked the convert. A 15 yard penalty to Lindsay for elbowing on their 45 proved costly as a Griffin to Evans pass took the latter to the five and he went over on the next play. Griffin then converted to Armstrong and himself ran 75 yards near the end of the quarter for the best run of the day to score but missed the convert. Lindsay came back hard in the fourth and Burn finaly clicked at the nine minute mark on a nice plunge but failed to convert to make it 28-11. Late in the quarter, Jensen intercepted a pass on his rivals' 25 and Armstrong plunged across to wind up the scoring as Griffin tossed the convert to Evans. Credit for PCVS's fifth straight win must go to the team as a whole, who played a strong, consistent game both ways. For Lindsay, Burn, Maidens, De Bois, Georgas, Fitzelle and Logan were best.

PCVS Juniors— Flying wing, Evans; halves, Brown, Armstrong, McIlraith; quarter, Griffin; snap Frize; insides, Grant, Braund; middles, Knox, Jopling; outsides, Burns, Jensen; alternates, Fowler, Heard, White, Howe, Facendi, Cruickshanks, Young, Bigford, Gandy, Langhorne, Wood, Ackford.

Lindsay— Flying wing, Maidens; halves, De Bois, Fizelle, Georgas; quarter, Burn; snap, Bellamy; insides, Wilkinson, Magee; middles, Pennock, Dawson; outsires, MacLean, Richardson; alternates, Logan, Taylor, Hardy, Algar, Trotter, Ward, Balfour, Murray, Foshay.

Referee, Ouimet; umpire, Duncan; head linesman, McNabb.

Rangers Beat Houston Saints Down Omaha

By The Canadian Press

Fort Worth, St. Paul and Kansas City each gained their third victory of the season in the United States Hockey League Sunday night.

Fort Worth's Rangers defeated Houston 7-2. The Rangers scored three goals in the second period to break a 1-1 tie and then kept the game well in hand. Billy Warwick and Freddie Weaver each made two goals for the winners.

At St. Paul Mitch Pechet and Ian McIntosh also tallied two goals each as the Saints downed Omaha 7-4.

Bearden Has Trouble

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—(AP).—The world series hero Gene Bearden ran into trouble from an unexpected source Sunday. Kansas City Royals ganged up on him for three runs in five innings and went on to a 4-3 victory. A crowd of 13,552 saw the Cleveland southpaw lose to his Indian team mate, Satch Paige, in the exhibition. Paige pitched three shutout innings.

A COMEBACK—Mick Magee, smart all-around athlete, made a neat comeback in rugby here Saturday with the Panthers as they beat Orillia 16-6. He played a sound game and once set the team up for a try with a long plunge in pay territory.

Baseball Mogul Harry Grabiner Dies In Hospital

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—(AP). — Harry Grabiner, who rose from peanut vendor to vice-president of Chicago White Sox, died in a coma Sunday, 48 hours after undergoing an operation for brain tumor.

Grabiner was with the Comiskey club 41 years, resigning in 1945. In 1946 he became associated with Bill Veeck as vice-president of Cleveland Indians.

Although only 57, Grabiner was third only to Connie Mack of Philadelphia Athletics and Clark Griffith of Washington Senators in years of American League service.

His first introduction to the Comiskey family came on a Sunday morning in 1904. He served as usher, vendor, ticket seller and grandstand sweeper before being appointed assistant secretary of the Comiskey organization at the age of 15. He became secretary in 1915 when Charley Fredericks died.

By the time New York Giants and the White Sox met in the 1917 world series, Grabiner was general manager and vice-president, positions he held for 28 years.

Among those at his bedside when he died were his daughter, Mrs. Fred Friedlobs of Chicago, formerly movie star June Travis of Hollywood.

Scotty McEwan Dies

TORONTO, Oct. 25. — (CP). Henry (Scotty) McEwan, 64, Canadian featherweight boxing champion from 1906 to 1908, died Saturday following a heart seizure. About 10 years ago he founded the Old Pals Association to help young boxers and to curb evils in the sport.

Legion Takes Soccer Win Over Lindsay

Lindsay played their final game in the soccer league Saturday afternoon at King Edward Park, when Legion defeated them 8-3 in a happy-go-lucky tilt. Lindsay played with 10 men throughout the game after Barbee had to retire through an injury in the first five minutes. The visitors have protested the encounter.

Lindsay started off with smart combination to test Foster in goal, with the half backs dominating play until Barbee had to retire. Legion wing men repeatedly broke through to find Cox and Francis nullifying their progress. Eventually G. Downer opened the scoring and followed it up with another on the next raid. The best goal of the game came from the foot of Dobbie, Lindsay, when he placed the ball in below the cross-bar to make it 2-1 at the interval.

Lindsay set up a fast pace, on resuming, that had the Legion in a quandry, through their indifferent tactics. Craig, at centre-half, endeavored to pep up the boys in their efforts and finally clicked when Francis, Lindsay, headed the ball through his own goal. From the kick-off, Latham went right through to reduce the count. H. Foster got the fourth, Newt Downer the fifth and Dunn rattled in two goals in quick succession, with Newt Downer getting the eighth tally.

Lindsay—N. Thomas, goal; V. Barbee and L. Francis, full backs; T. Dobbie, R. A. Cox and W. Saunders, half backs; F. Smith, T. Hammond, H. Latham, H. Taylor and E. Moir, forwards; subs, T. Nye.

Canadian Legion—T. Foster, Sr., goal; T. Foster, Jr. and Al Downer, full backs; C. Murduff, J. Craig and B. Woodcock, half backs; H. Foster, A. Dunn, N. Downer, G. Downer and J. Downer, forwards; subs, B. Grant, A. Bromley, A. Murduff, W. Curtis.

Referee, A. N. Other; linesmen, A. Downer and E. Downer.

Panthers Grab Playoff Spot With 16-6 Win Over Orillia

Grounding Orillia Bombers 16-6 here Saturday, the local Panthers clinched an ORFU intermediate group playoff spot, finishing their schedule in second place behind Orillia. The teams will play a home-and-home series, points counting, starting here Saturday. A good-sized crowd saw a smart scrap at the Oval, pretty open at times and both sides working a lot of deceptive stuff.

Play was up and down in the first quarter, marked by hoofing exchanges, and penalties to McIntyre and Fitzgerald for roughing. Spencely blocked a kick and Burns got 12 on a lateral with John Conlin taking Scriver's forward as it ended. John and then Scriver ripped through to Orillia's 35 but a forward was intercepted. Boorer went off hurt. Garvey gained ground on a lateral from Matthews and later the latter faked a kick and ran 25, but a penalty lost them the ball. Spike had a good runback and, after bucks by Scriver and Garvey, they were almost over but a quarterback sneak failed at the half.

Ran 60 Yards

Orillia drove in the third but lost on downs finally. Then a Panther forward was intercepted by Jim Milligan off D. Ross and the former raced 60 yards for a try, McGill converting, to make it 6-0. Panthers drove on a buck by Matthews and a long end run by Hodson after recovering a fumble. Scriver faked a placement and threw a touchdown pass to Reg Burns, the convert missing. They went again with Ouimet recovering a fumble neatly. Magee set them up with a 15-yard plunge, Jim Conlin going five and then Garvey going over. It was not converted. Orillia pushed in and completed one nice forward after trying a short kick. Middleton made eight on a lateral and later Jim Conlin intercepted a pass to race 65 yards to Orillia's 10 to end the quarter.

Matthews promptly plunged eight, and then Jim Conlin took it over, Matthews converting to make it 16-6. Bond ran back a kick nicely and then took a pass from Milligan to his own 40. They opened it up after two good quarter sneaks with Milligan slinging fast passes to go deep into Panther territory. But the homesters stiffened with their backs to the posts and, with forwards failing, the Bombers lost on downs and they didn't come close again.

The losers looked good, but Panthers were clicking in top form most of the way. They had strong blocking and charging up front, effective tackling generally, and the back division was stepping fast on reverses, cutbacks and passing plays. Magee made a difference, while Matthews, the Conlins, Garvey, Scriver and Burns caught the eye in the more open play. Spike hoofed well, too, all afternoon. Bond, D. Ross, Milligan, Boorer and C. Cook went consistently well for Orillia in every quarter.

The teams:

Orillia: Flying wing, White; halves, Bond, D. Ross, O'Brien; quarter, Milligan; snap, Newark; insides, Caldwell, Boorer; middles, Brown, McGill; outsides, Naismith, C. Cook; alternates, Russell, McIntyre, Good, Clark, Gentile, G. Ross, Street, J. Cook Lanigan, French, MacKenzie Middleton.

Panthers: Flying wing, Trimm halves, Matthews, Jim Conlin Magee; quarter, Garvey; snap Ouimet; insides, Curtin, Coughlin middles, Beatty, Lech; outsides Davidson, McGillis; alternates John Conlin, Scriver, Middleton Hodson, VanAllan, Delaney, Farr Fitzgerald, Spencely, Fraser, Burns, Berardi.

Referee, D. Haltz; umpire, R McComb; head linesman I. Brown.

Sharpe and Henning In Opening Bout

Col. Pete Peterson (who won his now famous promotion on the field of battle in France in 1945) will make his mat bow here in the main bout in the Brock Arena against the Masked Marvel. There will be no time limit and a win for the many-times decorated U.S. Army man will mean that the Mask's face-covering must come off. "Pete" Peterson is a most impressive wrestler by all reports, being big, fast and clean cut.

Huge Ben Morgan gets another chance at Pat Flanagan to whom he lost by disqualification. Mike Futa who was to meet Nick Vicarelli in the third bout has been injured since the announcement and that match will have to be postponed at least a week. In its place for this Wednesday will be a bout between Ben Sharpe and Larrupin' Lee Henning.

Lee Henning

Tuffy Truesdale and his famous alligator-act will be seen here after the main bout is over. There will be no increase in prices for the additional attraction.

Never Seen Colt Run At His Best

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25.—(AP).—Citation probably will never race at his peak as a three-year-old.

Incongruous as this sounds regarding a colt which has won 17 out of 18 starts this year, you haves the word for it of his smart trainer, Jimmy Jones.

Jimmy says Citation right now is sharper than ever. He's down for only one more start, the Pimlico special Friday, and that shapes up as a walkover for the Calumet star.

Despite Citation's clean-up of all contenders, his own age and older, Jones said he has never seen the colt run at his best. Even in Chicago, where Citation had to be driven to win, Jones said he was tapering off.

If no other eligible shows up for Friday's special, and all signs point to complete fear of Citation, the colt will just gallop around the Pimlico track and take a vacation until next year.

Red Wings Down Leafs 2-1 To Move Into Lead of NHL

By The Canadian Press

The hottest man in the National Hockey League cooled off for a minute Sunday night.

After 164 minutes and 54 seconds of shut-out goalkeeping, Harry Lumley let a puck get past him for the second time this year.

But Wild Bill Ezinicki's goal didn't do Toronto Maple Leafs much good. They dropped a 2-1 decision to Detroit Red Wings, who now rule the NHL roost.

Three undefeated teams are bunched ahead of the pack after week-end games while three nearly-winless teams already are well behind the leaders.

Detroit battled to a scoreless Saturday night draw in Montreal, then hastened back home to down the Leafs Sunday. Boston racked up its third straight win, a 4-1 count over New York Rangers in the other Sunday game.

Knock Out Hawks

Toronto got its sole win of the season when it knocked back Chicago 6-1 at Toronto Saturday, the fourth straight loss for Bill Tobin's Hawks.

With three wins and a tie, Detroit now is a single point ahead of Montreal and Boston, tied for second place with six points each. Montreal has two victories and two ties, Boston three wins, Toronto has a single and New York a solitary tie.

A record Detroit Olympia crowd of 15,336 saw Red Wings win on goals by Jack Stewart and Len Kelly—and the sensational stops of Lumley.

He slapped out 30 shots on his net while Turk Broda turned back 35 for the Leafs.

Take Early Lead

On goals by Jim Peters and Pete Babando, Bruins coasted to a 2-0 lead over New York in less than five minutes. Jack Crawford got another and Ed Sandford protected his leadership in the league scoring, race by scoring late in the second period. Rookie Clint Albright killed Frank Brimsek's shut out chances in the final period, by scoring when Bruin Pat Egan was in the penalty box.

After taking lickings in their first two games, Leafs exploded Saturday. The four rookies with the ailing world champions this year—Frank Mathers, Fleming Mackell, Les Costello and Bob Dawes—each scored a goal while captain Ted Kennedy and Gus Mortson each got a goal.

Bill Mosienko clicked on a passing play with Dou Bentley and Roy Conacher in the same period.

There were fights galore and 48 minutes—26 of them to Leafs—in penalties.

A last-period Canadiens attack failed to beat the persistent Lumley in Saturday's uninspired game in Montreal. Canadiens outshot the Red Wings 27-12, but the bulk of them were long shots that gave Lumley little trouble.

Reds Wallop Springfield 8-2

By The Canadian Press

Providence Reds defeated Springfield Indians 8-2 in an American Hockey League contest Sunday night with Johnny Chad, veteran right winger leading the attack with two goals.

New Haven Ramblers tagged a 4-2 loss on Pittsburgh Hornets while the Indianapolis Capitals notched two goals in each period to smother Philadelphia -1.

Buffalo Bisons and St. Louis Flyers battled to a 2-2 tie.

Providence's victory was their sixth in seven starts and they hold a comfortable eight-point lead in the circuit's eastern division race.

Carl Liscombe of Providence, league-leading scorer, got one counter on a penalty shot. Chad poked in two goals for the winners, while rookie Vernon Kaisser paced Springfield with a pair of markers. Roger Bedard, Eddie Prokop, Hamilton, Chuck Scherza and Stoddard chalked up one goal apiece.

The Ramblers came from behind twice to defeat Pittsburgh. Bill Ramsden, Ken Davis, Jackie Gordon and Chick Webster tallied twice for the victors. Sid Smith and Ray Cerscion scored once apiece for the Hornets.

General Crisis Seen In Soviet, Endangers Hold

By JACK SMITH.

LONDON, Oct. 25 — (AP). — The international committee for the study of European questions said to-day a "general crisis behind the iron curtain" is endangering Russia's hold on Eastern Europe.

"The entire political system set up by the USSR in Eastern Europe since 1944" is imperilled by popular discontent reflected in widespread Communist purges, the committee said in one of its periodic surveys of the European political scene.

Names of Western government ministers who hold membership are not publicized, but former minister members include such men as Lord Vansittart, one-time Permanent Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs in Britain, and Lord Brabazon, former British Minister of Aircraft production.

Soviet satellite sources in London said the committee is far off base in asserting Russia's influence is threatened.

One left-wing but non-Communist Eastern European source said purges in the satellite states have, if anything, strengthened Russia's grip.

Situation Serious

The committee on the other hand said the situation for Russia is "serious."

The root of the trouble, it said, is general resistance to the Communists' schemes of socializing the land.

"There is at present a great fear in Moscow that Tito may speak... ...on the radio to the peasants of Hungary, Poland, etc., and incite them to a general revolt against the application of Lenin's Communism in the agricultural sphere," the report said.

The reported cited "discontent" in Hungary, Poland and Eastern Germany. It did not mention reported purges elsewhere in the East or Albania's known economic troubles.

The committee said:

"In the face of this grave situation there remain only two possibilities open to the Moscow government—

"One is to accept compromise and to renounce at present the rapid expansion of Russian Communism in Eprope.

"The other....is to break the resistance and force the issue..."

MARILYN LAVIS, 16-year-old Toronto Vaughan Rd. Collegiate cheerleader, was selected from 200 entries as Miss Cheerleader of 1948 as part of a jalopy parade Saturday. She is perched on fender of her school's four-wheeled wreck.

ENOUGH SCRAP to fill a junkyard was assembled in front of the City Hall when the parade, which tied up downtown traffic for an hour, had ended. Smoke bombs added to the fun. One heap had to be pushed all the way up Bay St.

Interesting Cast Lined Up For Garland

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 25—(AP)—Producer Arthur Freed is lining up an interesting cast for Judy Garland in the film "Annie Get Your Gun."

Frank Morgan will portray Buffalo Bill Cody and that sounds like a natural casting. More unusual is John Hodiak as Chief Sitting Bull, which should prove a different characterization for John.

The lead opposite Judy goes to a newcomer, William Kiel, who played Curley in the London Company of "Oklahoma!" Freed set him for the role after seeing his test; the producer hasn't yet seen him in the flesh.

Dick Powell plans to start "Mrs. Mike" after the first of the year. The time depends upon the Canadian weather. "We need deep, fresh snow, and then slush" he says.

Death Valley Scotty has told friends that M-G-M and RKO are after him for rights to his life story. That could make a fabulous movie.

Designer Edith head tells me she'll have the newest new look in the "Bitter Victory" gowns. She says skirts are going up, necklines are up in front but down in back. "That's to confuse the men" she adds.

Fireworks Ahead?

Hedy Lamarr and Cecil B. DeMille haven't had a spat yet, but it's early in "Samson and Delilah" shooting. Stand by for the fireworks . . . Paramount is retitling a half dozen of its films. The right title is increasingly important with the public, which is no longer awed by some star names.

Some of the year's most exciting films are made away from the studios. "The Secret Land" is a thriller about the Navy's Antarctic trip. Now comes "Seal Island," first subject of Disney's half-hour Real Life Adventures. It's a dilly, and there isn't a human in it. Just seals.

"I WILL ALWAYS SWEAR I am not guilty of the drowning of my wife," swore Lionel Huard, seen during his trial at La Malbaie, Que., on a charge of murder. The Crown charged the 27-year-old army veteran drowned his English war bride during a canoe ride on the St. Lawrence.

Leadership Colorless

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 25 — (CP). — A youth report presented Sunday to a district conference of Young Men's Christian Association charged that Christian leadership in the Y.M.C.A. was "apathetic, hesitant and colorless." The report, presented by Al Logan of Toronto, said the first duty of the Y.M.C.A. was to "speak out with unmistakable clarity that it is a Christian body."

Apsley Pupils Visit City Industries

APSLEY, Oct. 25—(ENS)—On Friday pupils in the Apsley school area were taken to Peterborough to visit several industries. They went first to the Quaker Oats plant. From there, they went to the Lift Lock. They ate lunch in Riverside Park.

In the afternoon they were taken through The Examiner building then to Silverwood's Dairy.

There were 55 pupils in grades 6, 7, 8, and were accompanied by their teachers, Mrs. L. Andrews, Mrs. Liscum, Mrs. R. Tucker, Mrs. B. Church, Mrs. A. Chase, Miss N. Barnes, Miss G. Menzies, Mrs. D. Clysdale.

Home Accounting Topic At WI Meeting

ROSENEATH, Oct. 25—(ENS)—Miss Ester Slicter, Women's Institute speaker from the Ontario Department of Agriculture, spoke to a group of W. I. members from Harwood, Fenella and the local branch in the town hall last week her subject being "Household Accounting." This she said is closely connected with budgeting. Continuing she said, "What we want most in the province are people who plan their spending. In her experience she said she believes she has found not 50 per cent of people know what goes out and what comes in." Then too, Miss Slicter believes keeping accounts is valuable in making out income tax returns; also is shows a fair distribution of money among members of the family, and the question of money management is an essential part of youth training.

Miss Slicter advised keeping dates, studying investments, spoke of the advantages and disadvantages of annuities and securities, and demonstrated various methods of keeping temporary and permanent accounts.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. J. Beatty, president.

Mrs. J. Waldie, Fenella, and Mrs. A. Lawton, Harwood, brought greetings from their societies. Roseneath branch served supper.

US Has 1952 Goal

BERLIN, Oct. 25 — (AP). — Recovery administrator Paul Hoffman said Sunday the United States has a goal of restoring western Europe to a sound economic basis by the summer of 1952. He added: "We hope to be out of Europe by then."

Australia And New Zealand Speed Defence Preparations

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 25—(CP).—Australia and New Zealand, keystones of Commonwealth defence in the South Pacific, are building up their military and industrial strength to meet the threat of war.

Australia is emphasizing scientific research and the development of military weapons and equipment. The aircraft industry will probably be expanded. More recruits are sought for the volunteer armed forces.

Most observers in Wellington predict that New Zealand shortly will introduce peacetime conscription despite the strong objection of Left-wing Labor leaders. An unspectacular but steady building up of the New Zealand services is taking place.

In 1946, Australia accepted greater responsibility for security of the South Pacific area, to help improverished Britain concentrate on post-war rehabilitation. New Zealand is co-operating closely with her sister Dominion.

5-Year Program

Last year a five-year defence program was announced by the Australian government. It includes a $135,000,000 program of research, including a long-range-weapons project.

Without a major defence speed-up, significant steps are being taken:

7. The Royal Australian Navy has clamped down on publication of information about ships in commission and in reserve.

2. Navy Minister William Riordan told the House of Representatives that aircraft carriers will form the main striking force of the Australian Navy. In spending $10,000,000 a year on the Navy and ship construction facilities, emphasis would also be put on the completion of Australian-built destroyers of the long-range type with latest armament and equipment.

3. The Army has cancelled plans for withdrawing from several large camps which were going to be used for civilian purposes, such as the housing of displaced persons from Europe.

4. The Government has withdrawn from sale some $6,000,000 worth of aircraft parts which had been declared surplus.

5. The Government is expected shortly to announce plans for expanding the aircraft industry, which has been operating since the war on a skeleton basis to keep skilled technicians together.

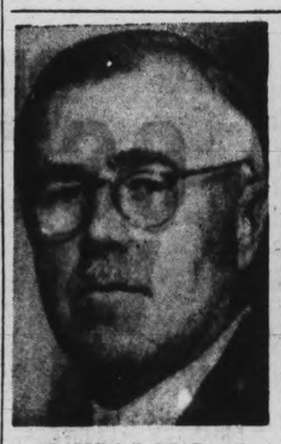
6. Air Minister Arthur Drakeford has appealed for 5,000 technicians for the Royal Australian Air Force.

7. An all services, lists of reserve officers have been brought up to date.

Intelligence Service

8. Intelligence and security services are understood to have under daily review lists of persons liable for internment immediately should war break out. The Chief of the Australian General Staff, Lt.-Gen. V. A. H. Stardee, has issued a warning against sabotage in event of war, and appealed for more recruits for the forces.

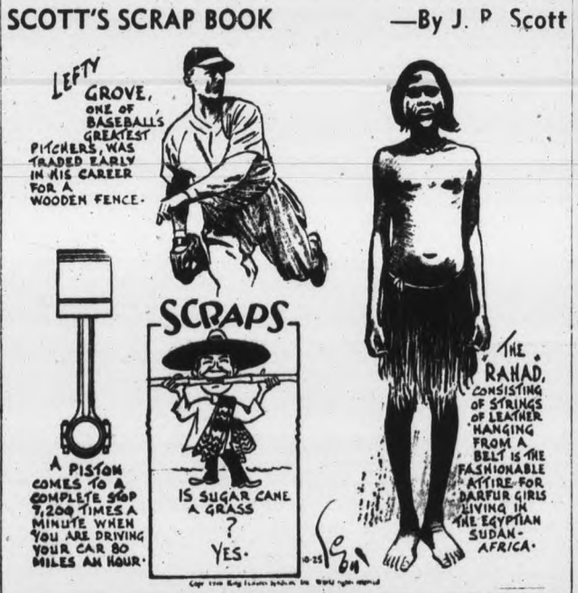
In New Zealand, the most urgent question is whether to introduce peacetime conscription.



A broad hint of the government's policy was given by Defence Minister Fred Jones. Announcing plans to recruit 8,000 youths a year for army training, he expressed the personal opinion that some form of compulsory service would be necessary.

So far the government has not committed itself but it is widely believed conscription will not be long delayed.

Close liaison with Australia in regard to the Pacific is maintained. There is no doubt that in any future war, New Zealand's front line would run through Fiji and Samoa.



DESTROYS VITAMINS

Stirring air into foods while they are cooking causes vitamin destruction.

DR. JOHN E. READ, retired chief legal adviser to the Department of External Affairs, who has been elected for a full nine-year term on the International Court of Justice by both the Security Council and the General Assembly of the United Nations meeting in Paris.

Short Circuit Blacks Out Large City Area

A large section of the central and northern sections of the city was blacked out for an hour starting about 5.50 Saturday evening when a short circuit took place at the corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets.

Harry Beatty, in charge of maintenance for the Utilities Commission believes a truck or a car struck a hydro pole at the north-east corner, causing three wires to make contact. They short-circuited and burned off, plunging he area served by the circuit into darkness.

This trouble also affected No. 4 circuit which serves the commercial downtown area, and the stores had a four-minute black-out, shortly before six o'clock.

The area affected included Aylmer St. to the northern boundary of the city.

Workmen were able to make a temporary loop to another circuit, and on Sunday morning permanent repairs were made.

Soil Erosion To Be Discussed

The public, including farmers, who are interested in the problem of soil erosion should take advantage of the invitation of the Engineering Institute of Canada to their local branch meeting Thursday Oct. 26 in the public library hall.

Papers are being prepared by D. R. McGregor, N. W. Finnie and C. W. Holman. Their presentation will be followed by an open discussion in which two representatives of the Ontario government will assist. They are G. A. Hills, chief soil specialist of the southern research section, and W. Glenither of the division of operation and personnei, both of the Department of Lands and Forests.

A color sound picture, "Return of the Trees," will be shown. Part of the discussion will consider phases of the Ganaraska project.

TRY GAS LAMPS

A downtown department store which has six gas lamps as an emergency feature in the event hydro fails tried to use them Saturday night, but drew a blank. It appears that naptha, a by-product of gas made from soft coal was present in the pipes, and this blew out the pilot lights when the lamps were switched on. Gas dept. employees worked on the lamps, and now they find that the new propane gas with its higher thermal units, makes the metal light frames too hot for safety. They are still experimenting to ascertain if the units can be made to work.

Highways Group Honors Sub-Foreman On Birthday

William Gray, 74, of Lakefield, was honored by fellow employees of the Department of Highways at a dinner on Saturday evening at Thelgar Lodge, Young's Point. They were honoring not only his birthday but also term of 14 years of service with the Department, 12 of them as sub-foreman on Highway 28 from Port Hope to 20 miles north of Apsley. He has also worked on secondary roads around Chandos and Ketchecum Lakes and at Bobcaygeon. His accomplishments were reviewed at the dinner of 22 employees by Patrolman Stanley Richardson.

He was born in London, England, and came to Canada 61 years ago to work on a farm near Warkworth. He later moved to Alnwick and then to Norwood with the Baskin Lumber Company On his wage of $13 a month he managed to save enough to bring out his eldest sister, and a ticket in those days cost $65. He also worked in Dummer Township for the Nathan Payne Lumber Company. While in this district he married the former Lorna Crowe and their daughter, Mrs. William Cloughe, lives in Campbellford. A son, Roydon, was killed 19 years ago and a foster son, Jim Crowe, was killed overseas while serving with the RCAF during the Second World War.

Moving up into the Peterborough district, he operated the edger at the Dickson Lumber Company, putting through 6,500 feet of lumber a day. He was also employed by the former Trent Valley Flour Mills and the first cement plant, both in Lakefield, and went to Dummer Township again for 15 years before joining the Department of Highways in 1934. Mr. Gray has worked under three patrolmen, William Telford, Roy Brown and Stanley Richardson, all of whom had high praise for his work under them. And in turn, Mr. Gray has been happy working for them and is proud of the fact that he has never lost a job.

ANOTHER GIRDER

Receives Camera American Happy

Frank Kelcey received today a letter of appreciation and a silk tie from H. L. Florian of Parma, Ohio, for return of a camera he left at the Kelcey store, George St., on a vacation trip in August.

Mr. Florian had bought a roll of film, placed the camera on a show case, and went out, leaving it there. He could not remember what he had done with it, but mentioned the loss to a local man who passed on the information to The Examiner. Mr. Kelcey had set the camera aside, waiting for some one to claim it.

"The camera came through the customs in good condition, thanks to the careful way you packed it," Mr. Florian wrote in part. "I hardly know how to thank you, we are so far apart. I had given up hope of ever seeing it again, after the first letter from Mr. Heard. I wish you to accept my written thanks, and maybe the time will come when I can thank you personally.

"I have made only two trips to Canada, and I have learned to respect the warm hospitality of the Canadian people. I have the greatest admiration for your people. They are true, sincere, honest and friendly, as I have found them. I have fished with guides, talked with townspeople, travelled on your trains, eaten in your restaurants, and must say that everywhere I went I found the Canadian people the finest.

"My camera was old and did not have much material value, but it has a sentimental value that makes it priceless to me. So, please believe me when I say thank you, from the bottom of my heart. You have helped make some one rather happy again, and finally your kindness has proved once more than there still remain in this troubled world of ours people who are considerate of others.

"I am not getting sentimental, and I trust you will accept this small gift, enclosed, as a true token of thanks and friendship. I shall always remember you and Peterborough. I am also enclosing a dollar to cover your postage. Best of luck and health, always."

Kawartha Encampment Officers Installed

P. V. Ibbettson of Port Arthur, Grand Patriarch of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, attended the annual installation of officers of Kawartha Encampment No. 6, Peterborough, on Saturday evening

The installation team consisted of the district officers under District Grand Master R. E. Lambert. Members were present from Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope and Cobourg.

Mr. Ibbettson in his address outlined the great strides made in the past year by the Cancer, Polio and Tubercular Fund of the Order and how aid had been given to sufferers both in and out of the Order.

Peterborough officers chosen for the coming year were: H. James, CP; E. McKinstry. SW; W. Petrie, JW; J. Emery, HP; H. Frost, RS; S. Gillespie, FS; R. Ford, Treasurer; E. Baughan, IW; P. Luther, 2W; R. Rowland, 3W; L. Edwards, 4W; F. K. M. Sine, 1st G of T; P. Bullied, 2nd G of T; R. Juby, Guide; A. Winslow, IE, and C. Foster, OS.

A youth attending school in the Warkworth district used to use a car for transportation. He was unfortunate and had an accident that resulted in his license being suspended. Now he still drives to school, but uses a tractor instead of a car. If the facts are correct, it doesn't look as if he is breaking the law, but he is still getting to school on wheels.

Seven Accidents On Weekend, Nobody Injured

Although there were several motor accidents in the Peterborough district over the week-end, none of them brought injuries to those involved.

When the brakes on the car driven by Ethel Wichen, Trenton, were suddenly applied on Saturday morning, the vehicle skidded on the wooden surface of the Lock Bridge and crashed into a steel girder.

Miss Wichen was uninjured but the car had the front left fender torn off and both the right fender and frame were damaged.

According to Miss Wicken, she was driving west on Otonabee St. and applied the brakes on the wet surface of the wooden bridge to avoid colliding with a tractor travelling in the same direction.

The wheels could get no solid grip and the car ran into a steel girder on the south side of the bride.

PC Claire McGilien, who investigated, reported that the bridge was very slippery due to rain.

The car of Glen Hancock, Warkworth, on Saturday afternoon was in collision with a truck droven by Frank Keating, Park St., on Water St. near the Brewer's Warehouse.

Damage resulted to the front left fender of the truck and the right fender and side of the car when the two vehicles met as Hancock was driving south and Keating edged onto the road from the angle parking position.

Three vehicles were involved in a traffic mix-up on No. 7 Highway Saturday afternoon, with damage to them all. The car of M. Gishman, 680 Reid St., had stopped on an upgrade, police said, to pick up a passenger. A Bell Telephone truck, driven by F. E. Stewart of 220 Perry St., stopped behind it. Following the truck was a car driven by J. Sullivan, 128 Montgomery St., who was unable to stop. It rammed the truck and the truck pushed ahead to strike the Gishman car. Damage was slight to the truck and to Gishman's car. About $200 damage was caused the Stewart car. Provincial Constable George Stevens investigated.

Several hundred dollars damage resulted to both vehicles on Saturday night when cars driven by H. V. Lackie, Parnell St., and W. Austin, Cambridge St., were in collision at Water and Langton Sts.

Austin, travelling north, was able to pull to a stop on the side of the road about 50 feet from the point of impact, but Lackie's south-bound car drove into the east ditch for about 175 feet, finally smashing into a telephone pole.

Not more than $40 damage resulted to cars driven by Cnarles Westlake, RR 2, Peterborough, and Sandford Gilmour, Maude St., when they were in collision on Park St. on Saturday night.

Westlake told police his car was parked beside the road at 27 Park St. N., and that he was sideswiped by Gilmour, who, he claims, drove away. Gilmour later reported to the police station, and said he had been struck on the right side of his car when a parked vehicle pulled out from the west curb. He claimed the other car then drove away.

Damage to Gilmour's car was believed about $35 and to Westlake's, $5.

Extensive damage to two cars resulted in an accident about two a.m. Sunday on No. 7 Highway a mile east of Peterborough. There were no injuries. Drivers were W. R. Shadgett, 295 Margaret Ave., and Harold Coleman of 661 Aylmer St. Damage to the two totalled about $500. Investigating were Provincial Constables C. W. Chambers and Keith O'Shaughnessy.

Three hundred dollars damage to the car of Sam O'Connor of Chemong Park was caused when it went out of control Sunday afternoon and went into the ditch off the Chemong Rd. south of the Park. It overturned in the ditch. Mr. O'Connor was unhurt. Provincial Constable Earl Berwick investigated.

H. Lander Retires Served 20 Years

H. Lander, pastor of the United Church Missions for the past 20 years at the Hiawatha and Alderville Missions tendered his resignation recently at a meeting of the Cobourg Presbytery at Baltimore. He feels that he must relinquish his post at the end of the year for less arduous work.

Prior to the First World War, he was in the Mission fields of the Saskatchewan Conference for three years and came east to spent the rest of his time in Mission work in the Rice Lake area. He has referred the matter of securing a successor to the Home Missions Board.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

NEW PRESIDENT

C. J. Davis of Lakefield was elected President of the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the Board of Dirctors last Friday.

CLEARING LEAVES

Trucks and men from the Board of Works are busy these days disposing of the leaves that lay on the streets. The job should take many weeks because of the large masses that have fallen.

MINISTER'S WIFE DIES

Well-known in Ontario centres, Mrs. J. D. Richardson, wife of Rev. J. D. Richardson of suburban Port Credit, died in hospital Friday. She accompanied her husband to pastorates at London, Petrolia, Cornwall and Peterborough.

ONE PLACE TO DIE

A dog was a traffic fatality over the week-end. He mets his death under the wheels of passing vehicle and was thrown to the side of the Chemong Road directly in front of the residence of Dr. H. H. Hamilton, veterinary surgeon.

GEESE FIRED ON

It doesn't matter whether it is Sunday or not, the high-flying wild geeses aren't safe from rifle and shotgun blasts. Reports from the Apsley area say that rifle shots were heard as a large flock of geese flew south over the village on Sunday. The flock was scattered, but none were hit.

HEADS PRESS CLUB

Jim English, Margaret Ave., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. English, has been elected president of the Press Club of the University of Western Ontario in London. In his second year of the journalism course, he has been a summer staff member of The Examiner for the past two years.

TWO CARS DAMAGED

Minor damage to the two cars involved resulted in a collision in front of the Collegiate on McDonnel St. shortly after 10 o'clock today. Drivers were Normal Laton, 368 Parkhill Rd., and Harold Payne, 86 Park St. Damage was about $20 to the Laton car, $30 to the Payne. The accident was investigated by PC H. W. Andrew.

STORE BURGLED

Provincial Police are investigating a break-in at Young's general store at Young's Point sometime Friday night or Saturday morning. Loot consisted of merchandise from the stores and is believed to amount to several hundred dollars. Entrance was gained by jimmying open the front door.

WEEK-END VISITOR

Carl S. Salmonsen of Schenectady and Boston, former works manager of the Canadian General Electric Company in Peerborough, accompanied by Mrs. Salmonsen. was in the city ofer the week-end, He visited the plant and met many of his local friends there and elsewhere during his short stay.

WELL ATTENDED

More than 500 women and girls were in regular attendance night and morning last week at a mission being held in the Church of the Immaculate Conception. The mission is being conducted by Fathers Lawless and Kennedy of the Redemptorist Order. This week the men will attend. A mission is a period of spiritual stock-taking when Catholics are given a thorough review of their religion, by outstanding speakers, and special indulgences are granted those who attend regularly.

HOLD UP TRAFFIC

Traffic was slowed down shortly before noon today when cars driven by Allan Austin, 272 McDonnel St., and Thomas Taylor, Walkerfield Ave., were in collision at Water and Brock Sts. Austin was driving north on Water at the time, while Taylor was coming east on Brock St. The Austin car was dented on the left side while the Taylor car had its front fender nearly torn off and the right headlight displaced.

Chas. N. Brown Former Merchant Dies 92nd Year

A former well known resident of this city, Charles N. Brown, deid on October 20 in Penticton, B.C., in his 92nd year. He was the last surviving member of his family having been predeceased by his brothers Robert, William and Alfred and his sister, Miss Bertha Brown. Mr. Brown was born in Douro township on November 26, 1856, third son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Templeton Brown.

For many years he conducted a flour and feed business at 139 Simcoe St., the present location of the Peterborough Utilities office. In 1912 he went to British Columbia where he purchased a fruit farm. Seven years ago he retired and has since lived in Penticton.

Mr. Brown was the oldest member of Corinthian Lodge A.F. and A.M. joining in 1891. He received his 50 years jewel from his mother lodge seven years ago. He was also one of the first members of the Peterborough Curling Club. He was a member of the Board of Managers of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church for many years and later an elder of St. Andrew's Church.

The funeral was held on Friday, Oct. 22 in the Penticton United Church with burial in Lakeview cemetery, Penticton.

Ski Clubs Set Dates For Events

Delegates from ten ski clubs in Southern Ontario zone of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association met at Cobourg over the week-end. Tentative dates for ski events in the zone were set.

Dick Westheuser, Toronto, chairman of the zone presided, and the secretary, Jack Hull, Hamilton, was on hand. Les. Larway represented the Canadian Amateur Ski Association, and Clint Melville, the Dept. of Travel and Publicity.

It was suggested that all club championships be held Feb. 12 and 13. November 14 was the date set for the instruction in judging at Toronto. An invitation from the Peterborough Ski Club to hold the annual zone meeting at Peterborough next spring was accepted.

Those attending from the Peterborough club was Jim Craig, Mollie Craig, Agnes Strickland, Bruce Upper, Miles Allison and Patricia Moyles.

Following are the dates for the various events: Jan. 8-9, Chicapee cross country and jumping; Jan 15-16, Owen Sound men's and women's invitation meet; Jan. 19-20, Toronto men's invitation meet; Jan. 22-23, Ottawa men's invitation meet; Jan 29-30, Cedar Springs invitation meet, downhill and slalom; Jan. 29-30, ladies' invitation and provincial championship meet; Feb. 26, Peterborough cross country and jumping, junior and senior; Feb. 27, Cobourg men's slalom and downhill; March 7 at Ottawa, junior and interscholastic meet.

CHAT WITH USWA REPRESENTATIVES

About 25 members of the Independent Outboard Marine Workers' Union, including Earl Davies president, and Lionel Edmunds, secretary, met on Sunday with representatives of the United Steel Workers of America. The meeting was held in the Empress Hotel Subjects under discussion were not disclosed. "We're just shopping around," was the only comment forthcoming from Mr. Davies.

Janitor Dodges Death In Elevator Tower Shouts Warn Operato r Something Wrong

Gordon Griffin, janitor and maintenance man at the Barrie Building, is today going about his chores with a pair of painfully injured hands. When the elevator moved while he was adjusting it on Saturday his hands were caught between the supporting cable and the drum and he was swung off his feet about four feet into the air.

Although the tension on the two three-quarter-inch cables was sufficient to bear about a ton weight, his second and third fingers of both hands, which took the full weight of the cables, were cut to the bone but not broken.

Mr. Griffin was manually cranking the elevator up on Saturday afternoon after it had dropped too low. He forgot to throw the switch cutting the power off and the operator, believing the elevator to be in working order, started up.

The 15-pound metal crank began to spin around at about 1,700 revolutions a minute and Mr. Griffin jumped to one side to avoid being struck if it worked loose. As he did so he threw up his hands in some manner and they became caught between the cables and the drum. He was swung from his feet and began to be pulled up toward the top of the drum.

When she heard his shout as well as the sound of the revolving crank the elevator girl knew something was wrong. She stopped the car and then began to descend. Mr. Griffin was able to extricate himself unaided and went to Dr. Herbert Young for treatment.

Today he is back at work with the middle fingers on both hands tightly bandaged.

"I guess I was lucky," is his comment.

29 Examiner Carriers Taken To Niagara Falls

Twenty-nine carriers of the Peterborough Examiner, including seven girls, were winners this year on a subscription drive and for their efforts were treated to a two and one-half day bus tour to Niagara Falls and district. The coach left at 2 p.m. on Friday and reached Uncle Tom's Cabins resort at 9 p.m. They were joined at Welcome by two more bus loads of carriers from Kingston and district.

On Saturday morning the real tour started under the guidance of H. B. Cowan, Jr., circulation manager, and his assistants, S. D. came a trip through the Niagara Pogue and Miss Isabel Jackson. They went first to Table Rock and took the tour through the Tunnel under the Falls. Next and to the Burning Springs of Indian legend.

A boat trip on the Maid of the Mist took considerable time after lunch followed by a ride on the Spanish Aero cable car over the Whirlpool and Gorge under the guidance of the operator, Mr. Brooker. While there was still good daylight the party visited Brock's Monument and the old battlefield. After supper they were taken to shop for two hours in Niagara Falls, N.Y., and so to bed which was welcomed by officials and children alike, chiefly the officials.

A considerable number of the children attended church on Sunday morning and the Peterborough group left the Falls by bus at 10.30 a.m. and got back to the city at 4 p.m. There were still many of the children to be distributed to outlying districts and they arrived home at dark, tired, happy and loaded with souvenirs. More than 14 of the carriers had been on former trips but they were still thrilled with the sights.

Brinton Carpet To Extend Lindsay Plant

Brinton - Peterborough Carpet Company has let to Eastwood Construction Co. the contract for the erection of an addition to its spinning mills in Lindsay. The Post estimates at $250,000 the company's investment in this expansion project which will be completed by April.

The Post report says: "A new building, 80 by 80 ft will cost approximately $114,000. It will have four large rooms downstairs, a fumigation room, storage, picking and carding rooms. The upstairs will be made into one unit with the present building. Only the actual manufacturing will be done upstairs. A covered driveway will be included in the ground floor, and a water softener is being installed for processing purposes."

The enlargement of the factory will require 50 or more additional employees, the Post reports.

Discount Ability Of A-Bomb To Win Quickly

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 — (AP). — United States military planners, guided by two wartime uses and six peacetime tests, have decided about where the atomic bomb fits in the rack of weapons for fighting a possible future war.

One authority summed up the official attitude today by saying the United States is not putting all its eggs in one basket. His figurative expression indicates this is how the nuclear fission bomb is viewed:

1. It is the deadliest weapon in the national arsenal, but it by no means has displaced all others.

2. It may or may not be a decisive weapon in another war, but used alone it is improbable it could mean victory in a matter of days or even weeks.

3. Because of its broad area of destruction, it is not a selective weapon and its use must be guided accordingly.

A recent article by a United States air force officer suggested that a fleet of 370 bombers carrying atomic weapons could defeat an enemy in from one to three months. The opinion expressed was the personal view of the officer.

Current and projected United States military spending reveals the trend of thinking by the American High Command. While several hundred million dollars is being expended this year in atomic energy development, including the improvement and actual production of atomic bombs, the great bulk of the approximately $12,000,000,000 outlay is for conventional weapons—troops, ordnance, tanks, ships and planes.

The wartime uses and non-combat tests of the atomic bomb have convinced military leaders that it would be of very limited, if any, tactical use—that is, for direct attack on frone-line troops.

CANDIATES IN TODAY'S BY-ELECTION in the federal constituency of Rostern, Saskatchewan are W. A. Boucher (left), Liberal; P. G. Makaroff, KC (centre), CCF and George W. Beilhartz (right) Social Credit.

Ex-Normal Principal Dies In Stratford

STRATFORD, Oct. 25.—(CP).—H. G. Martyn, B.A., D. Paed., former principal of Stratford Normal school, author of teaching texts, and prominent inn church life of city, died Sunday evening in hospital here.

Dr. Martyn was widley known in the teaching profession in western Ontario. He joined the Normal school staff as master of English in 1915 and was appointed principal of school in 1935. He held that position until his retirement in August, 1944.

Born in Welcome, in vicinity of Bowmanville, on Aug. 4, 1874, Dr. Harold George Martwn was son of late Mr. and Mrs. George Howe Martyn. On July 26, 1904, he married Miss Mabel Rickard of Bowmanville, who survives him.

Surviving besides his wife, are: one son, Howe Martyn, London, England; and three daughters, Florence and Carol Martyn, and Mrs. Gordon (Joy) Jocelyn, all of Toronto.

NEWS IN BRIEF

By The Canadian Press

after Nathan Sidkofsky reported he had been knocked down and robbed of his watch and $53. Officers toured the district in a cruiser and arrested James Lonsdale, 17, and William Cormack, 19. A short time later, Donald Ryckman, 19, was taken into custody.

HEARST.—Bakers say they are not making any more cakes until the price of eggs comes down. They balked Saturday when produce dealers offered them eggs at 90 cents a dozen.

TORONTO.—Syl Apps, retired centreman of the Toronto Maple Leafs hockey team, has a new spot to fill. He has just been elected president of the Toronto branch of the McMaster Alumni Association.

CHESLEY.—Mrs. T. A. Patterson of Chesley suffered a broken neck in an automobile accident—but didn't know it for eight days. Discomfort finally led her to have X-rays taken. Now she's recovering in hospital.

On Postage Stamps

PRAGUE—Klement Gottwald, who supplanted the late Eduard Benes as Czechoslovakia's president in the February Communist coupe, now is going to replace him on the country's postage stamps. Plans for a new city to be named for Gottwald also have been announced.

THE HAGUE—Dressed in 17th century costume, a "horseman of peace" arrived at the Dutch-German border Sunday night, carrying a manifesto from Munster to mark the signing there in 1648 of the peace of Westphalia, which ended the 30 years war in Germany.

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy — Pope Pius Sunday received in special audience, in his summer residence here, the members of the North American College of Rome.

HOLLYWOOD — Actress Rita Hayworth and Aly Khan, son of the wealthy Aga Khan of India, are dating again. He was here early this month but he dropped from sight for a while. Last weekend, however, reporters found the couple dining in a night club. Prince Aly not only identified himself but took pains to explain that his name is "Aly," not "Ali."

RIVERSIDE, Calif.—A wedding without honeymoon is the lot of Beryl Davis, 24, English-born singer of popular American tunes, and Peter Potter, 38, Hollywood disk jockey. Married by Rev. G. Edward Garner at the Mission Inn Sunday they said radio commitments would require postponement of the honeymoon.

HOLLYWOOD—Financial notes of an 11-year-old: little Margaret O'Brien increased her net holdings of $18,530.86 in 1947—from $98,-239. 47 to $116,770.33. An accounting given superior court by Mrs. Gladys O'Brien, mother of the young film actress, also said that Margaret's income last year was $193,848.20 but expenditures totalled $175,317.34, including $68,698.97 for income tax.

TIMMINS.—Damage estimated at $10,000 was caused by a fire on the second floor of the new memorial hall at the Canadian Legion here Sunday. An unidentified passerby noticed smoke coming from the windows and turned in the alarm. The hall, which was built at a cost of $175,000, was opened on July 1.

GUELPH. —Frank Conrad, 27, today was sentenced to from six to nine months in the Ontario Reformatory on two charges on theft of money. Conrad was accused of stealing $14 from Mrs. Eileen Campbell of Acton and $5 from Mrs. Annie Robinson of Guelph. Both thefts took place in a Guelph apartment.

BROCKVILLE. —Baptism by immersion in an Anglican church will take place this week when a service for displaced persons now residing here is conducted in Trinity Church by a visiting priest of the Greek Orthodox Church. The same church witnessed a Lutheran service, also for newcovers from Europe, last week. Rev. Canon H. K. Coleman, rector of the church, acted as organist at the Lutheran service.

Ask Normal School Requirements Raised

TORONTO, Oct. 25 — (CP) — The Association of Ontario Public School Trustees and Ratepayers voted Saturday to ask the Ontario Government to raise entrance requirements to the province's normal schools.

At closing sessions of its annual meeting the Association also asked the provincial highways department to permit municipalities to establish a speed limit of 20 miles an hour in school zones.

Ven. W. A. Townshend of London, Ont., was elected president of the association. Other officers elected: Vice presidents, Lorne Shantz, Kitchener, and George Webster, East York; secretary-treasurer, J. D. Mills, Toronto.

Directors include John Maher, Picton; William Vanmeer, Ferris; Len Jago, Brantford; Brook Davis, Drayton; W. J. Saunders, Kingston; Mrs. B. C. Colpus, Oshawa and Mrs. George Otten, Woodstock.

Ship Reaches Port

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 25 — (AP). — Crippled but no longer afire, the small Venezuelan freighter Ciudad de Caracas dropped anchor in Hampton Roads Saturday night. For the crew it marked the end of 24 hours of danger and suspense. They had fought fire on their water-loogged vessel more than 180 miles through heavy seas since flames first swept through some excelsior packing Friday night.

PC's To Convene

MARMORA, Oct. 25—(ENS)—Progressive Conservatives of Hastings-Peterborough will hold a convention in Marmora town hall next Wednesday evening to elect their candidate in the next federal election. George White, MPP, the setting member and Gordon Graydon, MP, will be principal speakers. The executive of the riding association will also be elected at this meeting.

Defence Problem Facing Attlee Gov't

LONDON, Oct. 25 — (CP). — Pressing defence problems and a bitter fight over nationalization of the steel industry face Labor government in the new session of parliament which opens Tuesday.

For the first time in 10 years, the King will wear his jeweled crown and ermine-trimmed robes at the colorful opening ceremony.

But Labor peers will be unable to appear in scarlet and ermine peers' robes as they had hoped. A stock of the robes set aside for them has been destroyed by flooding in the basement of a London outfitting firm. Only one robe was unscathed. The Labor peers will appear in morning dress or service uniform.

Most Conservative and Liberal peers own their own ceremonial robes and will be able to wear them for the opening-day formalities.

The formal return to a measure of peacetime pomp reflects the new feeling here that Britain finally is winning her post-war struggle for economic recovery. But behind the pageantry lie fresh worries for Prime Minister Attlee's Labor government, entering its fourth year of power.

Big Problem

In the international field, defence is the big problem. Last month the government announced it was embarking on a "moderate" rearmament program. Demobilization of troops was ordered slowed.

Conservative party leaders have said they will press for a longer period of service for draftees. A year ago the government, under pressure from its left-wing Labor ranks, reduced the period to one year after originally proposing 18 months.

In the home field, the government's decision to proceed with nationalization of the steel industry has aroused the bitterest opposition since Labor won the 1945 general elections. The bill is expected to be introduced in November.

Charge Steel Industry 'Not As Efficient'

LONDON, Oct. 25—(Reuters)—The Labor Party Sunday night published a pamphlet declaring that Britain's steel industry "is not as efficient as it could be."

The pamphlet was issued on the eve of a new parliamentary session in which the government's bill for steel nationalization is expected to provide the biggest controversy of the Labor regime.

"The battle for steel will be grim," states the pamphlet, adding "Steel is now very profitable and so the Tories will try to keep it in private hands.

"More important still, they want to retain it because, through steel, the privileged can control the life of the nation. Control of steel carries with it the control of the economy. In a democracy this power belongs to the people."

Shot In Back

WINDSOR, Oct. 25 — (CP). — Edward Clifford, 19, was shot through the back early Sunday as he attempted to flee from Police Constable James Rowley, who found the youth trying to start an automobile in a used car lot. Constable Rowley said he fired two warning shots at Clifford as he chased him along midtown streets and back alleys.

ALPHONSE ELIE, pilot, of Montreal, is ready to vouch for the authenticity of Lady Luck. She was with him when he set his light Beachcraft plane down in complete darkness on a farm at St. Zotique, Que., 50 miles west of Montreal. He was returning from Toronto on a routine flight when the engine went dead. He started his long descent from 3,000 feet and succeeded in bell-landing his craft on farmland owned by Hector Levac. Climbing out of his plane, Elie noticed that the damage was light. The propellor was shattered and the undercarriage of the ship was torn off. Unhurt and elated at his good fortune, he tramped to a nearby tourist cabin from where he called his employers.

Party Accent Gets Movie Role

TORONTO, Oct. 25. —(CP).—Use of a Yorkshire accent as a party stunt has helped Susan Fletcher of Vancouver ano Toronto obtain a Hollywood contract.

She has been signed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for the role of a Yorkshire scullery maid in a proposed technicolor production, the Secret Garden.

Miss Fletcher went to Vancouver from Toronto two years ago. For the last year she has been doing CBC commentaries on Hollywood news.

At a social gathering in Vancouver, she acted out two stories with a Yorkshire dialect. She was the life of the party—and in that party was Fred Wilcox, an MGM director.

On his return to Hollywood, Wilcox went through the script of "The Secret Garden" and came upon a part calling for a Yorkshire scullery maid. He remembered the girl at the Vancouver party who did the Yorkshire dialect stories.

Miss Fletcher is a cousin of Raymond Massey, prominent in the theatre and motion pictures, and of Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Chancellor of the University of Toronto.

ON HIS ARRIVAL in Tokyo, President Syngman Rhee of Korea is greeted by General Douglas MacArthur, Allied commander in Japan. Just a short time later in Seoul, the Korean capital, rumblings of trouble grew to storm proportions as Communist-led rebels provoked a revolt in which two cities in the American-occupied section of South Korea were captured. Flying home, Rhee convoked an extraordinary cabinet meeting to deal with the critical situation.

Good reading for how many people?

EVERYWHERE today you see signs of a new trend in Canadian reading habits.

Now as never before people are discovering that the printed word, with its worlds of information and entertainment, is a priceless aid to fuller, happier living. So they are reading more newspapers, magazines and books every year!

To help meet this increasing demand for reading material, Canada's vast pulp and paper industry is expanding — thanks, in part, to your life insurance.

How can this be?

Because part of the money that you and millions of other policyholders pay in to life insurance companies is invested for you in sound Canadian industries — such as the pulp and paper industry.

Other life insurance dollars are put to work, through investments in bonds, to help provide highways, schools, harbours, or other public works.

Thus every life insurance owner protects his family and helps to build a better, more prosperous Canada!

Canada Wonderland To Greek Newcomers

EDMONTN, Oct. 25 (CP). — If you asked Cosmos Anast, his wife and three children to sum up Canada briefly, they probably would talk about food and freedom.

After three years' struggle to reach the Dominion from Eastern Thrace, the Anasts are settling down in their new home with Cosmos' brother, Jim. To them Canada is a wonderland where the food is "wonderful" but "freedom is even more wonderful."

"The people of Greece are near starvation in many sections of the country," said Cosmos. "We had to live on bread made from corn cobs."

"Most of the trouble is caused by guerrilla bands from Bulgaria raiding eastern Thrace. They are Communists and they burn whole villages, kidnap hostages and shoot many people."

Text For Eskimos Has Hunting Tips

CHURCHILL, Man., Oct. 25 (CP).—Ottawa hopes to teach the Eskimos more about the northland, H. R. Lamberton of Ottawa, educational director for the Northwest Territories administration of the Department of Mines and Resources, has completed the government first comprehensive survey of educational needs in the eastern Arctic.

The result: a book called the Book of Wisdom which is being distributed to the Eskimos. Printed both in English and in Eskimo syllabics, the volume serves as the eastern Arctic's universal school book on everyday problems of life in the Arctic wilds. Roman Catholic and Anglican priests, the region's only teachers, are endeavoring to teach their Eskimo students to read the primary and practical contents of the text book.

The Eskimos, hunters first and last, study the lore on the trail, reading whatever language they understand. They are glad to learn new methods of capturing the north's white whale and caribou or how to clear a jammed rifle.

Through intensive research, the government hopes to make the life of the Eskimo a happier lot than it has been in the past. "There will soon be a demand for greater educational facilities in the North," Mr. Lamberton says. "The Eskimo is quite receptive to education. He has infinite patience and takes great pride in his ability to read. The Eskimo is an excellent hunter and a crack shot, but with the new text book we hope to teach him even more."

Chinese Students Amaze Teachers

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Oct. 25—A young New Zealand-born Chinese who was destined to become a market garden laborer after elementary schooling is now winning high honors at Cambridge University, England. His New Zealand teachers say he is "the best thing exported from New Zealand since Lord Rutherford" (famous atomic scientist).

He is Ivan Lowe who has just won a senior scholarship at Cambridge and a British Ministry of Supply scholarship which will enable him to continue research at the engineering school at Cambridge. Lowe's teachers at the Wellington Technical College discovered his amazing gifts when they found him devouring books on mathematics and science the way most boys read comic papers.

Each year he broke records in examination marks and his teachers persuaded his parents to let him continue his studies. He won scholarships at the University of New Zealand with ridiculous ease and graduateed Master of Science with first class honors with the amazing average mark of 96 per cent. He was offered a choice of travelling scholarships to continue his studies abroad and chose engineering. His teachers predict that much more will be heard of him in the future.

A GRACEFUL DESIGN—The jacket that doesn't come off but forms a necessary part of the dress is a new notion dreamed up by one of New York's top-notch designers. She uses it for a perfectly lovely and graceful dinner dress of rich slipper satin in two vivid colors. Jade satin makes the snug bolero bodice nicely illuminated with Windsor blue bead bowknots and embroidery. Windsor blue satin is used for the skirt which has well handled fullness and a built-up, shirred waistline.

Directions:

I have a slightly different version of a meat loaf for you this week. To 1 lb. hamburg add 2 eggs, 4 slices bread soaked in ¾ cup hot milk, ½ to ¾ cup grated old cheese, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon peper, 1 tablespoon grated onion, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce. Mix very well. Form into oval loaf, place on greased pan, surround with halved pared potatoes, bake about 1½ hours at 375 deg. Fahr. beating every 15 minutes with liquid in pan. Serve with spicy tomato sauce.

The plain omelette if a good fast supper for a one-burner cook. For 2 people beat the whites of 4 eggs stiffly. Remove beater without cleaning whites off, to bowl of yolks and beat until light; add 1-3 cup milk, salt and pepper to yolks, mix with whites, pour into hot greased pan. reduce heat, brown bottom, fold over, and cover for a few minutes, to cook centre.

Choose Fun at YW Tuesday Evening

YWCA Fun Night on Tuesdays continues with added highlights. Commencing at 7.15 girls may keep fit with limbering exercises under direction of Miss C. Littlefield in the gym. Mrs. J. Powell, in charge of swimming, takes funnighters at the opening hour or at eight o'clock, and will give instruction continuing from their own particular stage of learning.

Those who are craft-minded may spend the time from 7.15 to night o'clock on this work. Two lessons will be given on making shearling moccassins, commencing this week.

Games are another feature of Fun Night and start at eight. Table tennis is a favorite and bridge is becoming popular. An instructor is needed for this game and the staff would appreciate an offer.

After participants have enjoyed their choice of the fun offered all come together for a variety hour with sing songs, guest artists and speakers. This week Madame Merriam will continue the advice and demonstration on care of the skin started last Tuesday. After ten o'clock a snack bar is open under supervision of Mrs. Edith Davidson.

5 Attend Dorothy Gabbutt Bride of Robert Wm. Black

The mariage of Miss Dorothy Rose Gabbutt to Mr. Robert William Black was solemnized Saturday afternoon in All Saints' Anglican Church by the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gabbutt and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Black, all of Peterborough.

Baskets of 'mums, banked with palms and ferns, formed a background setting and traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Agnes Logan. during the signing of the register a trio of Misses Beatrice Kay, Marilyn Galbraith and Barbara Outram sang "Bless This House" and "O Promise Me."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was in a gown of white slipper satin with long train. It was styled on princess lines with long tight fitting sleeves and the off-shoulder neckline heavily embroidered with seed pearls. Her veil was caught to a tiara of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade of deep red roses.

Bridal attendants were all in similarly fashioned frocks of taffeta with off-shoulder neckline and bustled skirts. Mrs. Percy Butler, matron of honor, was in blue, with matching accessories, Misses Nora Gabbutt and Betty Black in mauve and Miss Kathleen Gabbutt in pale green were bridesmaids, all wearing accessories in pink. The flower girl, Miss Nancy Butler was in pink eyelet with accessories to match. Their headdresses were designed of tulle and their bouquets were cascades of baby 'mums and carnations.

The groom was attended by Mr. Gerald Everson. Ushers were Andy Strachan, uncle of the bride, and Percy Butler.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gabbutt chose mauve crepe, a hat of grey felt and corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Black, mother of the groom, wore a black gabardine suit, matching hat with pink feather trim and pink roses. They assisted the bridal party at the reception given in the Empress Hotel.

The bride and groom will make their home in Peterborough on return from a wedding trip to Toronto and points east. Mrs. Black's going-away outfit was a suit of loganberry gabardine with which she wore Victorian green accesories and a corsage of gardenias.

QUESTION: Please give me a little information will you? Some time ago I cut out a recipe from the paper's cook book for Heavenly Jam. I made it once and it was lovely but it has been mislaid I think.

Thanks, Mrs. Wm. W.

ANSWER:

Heavenly Jam

Two quarts large plums (Lombards are preferable), 1 lb. raisins, 1 lb. pecan meats, 1 lb. figs (Smyrna are preferable), 1 pint sugar (2 cups), ¼ lb. chopped almonds. Cook all the fruits and sugar together, after plums have been quartered and stoned. When thick and of jam consistency add the nuts, bring to boil, and seal in sterile jam jars and seal with coating of paraffin at once, adding a second coating when cold.

QUESTION: Would you tell me how to make Onion Soup? There is a quick way to make it without making beef broth from bones and I think your other readers would like it too—I know one of my neighbours would.

Gardener.

ANSWER:

Quick Onion Soup

Cut 3 medium sized mild onions in extremely thin slices and saute in 2 tablespoons butter until soft. Add 4 cups water with 3 beef bouillon cubes, and thicken very slightly with flour mixed to a paste with water. Season with salt and pepper. Serve in large soup bowls with slice of toast on top and sprinkle generously with old grated cheddar or Parmesan cheese.

QUESTION At one of our local restaurants they serve little macaroons that contain cherries and cocoanut and dates. This is all I can tell you about them except that they seem to be just a plain meringue. Wouldn't they be nice on a plate of cookies to give variety for afternoon tea? Do you have such a recipe?

Aunt Nina.

ANSWER:

Cocoanut and Cherry Macaroons

Beat 2 tablespoons soft, best quality vegetable shortening or butter until very light, then add ¾ cup sugar and 2 very well beaten whole eggs or 3 stiffly beat whites. Fold in ½ cup each cocoanut, chopped, drained cherries (maraschino), chopped dates. Bake on greased waxed paper on cookie sheet at 300 deg. Fahr. until golden and until they will retain their shapes when cold.

DESERVED DISTINCTION—The two-tone suit continues on its merry way, nicer than ever in the new autumn offerings. Brown and gray woollen of a very fine quality is used for this design, a very handsome two-piecer. Brown and gray striped plaid is the material of the skirt which is straight in front but which is flared on the bias in back for that all-important back interest. The brown wool jacket is plaid collared and flaunts on one hip a brown and grey Scottish order ribbon, a distinction to which it is well entitled for being such a bonnie and beguiling suit.

Of Interest to Women

Warren Trotter and Bride Will Reside in Montreal

Morgan Memorial Chapel of Queen's University, Kingston, seasonally decorated with 'mums, was setting for the wedding on Saturday of Marion Elizabeth MacQuarrie and Warren Alexander Trotter. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. MacQuarrie of Montague, Prince Edward Island, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Trotter of Peterborough.

The Rev. A. M. Laverty performed the ceremony. Wedding muisc was played by Mr. Wm. McDowell and Miss Lauretta McDougall sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride wore a lovely gown of cream chiffon velvet with collar and trimmings of Belgian lace. The full skirt formed a circular train and was gathered to a moulded bodice with sleeves tapered to a point over her hand. Her off-the-face hat in matching shade held her veil of fine ivory net and she carried a bouquet of Bettertime roses. She was escorted to the altar by Mr. John Newton.

Miss Jean MacQuarrie of Toronto, as maid of honor for her sister, was in moss green chiffon velvet with cap and mittens in bronze shade and she carried a semi-cascade of bronze 'mums. Miss Lois Enborg of Peterborough, as bridesmaid, wore a gown of salmon velvet and a cap and mittens of mauve, and carried mauve 'mums in a semi-cascade.

The groom was attended by Mr. James McBride of St. Stephen, N.B. Ushers were Harvey Martin of Peterborough and Robert Plante of Ottawa.

The bride's mother received at a reception afterward in the lounge of the YWCA, assisted by the groom's mother. Mrs. MacQuarrie was gowned in blue grey with black felt hat and wore a corsage of pink 'mums. Mrs. Trotter wore Victorian green and a hat of brown felt, trimmed with assorted feathers, and she had bronze 'mupms in her shoulder bouquet.

Following their wedding trip through western Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. Trotter will make their home in Montreal. For travelling the bride chose a suit in loganberry shade and accesories of Victorian green.

DOROTHY DIX

Happy Second Marriage Achieved Through Love

DEAR MISS DIX: The man I am married to now is my second husband and I am his second wife. He has a boy 13 years old. I have seven children. We are a very happy and harmonious family, and what I want to bring out is that second marriages can be successful if both parties try to play the game fairly. He carries his first wife's picture in his wallet, and I carry my first husband's in a locket, and we talk quite often about things that took place while our first mates were alive.

Dorothy Dix

We really love each other and see no reason to be jealous of dead people. Did you ever hear of a case like ours?

MRS. B. G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Thanks for your letter. It is an oasis in an ocean of tears, for we see so much matrimonial misery all about us, and the air is so filled with the sound of the breaking up of homes and the wails of little orphaned children that it is heartening to hear of one couple who have brought love, common sense and philosophy to solving the problem of second marriages and amalgamating two different sets of children.

Experience Helps

Second marriages are often happier than first marriages, because the high contracting parties have brought to them age and experience, and they know enough not to expect the impossible of their mates. The husband is wise to the ways of women and has learned when to walk softly and when to put down his foot and read the riot act. The woman, if she has any gumption at all, has found out by trial and error that you can cajole a man into doing almost anything, but you can't force him an inch. So she does her bossing under cover so skilfully that he never knows that he is being led around by the nose.

But where there are two sets of children, the problem of how to keep the peace is more difficult. For jealousy is apt to set in, and the grandparents on both sides are likely to take a hand in the fight. So it takes a woman who is a diplomat to win over the little rebels and keep everything on an even keel.

Congratulations to you on the job you have accomplished.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a woman 48 years old. Was married 24 years and am now a widow. A man 35 years old, who is an old friend and has just gotten out of the service, wants me to marry him. He says he has loved me for years, but as long as I was happily married he never interfered, but now that I am free he wants me to become his wife.

I tell him that he is too young for me and that he should marry one of the pretty young girls who would be only too glad to get him. He has a wonderful business position and a beautiful car and would make a good husband for anyone, but I still feel that he would be doing wrong by marrying me when there are so many young girls around.

What do you think?

MARY

ANSWER: Well, of course, 13 years difference in age is something to consider when the woman is the elder, but I don't think that it need be an insuperable bar. Personality, character and disposition are to be considered as well as calendar age, and it may be that in reality your friend is as old as you are. Anyway, a man of 35 is adult. He knows what he wants in a wife, and if he has loved you silently and secretly for many years, he will not change and grow tired of you, as a boy might.

Also, every man who went through the war aged years for every month that he faced its horrors. So if you love this young man, go ahead and marry him and don't worry about the young girls. It isn't your business to provide them with husbands.

THE STARS SAY . . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, October 26.

The indications are that a shrewd, astute and alert grasp of the current conditions and status might be the means of opening up new and desired opportunities, with much profit and pleasure. A thorough preparation for such possibilities, with attention to detail and system, could yield rich returns. Friendly interest and substantial support could develop from curious or strange contacts in which idealism, fancy or imagination have part. Keen grasp of such unrealistic aspects could prove radical and soul-satisfying.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of the unusual, fantastic and irregular, but prepare for a radical and strange state of affairs, in which keen insight, adaptability and readiness might develop unforeseen adventures in which much profit and pleasure might materlialize. There are many unique factors to be astutely and quickly manipulated for spectacular or sensational denouements. Details and sound tactics are not to be discounted. Personal relations or contacts could be idealistic and happy as well.

A child born on this day will be alert, versatile and talented, its sharp mentality and insight sustained by inner vision.

Sampson-Oliver Vows Taken At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, October 25 —(ENS) — Against a setting of autumn flowers in the Baptist Church, Campbellford, Saturday afternoon, Bertha Loucene youngest daughter of Mrs. Oliver and the late Andrew Oliver become the bride of Frederick Roy eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Murney Sampson. The Rev. H. C. Bryant officiated with Miss Ann Nicholas playing the organ. Miss Grace O'Brien of Toronto sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The bride given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Irwin Blair, wore a gown of white slipper satin with circular train, a net yoke inset at the neckline and long sleeves tapering to a point over her hands. Her long veil fell gracefully from a satin embroidered headdress and she carried a Bible showered with pink Sweetheart roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Harriett Blake, and the bridesmaids, Miss Florence Brown and Miss Gladys Sampson, sister of the groom, were similarly frocked in blue and pink dotted net over taffeta with matching hats and lace mittens. They carried nosegays of roses and baby 'mums. Little Joannie Sampson was flower girl dressed in pale blue taffeta, covered with net, and she carried a tiny nosegay of pink roses and baby mums.

The groomsman was Mr. William Oliver, brother of the bride, and ushers were Edison Wegg of Toronto and Howard Scott of Norwood, cousin of the groom.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. Irwin Blair, Maple St. Receiving with the bridal party, Mrs. Oliver wore a grey wool dress with black accessories and corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Sampson was in black crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of cream roses.

For travelling the bride chose a navy blue suit with aqua accessories and corsage of pink roses.

The couple are spending their honeymoon at Niagara Falls. They will reside at 1051 Dufferin St., Toronto.

Meet in Ireland Wed in Chandos

APSLEY, Oct. 25— (ENS). A marriage of local interest was solemnized at St. Paul's Anglican Church in Chandos when Margaret Murdoch of Dublin, Ireland, became the bride of Howard Steen of Lasswade. Rev. K. Urquhart of Wilberforce performed the ceremony and Mrs. John Reynolds played wedding music.

The bride wore light blue crepe with shoulder veil of white net and carried a bouquet of Bettertime roses. Mrs. Bernard Steen of Lasswade was bridesmaid and Bernard Steen was his brother's groomsman.

The wedding took place at noon after which a wedding dinner was given at Dr. Renwick's cottage at Chandos Lake. The bridal couple left immediately after on a motor trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls. On return they will reside in Apsley.

Telegrams of congratulation received came from friends in Ireland and Canada.

This is another romance of World War II, the couple having met while the groom was in the Canadian Army in Ireland. This acquaintanceship grew and she came to Canada working in an office in Toronto until her marriage. Citizens of Apsley and

THIS IS AN INTERIOR PICTURE of the most modern aircraft in the air as it visited Montreal recently. Built and operated by the RCAF, it is a complete laboratory on wings, equipped to teach fledgling airmen the navigation and radar mysteries of their trade. The first of 10 similar aircraft to be built for the RCAF, this plane is roomy enough for three instructors, eight pupils and the regular air staff.

Car Swerves Into Bus, 2 Dead, 25 Hurt

WINDSOR, Oct. 25 (CP)—Six persons injured in a spectacular automobile-bus collision south of Windsor which took two lives were reported in "good" condition in hospital today.

Nineteen other persons received medical attention Saturday when, eyewitnesses said, a car swerved into the path of the London-Windsor bus, bounced off the big, fully loaded vehicle and careened 200 feet along Dougal Rd., a two-lane highway several miles south of Windsor. Out of control, the bus climbed a concrete abutment of overhead railway tracks.

Mrs. Mildred Spence, 30, of Essex, and Holland Ross, 19, also of Essex, occupants of the car, were killed. Wilfred McCloskey, 19, also of Essex, suffered severe head and possible internal injuries. He was the third occupant of the automobile.

The five other injured persons, passengers in the bus, are: Mrs. Donalda McRae, 61, Crinan, injured knee. Edward Pumfrey, 22, Thamesville, back injury. Edith Doan, 25, Sombra, back injury. Mrs. Flossie Gregory, 54, Detroit, abrasions. Margaret Haskell, 22, Chatham, back injuries.

C. Merritt of London, driver of the Greyhound bus, said he was finishing his run when, heading north and nearing a steel railway viaduct on Dougal Rd., he saw a car travelling south in the other lane. It turned suddenly and skidded across a mud boulevard into the path of the bus, Merritt said.

Jam in Seat

The bus driver said the car shot about 200 feet down the highway. The three occupants were jammed in the front seat, the engine pushed back into their laps. A blood-stained cushion bounced out of the rear of the car and shot across the road.

Out of control, the bus slid off the edge of the highway and climbed a concrete ramp forming the abutment of the railway overhead tracks. The bottom of the bus was torn back under the driver's seat.

Some of the passengers in the bus were thrown to the floor. The driver aided the passengers through the front door and the emergency exit before he himself was taken to hospital.

All available ambulances in the city made shuttle trips from the accident scene to two Windsor hospitals.

Witnesses described tre interior of the bus as a "shambles." Pools of blood blotched the floor and back of seats.

THREE MEMBERS of the Paris Municipal Council, wearing sashes, stand at a stall piled high with loaves outside a baker's shop in the capital recently as they sell bread without ration tickets in protest against the closing of two bakeries for doing likewise. Lucky purchasers were few. Soon after this picture was taken, police arrived and arrested the three councilmen. After being reprimanded they were released.

New Anti-Subs Said Tiny Boats Of U.S. Navy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP).—The United States Navy's three highly-secret "anti-submarine submarines" are going to be comparatively tiny boats. They may be half the size of many ordinary submarines.

The navy, which hitherto has disclosed only that such undersea ships are being built, gave a little better glimpse of the plans Sunday.

Vice-Admiral Earle Mills, chief of the Bureau of Ship, said in a statement that all ships in the program, both new and converted, should be viewed as "advanced prototypes" (which means experimental ships to be used as patterns for fullscale production if needed.)

About these new killers, Mills saaid only: "The three anti-submarine submarines will be smaller than any subs built in recent years, but fully equipped to do battle with other submarines on or beneath the surface."

Mills' summary included discussion of the super aircraft carrier, on which construction will start this year. It will be a 65,000-ton ship (biggest now is the 45,000-ton Midway class) with a flight deck 1,090 feet ilong, armored to withstand shell and bomb fire. Because she will have no "island" to obstruct the big deck, she can handle planes up to 100,000 pounds (a plane of that size can carry atom bombs).

25 Deaths In Eastern Canada 14 From Traffic Mishaps

By The Canadian Press

A London, Ont., man joined his wife in death Sunday night, killed as he walked to the funeral home where his wife's body awaited burial. Police said Thomas Leslie, 69, was struck down by an automobile less than 24 hours after his wife died from natural causes.

Mrs. Leslie was to have been buried today. But now relatives plan to have a double funeral tomorrow.

Mr. Leslie's death was one of 14 attributed to traffic mishaps in eastern Canada during the weekend. A Canadian Press survey of violent deaths reported since Friday midnight showed 25 in all, four in fires, two in shootings, two in falls and one each from stabbing, drowning and suffocation.

A provincial police constable shot and killed a man in a gunfight at Winona, near Hamilton. Police Sunday night refused to reveal the victim's identity.

Killed in the other shooting was Marcel Germain of Shawinigan Falls, Que. Police said a gun he was cleaning was accidentally discharged.

2 Die In Collision

A collision between a bus and an automobile near Windsor took the lives of Mrs. Mildred Spence, 30, and Holland Ross, 24, both of Essex, sent six other persons to hospital with severe injuries and injured 19 others less severely.

Other Ontario traffic victims were: Sandra Ling, eight, Dunkerron Rouleau, 23, Geraldton; Frank Wilson, 68, London; Clayton Murphy, 22, Drumbo; and Bert Young, 17, Madoc.

The Quebec dead were: Lise Begin, four, and Marc St. Jacques, 30, Quebec City, killed in separate accidents; Walter Paige, 21, St. Robert Benjamin; Joseph Aukuckas, 28, St. Vincen de Paul; and Danial Longre, three, Iberville.

Phillip Martin, 15 months, died in a mishap at St. Stephen, N.B. Falls caused the death of Mary Howey, 78, of Simcoe, and of Elisha Ward, 67, of Orangeville.

Andre Pelletier, 17, of Montreal, was stabbed in a fight with another youth, who was held as a material witness.

Mrs. Charles Francis, 30, and her son, Leo, three, were burned to death in their home on an Indian reservation near Shubenacadia, N.S. In other fires, Frances Boisvert, three, was burned to death in a fire near Davidson, Que., and Ambrose Weeks met death in a blaze which destroyed his frame home near Grafton, N.B.

Frank H. Cline, a fisherman from Welch, West Virginia, was drowned when his canoe capsized in Green lake, 100 miles northwest of Sudbury.

In Toronto's Mercer reformatory for women, an unidentified baby, the child of a prisoner, was accidentally smothered.

CATARRH and SINUS trouble ... Splendid Results from treatment

Sufferers from the distressing symptoms and wretched discomforts of Catarrh, Sinus and Antrum troubles may now win real relief as thousands of others have done—thanks to Lantigen "B". Letter after letter received in the offices of Lantigen Laboratories Limited tell of the splendid results obtained from the Lantigen "B" treatment. Lantigen "B" is the modern oral way of obtaining relief from Catarrh and Sinus (including Antrum) infections, also common types of Bronchial Asthma and Bronchitis. As many sufferers know, catarrh and sinusitis are due to a bacterial infection of the air passages of the head. This may extend down the trachea ("windpipe") to the bronchial tubes and may cause Bronchial Asthma and Bronchitis. To raise the defenses of the body against this bacterial infection a special dissolved vaccine for oral administration — Lantigen "B" — was prepared. Lantigen "B" is taken by mouth. Full directions, including reduced dosages for children, are given with every bottle and when taken as directed Lantigen "B" will help to bring welcome relief from the discomforts of Catarrh, Sinusitis and common types of Bronchial Asthma and Bronchitis. Sufferers from these complaints should also take care to secure adequate rest; maintain proper eating habits, avoid constipation, wet feet and chills. Start on the road to relief immediately—with the widely acclaimed Lantigen "B" treatment. Get a bottle of Lantigen "B" from your druggist today. For further information write to Lantigen Laboratories Limited, 12 Richmond Street East, Toronto.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

NOT TO STOP CHEATING

IT IS the presumption, with a game for ladies and gentlemen, that nobody attempts to cheat. Consequently, the Laws are not for the purpose of preventing or punishing cheating. In the preamble to the new Laws of Contract Bridge, which have been in force all over the civilized world since the first of this month, there is a definite disclaimer of any effort to thwart the machinations of an unscrupulous or unethical player.

"The Laws are not designed," says the statement, "to prevent dishonorable practices and there are no penalties to cover intentional violations. In the absence of penalty, moral obligations are strongest. Ostracism is the ultimate remedy for intentional offenses."

From many points of view, the most important section of the entire code is that captioned "The Proprieties," which occupies almost five full pages of the little book. Discussing them, the preamble, headed "The Scope of the Laws," makes this clearcut explanation: "The object of the Proprieties is twofold: to familiarize players with the customs and etiquette of the game, generally accepted over a long period of years; and to enlighten those who might otherwise fail to appreciate when or how they are improperly conveying information to their partners—often a far more reprehensible offense than a violation of a law."

The last point therein emphasized is subject matter of the very first of "The Proprieties." It says: "It is reprehensible to profit by information gained as a result of an irregularity committed by one's own side for which no penalty, or a penalty incommensurate with the information gained, is prescribed." In other words, a player with a conscience is under definite moral obligation in such a situation to find a course of action which he sincerely believes he would follow had he not received the unauthorized information.

Next comes another fundamental and absolutely positive injunction: "It is improper to infringe a law deliberately, as by making an insufficient bid, whether or not a penalty is prescribed." This knocks in the head the badly out-of-bounds logic of some untutored players who have been known on rare occasions to violate a law intentionally when they felt that even after paying a prescribed penalty they would gain from their infringement. In simpler words, it is never honest or ethical to break a law deliberately under any circumstances.

Summarized then are various acts from which a player should refrain. They include "varying the formulae used in calling"; the recommended formulae are "Pass" (not "I pass" or "No bid"); "1-Heart" (not "I bid"); "1-No Trump" (not "without"); "double" (not stating the denomination or number of tricks); "6-Spades" (not "Little slam").

Other acts from which a player should refrain are listed as: "Calling with special emphasis, inflection or intonation, passing or doubling with exceptional haste or reluctance, making a call with undue delay which may result in conveying improper information to partner, indicating in any way approval or disapproval of partner's call or play, giving by word, manner or gesture an indication of the nature of the hand held, making or asking a question from which an inference may be drawn, giving unauthorized information as to an incident of the auction or play, volunteering information which should be given only in response to a question, requesting, except for his own benefit, a review of calls or a placing of cards played to a trick, an unnecessary hesitation, remark or mannerism which may deceive the opponents, attracting attention to the score, except when necessary to do so for his own information, and calling attention to the number of tricks needed to complete or defeat the contract or to the fact that it already has been fulfilled or defeated."

6—In Memoriams

GRANT — In loving memory of Mother, who passed away October 25, 1946.

Two dear bright eyes a tender smile,
A loving heart that knew no guile,
Deep trust in God that all was right,
Her joy to make some other bright.
If sick or suffering one she knew,
Some gentle act of love she'd do;
No thought of self, but of 'the other';
I know He said "Well done, dear mother."

—Ever remembered by Margaret, David and Family.

HAMLIN—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. Murilla Hamlin, who passed away October 25, 1923.

Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them it's true;
Years that may come cannot sever
Our loving remembrance of you.

—Always remembered by her daughter Elsie (Mrs. R. S. Huston).

7—Cards of Thanks

I wish to thank the sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital and the attending doctors for the kindness shown me during my recent illness there, also my friends and relatives for the cards, flowers and gifts sent me. Mrs. Millie Edwards.

Two Held Over Till Assizes

ROUYN, Que., Oct. 25 (CP)—Two men charged with firing the Rouyn jail last January while they were prisoners in it were held over Saturday for the fall session of the criminal assizes.

The fire swept through the police station and razed the former town hall.

One of the men charged with arson, John O'Leary, is serving a three-year penitentiary term for escaping from Ville Marie jail and assaulting a guard. The other, Arthur Chauvette, also is serving a penitentiary term.

Hon. Dana Porter In City Tuesday

Hon. Dana Porter, recently appointed Minister of Education in the government of Hon. T. L. Kennedy, will be the speaker at the annual meeting of the Peterborough County Progressive Conservative Association in the Legion Hall on Tuesday evening. The association, which is the provincial organization is composed of both city and county. Officers will be elected and delegates named to the coming convention when a Leader to succeed Col. George Drew will be chosen.

Mr. Porter in the Drew Government was Minister of Planning, and on the Cabinet re-organization last week he assumed the Education portfolio, a post which had been held by Col. Drew.

Obituary

MRS. GOLDEN BUGG

The death occurred on Sunday after an illness of six months of Mrs. Agnes Bugg, beloved wife of Golden Bugg, 563 Brioux Ave. Born in Northampshire, England, 69 years ago, Mrs. Bugg has been a resident of Peterborough for 38 years. She was the daughter of the late Henry and Martha Coy. Surviving are her husband and three children, daughter Margaret and sons, Ronald and Norman, all of Peterborough.

A member of the Salvation Army, the funeral will be held on Tuesday at 2 o'clock at the Nisbett Funeral Home, Charlotte St., with burial in Little Lake Cemetery. Major Charles Watt will officiate.

Alexander Trying Duck Hunting Luck

PORT ROWAN, Oct. 25 (CP)—With plenty of ducks around but with the weather anything but ideal for hunting, Viscount Alexander arrived here today for a four-day shoot as guest of the exclusive Long Point Gun Club near here.

There has been little breeze over the marshes, with sportsmen hoping for an offshore wind which, they say, makes for good hunting.

The governor-general was accompanied by his secretary, Maj. Gen. Harry Letson, and Maj. M. Millbank of his household executive staff. They were greeted by Junius S. Morgan, club president, and Robert Winthrop, Jr. Both are Yorkers.

Among prominent Canadians also at Long Point for the shoot are R. S. McLaughlin of Oshawa, and Arthur Bishop of Toronto.

It is Viscount Alexander's third visit to the club's hunting preserves.

50 Residents Aid Police Comb Woods

KITCHENER, Oct. 25.—(CP). —A week-end bushland search for the missing Mrs. Emma Pohl yielded one torn handkerchief and two cases of beer bottles, police said today.

Some 50 persons — including Norman O. Hipel, former Ontario Lands and Forests Minister and an expert bushman — tramped through dense bush near Ayr seeking Mrs. Pohl who disappeared from her home at nearby Sunnyside last Sept. 13.

The handkerchief is not considered a valuable clue since it is a man's. Every pile of leaf-covered brush was turned over by the searchers as they poked sticks and shovels into places where a body might be concealed.

Led by Inspector of Detectives Ewan Cameron of Kitchener the men tramped through three bushes about seven miles south of here.

The search lasted nearly two hours, but there was no trace of the missing Mrs. Pohl.

CONSIDER NEW POWER

Lindsay's Ross Memorial Hospital officials said Saturday that diesel-generated auxiliary power is being considered to offset the need for power blackouts at that institution. At a meeting, various auxiliary power propositions were considered and one type of plant has been regarded favorably. It is to be submitted to the local hydro to determine whether it is of a satisfactory type and a decision is expected early this week.

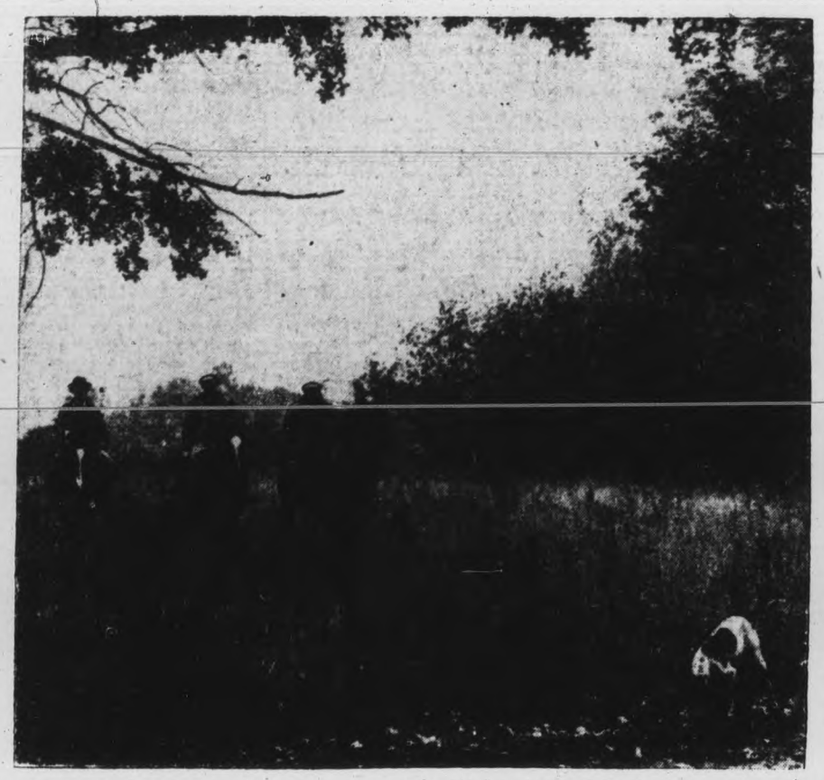
Mrs. J. B. Hough Gives Fine Talk On Thanksgiving

OMEMEE, Oct. 25 — (ENS) — Thanksgiving was the theme of the October meeting of the Trinity United Woman's Association. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. R. E. Brooks.

In each item of the program the note of thanksgiving was sounded. In the hymns sung, the reading by Mrs. Burt Pogue, the prayer by Mrs. S. D. Vaughan and in the topic, so ably dealt with by Mrs. J. B. Hough, the multiple blessings to God's people were recalled and a feeling of praise and humility prevailed.

Mrs. Hough prefaced her message with "Thanksgiving is more than an autumn holiday; it is more than turkey and sage and pumpkin pie; more than a brisk walk in the country or a last week-end at the cottage.

"Thanksgiving is the day for all of us to stop and think seriously and hard about the things we take for granted every other day. It is a day to take stock of our advantages, our assets, and to be thankful that they are so many and so great."



She traced the custom of keeping a special day for thanksgiving from the ancient Jews and also the Greeks and Romans, through old English annals, and to the United States, where it was introduced by the Pilgrim Fathers and caused to become nationalized by President Lincoln, and lastly to Canada.

The four "Freedoms"—Freedom of Speech, Freedom from Fear, and Freedom of Religion — she said were won by many, many sacrifices and she wondered how appreciative we are of those sacrifices. She spoke of Freedom too often leading to license and of freedom disregarding the rights of others.

Our proneness to see the clouds in life rather than the sunshine on the "hills from whence cometh our strength," she thought, made us incapable of thankfulness for God's many blessings.

Touching on the present undest, Mrs. Hough said: "Despite alarms and forebodings, we have had another year of uneasy peace. We may be thankful that some one's folly did not trip the deadly mechanism which will set off the next and worst of wars. The very strain and apprehension over our future has, however, awakened a stronger appreciation and broader understanding of the meaning and value of our democratic institutions than we have shown for show gratitude. Gratitude in itmany years. For that, too we may self is not enough, however, desirable though it may be. It is a form of vanity to bow in thanks if we do not also have in our hearts a recognition of the resonsibilty our privileges bring."

In closing she called upon the ladies to "continue to always be thankful to our God who has and always will be considerate of what is best for us."

PENINSULA BRANCH of the Ontario Bird Dog Association held its fall field trials over the Niagara-on-the-Lake government reserve. Birds were plentiful, the weather was grim and entries lower than usual.

Federal-Provincial Parley Held Soon On Agriculture

OTTAWA, Oct. 27 (CP)—Federal government officials shortly will start making preparations for a Dominion-provincial conference usually notable for its lack of conflict.

It will be the annual Dominion-provincial conference on agriculture.

The conference, following the pattern of former years, likely will be held here early in December. The meetings, which usually last three days, were initiated during the war because of the need for greater food production and were so successful they have been continued in peacetime.

In attendance at the conferences will be the provincial ministers of agriculture and their aides. Agriculture Minister Gardiner usually presides as the Dominion's representative, flanked by farm experts from the federal agricultural department.

1949 Targets

In the light of signs of increasing production or of bread grains and other foods in Europe, it is considered likely the board this year may recommend that some 1949 targets, such as wheat, should be reduced. A cut may also be suggested for potatoes in view of a bumper crop of more than 50,000,000 hundredweight being harvested this year.

Moreover, the board is expected to call for increased production of barley and oats, the principal livestock feeds, which have been running short the last two years. Increased feed production would make for larger stocks of cattle and, in turn, a greater output of milk for butter and cheese, both of which have declined in recent years.

Prices

The Prices Commission will begin some time in December hearing a series of briefs which 13 national organizations have been invited to submit on the high cost of living.

This phase of the Commission's work will follow a lengthy recess in the public hearings. The Commission will not sit in public during most of November to give its members a chance to work on the evidence already taken.

Organizations invited to offer observations include labor groups, producers' and distributors' associations and women's organizations.

The Commission has sent invitations to the three big labor congresses — the Canadian Congress of Labor, the Trades and Labor Congress, and the Canadian and Catholic Federation of Labor. Other invitations have gone to the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, the Canadian Retail Federation, the Fisheries Council, and the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

The other groups are the National Council of Women, the Federation of Women's Institutes, the Canadian Association of Consumers, the Co-operative Union, and Le Conseil Canadien de Cooperation.

Will Make UN Work

LONDON, Oct. 25 — (CP). — (CP). — Britain is "determined that the United Nations shall work," Prime Minister Attlee said Sunday night in a broadcast commemorating the third anniversary of the U.N. State Secretary Marshall of the United States, broadcasting from Paris, said the "obstructive attitude" of certain countries is the greatest blight on the world organization's record.

Mission Appeal Made By Peterboro' Men

HAVELOCK, Oct. 25—(ENS) —Rev. H. G. Doulas of Knox United chlrch, Peterborough, and Everett Sackville, a layman from George St. United church, Peterborough, were the guest speakers at Havelock United Church last last week in the interests of the m issionary and maintenance fund at a missionary educational rally.

Both addresses were challenging and informative, pointing out the responsibility that rests on each church member if the church's far-flung program is to be carried out.

Rev. Mr. Douglas spoke on "The World Outlook at the Problems Facing Us Today," and he dealt with the subject under three headings, namely: the winning of world peace among the nations, the solution of racial relationship and the struggle of truth against falsehood. He defined peace as the harmonizing of conflicting interests and forces that may be frequently at war in the life of the individual or nation. He mentioned the Marshall plan and the tremendous sacrifices that Great Britain has made and is still making to secure world peace. In dealing with the church's program and its relationship to the large number of immigrants seeking to establish new homes in Canada, Mr. Douglas spoke of our attitude toward these people. When we realize, he said that God is Father of all, our question will not be 'Am I my brother's keeper?' but rather "Am I my brother's brother?" Be a good neighbor to these people of other lands he counselled for it is easy to stick to our own set of friends and be snobbish. In speaking on truth versus falsehood he said Communism had zeal, vision and a world plan, but he knew of no better blue print for world peace than the Gospel of Jesus.

We have something greater than Communism. Let us produce it, he said. Endorse the Master's plan by wholehearted commitment to the church's increased undertaking by Christian stewardship of time, talents and possessions and by striving to prepare ourselves for world problems. Let's do it now for now is the time, he concluded.

Mr. Sackville, in speaking on the enlarged program of work planned in the M. and M. department, said that a great challenge is upon the membership of the United Church of Canada, but he had found that the people will respond when the need is made known to them and if our weight in this new crusade of the church is to count it must be made a personal matter.

Fred A. Rogers, chairman of the local M. and M. committee, officiated as chairman. In his opening remarks he gave quotations from addresses given by prominent church leaders at the recent convention of ministers and laymen from the five central conferences of the United Church held in Whitby.

Mr. Rogers spoke on the matter of organizing the laymen to assist their respective ministers in evangelistic work. He said he came home from the convention with a new conception of the gigantic task which faces the church in the world today where so many fields are ripe for harvest. What we need, he said, is a positive religion for many seem to think our individual effort of little significance.

The meeting commenced with a "pot luck' supper followed by community singing of hymns led by James Watson with Miss Marie Vanderburgh as accompanist.

Last Survivor Dies

Rebekahs Instal New Officers

MILLBROOK, Oct. 23—(ENS). —The district deputy president, Mrs. Edna Little, with her installing staff, from Campbellford, made her official visit to Golden Sheaf Rebekah Lodge, No. 176, last week, when the installation ritual was carried through with impressive dignity. The following were installed in the several chairs: PNG, Sister Mabel Payne; NG, Sister Margaret Bigelow; Vice-Grand, Sister Lillian Dawson; RS, Sister Pearl Fallis; Treasurer, Sister Caroline Harkness; FS, Sister Ella Tate; Warden, Sister Violet Medd; Conductor, Sister Ethel Belch; Chaplain, Sister May Harkness; RSNG, Sister Mabel Fallis; LSNG, Sister Zella Bentley; RSVG, Sister Maud Armstrong; LSVG, Sister Evelyn Donaldson; IG, Sister Isabelle McKnight; OG, Sister Marjorie Allen.

Brief addresses followed the installation ceremony, that of Mrs. Little being particularly informative. Mrs. Florence Ball was presented with her Past Noble Grand's handsome gold pin, having filled that chair for the year just closed. Previous to the session upstairs, dinner was served in the IOOF dining hall by the social committee of the Subordinate Lodge. The Rebekahs are now meeting on the alternate Tuesdays, second and fourth of ea h month, with the Oddfellows meeting the first and third weeks.

SINKO CLEARS CLOGGED DRAINS

The year was 1866...

: : : the leaders in Canada's confederation movement met in London and argued a knotty problem: what to name the new nation. "Colony" fell far short of suiting the temper of Canadian thinking. It is recorded that Sir Leonard Tilley of New Brunswick finally pointed out the aptness of the biblical quotation:

"He shall have dominion also from sea to sea."

There is a lesson for every Canadian in this story from the past. By the very origin of the name, "Dominion" can never mean "domination." "Domination" would never be accepted by Canadians. But the Dominion of Canada is the Dominion of a free people . . : men and women who are privileged to express their will through the ballot box.

When YOU cast your secret ballot at every election—municipal, provincial, federal—you exercise a duty and privilege planned, worked, and fought for by your forefathers. Your vote protects the future of your children. To fail in this duty is to be less than a good citizen.

Radar-Guns To Bolster East Coast

Artillery Defences To Be Strengthened Report From Halifax

HALIFAX, Oct. 26—(CP). — The Halifax Mail said in a news-page story today that Canada's east coast, stripped of its artillery defences after the Second World War, "soon is to be refortified with new, long-range, radar-equipped guns to meet the threat of war."

Old forts in the Halifax area, practically abandoned during the last few years, "are to be re-habilitated and re-equipped with coastal artillery on a scale bigger than ever," the newspaper said.

(Army headquarters in Ottawa indicated Monday night that coastal artillery units of the reserve force are to be expanded on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts. More emphasis would be placed on coastal artillery training in the future.)

The paper added: "The program started to take shape last week when orders came from Ottawa to cease demolition of buildings on McNab's Island and for the army to take back from civilian owners the structures remaining there."

McNab's Island, long used as an artillery base, is situated near the mouth of Halifax harbor.

A spokesman at eastern army command headquarters said the McNab's Island development was "normal defence construction" but did not deny that gun batteries at several points along the east coast were to be restored.

The paper said plans for fortifying the shores of Newfoundland also were expected to be included in the scene.

The paper said the big guns removed from forts along the Nova Scotia coast at the end of the Second World War have been held in storage at ordnance depots in Halifax and Saint John, NB.

TRAFALGAR DAY is observed in Trafalgar Square, London, during ceremonies marking the unveiling of busts of Admirals of the Fleet, Lord Jellicoe and Lord Beatty, by the Duke of Gloucester. The ceremonies took place at the base of Nelson's Column (centre background). Jellicoe, Admiral of the main British Fleet from 1914 to 1916, and his successor Beatty, hero of Jutland, are thus afforded places of honor with Nelson, Britain's greatest sailor.

Steel Industry In King's Speech

LONDON, Oct. 26 —(CP)—The King opened the new session of parliament today amid ancient pomp and read the speech from the throne calling for nationalization of Britain's steel industry.

Thousands of spectators stood in drizzling rain to watch the monarch and Queen Elizabeth drive in a state coach from Buckingham Palace to the Houses of Parliament to open the crucial session.

On the throne in the House of Lords, the King wore his crown and robes of state for the first time in 10 years.

The Speech from the Throne foreshadowed a bitter fight on steel nationalization, which Winston Churchill's Conservative opposition has opposed.

As read by the King, it said:

"A measure will be laid before you to bring under public ownership those companies extensively engaged in the production of iron ore, or of pig iron and steel, or in shaping of steel by the rolling process."

The speech also said:

"In Berlin, a difficult situation has arisen as a result of the ac-

Quints Reported In African Village

KHARTOUM, Sudan, Oct. 26—(Reuters). — The birth of quintuplets to a woman in a remote Sudan village is reported here, but so far no one has been able to prove it.

Five boys are said to have been born to a woman at Tibeib Village in the Blue Nile Province, 100 miles south of Khartoum.

A nurse sent out three days ago to locate the mother and quints and bring them to Khartoum returned to-day without word of them. She said the search is continuing. It was suggested that the quints had been hidden to prevent their being taken over by the government.

Medical estimates say that there is only one chance in 41,-600,000 of quintuplets being born.

Told Brother Shot Unarmed

WINONA, Oct. 26.—(CP).—Edward Kobialko said today he had been told by police that his brother Carl, who was shot and killed near here early Monday in a police chase, was unarmed at the time.

He said he had also learned that a number of revolvers, sawed-off shot guns and rifles, found in a stolen car from which his brother fled were in no condition to be fired.

Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell said today that if any charges such as Edward Kobialko's were made there would be no attempt to bury them. An inquest into Kobialko's death had been ordered but no date set.

"Our practice is always to have deaths such as this fully investigated," he said. ""We have very definite rules in the provincial police in connection with the use of firearms."

Inspector Webb Franks, of the Ontario provincial police, officer in charge of the investigation, declined to comment today on Kobialko's statement, other than to say no such charge had been made to police.

ECA Loans 310 Millions To Britain For Recovery

WASHINGTON, Oct 25—(AP).—The Economic Co-operation Administration today loaned $310,000,000 to Britain. The money is to be used for purchase of industrial machinery, equipment and materials as part of the European recovery effort. The agreement was signed by British and American officials at the export-import Bank of Washington, which administers ECA loans.

It calls for interest at 2½ per cent, a year payable semi-annually starting in 1952. Britain is obligated to begin repaying the loan in 1956 in semi-annual installments.

The installments will run until 1983, or for 35 years.

The sum represents the amount of Marshall Plan aid which is available to Britain on a loan basis in the first nine months of ECA operation—in other words until the end of this year.

First Major Credit

It is the first major credit granted under the recovery program, although negotiations on loans have been in progress for months with eight other countries and one small loan—a $2,300,000 fisheries credit to Iceland — announced during the summer.

The United States Congress, when approving ECA, directed that $1,000,000,000 of the $5,055,-000,000 initial appropriation must be put into loans, rather than be used for grants.

The loan agreement with Britain provides that interest and principal payments may be deferred if necessary after discussions.

It says that in event of "adverse conditions" the payments may be deferred if the United States and Britain are mutually agreeable.

The 2½ per cent. interest rate is a point of major importance with respect to the whole lending program. The ECA at first asked three per cent., but Britain demurred.

Angry With Arab Charges Austin Postpones Debate

PARIS, Oct. 26 (AP)—The American president of the United Nations Security Council angrily adjourned debate on Palestine today. He closed the session with a statement that the council could not be lashed into action by Arab charges of bias.

Warren Austin, United States delegate and October president of the council, spoke up sharply to close the debate until Thursday at 10:30 a.m. after Mahmoud Bey Fawzi of Egypt pressed for immediate council action.

The council was called into the emergency session to hear an Egyptian charge that Israel is violating a cease-fire order on the Negev front in southern Palestine.

Fawzi said Egypt had accepted the Security Council's week-old cease-fire order in the Negev, but that fighting there was continuing.

"What is the Security Council going to do about this continued fighting?" he demanded impatiently.

Earlier, Faris El Khouri of Syria told the council that it seemed indifferent to Arab charges of truce violations.

Egypt also charged that Israeli violated the Middle East arms embargo.

"They (the state of Israel) have obtained a considerable quantity of arms and equipment," Ahmed Khashaba Pasha, Egyptian foreign minister, told the council in a special session.

He said the Jewish state built up its air force and ammunition factories and procured naval units after the Palestine truce went into efect. He did not say where Israel allegedly obtained the military equipment.

A report from Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, acting U.N. mediator in Palestine, was read to the council. It told of the sinking of the Egyptian corvette King Farouk Oct. 2 by the attack of a "Jewish explosive-laden motorboat." The place of the attack was not specified.

English Electric Replaces UEW

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Employees of English Electric Company Limited voted Monday 2-1 for the United Steel Workers of America (CIO), as their bargaining agent, replacing the United Electrical Workers (CIO).

Of 620 workers eligible to vote 401 voted for the USWA and 186 voted for the UE. There were five spoiled ballots, two ballots were segregated awaiting further decision, and 26 employees did not vote.

The vote, ordered and conducted by the Ontario Labor Relations Board, climaxed an eight-month fight by the majority of workers against alleged Communist leadership of the UE and disruptive tactics carried on by the district leadership in the affairs of Local 529 UE-CIO, former bargaining agent for the employees.

English Electric employees finally voted to secede from the UE and were granted a charter by the USWA.

The negotiating committee for the workers, now organized as local 4152, USWA, said in a statement today that they would be meeting with the company as soon as possible to negotiate a new agreement.

Find Victim Hidden In Pasture

Say Woman Strangled By Own Clothing; Hunter Locates Body

KITCHENER, Oct. 26 (CP)—William Pohl today positively identified the decomposed body of a woman found in a lonely pastureland, as that of his 37-year-old wife, Emma, missing since Sept. 13.

Meanwhile Dr. L. Fisher, Kitchener pathologist, has gone to the place where the body was found to conduct further examinations. A high-heeled tan shoe will be removed from the woman's right foot. It covered, police were sure, two missing toes, a further means of identifying Mrs. Pohl.

Two men guarded the body during the night and early this afternoon it had not been moved from the place where a youthful hunter stumbled over it Monday night. Police said eventually the body will be removed to Woodstock as it was found within the boundary of Oxford county.

Plan Inquest

Craig McKay, K.C., Oxford county crown attorney, said an inquest would be held in Woodstock 'at a date not yet set but I imagine it will be sometime next week." Dr. H. C. McCaul, Oxford county coroner, said that on the basis of preliminary examination he thought the woman had been strangled. A black dress and white slip appeared to be knotted tightly around her throat.

The disappearance of the twice-married woman has stirred southern Ontario for weeks. The tan shoes Mrs. Pohl was wearing when she left her Kitchener home to collect a $600 debt from her former boy friend were on her feet. The few clothes remaining on her body were identified as those of Mrs. Pohl.

The denouement was not entirely unexpected. But the means of death was startling. The woman had been strangled.

Central Figure

A central figure in the puzzling case is William Stuart, Mrs. Pohl's young and handsome ex-boy friend held since Oct. 1 on a charge of public mischief in connection with the woman's disappearance. It was from Stuart that Mrs. Pohl was to have collected the $600. What police termed discrepancies in his story of his movements Sept. 13 led to place-

Germans Offer To Fly Planes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP) —American officials showed a little inclination today to take up an offer by a group of German labor leaders to recruit former Luftwaffe pilots for the Berlin air lift.

Four German union officials said they made the proposal to Army Uder-Secretary William H. Draper, Jr., Monday. They told a press conference they could furnish more than enough former German fliers "willing to lay down their lives" to help ferry supplies to the blockaded German capital.

Officials here pointed out, however, that in addition to legal difficulties to such a project there is the language handicap, plus the fact that former members of the Luftwaffe haven't been in a plane for several years now.

Bank Accountant Jailed For 2 Years

TORONTO, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Stanley Trohill, 28-year-old bank accountant at the time of a $400,-000 bank robbery here a year ago, was today sentenced to two years less one day on charges of theft and obtaining $4,000 in bonds from the bank by fraud. He pleaded guilty to both charges.

Witnesses said Trowhill and the bank manager were checking the losses on the day following the larger robbery. He was left alone for a while and took $4,000 in bonds, keeping them until May of this year, police said.

Police Use Tanks To Break Strike Barricade

PARIS, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Troops and police used tanks to break through a strikers' barricade at Ales in the Gard department of France, the Conservative evening paper Le Monde reported today.

One tank fired a 25-millimetre gun to force a break and then plunged through in the face of a shower of bricks and iron bolts from the strikers, the paper said. Strikers abandoned their strongholds before the overwhelming superiority of the troops.

The Interior Ministry said government forces passing a strikers' road block near Ales were met by a blast of gunfire and hand grenades. Several policemen were wounded. The striker and the two badly wounded policemen were struck by gunfire.

The government force was preparing to clear strikers from four coal mines and a power plant near Ales, about 50 miles northwest of Marseille.

Reports reaching government headquarters in Paris said the strikers fired first.

As the government force approached the pits, a number of small land mines also exploded, a ministry spokesman said.

About 10 strikers were captured, most of them bearing arms, a ministry statement said.

Driven Off

While the police and soldiers were operating between the villages of Rochell and Saint Martin de Valgagues, workers in Ales surrounded the sub-prefecture, the gendarmerie headquarters, and the post office. Reserve forces

Liberals Win By-Elections In Algoma, Rosthern; Pearson, Boucher Victors

Government Has House Membership Of 125 Against 119 Of Opposition; Pearson Leads By Margin Of 2,386 Over CCF

OTTAWA, Oct. 26—(CP).—Liberal balloting strength in the Commons returned today to its former six-vote margin as a result of Federal by-election victories in the Ontario riding of Algoma East and the Saskatchewan riding of Rosthern. The Government now has a House membership of 125 against a combined Opposition of 119, the voting position it held before. The two seats, both of which had been Liberal, became vacant through the resignations of the sitting members.

There still is one vacancy—the Quebec constituency of Laval-Two Mountains—in the 245-member House.

This is the latest House standing:

Liberals 125, Progressive Conservatives 66, CCF 32, Social Credit 13, others eight, vacant one—total 245.

The victories Monday saw External Affairs Minister Pearson win Algoma East and W. A. Boucher of Hoey, Sask., take Rosthern, both by substantial margins. They defeated two candidates each, representing the C.C.F. and Social Credit groups. The official Progressive Conservative opposition did not contest the by-elections.

Heads Overseas

His seat in the Commons assured, Mr. Pearson now goes overseas to head the Canadian delegation to the United Nations meeting in Paris. He will leave Ottawa Friday.

Algoma East became vacant when the incumbent, Thomas Farquahar, long-time Liberal member of the Commons, was elevated to the Senate to open a seat for Mr. Pearson, the 51-year-old career diplomat and former under-secretary of state who was appointed to the cabinet little more than a year ago.

Rosthern became vacant when Walter A. Tucker, parliamentary assistant for veterans affairs, resigned in June to run as provincial Liberal leader in the Saskatchewan general election.

Here are the latest vote totals in the two by-elections:

Algoma East (92 out of 105 polls)

Mr. Pearson 4,581; Lorn Callahan, CCCF 2,174; John J. Fitzgerald, Social Credit 1,142.

Rosthern (109 out of 113 polls)

Mr. Boucher 6071, P. G. Makaroof, C.C.F. 3116; George W. Beilmartz, Social Credit 2305.

Order Drivers Back To Work In New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (CP). — Bus drivers were ordered back to work today four hours after they went on strike in the city's biggest surface transportation tie-up which affected 3,500,000 New Yorkers.

Michael J. Quill, international president of the Transport Workers Union (CIO), ordered the 8,500 union members back to work on seven privately-operated bus lines.

Quill issued the order to a mass demonstration of workers outside state public service commission headquarters. He spoke a moment after Mayor William O'Dwyer made a sudden, dramatic appearance at the demonstration and urged the men to return to their jobs.

After O'Dwyer's appeal, Quill—hatless and coatless—stood up in a sound truck and shouted to a police-estimated crowd of 8,000 demonstrators:

"Go back to work!"

O'Dwyer told the crowd he understood the two workers had walked out over retroactive wages average about $300 a man. He told them they had been patient, but added:

"You can't squeeze blood out of a stone. You've called attention to what you want. This demonstration is getting you the money and won't get it until the public service commission has acted on it."

Target of the walk-out is the state public service commission. Employees demand that it grant permanent fare increases which would enable payment of about $5,000,000 in retroactive wage increases.

5 Men Missing As Ship Sinks

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 26 (AP) —Five men are missing following the sinking of the trawler Colonna after a collision with the tanker Tullahoma in Chesapeake Bay early today.

The United States Coast Guard reported the tanker picked up 16 of the Colonnna's crew of 21. Two cutters and a plane have been dispatched to search for the missing crew members.

High German Officers Desert To The West

BERLIN, Oct. 26 — (AP). — High Geramn army officers of Moscow's "Free Germany Committee," repatriated from the Soviet Union to take police posts in the Russian occupation zone, have begun deserting to the West, the Socialist newspaper Telegraf claimed to-day.

The British-licensed newspaper said a former general and two other high-ranking officers had fled to Western Germany rather than take the posts assigned to them by the Communists.

The Telegraf said it had the names of the three deserters and would disclose them as soon as their families are safe against reprisal.

This report was published three days after the anti-Communist German press here stated that an attempt had been made to assassinate the chief of the Free Germany Committee, Gen. Walther Von Seydlitz.

MRS. EMMA POHL, missing since September 14, was found dead in a stretch of pastureland, Monday night. The body was badly decomposed. She is shown here with her children, Beverley, 13, and Dennis, nine. A posse of 50 men had searched unsuccessfully over the week-end.

Canada Unable To Remain Out Of Third War

TORONTO, Oct. 26 — (CP).—Canada cannot remain out of a war instigated by Russia, says Defence Minister Claxton.

He told the annual meeting of the United Nations Association of Canada Monday night:

"Our vital interests, even our territory, could be open to attack. The choice in such a war would be, a simple one—Communism or Canada. Our people would never tolerate a position in which we were passive while our country was being defended by others."

The minister, who in recent months has made a number of speeches attacking the aggressive policies of Soviet Russia and is directing the Dominion's rearmament program, made it plain that he believes only Russia poses a threat to the present uneasy peace. He said bluntly: "The only war possible to-day is a war of aggression by the Soviets."

Mr. Claxton, speaking on the third anniversary of the signing of the United Nations Charter drawn up in San Francisco, pressed anew for formation of a North Atlantic security pact under which Canada, the United States, Great Britain and other countries whose interests lie in the Atlantic would band together to beat back an aggressor. Such a pact would reduce "any chance....of the Soviet Union winning an aggressive war."

Plan Alliance

The prepared text of the minister's address distributed for publication in advance said that Canada's present defence planning assumes that an Atlantic Security Alliance will come into force. It went on to declare:

"We are planning our defences after consultation with others so that what we do will fit into any subsequent plan that may be arrived at after Parliament has approved Atlantic security."

Both statements were deleted when the speech was delivered. Mr. Claxton left immediately for Ottawa following his address and could not be reached to determine if significance could be attached to the deletions. It was thought possible, however, that limitations of his radio time might have forced deletion of that portion of his lengthy speech.

The minister said:

"We are building up the defence forces necessary to defend Canada against immediate attack and to serve as the nucleus for large forces should emergency arise.

Felled By Police Fire Body Lies Unclaimed

HAMILTON, Oct. 26.—(CP). — The body of 24-year-old Carl Kobialko, felled by a policeman's bullet in a wild exchange of shots after he resisted arrest, lay unclaimed in the General Hospital morgue here today.

A companion, Wasel Kobac, 21, of Yorkton, Sask., captured at dawn near nearby Winona Monday after an all-night hunt by a police posse, was in custody charged with car theft.

Kobac, expressionless and with hands in his pockets, was remanded to Nov. 1 when he apeared in court here Monday. Police, who released Kobialko's body after an autopsy had been performed, said an inquest would be held on an undecided date.

Didn't Expect Mrs. Pohl Dead

LONDON, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Showing little visible emotion, Mrs. John Stuart learned today of the discovery in an Ontario woodland of the strangled body of Mrs. Emma Pohl, the woman her Canadian son once planned to marry.

"That's terrible—I never expected anything like that," she told The Canadian Press. "I thought she would turn up somewhere in the United States. I can't understand it."

(Mrs. Stuart's son William, handsome former boy friend of the twice-married Mrs. Pohl, has been held in Kitchener since Oct. 1 on a charge of public mischief in connection with Mrs. Pohl's disappearance.

The 56-year-old Mrs. Stuart said in an interview at the home of friends where she is staying in London's east end, the scene of her childhood:

"I'll have to get home to Galt somehow. I've written my brother John Windler in Galt, asking his advice but haven't heard from him yet. I just haven't got money to get home."

drove them off, an official report to Paris added.

The death of the striker aday brought the strike's death toll to three. Two strikers were killed last week in a clash between troops and pickets in St. Etienne.

The attack near Ales shifted the strike spotlight from Northern to Southern France. Monday, 30,000 heavily armed troops and police occupied approximately hal fof country's key northern coalfields and seized at least 12 struck mines.

No violence was reported in the northern operation.

Police Attacked

Police began to move into the southern region at 7 a.m.

Before they could reach the mines in the Ales area, they ran into strikers' roadblocks and were attacked.

Despite their losses, they pressed forward and took the pitheads, the Government statement said.

Interior Minister Jules Moch warned Monday that foreigners found among demonstrators would be thrown out of the country.

No figures were available on the size of the government forces involved today, but the semi-official agence France-Presse said police and troops were present in large numbers.

Strikers touched off sirens at 1 a.m. and again at 2 a.m., as the government forces began to form ranks in a heavy rain. By 6 a.m. barricades had sprung up on roads and bridges.

Report Second Paraguayan Revolt In Year Crushed

ASCUNCION, Oct. 26.—(AP). —Paraguay's new government announced today it has suppressed a military revolt after 20 hours of bitter street fighting.

The regime of President Juan Natalicio Gonzalez said Col. Carlos Montanaro, brother of Foreign Minister Domingo Montanaro, led the uprising.

The revolt started at 1.40 a.m. Monday. Montanaro surrendered with the Paraguayan Military Academy Cadets he led at 7.30 p.m. Monday night. His brother is attending the United Nations meeting in Paris.

A loyal cavalry regiment stationed at suburban Campo Grande supplied the politically-harassed Gonzalez government the power it needed to suppress the revolution.

Casualties were not disclosed.

Gonzalez was elected president earlier this year. He was the only candidate. In the interval before he took office Aug. 15 the army overthrew President Higmio Morinigo, who had barely suppressed a revolution last year in seven months of hard fighting.

Lambs continued steady at $22.50 for good ewes and wethers with $1 discount on bucks. Sheep were $5-$10 according to quality.

LIBERALS WERE SUCCESSFUL in the Rosthern, Sask., by-election as W. A. Boucher, of Hoey, Sask., won by a substantial margin. He had a margin of 2,955 votes over the CCF candidate.

Warned About Quota

TORONTO, Oct. 26.—(CP). — Toronto has been warned by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission to keep within its daily quota of 4,835,250 kilowatt hours, Commission Chairman Robert Saunders announced Monday. The announcement came in the wake of a report that the power situation in the province is deteriorating rather than improving, and that the Ontario Hydro faces further restrictions in its supply of power.

Australia Has Big Wheat Crop

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 26—(AP)—Australians will begin to harvest another big crop of wheat early in November.

The harvest will continue until the end of January. By then an expected 180,000,000 bushels will have been harvested.

If the crop is at the 180-million-bushel mark, about 100,000,000 bushels will be exported. This will go largely to Britain, or to countries in the Middle East or Far East named by Britain.

Australia is exporting 142,000,000 bushels of the 1947-48 wheat crop. Of this, Australia has contracted to supply 85,000,000 to Britain and 27,000,000 to India. The remainder is being exported in relatively small quantities in wheat or flour to New Zealand, China, the Philippines and other countries.

The new season's crop is well below last season's record harvest of 228,000,000 bushels.

By comparison, the record shows these results in the two ridings in the 1945 general election:

Alogam East

Mr. Farquhar 4,855; A. McNiece Austin, Progressive Conservative 3,610; William L. Strain, C.C.F. 1,468.

Rosthern

Mr. Tucker 6,898; C. A. Mycroft, C.C.F. 4,678; J. H. Currie, Progressive Conservative 1,299; L. F. Kurtenbach; Social Credit 792.

Liberal Record

Both constituencies have a record of voting for Liberal candidates. Algoma East has missed voting Liberal only once since 1926. That was in 1930, when a Progressive Conservative was elected. Rosthern has voted for Liberal candidates in every election since its establishment in 1933.

In Monday's contests, the Liberal candidates were ahead in their respective ridings from the start.

New Hydro Station To Open At Pond Mills

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 26 (CP). Twin ceremonies at Sarnia and Pond Mills next Monday will mark the opening of the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission's $10,000,000 station at Pond Mills and send an additional 27,000 horsepower of electricity into the strained hydro system. Pond Mills is near London.

With the opening, the first unit of Pond Mills hydro station will begin its function of distributing hydro throughout the district. The increase in power will come from the Polymer steam generating plant at Sarnia.

At Sarnia Monday afternoon officials of the power commission and Polymer Corporation will gather at a luncheon which will be followed by a tour of the plant and Sarnia transformer station. It will be during the tour that the 27,000 horsepower plant will be switched into operation.

Directly after the Sarnia ceremony officials will leave for Pond Mills, attend a dinner and then tour the installations during which opening ceremonies will be held.

ment of the charge.

In a Macabre setting lighted by the headlights of a circle of police cars and flashlights, Stuart, under escort, stood over the body and asserted:

"How should I know? I don't know anything about it."

The body was left overnight where it was found, under police guard, to be taken later today to Woodstock for post-mortem examination. But there was little doubt about the woman's death. She had been strangled by a piece of her clothing, the cloth knotted tightly about her throat.

Finds Body in Bushes

Monday night 17-year-old Jimmy Exner of Kitchener, on a rabbit hunt, spotted a cottontail and chased it into a clump of bushes. He said later:

"I just took one look and then I got out of there."

The body was on pasture wasteland owned by George Berge of Blenheim township. Berge told police that usually the only persons seen at that spot were "neckers."

Dr. J. A. McCaul, Oxford county coroner, said there was no indication of a struggle. "It wasn't scuffled up in the manner one would expect if there had been one," he said.

Officers reiterated that there was no doubt of their identification. But before pronouncing it as a certainty they awaited removal of the shoe — the condition of the body prevented removal Monday night — from the body's right foot.

Sequence of Events

This was the chronological sequence of what police have called one of the most puzzling criminal cases in years:

Mrs. Pohl, married last February for a second time, and mother of two children, left her home Sept. 13 and was not seen alive again.

Some days later Mrs. John Stuart, Sr., mother of the man held in the case, was found to be absent from her home in Galt. She was a friend of Mrs. Pohl.

Police, seeking Mrs. Pohl at the request of her relatives, took Stuart into custody Oct. 1. He said he last saw Mrs. Pohl Sept 13 when he paid her $600 and produced a receipt for a payment of that sum.

Acting on friends' belief that Mrs. Stuart had gone to England, the Canadian Press located her Oct. 15 at an address in West Ham, London.

A week ago police said the receipt produced by Stuart apparently was a forgery.

Last week Stuart appeared in court for a hearing on the public-mischief charge and was remanded until Wednesday, Oct. 27.

Prices Remain Steady In Mid-Session Today

TORONTO, Oct 26 — (CP). — Prices were steady as trading slackened in mid-session here today. Industrials moved in narrow fractional range and golds eased slightly. Base metals showed a brighter tone.

Foods were ahead in a quiet industrial list. A few utilities firmed and liquors were easier. B.A. Oil Common and Preferred added fractions and Bank of Montreal was ahead ⅞.

A few junior golds attracted attention in brisk trading, but showed little change. Cochenour, Chemical Research, Lamaque were ahead while Preston, United Keno Hill, Hallnor and Aunor were down 1 to 10 cents.

Consolidated Smelters, Noranda and Quemont added fractions in a stronger base metals list. Pend Oreille, Sherritt, Torbrit and East Sullivan weakened.

Sentence Suspended

James McGrath, 19, of 648 St. Mary St., was placed on two years' suspended sentence today when he pleaded guilty in police court to theft of an outboard motor from J. A. McCall. Evidence given by Detective William Clark was that the loss of the motor had been reported to police late in July. The accused and another boy, it was learned later, had taken the motor and used it during the summer. It was found in the garage of the accused's home, the witness said.

TORONTO FRUIT.

TORONTO, Oct. 26 —(CP) — Wholesale fruit and vegetable pricese here today were unchanged.

TORONTO HOG PRICES

TORONTO, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Hog prices at Stratford were unestablished this morning.

tion of the Soviet Government in cutting surface communications between the city and Western Germany. My government holds the view that this action constitutes a threat to peace and therefore referred the matter to the Security Council of the United Nations."

On defence, the speech said:

"My ministers are taking steps to ensure that my armed forces shall be efficient and well equipped and that the best use shall be made of men called up under the National Service Act. Recruiting for the regular forces will be stimulated and the reserve and auxiliary forces will also be built up."

NES HOLDS SCHOOL

W. Mellis, manager of the Peterborough branch office of the National Employment Service has returned from a conference in Oshawa held for four days last week. C. Raper and E. Carr, Toronto regional staff officers conducted the conference which dealt with the betterment of NES offices routine, both in dealing with their staffs and the public. Together with Mr. Mellis, representing Peterborough district, were managers from Belleville, Trenton, Gananoque, Midland, Cobourg, Port Hope, Lindsay, Napanee and Oshawa.

Mapping Next Move In Berlin Deadlock

PARIS, Oct. 26. — (CR).—The western powers planned to meet today to map their next move in the United Nattions Security Council on the Berlin crisis.

The deadlock on the Berlin case became more pronounced Monday night when Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky vetoed a plan for settling the dispute submitted by the six "neutral" members of the Council, including Canada.

Despite the veto, informed quarters predicted negotiations to settle the dispute within the Council would continue among Britain, the United States, France, Russia and the neutral members.

Sources close to Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina, acting president of the Council, said he felt the western and Soviet viewpoints on Berlin still might be reconciled after further conversations.

Don't Need World Crisis As Spur For Canadian-U.S. Cooperation

By FORBES RHUDE

VANCOUVER, Oct. 26 (CP)—Canada and the United States are said hands at getting along together, Earl O' Shreve, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, declared today in bringing greetings to the annual meeting of the Canadian chamber.

"We do not need the spur of world crisis to associate," he said. "Increasingly the United States will look to Canada for the products of mine, farm, forest and factory, and American interest in developing Canadian sources of iron ore and other industrial metals is a promise of expansion for both countries.

"Canada will gain as much as the United States," Mr. Shreve added.

He said "the solid core of economic power behind a western European union is here. Canada and the United States have the strength to save the freedom of Europe's free nations if they stick together and work together."

Urges Joint Defence

He urged joint defence of North America, including legislation to permit transfer of military equipment, and for its standardization.

"In a third world war—and I pray that it will never come—this continent will be more than the arsenal of freedom; it will be on the front line of attack . . . militant Communism — imperialist Russia—heeds only the arguments of power."

Donald L. Morrell of Montreal, the Canadian chamber's executive secretary, in his annual report, said of the Canadian business scene:

"Given satisfactory world conditions few nations can enjoy such a fundamentally sound economic expansion. This is the exciting long-term objective which should beckon Canada forward.

"In the interim we may have to experience a changing set of conditions.

"But if management and labor realize the need for economic corrections they will recognize a readjustment period for what it is, rather than a cause for ill-considered panaceas.

"It is important that business and business men be strongly and effectively organized to cushion the effects of the anticipated transition."

Turn Barrage On Heavy Voting Centres

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (CP). — The last week of the United States presidential campaign opened today with the principal candidates concentrating on the larger, vote-heavy cities in their final drive.

For President Truman, his visit to Chicago Monday night was the greatest, from the point of view of crowds, of his entire campaign. Tonight his Republican opponent, Governor Thomas Dewey of New York, follows him to the country's second largest city.

Henry Wallace, leader of the Progressive party, meanwhile remained in the greater New York area after a speech in industrial Jersey City Monday night.

Chicago stadium manager, Bill Horstman, estimated that 24,000 persons were jammed inside the arena. An estimated 200,000 stood outside as Truman declared that "powerful reactionary force" working "through the Republican party," and "silently undermining our democratic institutions."

Grinning happily at the applauding throng, Truman said flatly that the Democrats "are sweeping toward victory."

Dewey was reported equally confident as he set out Monday night for Chicago. A few hours before he left Albany, the New York governor conferred with Robert Menzies, wartime prime minister of Australia, and C. L. Simpson, vice-president of Liberia.

Wallace brought his Progressive party drive back to New York after the Jersey City speech in which he urged that the United States and Russia abandon "stiff-necked pride" and quit their "petty jockeying for advantage in an atomic armaments race."

LEAVING JAIL, actress Madge Meredith laughs happily. She was held in a Los Angeles jail nine months following her conviction on charges of kidnapping and assaulting her former manager. She was able to gain her liberty pending action on her appeal after bail was reduced from $100,000 to $15,000.

Crown Expected To Close Case Against L. Huard

LA MALBAIE, Que., Oct. 26—(CP)—The Crown is expected today to close its case against Lionel Huard, war veteran charged with murder in the drowning of his war bride Florence Green, of Thornaby-on-Tees, Yorkshire, near the lonely St. Lawrence north shore village of Ste. Therese de Colombier May 9.

Monday Gustave Tremblay, brother of Mariette Tremblay who testified she had kept up a secret correspondence with Huard, told the court that the accused had once told him he "learned overseas it was easy to make people die."

The witness related Huard's English wife once came running to him and asked that he put out a fire in the mattress on the floor which served as a bed in the abandoned shack—their home.

He said he rushed out and squelched the flames but later Huard reprimanded him saying "you should have let her burn."

Defence counsel objected to this evidence on the grounds that the words of Huard reported by the witness dated from the fall of 1947 and could hardly be reported accurately.

The court overruled the objection.

Art Display Now At Library

By T. J. ALLEN

The gallery at the Public Library has a pedagogic array of reproductions on its walls at the moment. If you start at the door with ecclesiastical French-Canadian art and spy your way around the other three walls you will leave probably with a wider and more chronological sense of what there is in Canadian painting than when you went through the door. The program notes which spatter the wall-sheets are somewhat helpful, somewhat confusing, and somewhat elaborate. The Toronto Art Gallery people who got the show up give a whiff of early churchy art—some of it good — which should dispel the notion that painting in Canada started with Kriego. Pleasant to remember that the military in Canada between 1763 and 1845 dabbled in pigments, quite successfully as with Lieutenant Henry Warre.

The ubiquitous commentators made too much of the fairly good stuff between the two wars. The same painter is showing in one panel a sensitivity to colour, in the next a sensitivity to pattern, in the next a sensitivity to the Canadian scene. It becomes a bit thick. The European "sources" at the bottom of some of the panels are disconcerting if not amusing. However, you are not likely to find in one book as comprehensive, authentic and brief a survey of Canadian painting as you get here. If you want to see the display, go before Thursday at 9 p.m. It comes down Friday.

Do not expect to see anything grand or colourful. It's all reproductions, most of them small in black and white. Some person old enough to be at least five feet two inches high has made rude pencil marks on one of the nudes.

In the anteroom there is a fragmentary but good survey of modern painting, chiefly American. It is also pedagogic, but if you have never been to the Museum of Modern Art in New York you will find it instructive, perhaps interesting.

P.S. When are we getting the Massey show?

UK Group Cancels Meeting In Canada

BRIGHTON, Eugland, Oct. 26—(CP). — Plans to hold its 1950 convention in Canada have been abandoned by the British Association for the Advancement of Science due to the dollar situation, the president, Sir Henry Tizard, announced.

Next year's meeting will be held in Newcastle and the following year's at Birmingham. Edinburgh has invited the association for 1951.

This year's convention, held here, incurred a substantial financial loss, largely due to poor attendance.

Professor Bemoans Poor English Usage

LONDON, Oct. 26 — (CP). — After a French visitor had asked "Please can you inform me the best way to the Houses of Parliament?" a Cockney youth was overheard to say: "Blimey, don't them froggies talk funny.'"

"It is lamentable that good English is so little understood in many quarters of England," said Prof. J. J. Slocomb describing the incident to students.

Four Teachers Get Salary Boost

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 26. — (ENS).—The question of raising the salaries of four high school teachers came up for discussion at the regular meeting of the School Board on Monday night.

Two teachers had asked for an increase of $100 a year. After a great deal of discussion Mr. Armour moved that the two teachers be granted the increase and also that two others who had been on the staff for years be given an increase of the same amount. The vote resulted in a tie. Chairman Myers broke the deadlock by voting in favor of the increases.

W. Buchanan, janitor of the high school, had asked for a raise of $200 a year. He was voted an increase of $100 a year.

The secretary read a favorable report from the high school inspector on the work of Principal Hendershot and his staff.

A communication was read from Mr. Robinson's solicitor regarding building a fence between Mr. Robinson's property and the school grounds. The letter claimed the school children were trespassing on his property. The property committee was requested to place an order for a fence.

Chas. Haig, public school principal, asked for a phonograph, records and a metal container in which to keep the school records. The request was granted.

The secretary reported that it costs 96.1 cents per day to maintain a pupil in Campbellford schools.

The property committee was authorized to purchase seven desks at $16.95 each for the high school art room.

Killed While Hunting

OWEN SOUND, Oct. 26 (CP)—George R. Martin, 43, Owen Sound fireman, was instantly killed Monday in a hunting accident at nearby Rockford. Coroner H. E. Mountain of Chatsworth stated that the hunter met instant death after both barrels of his 12 guage shotgun discharged as he was crawling through a fence. Alone at the time of the accident, his body was found late Monday by fellow employees at the fire hall who had commenced a search for him.

Charge Kendall Man

COBOURG, Oct. 26.—(ENS).—Provincial Police yesterday laid a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident against R. Laverne Hoy of Kendall as a result of their investigation of a collision which occurred Saturday night at 8.30 on Highway No. 28, north of Port Hope. He is alleged to have struck a car driven by Miss M. Minaker of Oshawa. Hoy was remanded for one week on bail. Provincial Constable Lyle Erskine investigated.

BethanyUnitedChurch Built 48 Years Ago

BETHANY, Oct. 26—(ENS)—Large congregations gathered at the United Church on Sunday, observing the 48th anniversary of the building of the present church The altar was decorated with chrysanthemums, foliage and ferns. Rev. E. A. Eustace, BA, of Orono was the guest minister, his morning message based on "Reasons for Attending Church" and in the evening "The Backward Trend towards Christianity". Mrs. D. Jackson, Peterborough, accompanied by Mrs. Leonard McNeil sang two solos in the morning and evening. The choir, with Mrs. Haig Bothwell at the organ, sang two special anthems at each service.

Charged Too Much

COBOURG, Oct. 26.—(ENS).—E. W. Rowesome of Colborne pleaded guilty to selling canned goods in his store in violation of WPTB price ceilings. His second offense, Rowesome paid a fine of $50, but complained that some of the canned goods had been in storage for two years, and that competitors were selling at higher prices than him and nothing was done about it by WPTB officials.

Bob Fitzsimmons and Jack Johnson, each at the age of 37, were the oldest world heavyweight kings to enter the ring in defense of their crown.

Afraid Of Father Boy Tells Court

COBOURG, Oct. 26.—(ENS).—Charles William Thompson of Millbrook, the 16-year-old son of a Millbrook school teacher who disappeared for two days after he was involved in an accident while driving his father's car, was remanded until Friday when he appeared in police court yesterday on a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident. He was also charged with driving without an operator's license.

Provincial Constable L. McClure of Peterborough told the court that the boy's father told him that he was a problem and would like him on suspended sentence and placed in the custody of his father and directed to be in early at nights.

"Why did you disappear after the accident?" Magistrate R. B. Baxter asked the youth. Thompson replied that he was afraid of his father, because he had taken the car without his permission.

"I would like the father here before I do anything further," observed the magistrate.

"He is on the teaching staff of the school," replied Constable McClure.

"This is more important than his school duties. Surely he can come anyway under the circumstances," said Crown Attorney Harry Deyman.

"I'm going to adjourn the matter until Friday so that the father can be here," decided the magistrate.

Dismisses Claim

COBOURG, Oct. 26.—(ENS).—Mr. Justice Chevrier yesterday dismissed the damage claim of Austin Brown of Bowmanville against Walter Morris of the same town. Brown sued for $3,250 on the grounds that a car driven by the defendant knocked him down last March near Bowmanville. The jury found that Brown had not been struck by the defendant and that there was no negligence on the part of Morris.

Gay Birthday Party Held At Hastings

HASTINGS, Oct. 26.—(ENS).—Catherine, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Potter, Albert St., celebrated her 9th birthday on Saturday with a masquerade party. The house was decorated with Hallowe'en favors and black and orange streamers.

Elaine Hess and Margaret Bakers took turns at playing the piano while the games were enjoyed, after which the children paraded over to the home of Mrs. M. Brown, Bridge St., who judged the costumes, picking Mary McGuire, Frances Barry, Margaret Baker, Barbara Crocker and Francis Oliver as the winners.

Mrs. J. Quinlivan, Mrs. F. Penny and Mrs. F. Barry assisted the hostess with the serving of the lunch and ice cream cones. The children sang "Happy Birthday, Catherine" as the nine illuminated candles were blown out on the special birthday cake.

Guests included Marilyn Thomas, Joan and Marie Quinlinan, Patsy Penny, Frances Barry, Margaret Baker, Beth Ryder, Marilyn and Elaine Hess, Marilyn Blackburn, Maurine Humphries, June Clarke, Elizabeth Bell-Smith, Barbara Crocker, Shirley and Carol Smullin, Betty and Elaine Parker, Brenda Thompson, Nancy Wellman, Muriel and Dora Kellogg, Marg McQuire, Ann Sullivan, Francis Oliver, Catherine and Charles Potter.

Airman Hurt Motorbike Skids

COBOURG, Oct. 26.—(ENS).—LAC C. McGuire, RCAF, Trenton, received head injuries in an accident last night one mile east of here in an accident when his motorcycle was struck by a car which police said was driven by Thomas Blaird of Port Hope.

McGuire was riding east on his motorcycle with A. R. McElroy of Trenton on the pillion seat when his machine struck a piece of tin on the highway and skidded on its side. McElory was thrown off with the driver, sustaining friction burns. While the machine was lying on the highway it was struck by an eastbound car driven by Thomas Blaird. McGuire was later taken by ambulance to Trenton. Provincial Constable Harry Wilson investigated.

What Kind Of Commonwealth?

The British Commonwealth is defined obliquely in the Statute of Westminster (1931) in this way: "The Crown is the symbol of the free association of the members of the British Commonwealth of Nations"; these member nations are "united by a common allegiance to the Crown". What is it now, seventeen years and a war later? What is it now that South Africa and Eire seem to have little regard for the "free association" and the new Dominions (they are so-called for the time being) of India, Pakistan and Ceylon make the Commonwealth neither preponderantly English-speaking, British nor even occidental? Does there exist now a "common allegiance to the Crown"? The Prime Ministers who ended their twelve-day sessions in London on Friday had officially little to say about the nature of the Commonwealth (though much unofficially, it must be believed) except that the member nations agree "to maintain and extend methods of consultation among all Commonwealth governments". (The qualifying adjective "British" was not used.)

• • •

Two interesting views have been put forward recently, the one by the Toronto Saturday Night, the other by the London Economist. The former considers the increasing size of the Commonwealth with complacency, the latter with perturbation. The Economist says in part:

"The old safe world in which the 'loose connection' flourished no longer exists, and unless the Commonwealth revises the standard of conduct and co-operation which it expects from its members it will become merely a sentimental fiction. There is no virtue in mere size—'the larger the assembly of sheep, the more it appeals to the wolves'. A sprawling collection of nations with no common obligations, with no co-ordinated line of action in world affairs, and at odds with each other makes up an international system which is a travesty of the word Commonwealth".

We reprint what Saturday Night says elsewhere on this page.

• • •

Saturday Night argues that the Commonwealth can quite happily include republics. It argues that since the common allegiance of Dominions is to the King, and that since the King is a constitutional monarch, the allegiance is to that for which the King stands — responsible government, equality before the law and the like. Therefore it does not matter if Dominions are republics, so long as they accept some political ideas for which the King is a symbol. There is a flaw in the argument. The King is a symbol but this symbol cannot be rationalized into meaning various political theories and practices except that of monarchy. Nor can it be completely rationalized, any more than can the altar in a church. Those who think that having republics in the Commonwealth is merely a matter for lawyers to work out should ask themselves this question: Could the British Commonwealth continue to exist if Britain herself became a republic?

• • •

If the concepts of British commonweal must be atomized to suit the vagaries of Indians, Boers and Irish Free Staters, we think that the Commonwealth would become an ineffective hotchpotch. It is better to have a small, cohesive group of Dominions, as the Economist suggests, than a heterogeneous assortment of republics, dogmas and thin skins which have nothing in common except an empty name "Commonwealth".

Pearson Safely Seated

The Secretary of State for External Affairs, Lester B. Pearson, won his seat in Algoma East handily in yesterday's by-election. The Conservatives did not put up an opposition candidate against a man who is eminently qualified for the senior cabinet position to which he was appointed last month.

The Liberal party and Government are strengthened by the conversion of Mr. Pearson from the Civil Service (where he was Under-Secretary for External affairs) to politics. The manner of his entry into political life was not entirely desirable and we hope it will not establish the Civil Service as a spring-board for political office. The Civil Service is expected to be unpartisan and unpolitical. Though we do not accuse Mr. Pearson of seeking the political post through the back door of the Civil Service—the position sought him—the integrity and function of the Civil Service can be damaged if its members should begin to carry out their duties with one eye on a political career. Further, Canadian political life can be weakened if high political offices are to be handed to men who have not borne the heat and burden of party politics.

There are precedents for Mr. Pearson—Mr. King and Mr. St. Laurent, for instance. Mr. King, however, sought and won a parliamentary seat before he was appointed to the Cabinet and Mr. St. Laurent did not desert the Civil Service. Sir John Anderson was a civil servant, but he resigned, served a term of Governor of Bengal, returned to Britain and won a seat before he became a Cabinet Minister. We should like to have seen Mr. Pearson contest and win his seat before he took Cabinet position. Immediate transition from the Civil Service to political executive is Germanic and American rather than British and Canadian.

The Marriage Of Convenience

In a recent article that very wise writer Dorothy Dix gave advice to a woman who complained that her marriage was lacking in romance, although her husband was faithful, generous and good-natured. Miss Dix's advice was that the complainant should be grateful for her good luck, and stop fussing about romance. "The marriage of convenience has a lot to say for itself", she concluded.

We were impressed by the similarity of this advice to that which was given to a large audience in Peterborough by Father Lord, S.J., who spoke here late in September. Marriages, said Father Lord, were not made in Heaven, but were made successful or the reverse right here on earth, by the gifts which the contracting parties brought to the match. Romantic love, as it appears in the movies, was a fleeting thing, he said, and was by no means a necessary ingredient of a happy and successful marriage.

It is good to find that this eminently sensible point of view has a few articulate supporters. The power of romatic love is not to be denied; the passion for which Romeo and Juliet died, and for which Marc Antony sacrificed an empire, is no figment of the imagination. But we have no reason to suppose that everyone is likely to fall victim to such an emotion, and we have no cause to believe that happy marriage is impossible without it. Indeed, the very emotional sensitivity which predisposes a man and a woman to violent romantic love is likely to prove the undoing of their marriage.

Nobody wants marriage to be a cold-blooded affair, arranged by lawyers on a basis of dowries, contracts and settlements. But a marriage which is based upon community of interest, a determination to play the game, a desire for a happy life, and a feeling of genuine respect and fondness for the other partner in the match, is not to be despised. It has the qualities which will carry it successfully through good times and bad. In this matter of marriage, Dorothy Dix and Father Lord have common sense on their side.

Why Not Permanent License Plates?

The state of New York is now issuing permanent motor license plates, and it is expected that 2,300 tons of steel will be saved every year in this way. We have asked before why Ontario does not adopt this sensible plan, and the time seems ripe to ask the question again.

A permanent license plate has a slot, in which a card or metal slip can be fastened, showing that the fee has been paid for the current year. The number remains the same, and this is convenient for car owners, and also for the complex records kept by the police. Permanent numbers, also, can be fixed upon cars in a more pleasing manner than is possible when the plates have to be changed yearly.

The best feature of the permanent license, in our opinion, is that it can be issued by mail. By sending a cheque and the necessary information about his license, a car owner can get his card, or slip, through the post, and the annual dreary wait at the licensing office is avoided. The government gets as much money from the licenses as before, steel is saved, and everybody is content. How long will it be before we adopt this practical system of licensing in Ontario?

Ice cream was invented in Italy in the fourteenth century. Another triumph for the land which gave us spaghetti and the boloney sausage.

Peterborough's Destiny

By F. M. DELAFOSSE

WHEN I came to Canada, exactly seventy years ago, destiny carried me to the District of Muskoka, a region more secluded than even the Kawartha District was at that particular period. Muskoka, its adjoining neighbour, had been thrown open for settlement ten years previous to my arrival, but was still labouring under the primitive conditions which confront all settlers. It was, in very truth, a section of backwoods wilderness, with roads of the rudest description over which horses found it hard to travel, and where oxen were the only beasts of burden that proved at all serviceable in the process of clearing the land of fallen timber and other impedimenta. We were forty-five miles distant from the Northern Railway, fifteen miles from a church or a drugstore or a doctor.

◇ ◇ ◇

IT was several years after my arrival that I first heard of Peterborough and learnt that it was a progressive town hidden miles away to the south-east of us, and that it was an important centre of the lumber trade where two or three big saw-mills were in active operation. That was all I learnt about it for several years and as my informant was a river-driver who was much more interested in timber than in discoursing on the sort of country it was situated in, it was many years before I discovered by actual observation the marvellous beauty of its location. I have lived in the city and county for fifty years and so can claim to be able to prophecy the wonderful and almost unique position that Peterborough must some day fill in the world. There is an old saying that "the mill-streams that turn the clappers of the world arise in solitary places" and if possession of the countless blessings which have been showered on it by the Creator mean anything they show that the mills of a bygone day have opened to the eyes of the world the possession of a treasure-house of almost unexampled richness and variety.

◇ ◇ ◇

PERHAPS Adam Scott the founder of the modest little hamlet of "Indian Plains" thought little of the beauty of hillside and lake when he erected the first flour-mill on the bank of the Otonabee River, and perhaps then the gentlemen who built the first saw-mills in the growing village saw more profit than poetry in their dreams of prosperity when they saw the majestic pines crowning the slopes and stretching down to the swirling waters in our valley. They had their visions and they have gone and the pines have gone with them but they were the forerunners of the Peterborough of today and neither the loss of the woods nor the disappearance of the immense lumber-trade have made any difference in the glorious beauty of the country surrounding the city we dwell in.

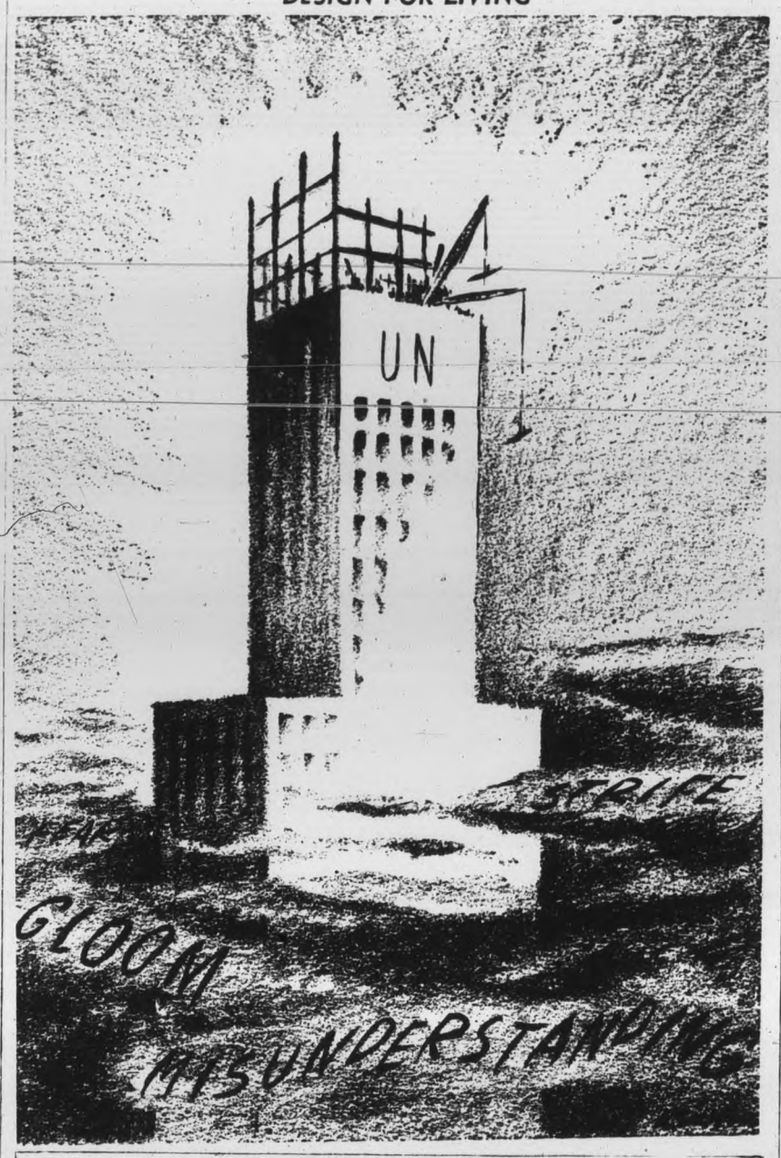
ALTHOUGH at the present time Peterborough contains many thousands of inhabitants and is growing yearly in magnitude, it can be safely wagered that not many are cognizant of half of the reasons that have made it so. Everone knows or should know why the city was called Peterborough, and lost its original name of "Indian Plains", but how many could say offhand what the name of Kawartha implies or how many lakes of goodly size are embraced within the counties of Peterborough or Victoria?

Kawartha is an Huronic term signifying "Bright Waters and Happy Lands". Nothing could hit the mark so truthfully or positively or poetically as that. Victoria holds about half of these bodies of water. Their names are Scugog, Sturgeon, Balsam, Cameron, Pigeon, Deer, Lovesick, Stony, Clear, Bald, Sandy, Buckhorn, Chemong and Katchawanooka. They are noble lakes and the scenery along any of them is superb. I have lived in many places and have seen many wonderful views but if anyone can point out one portion of a province in any country whatsoever that combines as many features where business and pleasure go in complete harmony with each other it would be pleasant to hear of it.

◇ ◇ ◇

IN our own possession we have waterways unrivalled in beauty that can be used for many sorts of sport and especially for angling, for our lakes and rivers are stocked generously with fish of many eatable varieties. Our water-power facilities are tremendous enough to supply hundreds of factories and it is to them that future generations must look for means of increasing their domestic or industrial needs. With nature and human activity working in harmony the city is bound to grow in strength and influence. Yet, with all these potential blessings waiting to be seized, short-sighted souls have been known to give voice to the fear that a larger city than we now possess would be too great an incubus to carry and would involve us in intolerable taxation. It surely is not possible with so many factors to help us, which others lack that Peterborough could fail.

◇ ◇ ◇



WE have always been served by able councillors. In no portion of her history has she been mis-governed and she is not going to be misgoverned now when everything points to success. We have an ownership in no mean city and it behooves everyone to do his best to encourage every branch of industry, every branch of sport, everybody working for the welfare of humanity so that the world at large may know that we belong to a community that is proud of the blessings that have been provided.

THE TRUTH PLEASE

And elderly woman was escorting two little girls round the zoo. While they were looking at the stork, she told them the legend of the ungainly bird—how it was instrumental in bringing them to their mothers.

The children looked at each other in astonishment, and presently one whispered: "Don't you think we ought to tell the dear old thing the truth?

DESIGN FOR LIVING

Allegiance To What

(TORONTO SATURDAY NIGHT)

AT the Commonwealth Conference in London some new Dominions have appeared at the table: India, Pakistan, Ceylon, and Rhodesia. These countries have their own religions and cultures, their own ideas and their own ideals. Unlike Canada and the "older" Dominions — which are really "young," newly-developed and newly-populated,—they are not bound by history or tradition to Britain and Western Europe. Will they stay in the family?

In the past what tie has bound the Commonwealth together? The usual reply, especially since the Act of Westminster, has been that the Commonwealth countries all have a "common allegiance to the British Crown."

This implies a personal loyalty to the King. But since the King is a constitutional monarch and not an autocratic dictator the allegiance goes through and beyond the King himself to what he stands for: the British Constitution and all that is built into and around it. This includes responsible government, parliamentary democracy, equality before the law, personal freedom, the conviction that the state is the servant and not the master of the individual, the rule of law both within and between nations, and the code of personal conduct that was evolved by the Hebrew prophets and reached its climax in the teachings of Jesus of Nazareth.

The King himself is a symbol, but symbols often look different from different directions. From our direction the King seems to stand for all the principles we have just mentioned. But from the point of view of Eire and most of the new Dominions the monarchy has stood in the past for imperialism, oppression and injustice. And so they want to cut their ties with the Crown and become republics.

The question in London has been, must India and Eire and others that want to form republics get out of the Commonwealth? We believe that very few people in Britain, in Canada, or in other Dominions want this to happen. While we ourselves want to keep the monarchy we would be quite happy to have republics in the Commonwealth and to leave it to the lawyers to find a form of words that will let them stay in.

Our basic allegiance is to all that the King seems to us to stand for. As long as other Dominions are willing to stand for the same sort of things we should be happy enough, in this divided world, to have them stand beside us.

THE real problems of the Commonwealth run deeper than this; it is not merely a question of finding a new legal formula that the new Dominions as well as the old can agree upon.

One question raised last week by the Economist, is whether there are any foundations left if loyalty to the Crown ceases to be the cornerstone of the Commonwealth. While we agree that little or no good can come of discussions between people who are poles apart, as talks with the Russians in the past two years seem to show, nevertheless there is a good deal of common ground between ourselves and most of the other Dominions, new and old—certainly enough common ground to allow useful, practical discussions of such problems as the world-wide shortage of dollars and the world-wide menace of Communism.

Of course there are many other countries, outside the Commonwealth, that share these problems, and discussions within the Commonwealth must therefore be limited in their scope. But, even though the Commonwealth be built on the accidents of history rather than the economics or the politics of the present, there is much to be said for its discussions. There is so little peaceful, friendly talk in the world today that we cannot afford, when a group gets together in goodwill, to be too particular about how they got there in the first place or whether some others really ought to be there too.

On the other hand we must recognize the strains that exist within and around the Commonwealth. It is difficult, for instance, for India and Pakistan to feel a sense of brotherhood for South Africa which segregates and in a measure persecutes its Indian minority, or for Australia with its White Australia policy, or for ourselves who are little if any better on the subject of Asiatic immigration, Yet the rest of us are all hoping that India and Pakistan will play an important part in checking, partly on our behalf, the spread of Communism in the East.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Moses with the elders of Israel commanded the people, saying, Keep all the commandments which I command you this day. (Deut. 27: 1.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And it shall come to pass, if thou shalt hearken diligently unto the voice of the Lord thy God, to observe and to do all his commandments which I command thee this day, that the Lord thy God will set thee on high above all nations of the earth: and all these blessings shall come on thee, and overtake thee, if thou shalt hearken unto the voice of the Lord thy God: Blessed shalt thou be in the city, and blessed shalt thou be in the field.... And thou shalt not go aside from any of the words which I command thee this day; to the right hand, or to the left to go after other gods to serve them. (Deut. 28: 1-3, 14.)

◇ ◇ ◇

The house of the wicked shall be overthrown: but the tabernacle of the upright shall flourish... Do they not err that devise evil? but mercy and truth shall be to them that devise good ...

The fear of the Lord is a fountain of life, to depart from the snares of death....

Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people. (Prov. 14: 11, 22, 27, 34.)

Butter Problem

Imports from New Zealand and Denmark may prevent a butter famine this winter but they will not solve a chronic shortage problem. An immediate crisis has been postponed for a few months only. The general situation remains unchanged and there is no indication whatever of any permanent improvement.

For years this country has been facing a butter shortage, but the Dominion parliament has been afraid to take the only steps that will correct the situation. Those steps are:

1. Remove the ban on butter substitutes, a ban that was never justified in the first place, and is indefensible on any grounds now.

2. Remove or lower the tariff on butter so that a permanent flow of imports will be encouraged.

Twice a bill to end the ban on margarine has been defeated in the Senate and last year a similar bill in the House of Commons was not even permitted to come to a vote. By opening the doors temporarily to a little imported butter this winter, Ottawa undoubtedly hopes that consumers will be satisfied and its clear-cut duty in regard to the margarine ban can be safely evaded once more.

Consumers will be foolish indeed if they fall into such a trap. There should be no let-up in the popular pressure to have the ban on margarine lifted. Only by opening the field freely to substitutes and imports can we hope for permanent relief.—Financial Post.

Minister of Welfare Warns Modern Trend Dangerous

A warning of "a dangerous trend today for people to depend too much on governments" was given Monday evening by the Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Ontario Minister of Welfare and member for Northumberland. He was guest speaker at the annual fall banquet of the Central Ontario Beekeepers' Association.

"The function of government is to provide only those services which cannot be supplied as well or better by individuals to themselves."

Terming the trend "a dangerous practise which seems to grow," the Provincial Cabinet member said that "this may develop into an unhealthy dependence on central agencies . . . we must watch to see that we do not reach that point of supplying services at which we take the initiative out of the people."

Mr. Goodfellow pointed out that in his Department of Welfare)) that nearly $40,000,000 will be distributed in the province this year for several services. He added that these expenditurs were necessary because of "the development in our democratic form of governemnt by which some services must be provided." However, he stressed the danger of going "too far" in this direction.

Mentioning the "great expansion" now in progress throughout Canada, he said that the country was entering its "time of great opportunity" to develop and increase. This, he said, is indicated by the present hydro shortage. Requirements for power in the province have doubled since 1937 he pointed out.

Need More People.

"We are going to be a great country. We need more people and have the natural resources to support them."

Mentioning the vital part which scientific research has played in the development of our natural resources, he said: "In many ways we have been pirates of our natural resources. I think the most important point in this regard is that top six inches of our soil . . . . one thing to which we must give most serious consideration is more research so that we can, instead of exploiting, return to that top six inches the riches we have taken."

"There is no reason why we should not be able to look forward to a life of full contentment in Canada." A final warning given by the speaker:

"Don't look too much to governments to do things for us which we can do better ourselves . . . . that dangerous trend can lead to those various 'isms' which would centralize all government powers and give more and more services . . . . the purposes of government are to give only those services which the people cannot supply for themselves . . . ."

Chairman of the meeting, which was attended by about 100 members of the Association and their wives, was Arthur Wartman of Warkworth, retiring president. The Association area covers the four counties of Northumberland, Durham, Victoria and Peterborough.

Mr. Goodfellow was introduced by Neil Nelson, retiring Northumberland director. Thanks of the meeting were expressed by President Wartman.

Ex-Mayor James Hamilton of Peterborough, representing the city, welcomed the group to Peterborough.

Hector Inch of Port Hope, was eelcted president of the Association for the coming year. Other officers are: vice-president, Clifford Perin of Cameron; secretary-treasurer, Jack Miller of Bridgenorth; directors, Northumberland, Morris Harvey of Campbellford; Durham, Ray Jarvis of Bethany; Victoria, Ralph Culvert of Little Britain; Peterborough, Henry Gilders of Peterborough.

Big Legal Battle Fought On Bank Bill

LONDON, Oct. 26 (Reuters)—The Australian government Monday transferred to London one of the biggest legal battles of all time, rising from an Australian federal measure to nationalize all trading banks in that country.

The Australian banking bill was passed by both House of Representatives and Senate and received royal assent in November, 1947. Immediately, trading banks and the state governments of Victoria, South Australia and West Australia applied for a high court injunction to restrain the government giving effect to the bill.

Republicans Confident About Campaigns

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (CP)—The Democrats are given a fair hope of regaining control of the Senate in November's elections, but the Republicans are as confident of retaining their majority in the House of Representatives as they are of winning the presidency.

Democrats could win back the Senate with a gain of only four seats and many observers concede they have an outside chance to do it.

But they would need a gain of 31 House seats for an over-all majority. Both Houses were lost to the Republicans in the 1946 Congressional elections.

Present standing in the House is Republicans 243, Democrats 185, and American Labor party two, with five vacancies of which the Republicans held three and the Democrats two. The total number of seats is 435.

Members of the House of Representatives are elected for two-year terms only. They get the same sessional indemnities as senators, ($15,000 a year with $2,500 of that sum tax free), but the latter are elected for six years.

House members are almost constantly campaigning to hold their seats. They have tried in vain to have their terms extended at least to equal the presidential term of four years.

Democrats talking for publication assert they can win back the House of they get a few "breaks," but privately many close to the campaign concede that the best they can hope to do is cut the Republican majority.

Democratic Hopes

Greatest hopes of the Democrats lie in the registration of a heavy voting list and a reaction of the mass of the people to the president's campaign against the record of the Republican-controlled Congress during the last two years.

Forty-nine Democratic candidates are without opposition and nine in California are endorsed by both major parties. The Democrats are virtually certain to elect their candidates in more than a dozen states particularly in the south. The Republicans have numerous northern and midwestern districts in which they have been consistently victorious.

In the 1936 elections the Republican House strength fell to 89, lowest since 1893. It jumped to 169 in 1938, back to 162 in 1940, up to 212 in 1942, back to 190 in 1944 and up to 245 in the 1946 Congressional elections.

There are 963 candidates for the 435 seats and all but 173 are either Democratic or Republican. Of the 173, Henry Wallace's new Progressive party has 75, plus the support of 35 American Labor party candidates in New York.

The Socialist party whose perennial presidential candidate is Norman Thomas, has 25 candidates. There are 22 "Prohibition" candidates, two Socialist Labor, seven Independents and a number under odd labels including one "Abolish Legislators' Re-election."

Do You Suffer FROM A "Weak" Back?

Does sitting in a draft or in a damp, chilly room sometimes bring on an aching back? Many people say they get "cold" in the back—or in the kidneys—so easily. At such times it's good to know about the quick relief of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Remember, both kidneys and liver must filter out impurities from your bloodstream. So if you feel tired, worn-out, headachy — with painful joints and aching back—look to both your kidneys and liver. That's why Canadians have been relying on Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for over half a century.

Give your system a chance to work properly. Always keep Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills handy—especially during damp chilly weather. The name "Dr. Chase" is your assurance.

Report Danny Martin In Bad Condition

PROVIDENCE, R.I., Oct. 26 — (AP). — Danny Martin, Newark, N.J., middleweight, was reported in critical condition today at Rhode Island hospital suffering from injuries received in a bout Monday night.

Martin was knocked out by Tommy Bell, Youngstown, Ohio, negro, in the 10th round of their main bout at Rhode Island auditorium.

Hospital physicians had not determined the exact nature of his injuries. They said, however, that in the few minutes before he became unconscious in the ring he complained of pains in his head and back.

Martin was given the last rites of the Roman Catholic church by a priest at the ringside.

Martin weighed in at 160 for the bout and Bell 150¼.

Windsor Whips Stratford Kroehlers 10-2

By The Canadian Press

The league-leading Hamilton Tigers and St. Catharines Teepees remained atop their respective Ontario Hockey Association divisions although both were idle Monday night.

In the senior loop, Tigers are in front of the second place Stratford Indians by three points—with a total of eight, while St. Catharines Teepees, with nine points, lead Windsor Spitfires by three.

In the only OHA game Monday night, Windsor Spitfires, led by a three-goal performance by Francis O'Grady and Bruce Giesbrecht, walloped Stratford Kroehlers 10-2 at Stratford.

A penalty to Joe Beda in the second period broke up the rugged game.

Up to that time it was a fairly even battle, with both teams scoring twice in the first frame—Bert Giesebrecht and Jim Hay counting for Windsor, Beda and O'Hearn scoring for Stratford.

Get Their Chance

While Beda was serving his penalty, O'Grady rammed home two goals. He added his third tally when Beda was penalized for tripping later in the period.

Other Windsor marksmen were: Bert Giesebrecht who notched two, Marcel Pronovost and George Ouellette with singletons.

One senior game is slated for tonight, Owen Sound Mercurys play host to Hamilton.

In the junior loop, a double-header is scheduled in Toronto—Marlboros meet Galt and St. Michael's College clash with Oshawa Generals. St. Catharines play host to Guelph Biltmores.

Petes' lacrosse champions dinner at the Kawartha Club tomorrow night for officials, players and their wives. It is being given by Ostrander's, which company took over the backing of the Petes early in the season and aided the gutted-stick crew plenty. Purchased equipment, etc., and put up three valuable watches to the players judged the most valuable by the fans—we haven't heard their names yet. It's nice to get good backing, especially if the gates fall off or bad luck should hit a club, and it's a good guess that Ostrander's will take over complete sponsorship of the senior "B" lacrosse setup next season.

And A Nod To Him

Another party who treats the club he is interested in right is Mr. Donald A. McGillis, Sr., one of the honorary presidents of the Panthers' ORFU team. For making the group playoffs Saturday, he provided a treat for them—and the Orillia players, too—and then presented Panthers with $200 which they're tucking away toward new windbreakers. The week-end previously, he treated the CGE Pipe Band—which paraded at halftime of a game in the Oval—to a dinner, and then decided the police had handled the parade well so their Benevolent Fund should be enriched by $50. No, Mr. McGillis doesn't do things by halves when he gets interested in a local athletic association.

* * * * * *

While tossing a few bouquets around, we'd like to lean one in the direction of Harry (Hilly) Yudin. For why? Oh, just for general interest and willingness to help sports here. Since coming to Peterborough from the States, Harry has taken a keen interest in basketball and football particularly, as well as lacrosse. Maybe other games, too. But he is willing to work as an official, a referee, a coach or just a car driver for any of these clubs. He's currently doing an okay job as president of the Panthers' good grid setup. Yeah, a handy guy to have around.

Should Be Shoo-In

Cobourg's classy Galloping Ghosts will be playing off in their rugby group with Trenton Fliers, now being affiliated with the ORFU as intermediates. Winner no doubt will play-off against the Orillia-Peterborough winner the middle of November. And the winner of that first bracket unquestionably will be the Ghosts, unless they all disappear Hallowe'en, on account of the Fliers last week could only beat Albert College 19-11 in an exhibition. Whereas our PCVS seniors trounced the Albert Collegians 58-0 here on Saturday! So, it should be a shoo-in for Cobourg, but the Orillia-Panthers' series will be a dogfight.

* * * * * *

Soccer games here Saturday are: O'Halloran's against CGE at 1.45 in King Edward Park, Referee George Downer, and Lindsay versus Legionnaires at 3.00 there, with R. Strong in charge. Both games are in the Mayor Ovens Cup injured players' competition. In the Public School Soccer League yesterday aft, Queen Mary eliminated Queen Alex 3-1 in overtime, and the semi-final is today with the junior final slated for Thursday afternoon. Dope in elsewhere. The senior section schedule winds up tomorrow with Queen Alex vs. King Edward at the Oval, Referee Corbett; Confederation vs. Prince of Wales at King Edward, Referee McNeill; and Central at King George, Referee Scrutton. First and second teams playoff Nov. 3 at King Edward, with Referee Cunningham handling it.

Archie Is Coaching

Archie Weir has been named coach of the Triple Link junior "B" OHA entry here for his third straight season at the helm. In that time he handled such stars—now playing elsewhere — as Sullivan, Dugan and Montgomery; and he was junior "B" coach here at the start of the war. He knows his stuff. Manager Andy Price and the coach have called a meeting for 7.30 tomorrow night in the IOOF Hall of all prospective junior players to get a line on the material available. It is said there are a couple of newcomers to town, from the Soo and Newmarket, and a lot of local talent, so the Oddfellows should be strong this season.

Red Wings Trade Three Players For Poile, Gee

DETROIT, Oct. 26 — (AP). — A three-for-two player trade with the Chicago Black Hawks was announced Monday by the Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey league.

Detroit is giving up left-wings Jim Conacher and Armand (Bep) Guidolin and defenceman Doug McCaig in return for right-wing Norman (Bud) Poile and centre George Gee.

Poile, 24, from Fort William, Ont., was on the league's second all-star team last year and was fifth in scoring with 25 goals and 29 assists. Chicago obtained him from Toronto last season.

A Detroit spokesman said acquesition of Gee, who is from Stratford, would enable Pete Horeck to be shifted back from centre to his regular left-wing post.

Conacher, 27, who has been with Detroit since the middle of the 1946 season, probably will be missed most by Detroit fans. His fast and fancy skating has been a crowd pleaser.

The Wings obtained Guidolin, 23, from Boston in a swap for Billy Taylor, who later was traded to New York before he was expelled in connection with a gambling investigation. Both Conacher and Guidolin moved into the NHL after playing with Oshawa Generals in the Ontario Hockey Association junior A ranks.

McCaig, 28, and from Guelph, never has played a complete season for Detroit. Some years he was shuttled between the Wings and their farm clubs and he missed the last half of last season with a fractured ankle.

Sandford Leads NHL Scoring

MONTREAL, Oct. 26.—(CP).—Eddie Sandford, long-striding Boston centre, is going great guns in his sophomore season after making only a lukewarm impression when he came up to hockey's major league direct from junior ranks last year.

Official National Hockey League statistcs released today show Sanford with seven points on five goals and two assists in the Bruins' first three games. In second place after two weeks of play is another Bruin forward, little Grant Warwick, who has a pair of goals and four assists for six points.

Pudgy Jack Crawford, solid-blocking Boston rearguard, has moved into a tie for third place with three other players, Montreal's Elmer Lach and Billy Reay and Doug Bentley of Chicago. Each has five points.

Deadlocked with four points apiece are Norm Dussault and Joe Carveth of Montreal, rookie Max McNab of Detroit and Pete Babando of Boston.

Bill Barilko, bouncing Toronto rearguard who was bad man of the circuit last season, appears to be a good bet to take the penalty sweepstakes again this year. Old Murph (Hardrock) Chamberlain still leads with 17 minutes, but Barilko is only a minute behind.

McFater Wins 38th With Technical KO

TORONTO, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Alan McFater of Toronto won his 38th fight in 40 starts and protected his unbeaten string Monday night by scoring a fourth round technical knockout over Rockey Beau of Toronto. Both fought in the 133-pound group.

In a preliminary bout at the Maple Leaf Gardens show Tommy Corrick of Toronto, fighting at 126 pounds, won a five-round decision over Ernie Kelleher, Guelph.

Another out-of-towner met defeat when Stoney Drake of Oshawa lost a three-round decision to Red Hall of Toronto at 145 pounds.

W. H. 'Pete' Giffen Heads Norwood Team

NORWOOD, Oct. 26 (ENS). — W. H. (Pete) Giffen was unanimously elected preesident of the TVL Hockey Club at a meeting recently.

Other officers include, Rod Webb, manager; Bert Lockhead, secretary treasurer with Lorne Brown assistant; Charles (Silver) Puffer, coach; Archie Aldred, co-manager.

It was decided that hockey club management should meet with the rink commission to secure practice time before season and one night a week during season. Arrangements were also made to procure shatterproof glasses.

Goal judges appointed for the season were Lloyd Fleming and Ross Aldred, and timekeeper, Archie Aldred.

A ROUGH-RIDING GUY is Bob Cunningham of Alouettes as he hits the goal-line for a touchdown in the Alouette-Rough Rider game in Montreal. Sprawling on the grid in Cunningham's wake are Howie Turner and Bob Paffrath (64). "What was that going past?" Paffrath might be asking Turner.

Handicap Still Guessing Contest

NEWMARKET, England, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Unsettled weather and a lower than average class have made this year's Cambridgeshire handicap, to be run here tomorrow, more of a guessing contest than ever.

Heavy rains Monday softened the track to some extent, although it still is a long way from muddy. But the "further showers" predicted might mean enough water before post time to turn the turf into a quagmire.

If that happens wise money will start looking around among the horses carrying the lightest weight to find a mudlark that might come home at long odds.

Meantime, there has been considerable late support for top-weighted Royal Tara, who will carry 126 pounds including jockey Charlie Smirke. The price of the two-time winner of the Kempton Park Jubilee handicap tightened from 25 to 1 to 18 to 1 at Monday night's Victoria Club callover in London.

Another to shorten—and he is reputed to like running in a soft and soupy track—is the northern-trained Trinity whcih opened at 20 to 1 and closed at 100 to 6.

Still favorite, but easing half a point, is Captain P. G. A. Harvey's Speciality at 6 to 1.

Queen Mary Takes Junior Soccer Go

Queen Mary soccer team came from behind to defeat Queen Alexandra juniors in a playoff tilt at Central School grounds Monday afternoon by a 3-1 count. They meet King George in the playoff game today for the right to meet King Edward in the final game Thursday afternoon in King Edward Park.

Queen Alex boys forced play inside Queen Mary territory throughout the first period and converted a penalty kick taken by Bob McKinney. Queen Mary got the equalizer in the second half on a long shot by Brown. Extra time had to be played to declare a winner to meet King George in the north end section. Keen tactics prevailed until well on the period when Montgomery placed a long drive inside the upright and White made sure with a smart goal on an individual effort.

Queen Alexandra—J. Pearson, goal; D. Lang and D. Stewart, ful backs; D. Ham, R. McKinney and M. Weir, half backs; D. Cooke, G. McLean, G. Dack, R. Mutton and J. Farthing, forwards.

Queen Mary—B. Jackson, goal; R. Brady and A. Anderson, full backs; D. Brown, O. Schweier and R. Merrett, half backs; B. McIlwain, D. Houghton, T. Roberts, G. White and R. Dubay, forwards; subs, R. Graham, K. Black, C. Ellis and Don Montgomery.

Referee, James Burns.

LEADS SCORING

Carl Liscombe, high-scoring left wing of Providence Reds, continues to set the pace in the American Hockey League's individual scoring race, it was announced at New York Monday night. Liscombe, who got off to a tremendous start in defence of his crown, collected only three points during the week to boost his output to 17 points. The 33-year-old forward, who also leads the league in goal-getting, has scored 10 goals and drawn seven assists.

Sid Smith of Pittsburgh Hornets, jumped from fourth to second place. Smith increased his total from nine to 12 points. Roger Bedard and Harvey Fisher of Providence and Murdo Mackay of Buffalo are tied for third place at 11 points each. Fraser paces the field in assists with 10.

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

Under grey, weeping skies, the body of Babe Ruth was laid in its final resting place Monday. He died Aug. 16 of cancer at the age of 53.

Only a few of the millions of fans who idolized the sports hero were present as the mahogany coffin with "George Herman Ruth" on its silver name-plate was lowered into a self-sealing concrete vault beneath the earth.

The scene at the Gate of Heaven cemetery in Westchester county, near New York City, contrasted sharply with the funeral services Aug. 19.

Then 6,000 persons jammed their way into St. Patrick's Cathedral and 75,000 more crowded outside. More than 100,000 fans had passed his bier in Yankee Stadium for one last look at the home-run king.

Fritzie Pruden, 141¾, of St. Catharines outpointed Terry Young, 137 of New York, Monday night in the featured eight-round bout at the Eastern Parkway rink inn Brooklyn. The 20-year-old Canadian youngster, although rocked a number of times by his more experienced opponent, scored effectively with a left jab and numerous right-hand counter-punches to gain the nod. Referee Frankie Fullam voted 5-3 in favor of Pruden while one judge called the bout a draw and the other voted 4-3 in favor of the Canadian.

Kansas (...rs have two men at the ... of the United States Hockey League scoring roster, each of them holding nine points, it was announced today at Minneapolis. They are Bert Olmstead and Ray Powell, each with a trio of goals and six assists. Pressing them closely with eight points each are Billy Warwick of Fort Worth, Alex Ritson, Tulsa, and Bus Gagnon, Dallas.

At Olean, N.Y., the Athletics director of St. Bonaventure College Monday night suspended John Collins, punting star of its unbeaten football squad, from all future intercollegiate competition. Rev. Silas D. Rooney, said his action "was brought about when Collins admitted to playing baseball with the Schenectady professional baseball team during the summer of 1948 after an outside query had instigated an investigation." Schenectady is in the Canadian-American League.

Cedric Durst, manager of Rochester Red Wings of the International Baseball League the last two seasons, will manage the Omaha Cardinals of the Western League in 1949, President Robert Hall announced Monday at Omaha. Johnny Keane, Houston manager for two years, moves to Rochester, Hall said.

No-Time-Limit May Give Peterson Chance To Unmask The Hooded Mystery Man

Three outstanding wrestling bouts are carded for the weekly mat show at the Brock Arena tomorrow night. In the main bout the Masked Marvel will risk his immunity to public gaze when he meets the new sensation Col. Pete Peterson. The famous U.S. Army Colonel has made a second sensation by his mat tactics following his magnificent military career. Peterson is still only 30 years old and is full of conviction that he can go to the top in the grappling sport. Critics says he is one of the most polished matmen in the game. He will meet a rugged opponent in The Mask who has yet to lose a bout locally.

Ben Morgan

Big Ben Morgan and Pat Flanagan renew hostilities in the semi-final, Pat having won last week's bout by disqualification. Morgan claims that is the only way he would have been returned winner.

In the opener Ben Sharpe meets the wild Iowa Bomb-shell Lee Henning. As a special additional feature Tuffy Truesdale comes in with a new and much fiercer alligator which he will endeavor to wrestle. Truesdale will appear after the regular wrestling bouts are over.

Six On 1947 All-Stars Make Grade This Year

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Oct. 26 (AP). — Five players from the American and five from the National make up the 1948 major-league all-star team as selected for The Associated Press by 220 baseball experts throughout the United States.

Only six of the 16 big-league clubs—three in each league—are represented in the third annual all-star aggregation. The world champion Cleveland Indians won two berths, as did the National league champions, Boston Braves.

Boston Red Sox and St. Louis Cardinals, runners-up in their respective circuits, also placed two representativese each. One man from New York Yankees and one from New York Giants completed the team.

Of the 10 men selected, no fewer than six are hold-overs from the 1947 all-star team. They consist of the entire infield of Johnny Mize, Joe Gordon, Bob Elliott and Lou Boudreau; Ted Williams and Joe DiMaggio, who comprise two-thirds of the outfield.

No One Unanimous

No player was a unanimous choice. Stan Musial, the National league's batting king, and Williams, the champion stickman of the American league, were tied for the most votes. Each drew 212 of the 220 ballots cast.

DiMaggio, spark plug of the Yankees, won the centrefield post hands down with 210 votes, third highest total among the 63 vote-getters.

Boudreau, playing manager of the Indians and the logical choice for the American league's most-valuable-player award, ranked fourth with 209 votes to win the shortstop berth easily.

Johnny Sain of the Braves gathered 140 votes to be named the righ-handed pitcher of the team. The tall curve-ball specialist, who won 24 games during the regular season and shut out the Indians, 1-0, in the world series opener, more than double the 60 votes drawn by Bob Lemon, Cleveland's 20-game winner and Sain's closest competitor.

The battle for the top left-handed pitcher was much closer. Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, 20-game winner of the Cardinals, was the victor. He was backed by 90 votes to 80 for Hal Newhouser, who won 21 games for the second-division Detroit Tigers.

Birdie Tebbetts, peppery backstop of the Red Sox, won the catching job. His 82 votes were 32 more than runner-up Jim Hegan of Cleveland, was able to muster.

STAY IN COMPETITION

British sports fans seem to think Britain should take it on the chin rather than withdraw temporarily from international sport competition, in which their idols have won few laurels since the war. A poll organized by the London graphic showed only 14 per cent favoring abstention from international competition — a counsel of despair seriously advocated by some sports writers.

FINALS START NOV. 6

At Regina, President Clare Warner of the Western Football League announced Monday night the first game of the total-points western final will be played Nov. 6 either at Winnipeg or Regina and the second at Calgary Nov. 11. Saturday's final league game between Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Saskatchewan Roughriders will decide which of the two teams will meet the undefeated Calgary Stampeders in the two-game total-point series.

Remember When . . .

By The Canadian Press

Tony Canzoneri decided to call it a day nine years ago today. The former world featherweight, lightweight and junior welterweight boxing champion decided that one fight —with Brooklyn's Al (Bummy) Davis—would decide his ring future. He lost the bout and retired, ending a 20-year fighting career.

Winnipeg Gives Most Players

MONTREAL, Oct. 26 (CP). — The West, especially the Winnipeg district, has always been a great breeding ground for first-rate hockey players, so it's no surprise to learn that Winnipeg is the birthplace of more National league players than any other city.

The NHL office here went over the rosters of the six league teams and discovered that 14 of the 99 players in the circuit today were born in Winnipeg.

Toronto is next with six native sons performing in the loop, and is followed by Montreal with five and Saskatoon with four.

There are four American-born players—Bill Moe of Rangers, from Danvers, Mass.; Pete Babando and Frank Brimsek of Boston, of Braeburn, Pa., and Eveleth, Minn., respectively, and Norm Dussault of Montreal Canadiens, who first entered the world at Springfield, Mass.

Of the 91 players born in Canada, 34 are from Ontario, which is tops among the provinces.

Find Game Birds Fewer In The United States

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 — (AP).—A bird count along the northwestern fringe of the North American continent has turned up nearly as many water fowl there as farther souht in Canada, but fewer game birds.

The United States Fish and Wildlife Service, reporting this today, said the summer-long aerial study by its biologist, Robert H. Smith, and Robert P. Allen of the National Audubon Society, was the most intensive ever made on the far north's waterfowl breeding ground.

While saying the waterfowl populations compared favorably with those in southern Canada, the agency added:

"The greater percentage of the ducks observed were non-game birds — the slow-flying or fish-eating scoters, old squaws and king eiders.

"Mallards and pintails, the most important game species in the United States, made up a small percentage of the ducks in the area.

"The vast far-north breeding grounds will remain unstudied. A comprehensive estimate of duck populations can be made only by broadening the forthcoming surveys to include other regions in north-eastern Alaska and Canada's northwest territories."

CAR-BUS FATALITY—One of the worst accidents in the Windsor area in recent years claimed two lives when a loaded bus collided with an automobile south of the city Saturday. Another 25 persons were injured. Police say the accident occurred when the car slithered in mud across a boulevard into the path of the bus. This photo shows the bus halted on a railway embankment. The victims were passengers in the car.

OLD FRIENDS, OLD ENEMIES—Back home, Australian High Commissioner Francis Forde, left, former prime minister of the Australian Labor Government, was a strong opponent of Robert Menzies, former Liberal prime minister and now leader of the opposition. They were "Bob" and "Frank" to each other when they met last week in Mr. Forde's Ottawa office to talk about things "down under."

Welsh Party Head Backs Dublin Union

CARDIFF, Oct. 26. — (CP). — Gwynfor Evans, president of the Welsh Nationalist party, said Monday night that "if Wales is to be governed by a nation outside of our land, I would prefer to be governed from Dublin."

He spoke at a dinner in honor of Eamon De Valevra, former prime miniter of Eire. De Valera has been touring Wales.

During his tour he made several speeches advocating an end of the partition between Eire and Northern Ireland. Monday night he expressed a desire to co-operate with Britain once 'justice is done."

Cease Fire Only When UN There

TORONTO, Oct. 26—(CP)—A Canadian-born Jewish youth who fought for five months with Hagana forces in Palestine, 21-year-old Raphael Starak, is back in Canada.

He said Monday in an interview that he saw Jewish boys and girls try to halt Arab forces by tying hand-grenades to themselves and leaping in the path of oncoming tanks.

Starak said the Arab soldiers were no match for Hagana forces —they were too superstitious and too easily scared.

The war has its comic side, he said. Whenever a United Nations official put in an appearance at the front line, both Arabs and Jews politely ceased firing until he went away again.

Believes Canada Must Maintain Trade Relations

OTTAWA, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Hon. Earl Rowe, member of the Commons for the Ontario constituency of Dufferin-Simcoe, said Monday night that Canada's potential greatness "demands" that she maintain trade relations with many countries.

In an address prepared for delivery at a meeting of the Young Progressive Conservative Association of Ottawa, Mr. Rowe said that as far as trade is concerned "we must abolish the wait-and-see attitude our government has followed since the war.

"There are some who advocate fuller dependence on trade with the United States. On the other side, there are those who feel we should more completely integrate our business with the Commonwealth.

"I don't think either policy would, in the long run, be in the best interests of Canada, and certainly neither is feasible at the present time.

"Our potential greatness demands that we become an industrial and commercial country in our own right, maintaining wide trade relations with many countries."

Asks Tax Cut

Mr. Rowe, a minister without portfolio in the last Conservative government, also called for a tax reduction and a broader development of the government's natural resources. He criticized the government for "flouting" the powers of parliament and he charged that government bureaucrats were placing themselves above the law.

"Unless the trend of the present Ottawa government to strangle progressively our free enterprise system is halted, in the very near future, the state itself will emerge as the chief financier and the only confident investor in the field of risk enterprise," said Mr. Rowe.

In charging that the government was flouting parliament, he said that thousands of orders-in-council are being passed whether parliament is sitting or not.

"Many of these orders-in-council are secret, and certainly not above question."

PROMISED LAND—Three thousand acres of the Eden Valley ranch west of High River, Alta., were set aside last week as a sub-reserve for 140 Indians. Ceremonies marked the occasion and these three squaws of the Stony Tribe stand on a rise of land overlooking their new home during the ceremonies. Nine Substantial Donations Given To Arena Officially, Civic Arena Week ended Saturday night. However, many canvassers are still working quietly behind the scenes bringing in donations to help swell the Arena Fund.

The "special names" committee is also on the job and over the weekend did much to bring receipts to a new high. A complete report is expected tonight.

The Civic Arena Tag Day organized by Mrs. William Addyman, and held last Saturday, brought in $440 in spite of the bad weather and lack of sufficient taggers. Many young girls and boys helped Mrs. Addyman both Saturday morning and afternoon.

One young lad, an enthusiastic hockey player, collected more than $35 by himself. Another tagger, only 9 years old, brought in almost $25.

Mrs. Addyman wishes to thank all those taggers who so willingly helped out with this further means of raising money for the Arena Campaign.

Sizeable donations received from organizations and business firms over the weekend are as follows:

Campbell's Dairy	$100.00
Fanning's Laundry	50.00
Bishop's House	100.00
Peterborough Hotel Ass'n	350.00
Ontario Marble Co.	75.00
Comstock employees	57.00
Peterboro Baseball Club	50.00
Florence Furniture Co.	50.00
Dewart Milling Co.	100.00

Suggest Sale Of Factory Site

Sale to Coca-Cola Ltd. for $5,000 of the lot at the southeast corner of Erskine Ave. and Lansdowne St., west of May's School, was advanced by the board of works Monday night to the stage of ordering preparation of a by-law to authorize it.

This property has a frontage of 265 feet on Lansdowne St. and 1,358 feet down Erskine Ave. The city paid $3,000 for it, intending it for industrial purposes. That idea was still in their thoughts when the first approach was made by Coca-Cola people. Later, it was believed that their building might be an attraction to some other company looking in that area for a factory location.

"If that isn't stupid," was the blunt remark of Ald. Grant Miller in a criticism of selling the big lot for $5,000, an increase of only $1,500 after holding the land several years. "Away too cheap," he added.

Ald. Gordon Armstrong said the general feeling was that the property should be retained as a factory site. Appraisal of its selling value was obtained from two experienced real estate men who were engaged separately.

"All that we can say is that we are following the appraisal figure," said Ald. Armstrong. "There was also an opinion that if we sell this lot the proceeds be invested in some other land for industrial location."

"I have no objection to Coca-Cola," said Ald. G. Miller. "I simply feel that it is too cheap at $5,000."

Ald. H. Dodds: "It is our offer to them."

Ald. Swanston: "The city would get the difference from the increased assessment of the property. What I am concerned about is the probability that they may begin building down there next year if conditions are favorable, and then they are likely to ask for sewer, sidewalk, water mains and so on. We already have a lot of work that we haven't caught up with."

City Solicitor Huycke was asked to insert in the bylaw a clause that suspended company demand for these conveniences for a number of years to be determined when the bylaw is being read.

Dane To Attend Nine-Day Course

A nine-day course in Toronto for about 60 full-time recreational directors will be held in early November. Jack Dane of Peterborough will attend to take the course, "Administration of Recreation," sponsored jointly by the Community Program Branch of the Ontario Department of Education and the Extension Department of the University of Toronto.

Included on the agenda will be such subjects as Municipal Administration, How to set up an office, Community organization for recreation, Recreation in community councils, Public relations and publicity and the present-day picture of community recreation in Great Britain. Professor Alan Klein will be in charge of these workshops.

Among the well-known leaders giving the course will be Professor C. Hendry, University of Toronto; Professor K. G. Crawford, Queen's University; Don Fisher, Hugo Wolter, Thomas Meyer, Professor J. S. Morgan and John Pearson.

It is hoped that Professor J. D. Nash, Dean of the Recreation School, New York University will be present to lend assistance.

As an indication of the growth of the recreation movement it is pointed out that three years ago there were five municipal recreation directors in the province; today there are nearly 60 communities with permanent directors, and almost as many more with part-time assistants.

Warn Cottagers Protect Valuables

Provincial Police today appealed to owners of summer cottagers in the Kawartha vacation district to not leave outboard motors, fishing equipment, household goods and other articles in their summer homes when they close them for the winter.

"Most of these areas are so isolated during the winter that it is impossible for us to police such a big area," an officer explained The possessions left are "sitting pigeons" for marauders.

"Many cottagers will not be using their properties until next May and will not know of any losses until then. By that time, it is usually too late to unearth clues as to the guilty parties."

Parsonage Mortgage Burned At Mark St. United Church

Congregation of Mark Street United Church filled the edifice Monday evening to watch the ceremony of the burning of the mortgage on the parsonage and part of the total church debt. The mortgage for the church building was burned in 1942 and until this huge commitment had been paid off, various ministers called to the parish, put up with the inconvenience of an inadequate ancient house until the way seemed clear that a new one could be purchased and paid for.

The ceremony on Monday evening was presided over by the present minister, the Rev. A. M. Partridge, who conducted an opening hymn and this was followed by a prayer by the Rev. E. E. Pugsley, chairman of the Peterborough Presbytery. Master Robert Ritchie sang two solos.

Ward Gamble, clerk of the session outlined the history of Mark Street United parish since its beginning in the Ashburnham Town Hall under the Rev. J. W. Butcher in 1871. He told of the building of the first wooden church on Mark St., and how the first parsonage was acquired and that there were 22 ministers in the parish between 1873 and 1927. Decision to build a new church was reached in 1927 when the present lot at the corner of Mark and Hunter Streets, was purchased in the amount of $2,750. In 1928 a building committee was formed, a contractor engaged and work started; the late Roland Denne, Mayor, laid the corner stone.

Former Minister Speaks.

Following Mr. Gamble's address the Rev. C. D. Daniels of Ingersoll United Church, gave an appropriate address, and since he was a former minister at the time when the new church was first being used, he was able to tell many stories about the difficult days of raising monies to pay off the heavy church debt. He advised the congregation that even though their task had been achieved in a material sense that they should look about themf to choose some one group to enter the ministry or mission field to complete the spiritual work of the parish as a whole. He illustrated the importance of religion in present day statistics wheer the divorce rate was one in four marriages, but, in the church population the ratio was one in 50.

The Rev. E. W. Rowland, retired and former pastor of the church spoke next on the history of the old parsonage. After the new church mortgage has been burned during his term, in 1942, plans were made for the purchase of the house and lot which is the present parsonage. He paid glowing tribute to all ministers' wives who, on very slim means, made atractive homes in the old parsonage and that it was a great burden to them. When an opportunity arose for the purchase of a new parsonage, after the church mortgage debt was paid off in 1942, E. De Nure assisted in arranging for the purchase of the present building.

Following the addresses, the speakers together with the presetn pastor, the Rev. A. M. Partridge, Gordon Eason and Ed. Ne Nure, chairman of the Board of Stewards, took part in the ceremony of the burning of parsonage mortgage beside the Communion Table.

There was a social gathering in the basement recreation rooms after the ceremony, during which Ted Bradshaw entertained with a program of magic and lunch was served by the women of the congregation.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

PUPPY KILLED

People in the vicinity of Simcoe and George Sts. saw a German Shepherd puppy killed early today. The puppy attempted to cross the intersection but it was struck by a truck and killed almost instantly.

MAKE TWO TRIPS

Shortly after 4 p.m. on Monday firemen went to the home of Mrs. A. Carr, 364 Brock St. to put out a chimney fire. The next trip was outside 587 Downey St., where some leaves were burning on the roadside.

HEAR REPORT ON CCL CONVENTION

A special meeting for members of Local 524, UE-CIO, will be held at the Brock St. Arena tonight at 7.30 p.m. Delegates from the annual district convention and from the annual CCL convention will report to the membership.

FULL COURT FOR LINDSAY

Three local cases, all for major offences, are included in the docked for the fall assizes of the Supreme Court at Lindsay next week. They are: a murder charge against Mrs. Jean McAllister of Kirkfield; Douglas Lamb of Lindsay, charged with manslaughter; James Steadman, Lindsay, charged with attempted rape.

IT ISN'T FUNNY

An insurance company manager ruefully remarked this morning, that on Hallowe'en his car will be locked in his garage. Last year vandals stole the gas tank cap, the windshield wipers and the mirrors. They also bent the radio aerial into a knot, ruining it.

MILLBROOK DARKENED

The village of Millbrook had its first blackout of the power shortage on Sunday—from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Church services were cut off except for St. Andrew's United, where a reed-organ had been brought in to replace the pipe organ for the service.

FALSE FACES GALORE

Downtown store windows reflect the coming of Hallowe'en with false faces, paper witches, masks and horns in abundance. Candy kisses appear to be plentiful too, and these along with apples will probably be the main hand-out items come Saturday night.

ANGLERS AND HUNTERS CHAIRMAN SPEAKS

Blake Uren, Orillia, chairman of zone five Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, and Harold Darraugh of Orangeville, secretary, will be guest speakers tonight at the meeting called by the Peterborough Fish and Game Association. A large audience of local conservationists is expected to attend the Collegiate to hear the speakers urge affiliation with the Federation.

CHINESE EXECTUTIVE of the Shanghai YMCA, K. Z. Loh will be guest speaker at the Y's Men Club dinner on Oct. 28. For 14 years general-secretary there he has built it into one of largest in the world, serving 15,000 members. His career has included social work and education in both China and the USA. He obtained his master's degree at Yale University.

Most Of Stores Will Stay Open On Wednesdays

Stores whose proprietors are members of the Peterborough Business Men's Association will remain open on Wednesday. This decision was reached after a meeting of the Association when the whole matter was thrashed out.

Ernest Braund, president of the Association, told the Examiner: "We have been told by the Hydro authorities, that for the time being, at least it won't be necessary for us to stay closed."

A survey for the past three Wednesdays, which was quoted to members at the meeting, showed that when the stores were open on October 13 and 20, total consumption of power in Peterborough was 250,000 kwh and 252,000 kwh respectively. On October 6, when the stores closed, consumption was 248,000 kwh. The consensus was that the saving was not very great.

To offset this Mr. Braund pointed out that one the one day when the closing was tried, the association did not get 100 per cent co-operation among the members. And the amount of sunlight on any particular day was also cited as a variable factor.

The new executive for the year, picked from the directors is E. C. Braund, president; George Hildenbrand, vice president, and James Dorris, secretary treasurer.

Two proposed closing days were turned down. One was the Armistice Day requested by the Canadian Legion and the other day was that of the governor general's visit.

According to information received by the Association, local industries had decided not to close down on either day and because of this the smaller business men decided to follow suite.

49th Conviction In 23 Years

Joseph Lynch, no fixed address, received his 49th conviction in 23 years in court today. He was sentenced to 15 days in jail on his plea of guilty of theft of a lady's purse from a Peterborough department store last week He had been remanded for sentence.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, was presented with Lynch's previous record: covering three closely typed sheets, it ran from 1925 to this year, included convictions in four provinces, including several penitentiary terms.

"I think it might be wise for you to get some work when you get out this time," the bench advised.

"Yes," agreed the accused, "the sheet's nearly filled now."

He is 41 years old.

AUTUMN PICTURE

Smoke, believed caused by piles of burning leaves, engulfed certain sections of the city last evening. Later the smoke gave way to a heavy fog that slowed motorists.

Council Offered $31,000 For City-Owned Lot; To Build Market-type Store

Acceptance of the bid of $31,000 by Dominion Stores Limited for the property on the north side of Sherbrooke St., between George and Water Streets, was recommended to the council Monday night by the board of works. Second highest of five tenders, responding to advertisements of sale, was $23,000

The city bought this vacant lot from the Dominion Government for $13,000 about a year and a half ago. It has a frontage of 100 feet on George St., and flankage of 170 feet on Sherbrooke St.

Dominion Stores, Ltd., intend to erect "a market-type store" of 50 ft. frontage on George St., on the north section of the lot, by 120 ft. in depth, and to provide parking space for 30 to 40 cars of customers.

If the council accepts this offer, the company "will proceed immediately with the preparation of plans and specifications. Following this we shall call for tenders, and commence as soon as possible the erection of a building. The land outside the area occupied by the building will be hard surfaced for customer cars."

The accompanying letter also included the information that between 30 and 40 full-time employees will be required when the store is completed.

"For two years we have tried to obtain a suitable site in Peterborough. It has been difficult to acquire sufficient land for the erection of a market-type store and provide a customer parking area. The land offered by the city meets these requirements."

Acceptance of the tender of Dominion Stores was moved by Ald. Grant Miller, seconded by Ald. Gordon Armstrong. The other members present were: Ald. Dodds (chairman), Aldermen Anglesey, Raine, Swanston and Douglas Miller.

Bids Closed Monday

Time for receiving bids closed Monday at 5 p.m. They were addressed to the finance committee, but as the board of works was in session lats night when City Clerk Outram reported them in his hands. Ald. Swanston asked Ald. Dodds to carry on and open them.

"This is an open and shut matter," said Ald. G. Miller when the details of the bids were listed, using a phrase that is generally heard in law courts when there is no element of doubt.

For objective effect, the company included in their letter photographs of their new store at Toronto, illustrating the type of Yonge and Eglinton Streets, building they are planning for Peterborough.

Dominion government owned the property at Sherbrooke and George Streets for approximately 35 years. It was bought for a postal-customs building during the time the late J. H. Burnham was member of parliament. The first German war suspended that project, and eventually a larger site was desired by the postal department. When Senator Duffus was the Federal representative of Peterborough the block on the south side of Charlotte St. from the creek to Louis St. was bought.

Got a Bargain

The depression years passed without any move toward construction of the long proposed building. Finally, about two years ago, the department informed the council they wished to dispose of the George St. lot. It was reported then that some private interests were trying to buy it, but the council asked and received from the department priority of purchase Finally the government offered it to the city for $15,000, obviously a bargain.

Several times during the last two years it was suggested that the council sell the lot. Delay was advised in the hope of attracting a purchaser to build and improve that section of George St.

The cash bid of Dominion Stores Limited has been the gratifying approval of the council's course

Pole Line Built On Walk Area

An electric pole line where the concrete sidewalk should be on the east side of Monaghan Road was reported to the Board of Works, last night, by City Engineer Chalmers.

Nashua Paper Co. has asked for a walk on Broadwood Ave. and Monaghan Road, around two sides of their factory and wide lawn. Mr. Chalmers said Monaghan Road would have to be relocated and otherwise straightened. It appears to be satisfactory to the public going that way, but the engineer's examination disclosed various deviations that will have to be corrected before a sidewalk can be begun.

To the Board of Works, last night, it seemed that the request of Nashau Paper could not be complied with until spring.

North of Edison Ave., Monaghan Road leads into the problem of the C. N. R. crossing for which a traffic bridge has been proposed. It is understood, also, that a widening job is involved in the ultimate correction of the street. The board expressed a wish to provide the Nashau people with sidewalk accommodation, but various problems of annexation have had to be taken in succession, and the recentering of Monaghan Road is one of them.

Mounting Costs Bewilder 3 Aldermen

See Little Hope Of Cleaning Up Little Lake Soon

The 'cleaning up' of Little Lake is not going to be accomplished as soon as the Ashburnham members of the council hoped since recently receiving the Gore & Storrie estimates of sewer costs.

Enlarging the sewage disposal plant might cost at least $750,000, more than twice as much as the original expectation. Any person would naturally give that figure a cautious berth, and with the board of works it was easier to think of the $52,000 job of laying a sewer along Maria St. and across the river at McDonald Point to the main sewer at Crescent St.

That was the layman's notion, and held in some doubt, as indicated by the fact that Ald. Douglas Miller enquired at Monday night's meeting of the board whether the trunk sewer was of sufficient capacity to carry the added flow from Ashburnham.

City Engineer Chalmers replied that the capacity of the sewer was adequate, but the capacity of the pumps at the foot of Park St. would have to be increased. That circumstance suggested that the sewage disposal job be done first and the $52,000 sewer job cross the river should be secondary.

And to Ald. D. Miller, City Engineer Chalmers remarked in a level, matter of fact tone, "It will take a year to get the pumps". So, quite evidently that pushes back somewhere into the 1950's, the prospect of switching the Ashburnham sewage from the Maria St. septic tank and Little Lake to the disposal plant.

The triumvirs from over the river, Dodds, D. Miller and Swanston, are beginning to wonder whether they will live long enough to see that Little Lake job done, the reclaiming of the million dollar gem, according to the appraisal in municipal and scenic value by Reg Faryon.

The expressions on the faces of the three men from the old Scottish village were really comical in their disappointment and bafflement, especially Doug Miller the youngest of the trio. Both Aldermen Swanston and Dodds have had enough experience in the council to give them a mixture of wisdom, patience and resignation. They were jolted by the Chalmers listing of the two main jobs, but not so sharply as was Ald. Miller who manifestly would like to have a hand in cleaning up the lake.

Need Federation Halt Aggressors

THESSALON, Oct. 26—(CP)—The only foreign policy which has a chance of achieving peace is the formation of a group of democratic states which will let aggressors know "if one of that alliance is attacked all of us are attacked," External Affairs Minister Pearson said here Saturday.

In the final address of today's Algoma East federal by-election campaign, Mr. Pearson, Liberal candidate, said: "this time let us get together in an alliance before it starts and maybe it won't happen." Before the First World War this kind of alliance was not established until 1917 and before the Second World War, 1941.

"It is almost a platitude to say we are living in dangerous times," he said. "It is profoundly and depressingly true. At no time since the last war ended have we been in greater danger that war might start again. I do not say that war is inevitable . . . but I am reminded that in 1937 and 1938 people said war can't happen and they did not do enough about it and it did happen."

Newfoundland Legislation Plan

LONDON, Oct. 26 (CP)—Legislation will be introduced at the new session of parliament to deal with Newfoundland's decision to become a part of Canada, the speech from the throne disclosed today as the session opened.

The portion of the speech, read by the King, which dealt with Newfoundland, said legislation would be instituted "to give effect to whatever decision may result from the negotiations for admitting Newfoundland to the Canadian confederation."

Newfoundland voted in a plebiscite July 22 in favor of union with Canada. Discussions opened in Ottawa Oct. 6 to arrange for the island's entry into confederation as a 10th province.

Crashes Into Train Farmer Badly Hurt

CACHE BAY, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Michael J. Steep, 35-year-old Sturgeon Falls farmer, was seriously injured Monday night when the truck he was driving crashed into a westbound Canadian Pacific Railway train at a level crossing about seven miles west of this northern Ontario community.

Steep, believed to have suffered fractures of both legs and of the right shoulder, either was thrown from the wreckage of his three-quarter-ton truck or managed to crawl from it. Members of the train crew found him lying near the track.

Steep told police he did not see the train until his truck crashed into it. The vehicle was badly damaged.

Truman Cut Off

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(AP).—President Truman was cut off the air Monday night by two National radio networks because his time ran out before he finished his address at Chicago. The networks said the action was in keeping with their policy on political speeches.

Accept Leadership

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Oct 26.—(AP).—Winston Churchill, Leon Blum of France and Premiers Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium and Alcide De Gasperi of Italy have accepted leadership of the European movement, an organization to promote the unity of Europe. Duncan Sandys, president of the movement's executive committee, announced this Monday.

Dismiss Woman's Plea To Spare Dalmatian

SAMWORTH, Suffolk, England, Oct. 26—(CP)—An appeals committee Monday dismissed a plea by Mrs. Eileen Chevalier of Freston rectory to spare her crossbred Dalmation dog, Monty, who has been ordered destroyed.

Last July the same group dismissed a similar appeal on behalf of an Alsatian dog, Bruce, who has been a guide and companion for Mrs. Chevalier's 75-year-old blind mother.

It is alleged that the two dogs killed 31 chickens during a night raid on a poultry farm.

Bruce has been under sentence of death for three months but a wealthy dog-lover is paying a £1 ($4) fine daily to spare the dog's life pending various legal appeals.

Studies Chinese For Work In East

TORONTO, Oc. 26.—(CP).— A group of young students learning the language and culture of China in classes at the University of Toronto, hope to carry the Canadian ideal of democracy to that country.

On graduation they hope to go to China to do diplomatic, commercial and philanthropic work.

The Department of East Asiatic Studies will later include the study of Japan, Korea and perhaps India, with their different languages.

Dr. Lewis C. Walmesley, just returned from 28 years in the Orient as a United church missionary, is the teacher.

13 Plead Innocent

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Oct. 26 — (CP). —Thirteen young Montrealers arrested Saturday night when police interrupted a mixed drinking party at a hotel in St. Hilaire, 20 miles from here, pleaded innocent Monday to charges of causing $700 damages to the hotel. Bail was set at $500 for the entire group pending trial Nov. 8.

Labor Board Verdict For Factory Worker

As the result of an arbitration decision handed down by the Ontario Labor Relations Board, the CGE has been ordered to pay Lawrence Falls, a piece worker in the Industrial Control section, 7.9 hours at full rates, despite the fact that the assembling was faulty.

The Board ruled that there was neither disobedience nor negligence on the part of the workers and he should receive full pay rates. A company check had revealed that the first four explosion-proof push-button stations which Falls had been assembling, cold not pass inspection.

CGE representatives on the ruling was that there were no Board claimed negligence but the "precise instructions" and therefore the employee did not have to repair the defective work on his own time.

Borah Laskin was the chairman of the Board, with W. J. Corbert, company nominee, and Drummand Wren, union nominee.

The dispute was taken to arbitration by Local 524, UEW-CIO.

Fine Landlord $2,100

TORONTO, Oct. 26.—(CP).—A Toronto landlord Monday was fined $2,100 or 21 months on three charges of charging more than just or reasonable rentals. Labro Stefoff-Andreof was fined $300 or three months and $400 or four months when he was convicted of charging unjust rentals for two north-end apartments. He pleaded guilty to a third similar charge and was fined $1,400 or 14 months. If the fines were not paid sentences would be consecutive.

Power Shortage Unnecessary Oliver Stresses

TORONTO, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Two "trials of strength" in provincial by-elections in Parry Sound and North Cochrane will give electors a chance to speak on the Ontario Hydro shortage, Farquhar Oliver, provincial Liberal leader, said Monday night.

The shortage, which he termed "tragic" and "unnecessary," was caused by "lack of foresight, bungling and tory political interference with the Ontario Hydro Commission," Mr. Oliver charged in a speech prepared for broadcast over Ontario stations of the CBC.

The Progressive-Conservative government in Ontario had called an election two years before its time "because of a fear . . . that it would not survive the drastic dislocation of the lives and business of the people created by the crisis in hydro."

"In the several years which are ahead we shall have a succession of tory premiers who have never been personally endorsed as such by the people of this province," he added.

"All the talk we hear about the vagaries of the weatherman, the low level of water," was "veriest eyewash . . . an alibi."

Growing Demand

TORONTO, Oct. 26.—(CP).—An enormous demand for additional power, increasing at a level "beyond the possibility of construction," plus a "serious water shortage," was blamed Monday by Premier Kennedy for the current Ontario power shortage.

Ontario's new premier was replying to an attack on the Progressive Conservative administration by Farquhar Oliver, Provincial Liberal leader, who said the shortage was the result of a "three-year Drew (former Premier George Drew) sitdown strike."

Premier Kennedy said Hydro consumption has increased 50 per cent since the war and that the government has undertaken "by far the greatest construction program of new power sites ever undertaken in Ontario of any other part of Canada." Construction had started "shortly after this government took office."

230 Aborigines Starve

SYDNEY, Australia, Oct. 26. — (CP).— Police believe about 230 aborigines on Bentinck Island, in the Gulf of Carpentaria, have died of starvation during the last few months. A rescue party that went to the island in response to distress smoke signals last week reported today that they found the island barren and desolate. Nineteen surviving members of the tribe were taken to nearby Mornington Island mission in an emaciated condition.

Struck By Tree

NORTH BAY, Oct. 26 — (CP). — Albert Dubois, 45-year-old logger, was killed Monday at a Martin River lumber camp about 40 miles north of here. Dubois died of skull injuries suffered when he was struck on the head by a falling tree. It was reported that a tree he was cutting fell against another, causing the latter to crash down upon him. Dubois is survived by his widow and a family of six.

HEARING SHOTS, 13-year-old Edith Utter of Winona, Ont., looked out the window of her home and saw a yard full of policemen. She is shown here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Utter. Utter rushed out, saw police and nearby body of Carl W. Kobialko, 24, of Coistorville, Ont., shot by police following a gun fight in the darkness. Two and a half hours later his pal, Wasel Koback, 21, of Hamilton, Ont., was captured by police in a nearby vineyard. The battle began when police started trailing a suspicious looking car, two men leaped out from the auto and opened fire on officers. Kobialko made a run for it, was felled by police bullet.

RUSSELL WATSON, left, was one of the three constables who captured Koback in the backyard of the Utter home.

Bad Storm In BC

VANCOUVER, Oct. 26 (CP).— Logs valued at $100,000 today lay strewn along the British Columbia coast as the aftermath of a storm which submerged two craft and set six others adrift. Weather officials reported Monday night the storm, which lashed Vancouver with 55-mile-an-hour winds Monday, was petering out.

Cathedral Visitor Plunges 271 Feet To Her Death

LINCOLN, England, Oct. 26 — (CP). — An attractive 28-year-old woman tiptoed for more than an hour along the three-inch ledge around Lincoln Cathedral today, then tumbled 271 feet to her death before several hundred onlookers.

She was one of several persons who paid the customary sightseer's fee of a shilling (20 cents) to walk up the 365 steps of the tower. The woman was identified as Beryl Irene Constance Collingham, an unmarried stenographer of Lincoln. Police were silent as to any motive for the suicide leap from the tower of the 900-year-old cathedral, a famed landmark.

The cathedral beadle recalled later that as she passed through the door from the transept to the stairs she remarked: "I thought I would have a last look at the old place before I go."

A passer-by, glancing up, saw her standing on the ledge surrounding the northwest pinnacle. Canon T. R. Milford, chancellor of the cathedral, members of the workmen hurried to the cathedral tower and took turns trying to persuade her to come down to safety.

She told them: "If you come any nearer, I'll jump."

Then the fire brigade arrived with turntable ladder far too short. As the fire bells clanged, the young woman looked around and plunged to her death on the cathedral lawn.

Name Responsibilities Blackwell Stresses

HAMILTON, Oct. 26—(CP).— If Canadians are going to get full benefit from their tax dollar, the separate responsibilities of Federal, provincial, county and municipal government will have to be determined and each will have to attend to its own, Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell told Wentworth Conservatives at their annual convention Monday night.

Later Mr. Blackwell said: "If we fail to straighten out that tangle (of authority) in the very near future, all we will accomplish, Liberals and Conservatives, will be to bring discredit to the old line parties, which seem to be representative of our institutions."

He believed otherwise, that "those elements in the community who wish to write a new way of life for us, are going to be encouraged."

Great Demonstration

CHICAGO, Oct. 26 — (AP). — President Truman Monday night viewed the most tremendous demonstration of his election campaign tour. Police estimated the crowd along Chicago streets at approximately 750,000. Some 24,000 packed into the stadium to hear and watch the President make his speech, while about 200,000 heard him from loudspeakers outside.

AN ATTEMPT TO STOP his father's husky dogs from fighting may cost four-year-old Norman Terangeau his life. The youngster was severely mauled by a pack of eight sleigh dogs at the home of his parents in Norman Wells, 1,200 miles north of Edmonton, Alta. The child's face was severely bitten, the bone being exposed when the dogs were driven off by an older Terangeau child. The victim's right arm had also been badly mauled. After emergency hospital treatment and blood transfusions at Norman Wells, the critically-injured Terangeau child was flown to Edmonton and is now at the Dr. Charles Camsell hospital there. Bel Pelland and George Wells are shown lifting the child from the plane at Edmonton airport. The child is rated a fair chance for recovery.

Shirley Temple Looks Older With Hair Cut

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 26 (AP).— Meet the new Shirley Temple, who looks years older in her new short hair-do. Well, several weeks, anyway.

In 1928, Mary Pickford made the headlines by having her famed curls snipped off. Just two decades later, a likewise noted head of hair was given the butch treatment. But in Shirley's case it was done without fanfare.

Shirley has to look more mature for her next film, "Mr. Belvedere Goes to College" with that suave baby-sitter, Clifton Webb. She'll play a war widow (and mother of a child) who is a college senior.

Actually, that's where she'd be if she had continued school. But Shirley is blessed (she says, cursed) with a face that looks younger than she is. She has long yearned to escape being typed in "sweet young thing" roles.

Along those lines, Shirley told me she is taking up her singing and dancing lessons again.

Must Be Versatile

"With conditions as tough as they are for actors in Hollywood, it will pay to be versatile," she said. "I heard someone say at RKO that only actors who can do all kinds of roles will be hired anymore. The studios won't want anybody that can do only one type of part."

You wouldn't think a girl of 19 would have so many sentimental memories, but Shirley revived quite a few when she returned to Fox recently to prepare for "Belvedere." It was her first visit to the lot since she left 10 years ago after ending a five-year reign at the box office. She found a lot of her former co-workers still there and bawled profusely with them.

"I want all over the lot again," she related. "And it seemed much smaller than it did when I was a little girl."

Shirley said she almost didn't get onto the lot. The gateman didn't recognize her.

Pilot Subsidy Plan

OTTAWA, Oct. 26.—(CP).— Trade & Minister Howe Monday night announced a $300-a-pilot government subsidy plan for the production of a greater flow of trained pilots in 1949. The measure, he said in a statement, will be brought up for approval at the next session of parliament.

THE BRITISH ROYAL FAMILY turned out en masse for the wedding at St. Margaret's of Lady Margaret Egerton, London. Princess Elizabeth's lady-in-waiting, and John Colville, the Princess's private secretary. The bride and groom are shown leaving the church after the ceremony followed by their bridesmaids, one of whom was the Princess Margaret Rose (4th from left, in rear). The big surprise at the wedding was the unexpected appearance of Princess Elizabeth, who is expecting her baby next month. She was accompanied by her husband, Prince Philip.

Women Given Recognition At Convention Senator Says

Two prominent factors in the success of the recent Progressive Conservative convention at Ottawa in the opinion of the Hon. Iva Campbell Fallis, were the presence of so many young people and the great prominence and recognition given to women. Addressing the local Women's Conservative Association in the Orange Hall Monday afternoon she said "history was made when a woman presided at the Friday afternoon session of that convention. She was Miss Hilda Hesson, women's president. In addition to this she pointed out that Mrs. T. J. Ralston of British Columbia, only woman of this party in a Provincial Legislature in Canada, was a speaker on the agenda and was chosen to be on the social security branch of the resolutions committee.

"Women made a valuable contribution to the discussion of resolutions partticularly the one through which it was decided there will be equality of opportunity for women in all branches of the government." Senator Fallis added that this decision was taken from the resolutions and became an "avowed party regulation." Continuing to urge women to greater action, the speaker pointed out that men are placing no barriers in their way. During the recent party convention women received just as much recognition as they demanded. The opportunity for a greater voice in political affairs is open, and it rests entirely on the shoulders of women themselves to take advantage of it. "By doing so you are only being good Canadian citizens," she said.

Commenting with satisfaction on the choice of George Drew as party leader, Senator Fallis said "he showed himself to be a gentleman and a statesman, a man we can be proud to have represent us wherever he may be. He is cultured, travelled, and conducts himself with dignity on the platform. He had a wide understanding of the problems which we face."

Members of the Peterborough Women's Association were cautioned "not to fall asleep at the switch" in the Senator's closing emarks. "Danger comes from continued success. Remember in politics there are always new factors coming up."

The meeting was opened by Mrs. E. Skinner, vice-president, in absence of Mrs. J. Cridland. Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser acted as chairman and called upon the Hon. Harold Scott, who described events in Provincial house leading to the selection of Hon. T. L. Kennedy as premier of Ontario.

Mr. Scott also outlined work being done in the first attempt ever made to salvage burned timberland. Burned out areas of Ontario's northland were photographed from the air and from these sketches were able to estimate the amount of timber that might be saved. Forty-five sections were selected for salvage operations and their goal is to get all useful timber into the water by July 1st, 1949.

Mr. G. K. Fraser spoke briefly stating four delegates to the Progressive Conservative convention in Toronto Saturday afternoon will be chosen at the meeting of the County Association in the Legion Hall this evening. The Hon. Dana Porter, minister of education, will speak.

Through the meeting, Mrs. E. Wand asked the Hon. Harold Scott, MPP, what stand the Provincial Government takes regarding closing women's beverage rooms. In reply the member states "the most democratic legislation on the liquor question is now in effect. Any municipality has the power to close women's and men's beverage rooms at any time through a majority vote." To illustrate he cited the vote taken by Apsley in the midst of the June election campaign when citizens of the municipality decided by vote not to have beverage rooms.

Elizabeth Smellie Branch No. 452, Canadian Legion met Monday evening in the Club Room at the Armouries. Miss Irene Vivash, president, was in the chair and 23 ex-service women of army, navy and air force were in attendance. Plans were discussed for sale of poppies on Saturday, November 6, the church parade to All Saints' Church on Sunday, November 7, at three o'clock, and also the inspection by the Governor General on November 25. The girls brought gifts for the monthly food parcel to England, which was drawn for and won by Miss Edna Rule who will look after shipping and destination. A social hour followed with a "Dagwood" lunch served by Miss Molly Curtis and the entertainment committee while all enjoyed recorded music.

Kenneth Hotrum Marries Helen Bongard

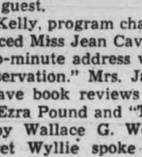
All Saints' Anglican Church, decorated with 'mums in autumn shades, banked with palms and ferns, was setting for the wedding Saturday afternoon of Helen Margaret, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bongard of Picton, to Kenneth Wellington, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Hotrum of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite and Mrs. A. Logan played the wedding march and organ selections during the signing of the register.

Ivory satin fashioned on princess lines with a long train was the bride's choice. It was embroidered at the high neckline with seed pearls and had long tapered sleeves and a bustle back. He veil fell to the floor from a coronet headdress and she carried a cascade of red roses. She was given in marriage by Mr. B. Clements of Toronto.

The bride's attendant was Mrs. Carl Weatherall who was frocked in yellow taffeta and wore a matching headdress and mittens. She carried a cascade of mauve and yellow 'mums. Mr. Ernest Hotrum was groomsman for his brother.

The reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hotrum, Wolfe St. The hostess received, gowned in turquoise with grey accessories, assisted by the groom's mother who was in loganberry crepe with black accessories. Each wore a corsage of yellow roses.

For their wedding trip to Toronto and Hamilton the bride wore a grey gabardine coat with black accessories and corsage of red roses. Mr. and Mrs. Hotrum will live at 533 Sherbrooke St.



Sororists Plan Coming Events

Bernice Hagan Bride of Donald Griffin

Mauve and yellow 'mums and ferns arranged in Trinity United Church, Omemee, Saturday afternoon, were background for the wedding ceremony uniting Helen Bernice Hagan and Donald Harry Griffin performed by the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. J. Verne Hagan, Regina, Sask., and the late Mrs. Hagan, and the groom the only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Griffin, Omemee.

Before the bride entered the church Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Weir sang "The Lord's Prayer," and during the signing of the register they sang "O Promise Me."

Miss Lillie Race played the wedding march and accompaniment.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of heavy white satin with skirt falling in a graceful train. A yoke of net inset in the fitted bodice with pointed waistline was embroidered with satin and seed pearls and the round neckline was edged with pearls. The bodice was fastened at the back to the low waistline with tiny covered buttons and had long lily point sleeves. Her veil of embroidered net was caught to a pearl trimmed coronet and extended in train length, and she carried a cascade of Ophelia roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Jean Rowan, was frocked in autumn gold with long torso bodice of brocaded satin styled with gathered neckline and puff sleeves. The full skirt was nylon net over taffeta and she wore a matching shoulder veil with halo of flowers, net mittens, and carried a nosegay of blue 'mums and yellow roses.

Mr. Norman Thurston of Dunsford was groomsman. Ushers were the bride's brother, Harry Hagan of Regina, and George Mills of Omemee.

The reception was held in the church parlors, decorated with pink and white streamers, pink tapers and a bouquet of pink carnations. The bride's aunt, Mrs. E. Ireland of Peterborough, received, wearing a beige poplin suit with black hat and accessories and corsage of red roses. The groom's mother also received and was attired in slate grey silk crepe with grey hat, black accessories and corsage of Bettertime roses.

Following their wedding trip to Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Griffin will reside in Omemee. The bride's travelling outfit was a black gabardine suit and hat with mulberry plume, mulberry topcoat, and set of mink furs.

BORDERLINE ANEMIA*
can rob you of vigor and fun!
GIRLS with pale faces and colorless personalities — tired girls who look and act half-alive — often may blame a blood condition.
It may be a blood condition that's robbing them of fun and friends—a Borderline Anemia, a mild anemia due to a nutritional deficiency of iron. Their red blood cells may be too pale and small to transmit full energy to every body tissue. Many women—many men and children, too—go dragging their way through life with this Borderline Anemia.
How Ironized Yeast Tablets Build Up Your Blood and Vigor
If your energy is waning and your color is fading because of this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets. They are formulated to help build up faded red blood cells to healthy color and size—to help restore your usual vigor.
Of course, continuing tiredness and pallor may come from other conditions. Always consult your doctor regularly. But in this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets to help build up your blood! Then your energy and color can come surging back! You can begin to get some fun out of life again!

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Appreciation and Patience Keynotes to Happiness

"Son," I should like to say to every prospective bridegroom, "I know you think that just being married to you is all the fun that any woman could possibly want, and that when you have fed and clothed your wife you have done your full duty to her.

Dorothy Dix

"Now, being a good provider is one of the major virtues in a husband, but it doesn't cover the whole premises, and if you want to keep you wife contented you must feed her on white hyacinths as well as corned beef and cabbage. Don't think that love-making that you did during your days of courtship is going to last the balance of her life. You have got to keep it up. Before you were married there were plenty of men who told her how beautiful and wonderful she was. You have to pinch-hit for all of them from this time on, so don't be sparing with your flattery.

"Get off on the right foot when you are married. The first six months establisnes the man's statue in his family and decides whether he is going to be the head of the house, or just the poor simp who pays the bills. Don't be dictatorial. Don't by tyrannical. But don't let your wife and your wife's mother rule the roost. No wife has any respect for the husband she can henpeck.

Cooperate

"Take the trouble to teach your bride how to be the kind of a wife you want. You are marrying a mindreader, and it is unfair to blame an ignorant young girl for not knowing by intuition to be a thrifty manager, teach her how to run a budget and pinch pennies. If you want her to be a companion to you, chum up with her. If you want her to be a good cook, plan menus with her and compliment her when she devises a new dish.

"Encourage your wife to have interests outside of the home. That will give her something to think about besides your faults and shortcomings. And, if she has the reforming complex, it will give her a chance to take it out on someone other than you. Also it will give her something to talk about besides how hard she has to work and how troublesome the children have been.

"Show your wife some appreciation. Don't take all of her work to make you comfortable as no more than your due. Don't gobble down a good dinner without a word of praise. And don't forget to say "thank you." You are your wife's public. Think how discouraged you would be if you never got the glad hand after you had worked yourself to death off a good performance.

"Do something every day to show your wife that you are trying to make her happy, even if it is nothing more than taking her window shopping. It is the motive that counts with her. If she knows that you would love to give her a mink coat, she will cheerfully wear her last year's jacket. And as long as you are interested in holding her hand, she will consider it a privilege to work it to the bone for you.

"It is easy to manage a woman if you know how and are willing to take the trouble."

THE STARS SAY . . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, October 27

Owing to conflicting aspects of major planets there may be obstacles or frustrations, but these could be successfully manipulated by shrewd, careful and determined efforts of a sustained and systematic nature. Superiors could be impressed by these honest attempts and constructive ability. Ingenuity and exceptional skill might attract aid from unexpected sources, with enhanced prestige, expansion and merit promising recognition, perhaps honors and promotion.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a difficult or blocked situation in which their own shrewd grasp of frustration may be turned to excellent account. Shrewd and clever tactics with persistent and diligent efforts could win over the opposition and make way for hearty cooperation, tangible rewards for merit and perhaps promotion. Increased popularity and prestige, with expanding opportunity, could find happy reactions on the personal and domestic life.

A child born on this day should possess many talents and exceptional abilities.

Mrs. L. B. Pearson Pleased at Vote

MASSEY, Ont., Oct. 26—(CP)—Mrs. Lester B. Pearson said Monday night she was glad of the successful outcome of the first political campaign in which she and her husband ever participated.

A trim figure in a grey tailored ensemble with matching hat and wine accessories, Mrs. Pearson watched quietly here as returns in the Algoma East by-election flowed in, showing a resounding victory for her husband.

"This is the frist political campaign in which I have ever participated," she said. "It has been an interesting and stimulating experience and I'm glad the results have been so satisfactory. I know my husband will deserve the confidence placed in him by the people of Algoma East. It has been a pleasure for me to meet so many of them during these recent weeks and I look forward to having their friendship during the years ahead.

"I am sure that for me life as the wife of a cabinet minister will be more arduous and difficult than as the wife of a career diplomat, but I will be very glad to do my best in that role."

Mrs. Pearson said she hopes to be able to accompany her husband to Paris on Friday to attend United Nations meetings.

Rev. P. P. Butler Stresses Visiting

St. Peter's Cathedral Sodality general monthly meeting held Sunday evening in St. Mary's School opened with the reading of the office by Miss Betty Houlihan, vice-prefect, who presided.

The Rev. P. P. Butler addressed the Sodalists stressing the importance of visiting the sick and also new members of the parish, as he said, "It is only human to want a friend to drop in."

The vice-prefect welcomed new Sodalists and gave a special thank you to all who helped in any way to make Father Lord's lecture a success. Announcement was made that the nursery would commence next Sunday at the 9.00 and 10.30 masses. Religious articles will be available in the vestibule of the church.

Speakers for the evening were Misses Marion McTeague, Phyliss Schiarizza, Bernice Greenan, and Grace Schiarizza, chairman of the good literature committee, asked the girls to save Catholic periodicals to be sent to missions.

Miss Margaret Caravaggie announced plans for a get-acquainted party to be held at the home of Miss Barbara Glaum Monday, Nov. 8. The meeting closed with a prayer.

Metreek-Wilson

In Woodbine United Church, Toronto, a quiet autumn wedding took place Saturday afternoon, when Muriel Evelyn, elder daughter of Mrs. Wilson and the late Melville Wilson, Bewdley, became the bride of William John Metreek, Toronto.

The bride was given in marriage by her eldest brother, Mr. Earl Wilson, wore a suit of grey gabardine with navy accessories and corsage of orchids. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Ernest Daniels, wearing black and white checked suit with black accessories and corsage of pink roses. Mr. Jack Wilson, the bride's brother, was groomsman.

The reception was held at Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Daniels' home in Toronto, where the bride's mother received the guests in a black crepe dress. Her corsage was red roses.

The couple left on a wedding trip to points west and will reside in Toronto.

Music Teachers Addressed by J. J. Weatherseed

"Known to the unknown" was the chief phrase used by John J Weatherseed, FRCO, RMT, vice-president, Toronto branch ORMTA, as he addressed the Peterborough branch of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers at St. Cecilia's Convent Monday evening. He is one of Canada's leading church organists and is known from coast to coast as examiner, lecturer and adjudicator.

Englishman by birth, and at an early age showed signs of musical talent, becoming organist and choirmaster of a large church in the south of England. He achieved success in local musical festivals, as choirmaster and in organ and paino playing.

On coming to Canada, he accepted positions in Manitoba and Ontario, eventually settling in Montreal, where he remained for nearly 20 years as organist and choirmaster of St. George's church and as instructor in piano and organ playing in McGill Conservatorium of Music. He moved to Toronto in 1944, succeeding Dr. Charles Peaker at Deer Park United Church.

The meeting opened with Mrs. Ross Williamson presiding. Mrs. Robert Aman, ATCM, and Mrs. Donald Flett, ATCM, two piano team, played "Malaquena" by Luona, "Garvite" by Martini, "Liebesfreud" by Kreisler. Mrs. Williamson ended the business session by asking assistance for Canadian composers throughout Canada. She then introduced the guest speaker.

Mr. Weatherseed used the phrase "known to the unknown" when telling the group "that to teach children music, the teacher may start with something the pupils know, for instance the instance the mechanics of the piano; then taking music class into the field where she teaches them something. He said that to build children's music appreciation, the teacher must use psychology. These four headings were: stimuli, sensation, percept, concept.

"If you place a ripe carrot before a hungry donkey, after eating it, the animal will expect more." This is Mr. Weatherseed's explanation of education. "There is some good taking place in this world today, but at the same time, much badness," he concluded. "To make goodness supreme there should be more duty by people towards God, and towards our neighbors."

Which Twin has the Toni?

One Permanent Cost $15...the TONI only $2.50

It's amazing! Yes, and it's true. A Toni Home Permanent is every bit as lovely as an expensive beauty shop wave. The Toni twins show it—and you can prove it today. But before buying the Toni kit you'll want to know—

Will Toni work on my hair?

Yes, Toni waves any kind of hair that will take a permanent, including gray, dyed, bleached or baby-fine hair.

Must I be handy with my hands?

Not at all! If you can roll your hair up on curlers you can give yourself a smooth, professional-looking permanent with Toni. Just by following the easy directions.

How long will it take me?

Waving time is only 2 to 3 hours. And during that time you're free to do as you please.

How long will my Toni wave last?

Your Toni wave is guaranteed to last just as long as a $15 beauty shop permanent—or your money back.

Can I use Toni for my little girl's hair?

Yes—with complete confidence. Toni has been awarded the Parents' Magazine Tested and Commended Seal.

How much will I save with Toni?

The Toni Home Permanent Kit with reusable plastic curlers costs only $2.50, with handy fibre curlers only $1.50. The Toni Refill Kit complete except for curlers is just $1.25.

Which twin has the Toni?

Lucerne and Suzanne McCullough are well-known New York artists. Suzanne, at the right, is the Toni twin, and she says, "My Toni wave was soft and natural-looking the very first day. That's why Lucerne says her next wave will be a Toni, too."

There is NO FINER WAVE AT ANY PRICE!

Toni Kit with plastic curlers— $2.50

Refill Kit without curlers $1.25

By actual survey, 9 out of 10 Canadian women who have home permanents prefer Toni.

LYNDEN.—Joseph Winter, 72, Canadian National Railways caretaker here, was killed when struck by a CNR express as he was crossing the track. The express was travelling from Windsor to Toronto.

FORT WILLIAM. — Rev. Dan McIvor discounted rumors that he might be appointed to the Senate. Said the 75-year-old member of parliament for Fort William: "I'm not old enough."

OTTAWA.—The Army is taking a step for its own defence in its isolated outposts and areas. Brig. W. L. Coke, Director-General of Medical Services, said today any dependents will be medically examined before they go to join servicemen at such places. This woud insure that no communicable diseases get in there unnecessarily.

CHATHAM.—Six bridesmaids, all displaced persons, were on hand for the marriage of Elizabeth Subocz, Kent County's first DP bride. She was married to Zdzislaw Opitz, a Polish veteran who has lived in Canada for two years. The bride's brother, John, who was given up for dead during the war, acted as best man.

Cardinal Ill

BERLIN — Konrad Cardinal Von Preysing, 68-year-old Roman Catholic Bishop of Berlin, is in "very grave" condition following a stroke. Pope Pius has sent him a special blessing.

LONDON, Eng. — More than 1,200 British businesses are expected to go bankrupt by the end of the year, the London Bankruptcy Court has estimated. Many small business firms are finding it difficult to stand up to normal trading risks with the ending of some wartime controls and expiration of government contracts.

LONDON, Eng.— Air Marshal Sir William Welsh, who commanded the RAF contingent in Northwest Africa in 1942, has been appointed North American representative of the Society of Motor Car Manufacturers and Traders. His task is to further the aims of the British automobile industry in the United States and Canada.

TORONTO — A rush of landlords eager to notify their tenants of increased rents was reported by the Wartime Prices and Trades Board. Landlords, who are entitled to increase rents under the new regulations, are required to complete forms at the Board's office in order to legalize the increases.

TORONTO—Associates at Osgoode Hall honored O. E. Lennox, who retired in July as master of the Supreme Court to become chairman of the Ontario Securities Commission. Presentation of a silver tray to mark the severance of his long association was postponed last summer because of his ill health.

HUNTSVILLE— Percy Woods, about 40, was found dead beside the Brunel Rd., about a mile from here. Police said Woods had a crushed head and had apparently been killed by hit-and-run driver.

KITCHENER—A Toronto minister, Rev. Leander Robbin, has been appointed pastor of King St. Baptist church. He will remain as pastor of Christie St. Baptist church in Toronto until Dec. 5

BRANTFORD —City Engineer C. H. Richards, put a plan before city council for the annexation of additional territory. The plan, if adopted, would mean a 70 per cent increase in area to the city's present five square miles. It also would add about 3,000 to the population and would provide sites for industrial, domestic and commercial building development.

Sued For Bite

FORT WORTH, Texas — The Ross Brothers Horse and Mule Company has been sued for $10,000 by B. C. Hadjiolos, a Greek, who alleges a mule shipped to Greece by the firm bit him. Hadjiolos is contending the mules were not represented as vicious.

MILWAUKEE—Postman Harry Kant, arraigned Monday on the charge of delaying and destroying the mail, told the court that he became so tired on his route that he took the mail home and tossed it in a waste basket. A postal inspector said most of the discarded material was third-class, but that one envelope contained a cheque for $1,400. Kant was remanded on bail.

MONROVIA, Calif. — Richard Dix, veteran movie star, is seriously ill in a sanitarium here after a heart attack, his wife said, but the 53-year-old actor is expected to recover with sufficient rest. Dix is famous for his virile roles in such silent pictures as "The Vanishing American" and the talkie "Cimaron." He once was among the industry's biggest box office attractions.

HAMPTON, Conn. — Edgar Johnson, 24, who shot at a moving white object in underbrush in the belief it was a deer, killed his wife, police reported. The victim was Mrs. Jane P. Johnson, 23, who was pronounced dead of a bullet through her heart.

TOKYO — Mrs. Richarda Morrow-Tait of England, who wants to be the first woman to circle the globe in a single-engined plane, arrived at Kyushu, Japan, the United States Air Force announced. Mrs. Morrow-Tait and her navigator, Michael Townsend, are flying around the world in easy stages. They left England August 18.

CANBERRA — Discovery of the possible existence of a new type of star, termed a "radio" star, was announced to-day by the Australian Council of Scientific and Industrial Research. The Council said the star is thought to emit radio waves but not light.

Graziani Weeps

ROME — Former Marshal Rodolfo Graziano, looking ill and tired, broke down and wept during Monday's session of his trial. The incident occurred during the evidence of one of Graziana's former farm workers, Zilio Maggini, who described a last meeting with Graziani before the latter went north with Mussolini.

WASHINGTON— Federal District court was asked to set trial on the validity of the will of publisher Eleanor Patterson for Dec. 6, the "earliest practicable date." The request was filed by Frank Waldrop, William C. Shelton and Joseph Brooks, executors of the will. Waldrop and Shelton are also exectuives of the late Mrs. Patterson's newspaper, the Washington Times-Herald.

For its latitude, north China has unusually severe winters — Peking's average January temperature is 23 degrees.

Poland Talks Peace But Prepares For War

WARSAW, Oct. 25—(AP)—The Polish government, standing fast with Russia in everything she does, says it is interested only in keeping the peace, but things are happening that resemble preparations for war.

Unofficially, war talk is widespread, but most Poles apparently believe the Western Allies will back down on the Berlin issue to keep the peace. The Polish press editorially is warning that the strength of the Russian forces is causing the west to reflect. War fears, however, have boosted black-market demands for the American dollar. Speculators are paying 1,200 zlotys to the dollar. The official rate is 400.

The Polish army is sticking closely to its conscription plan of drafting young men for two years' compulsory military training

The army's standing strength last was reported officially at 155,000 men. It is believed to be closer to 200,000, and with the calling of reserves probably could be multiplied several times.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

ETHICS OF THE PLAY

IN THE SECTION on Proprieties in the new Laws of Contract Bridge, various acts and mannerisms are sumarized as being improper. A number of these are obviously wrong since they could convey information to a player's partner and so influence his ensuing moves.

Listed among such acts from which a player should refrain are playing a card with undue emphasis, playing with undue delay when the play does not need consideration, preparing to gather a trick before all four hands have played to it, detaching a card from his hand before it is his turn to lead or play, failing to keep the tricks in correct order and distinct from one another, or allowing some to be placed on the opposite side of the table, watching the place in a player's hand from which he draws a card, and drawing any inference therefrom, and making gratuitous comments during the play as to the auction, the adequacy of the contract or the nature of the hand.

On the subject of revokes, the statement is made that it is improper to attempt to conceal a revoke card if a hand is not played out, "but there is no obligation to call attention to an established revoke or other irregularity committed by self or partner." There may be no obligation to call such attention to an irregularity by one's own side, but some players, including this writer, make it a practice always to do that, thus observing the same top-ethical code as the golfer who insists on accepting the stroke penalty whenever he alone sees that his ball has been carelessly moved a bit by his own action or while he was addressing it.

If anyone should not realize the fact, the Proprieties state that it is improper to play out of turn, carelessly or otherwise.

While branding as reprehensible allowing partner's hesitation, remark or manner to influence a call, lead or play, the Proprietics point out that it is proper to draw inferences from an opponent's gratuitous hesitation, remark or manner, but that such inferences are drawn at one's own risk.

One important clause declares it is proper to warn partner against infringing a law of the game, such as against revoking, or against calling, leading or playing out of turn. But nothing is said about warning an opponent against an irregularity he seems about to commit, as some players invariably do, including this writer—a right which is inherent in a game based on sportsmanship and which could not be repealed by any law.

One definitely sound provision is that all four players are responsible to see that each hand plays a card, and but one, to each trick, and should forthwith correct such an irregularity. Another says the declarer should play out all hands in which there is any doubt as to the outcome.

The kibitzer receives real attention at last in the statement that bystanders or members not playing should refrain from making gratuitous remarks; they should not call attention to any irregularity or mistake, or speak on any question of fact or law except when requested to give an opinion. This ought to put in his place the traditional loquacious kibitzer who doesn't know enough to refrain from trying to influence the game, and those other careless ones who have been known to forget themselves so far as to make bids or double contracts by the active players.

Co-op Members Re-elect Two Local Men

Howard Malcolm of Janetville and John Kitney were re-elected for three year terms to the directorate of Peterborough District Co-Operative Services at the annual meeting of members at the Collegiate Institute Monday night.

W. Clarence Mann of Smith, president, was chairman of the meeting which followed the routine of business reports. The invited speaker was Mr. C. D. Graham, provincial Deputy Minister of Agriculture.

The reports, including a detailed review by the manager, R. M. Peirson, were received without discussion. He recalled the three fires last year, two at the Peterborough plant and one at Sunderland for a loss of $76,348 which was fully covered by insurance.

Cancellation of the British poultry contract caused a surplus in the Canadian market and resulting drop in prices. Egg volume for the first six months of this year dropped one-third as compared with 1947 and staffs were cut accordingly. Export of eggs will not commence until after the New Year, and it is not likely that there will be a large volume for export.

Mr. Graham took his audience of about 300 members over the ground of his recent trip to Europe. In England he found a tradition and loyalty which he said he did not see evidenced in the same spirit in any other country. "It is because of that loyalty that we have the freedom of meeting here tonight as free citizens."

"They are real caretakers of the sail in Britain. Its conservation gets every consideration. Science and research are translated into practical form. Quality of product is one of their main objectives. They are aiming at superiority to any other country in the world in this matter of quality. They are endeavoring to lower cost of production, and to adapt to it the best methods of marketing through the processor right to the producer. Each man has to share in that responsibility."

"Their agricultural progress is based on facts, the readiness to receive facts, and not merely on theories."

Vern Campbell expressed to Mr. Graham the meeting's appreciation of his visit and of the interest of the Department in the business of farmers. W. W. Dawson reminded the members of the Forum dinner, assisted by the Federation of Agriculture, at the Empress Hotel Nov. 3.

Abducts Nurse

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Oct. 26— (CP). — Police Monday charged George Zsauther, 22, with abducting a 21-year-old nurse and forcing her to accompany him on a wild early-morning ride in an automobile stolen at gunpoint. The girl, Bernadette Webber, later escaped and police said she was found terrified and hiding in a straw stack in a wheat field.

LARGE VEGETABLES

A large potato being shown in the Examiner window on Hunter St., inspired Mrs. George Richmond, 696 St. Mary's St., to bring in a few garden vegetables that she was going to throw away. Two beets, one of them 25 inches in circumferance, and two huge carrots proves that they do things in a big way down in the south end. Mr. Richmond's garden covers one and one-half acres and the yield has been very heavy this year.

OIL LAMP SLOW

Old-fashioned coal oil lamps are not selling as briskly as would be expected in the local stores, despite the power shortage. At this time of every year, a few more than usual are sold to rural buyers, as the hours of darkness increase. In Lindsay, lamps are being extensively used as the people fumble for matches and turn up the wicks, the same as grandma did in years gone by. At five in the afternoon the power cut-off comes into effect.

Rotarians Plan Survey To Locate Crippled Children In District

An outline of the work being done by the Ontario Society for Crippled Children was given to the Rotary Club on Monday by the Field Secretary, Bert L. Baulch.

He complimented the local Rotary Club for its assistance to the Society and said that about 3,000 cases of crippled children— 2,000 of them orthopaedic— had been reported by Ontario service clubs the year 1947.

At the conclusion of the meeting it was announced by President W. J. Hamilton that a survey to determine the number of crippled children in the Peterborough district was to be undertaken shortly by the club. The survey, similar to one undertaken by the Rotarians in 1945, will be conducted by George Gillespie. It will begin in the region east of Havelock.

Mr. Baulch stated that the incidence of crippled children was about three or four in every thousand population. One of the greatest difficulties, he said, was that of being able to locate these children. Many usually observant people are often unaware of cases in their own districts.

"One of the responsibilities of this Society is to see that this survey is carried out periodically," he said. "We strongly advocate periodic surveys."

Three different causes of crippling were cited by the speaker: polio, congenital cases and accidental cases.

After the initial survey, he said, the children are taken to clinics where they are screened. Of these many would be in the orthopaedic group.

But he claimed that in some Ontario communities the work of locating these cripples was "bogging down," despite its outstanding necessity.

9 Nursing Units 4

In Ontario, he said, there are about nine nursing units, consisting of one nurse each. They are placed at strategic places where they are accessible to major population areas. These trained nurses, the speaker said, do not overlap other public health bodies in the community; they are trained specifically for orthopaedics.

During a polio epidemic these nurses are rushed to the particular area and put at the disposal of the local department of health. At present, he said, the province is about 75 per cent covered; one of the latest units had been stationed at Kirkland Lake.

Mr. Baulch then told of the convalescent hospital camps run by the Society during the summer. There they stay for an average of three weeks.

The first of these camps is at Blue Mountain on Lake Huron near Collingwood, the second is at Woodeden, a 100-acre estate west of London, and the third is at Rideau Lake. "All told we can accommodate about 500 children in the three camps," he said.

At Woodeden the Society plans to a centre for the treatment of the cerebal-palsy group, including spastics. This year-round teaching and training of spastics [illegible] the first of its kind in Canada.

"There are a great many spastics throughout the province," he said, "and they are the children for which nothing is done."

To help in this work the Crippled Children's Society is appealing to the provincial and dominion governments for financial assistance.

In addition to these summer camps the Society runs a vocational school for crippled children on a 12-acre property, just east of Toronto. It is for children who are on their feet but still in need of care.

To cover the operating costs of the Society Mr. Baulch said they were continuing the practice of mailing sheets of Easter seals to nearly 100 service clubs in the province.

To cover the operating costs of the Society Mr. Baulch said they were continuing the practice of mailing sheets of Easter seals to nearly 100 service clubs in the province.

He paid tribute to the club's support of this project and said that it helped to ensure that "no needy crippled child shall go without care or treatment.

One Dead, 2 Hurt As Car Hits Madoc Culvert

MADOC, Oct. 26 — One youth was killed and two other young men are in Belleville General Hospital as result of an auto crashing into the abutment of a concrete culvert on the outskirts of Madoc village late Saturday night.

Bert Young, 17, Madoc township, suffered fatal injuries. Sitting on the right side of the car he received the full force of the impact as the auto crashed into the culvert.

Driver and owner of the car Ambrose LaBarge, 26, of Actinolite, suffered internal injuries and shock, while Gerald West, 17, of Madoc township, suffered a compound fracture of the right leg and multiple head injuries.

The accident happened about 100 yards north of Madoc village limits on Highway No. 62. The car crashed into the west abutment of the narrow concrete culvert. The force of the impact was so great that the rear wheels swung into the air and came to rest on the three foot railing on the east side of the culvert.

Police were quickly on the scene but the car was so badly crushed that it took an hour to remove the injured men from the car. Acetylene torches could not be used because of danger of fire from gasoline. Young died 15 minutes after being released from the wrecked car.

Dr. S. Eagleson, Madoc coroner, attended at the scene of the accident but did not say whether an inquest would be held. The accident was investigated by Provincial Constable T. W. Lummiss, assisted by Constable Jack Hatch.

SPEECH CLUB MEETS

Members and guests of the Peterborough Speech Club met Monday evening at the YMCA for the first meeting of the fall and winter season. It was a dinner meeting with the president Percy Dallin in the chair. An impromptu program of three minute talks gave members a chance to think and talk without any previous notice of the subject matter. The next meeting will be Nov. 8.

CANDIES FOR HALLOWE'EN

With the price the same as last year the candy situation is such "that there will be enough to get by for Hallowe'en" as reported by merchants. A certain amount of candy is being set aside by the clerks so that an adequate supply will be available at Christmas.

Stove Fumes, Not Wine, Made Him Groggy Accused Explains To Sceptical Court

In police court there is liable to be a new twist at any time. One of the most original was heard today by Magistrate Philp. Clare Huard, 545 Edison Ave., was found guilty of being drunk in public despite a plea of not guilty.

According to evidence of PC's Leo Murphy and Grant Gillespie, the accused had been removed from a city apartment early Sunday morning when they had been called by the woman who owned the apartment. It was given in evidence that the woman was frightened of the accused and had ordered him to leave, which he refused to do.

Huard pointed out that he had been remanded in custody from Saturday until today.

"You surely realize why, don't you?" asked his Worship. "Your condition was quite obvious in the prisoners' box."

"But I can't see how anybody could keep drunk that long, sir," protested the accused.

Then he gave the reason:

"The oil stove in the apartment isn't working very well and I think the fumes had a lot to do with it. I was half-groggy."

'Maybe the wine had something to do with it, too," suggested the magistrate.

"I admit the fumes maybe weren't the sole contributing factor," said Huard.

The sentence, fumes or no fumes, $15 and $2.50 costs or 15 days.

Expect Pearson Leave For Paris

OTTAWA, Oct. 26 — (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson is expected to fly to Paris towards the end of this week, presumably to attend the United Nations meetings.

There were reports that he would leave Ottawa Friday.

Mr. Pearson at present is in the Ontario constituency of Algoma East for today's Federal by-election, in which he is seeking a seat in the Commons. He probably will return to Ottawa tomorrow following the by-election result.

It was thought likely here that no announcement of his departure for Europe would be made pending the outcome of to-day's voting.

While overseas, Mr. Pearson conceivably might take part in talks on a North Atlantic Security Union.

Defence Given Top Priority In India, Pakistan Dominions

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 26 (CP).—Defence is a No. 1 priority in the young dominions of India and Pakistan.

When they obtained their independence a little more than a year ago, Britain's primary responsibility for their defence ended. Primarily the defence efforts are focussed on safeguarding their own territorial integrity.

Whether they will remain full members of the Commonwealth has not yet been decided. Certainly there is strong Nationalist sentiment for ending all allegiance to the Crown in favor of a republican form of government. But for the time being India and Pakistan are Commonwealth countries and presumably their military strength may be counted in the loose Commonwealth "pool."

India's defence program calls for bigger forces, better service training and more output in defence industry.

Strength of the Indian Army is not disclosed. To built it up, post-war demobilization was suspended last year and an intensive recruiting campaign was started. The post-war target of undivided India was an army of 200,000.

"National Guard"

A "National Guard" — to form a second line in an emergency — is being formed, with a contemplated strength of 130,000. There will be a National Cadet Corps for school children, and college students, with a target of 30,000 for the junior division and 15,000 for the senior.

Since last April, 3,000 men a month have been given 20-day military training courses in East Punjab, India's new northwest frontier province. A National Volunteer Corps of 10,000 men is being raised there.

An ordinance for the call-up of demobilized military personnel, promulgated to meet probable repercussions of India's military operations in Hyderabad, has been left in force.

Plans have been drafted for an Inter-Service War Academy at Kharakvasla, near Poona. Until will be run at Derha Dun, with it is ready a temporary Academy 500 Cadets a year.

Increase Production.

Production in India's ordnance factories is being increased and new production undertaken to make the country as self-sufficient as possible in arms, ammunition and other defence requirements.

India is also strengthening her naval forces by acquiring new vessels. HMS Achilles, now HMIS Delhi, has arrived in India and three more destroyers are to be added to the Indian Navy by Dec. 31.

Pakistan's position was summed up by Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan as he left for the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference in London.

"The defence of the State is our foremost consideration," he said in a broadcast. "It dominates all other governmental activities. We shall not grudge spending any amount on the defence of the country.

"We are going to make our land, air, and naval forces, which are second to none in the world in their morale and determination, stronger still."

Freight Train Hits Yard Engine, Derailed

NORTH BAY, Oct. 26—(CP)—Normal main-line passenger traffic on the Canadian National Railways was resumed Monday following a derailment which occurred Sunday in Hornepayne, it was announced here today.

District headquarters officials said the accident occurred in the Hornepayne yards early Sunday afternoon when an extra eastbound freight train struck a yard engine. No injuries were reported.

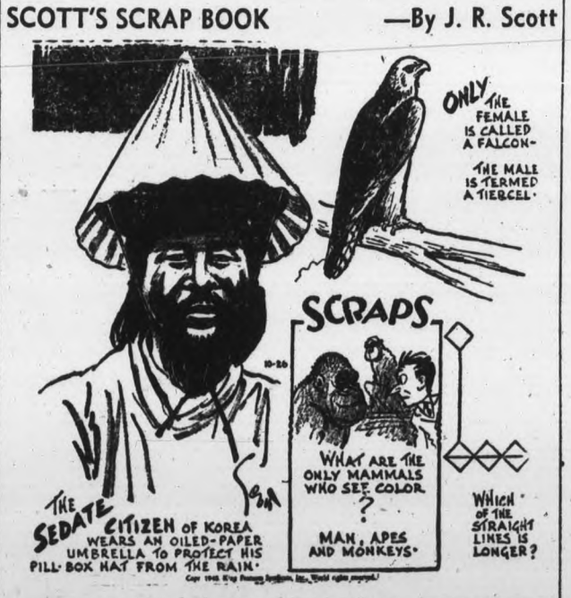
Seven cars, loaded with pulp wood, grain and other merchandise, were derailed. The two engines were damaged but remained on the track.

A Toronto-bound train was delayed west of the scene of the accident, and delay was also caused to the Winnipeg-bound passenger trains which were east of the scene when the accident occurred.

Newfoundland Moves Indians To New Areas

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 26 — (CP). — The Department of Natural Resources has announced it plans to move the Nascopie Tribe of Indians living at the government post at Davis Inlet to new quarters at Okak.

The tribe is something of a mystery to the department.



No one, not even Chief Joe Rich, knows how long the tribe has been living at Davis Inlet. They have been in poor health for some years because of depletion of game on their hunting grounds.

Chief Rich agreed to the move after visiting Okak and looking over the hunting possibilities.

Thames' Banks Cleaned Up For Festival

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Oct. 26 (CP).—London's future grandeur as centre of the Commonwealth is to be linked with the Festival of Britain, a colorful representation of British life planned for 1951.

The two themes will merge on the south bank of the River Thames, a semi-derelict stretch of factories, mudbanks and blitz ruins. The result will be that London's ancient river will have two banks of equal importance.

Cultural Centre

Work on the transformation of the south bank, covering some 30 acres between Waterloo Bridge and County Hall, has already begun, and the Government and the London County Council have agreed that the Festival of Britain shall be held on thi ssite.

The festival will later merge into a £2,000,000 ($8,000,000) plan of civic development — construction of a cultural centre, including a new concert hall, extension of the river wall and a general clean-up of the locality.

Highlights of the 1951 festival will be:—

A central exhibition housed in fabric structures of "arresting and exciting" design; an architectural exhibition showing a full-size cross-section of a residential neighborhood; a festival of arts running for eight weeks in London and elsewnere; a travelling exhibition—a London show on wheels—visiting every industrial city.

Britain's Story

The exhbition will lie behind a new southern river frontage comprising gardens, lawns and promenades, of which the new concert hall will be the centre.

"New materials and new designs will make this festival city a post-war dream come true," said Gerald Barry, formerly managing editor of The London News-Chronicle, now festival director-general.

During the festival British industry will be put on show by the British Industries Fair, running alongside the other exhibitions; British agriculture by the Royal Agricultural Show, and British science by the British Association.

Flies To Vancouver First Flight At 82

HALIBURTON, Oct. 26—Mrs. Margaret Curry, one of Haliburton's grand old ladies, has just taken the longest and fastest trip of her lifetime. She has arrived in Vancouver, B.C., where she will visit her daughters, after a flight by air across the continent.

Mrs. Curry is very active and made the trip alone. She may remain in Vancouver for a year although she hinted she might come back in the spring if it pleased her.

LOOKING FORWARD to work in China, students of the U of T are busy studying the Chinese language and culture. This class of seven is struggling with Chinese characters, as the teacher, Mrs. Watts, leads them in a reading lesson. The Department of East Asiatic Studies was formed this year to promote understanding between East and West.

Israel Gov't Will Keep Negev Gains

UN Order Ignored, Will Negotiate But Not Withdraw

TEL AVIV, Oct. 27 —(AP)—It was learned reliably, that the Israeli government today notified the United Nations it is rejecting U.N. acting mediator's order that Jewish forces withdraw from newly-won control positions in Negev, southern Palestine.

A government spokesman made public Israel's answer at noon today.

He said the rejection was cabled by Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok to Aubrey Eban, Israeli representative at the United Nations in Paris, to be turned over to Dr. Ralphe Bunche, the mediator.

The reply said the Jews are willing to negotiate, but will not withdraw from the Negev desert without negotiation.

Shertok's message said he wished to "draw attention to the following sentence in the security council resolution of Oct. 19.

"'After the cease-fire, the following conditions might well be considered as a basis for negotiation: 1. The withdrawal of forces to previous positions etc.'"

That sentence, the Israeli reply said, made it clear that withdrawal "was regarded by the security council as a possible subject for consideration and not n absolute injunction as you (Bunche) have assumed."

Oshawa Plant Faces Shutdown

OSHAWA, Oct. 27.— (CP). — General Motors plants at Oshawa and Windsor will shut down early next week unless there is some relief from shortage caused by a prolonged strike at McKinnon Industries plant at St. Catharines. W. A. Wecker, president of General Motors Corp., of Canada, said today.

He described McKinno's as "one of our most important suppliers" and said G.M. was unable to get certain parts fro many other manufacturer.

"When the supply of such items becomes exhausted we will have to stop production operations in our plants. In this event production would be resumed just as soon as the McKinnon strike is settled."

Every effort had been made to avoid closing, he said.

Korean Rebellion Crushed In 7 Days

SEOUL, Oct. 27 — (AP). — The abortive, radical-led Korean rebellion was crushed today, just one week after it started, with the recapture of Yosu by Loyalist forces.

The victory may have been costly. Air observers reported late today that a fourth of the city of 70,000 had been destroyed by fire.

The signal that all major resistance had been crushed came from a government cutter in this cryptic message:

"Yosu is ours. Prisoners have not been counted. Contact with friendly troops good."

Small bands of rebels are still holding out in the hills above Sunchon but the major revolt has been put down.

Smart Poker Trick

TORONTO, Oct. 27 — (CP).—Police Tuesday arrested Hugh Gilmore, 36, of Toronto, and charged him with stealing $900 from Maurice Joy of Arden, in a slight-of-hand trick. Joy told police he wrote out a cheque for $900 during a poker game with three strangers as a guarantee he had some money. One of the men said that wasn't necessary and appeared to tear up the cheque. It was cashed a few days later in Picton.

Must Sign Loan Agreement Or No Grant

Action Temporarily Cuts Marshall Plan Money To 9 Countries

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 (AP) —The Economic Co-operation Administration announced today it will make no new Marshall Plan grants to European countries unless they have signed loan agreements. Only Britain and Iceland now have loan agreements.

The action temporarily cuts off new grants, or outright gifts, of recovery aid to France, Italy, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Belgium, Ireland, The Netherlands and Turkey.

These are the countries eligible for E.C.A. aid on a repayable loan basis, with whom negotiations have been in progress for months.

Britain yesterday signed a loan agreement for $310,000,000 and Iceland also is exempt from the sweeping E.C.A. decree because she concluded a $2,300,000 fisheries credit in the summer.

E.C.A. is obliged under the Foreign Assistance Act, to use $1,000,000,000 of its Marshall Plan appropriation in making loans which are repayable and which will finance specific industrial recovery projects.

While approximately $2,500,000,000 already has been handed out in grants, the loan program is behind schedule.

The Marshall Plan agency described its action as a "move to balance the ratio of loans and grants."

Howard Bruce, acting E.C.A. administrator, said he did not believe the halt in new grants would last long, or that it would afect the over-all program of providing aid under the E.C.A. program.

A loan of about $60,000,000 to Ireland is "imminent," he said.

Larger credits to France—about $170,000,000 — and The Netherlands, approximately $80,000,000 plus $15,000,000 plus $15,000,000 for The Netherlands Indies, also are expected to be signed shortly.

Remand Stuart Till Nov. 3, Out On Bail

KITCHENER, Oct. 27 (CP). — William Stuart, one-time boy friend of Mrs. Emma Pohl whose strangled body was found near here Tuesday was remanded today until Nov. 3 on a charge of public mischief arising from her death.

Stuart, described by police as the last known person to have seen Mrs. Pohl alive, was arrested Oct. 1 when police suspected his account of a sum of money he had with him.

Crown Attorney W. P. Clement said at today's hearing he proposed to amend the charge against Stuart. In addition, Stuart was to appear "at an early date" at an inquest into Mrs. Pohl's death "and it seems hardly fair or proper to the accused to be tried and make statements on circumstances now being investigated."

Stuart's counsel argued that Stuart had been held 27 days on a minor charge and further delay would be "unfair and contrary to justice." He urged that Stuart be released on "a small bail."

The presiding magistrate, granting the remand, said: "Perhaps future developments in this case will justify my decision."

Spoils Clue

A Kitchener Record reporter exploded a theory of a clue in the case. He identified a torn rubber found 100 feet from the body as the one he lost tramping through the bush the night the body was found.

The search for clues will be intensified today, police said.

"We aren't looking for anything definite but if some personal belongings or other clue should be in the bush we don't want to miss it."

At Woodstock where the body of the 37-year-old housewife was taken, results of a post mortem examination were made known by Crown Attorney Craig McKay.

"The post mortem did not disclose anything further than it appeared she had been strangled as previously reported," he said. Internal organs were so decomposed the coroner, Dr. L. C. Fischer, decided it was useless to send them to Toronto for laboratory tests. Date of an inquest would not be set until provincial police had completed their investigation.

Expect Swift US Action On Big 5 Army Allowance

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—(AP).—Swift American action appears assured once the Five-Power Western European Union makes its formal request for a military alliance with the United States and Canada. In fact, the rough draft of just such a North Atlantic security treaty already has been written, after secret and informal talks with the European countries. Barring some unexpected hitch, the final version is expected to go to the United States Senate within three months.

The aim of the projected alliance is to provide American and Canadian military guarantees for non-Communist Europe, with the Western European Union as a nucleus. The "union" countries are Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The council of the Western European Union, made up of the foreign ministers of the five powers, announced in Paris Tuesday that it had reached complete agreement "on the principle of a defensive pact for the North Atlantic and on the next steps to be taken in this direction."

The first of these next steps, Paris reported, will be to have the ambassadors of the five countries in Washington and Ottawa formally ask for such a treaty.

But, diplomatic informants here said today, this step will not be taken in the United States until after next Tuesday's presidential election. The delay is in line with the months-old policy of playing down the whole subject during the political campaign.

Diplomatic officials who have been working on preparations for the alliance say they believe it is based on the American by-partisan foreign policy and that the project will be carried forward whether President Truman or Governor Thomas E. Dewey is elected.

Nevertheless, one of the first post-election moves will be to go over the whole situation with the winning side so that further negotiations with the Europeans can be guided exactly by what the next administration will support.

The defence pact was pictured here as providing for:

1. A program of orderly, unhurried military rearmament.
2. Standardization of military equipment, armaments and training.
3. Evolution of an international transatlantic air, land and sea strategy under the leadership of an American commander-in-chief.
4. Development of a common, co-ordinated imperial and foreign policy in the Middle East, Africa and the Far East.

Convict Huard Of Bride's Death

LA MALBAIE, Que., Oct. 27.—(CP).—A rural jury today convicted Lionel Huard, 27, of a charge of murder in the drowning of his English war bride May 9 near the village of Ste. Therese de Colombier, far down the St. Lawrence river's north shore.

Huard was sentenced to be hanged March 1.

The jury of nine farmers, a printer, a taxi-driver and a laborer, returned to the packed courtroom with its verdict of guilty after deliberating an hour.

Judge Alfred Savard immediately pronounced sentence.

The villager was accused of drowning the bride he met overseas during a Sunday noon canoe trip at Baie de Bauleaux (Bay of the Birches), far down the north shore of the St. Lawrence river.

Judge Savard in his address told the jury:

"It seems that the manner in which the accused described the accident cannot convince you of the veracity of his statement."

Give Russians Chance Again On Blockade

PARIS, Oct. 27—(AP). — Foreign Ministers of Britain, the United States and France offered Russia a new opportunity today to end the Berlin blockade on the basis of the six-power compromise which Russia vetoed Monday in the United Nations Security Council.

They announced in a joint communique they intend to leave the Berlin question on the Security Council agenda.

The decision came after a 70-minute meeting of State Secretary Marshall, Foreign Secretary Bevin and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France at the French Foreign Ministry.

Their communique said they will "stand by their expressed willingness to be guided by the principles set forth" in the six-power resolution.

Plan Inquest Monday In Kobialko Shooting

WINONA, Oct. 27 — (CP). — An inquest will be held next Monday into the fatal shooting of Carl Kobialko during a police chase.

Kobialko was slain Sunday night near this Hamilton area town. His brother Edward, claimed Tuesday that the former Saskatchewan man was unarmed at the time.

William Kobuck of Yorkton, Sask., arrested early Monday on a charge of automobile theft, will appear in court in Hamilton Monday. Police took him into custody near the spot where Kobialko died and they said he was a companion of the slain man.

A Military Force

BERLIN, Oct. 27 (Reuters). — Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British military goverpor, said to-day the Russians are organizing in their zone a police force of "a distinctly military character" totalling 200,000 men with "formidable armament."

Have No Court Reporter, To Use Recording Machine

KITCHENER, Oct. 27 (CP).— Magistrate Hugh Polson is soon to embark on an experiment that may radically alter the whole profession of court reporting of trial evidence.

His Worship, seeking to overcome official recorder difficulties in Galt Police Court, has turned to science for a solution and he thinks he has it.

Starting to-morrow Galt will dispense with the flesh-and-blood reporter. Evidence will be recorded on a magnetized tape after it is picked up by microphone placed in the court.

The magistrate dreamed up this one when Galt officials found trouble in getting a reporter. Thursday's effort will be the first of several on a trial basis, which if successful may become standard procedure.

The cadi has given the system a good test in a mock trial and reports that everything comes out clear as a bell, even the less desirable features like the people scuffing their feet, coughing, and tapping on tables.

One point that has yet to be decided is the legality of the whole business. But magistrate is not worried much about that. He points out that the Criminal Code calls for the presiding official to write down all the evidence in all cases.

"No one does that," he says. "Supreme Court judges only make notes in the biggest cases. In fact, no presiding officer has time to be recorder too.'"

"One thing the new system offers is complete text of the evidence, something Mr. Polson feels is not possible with the human reporter.

"The best reporter in the world will miss the odd word or phrase —the mike does not miss a thing," he says.

He has informed Queen's Park officials about the test, has their unofficial blessing, and has aroused their interest.

Dismantling Continues Over Protest

Machinery Parts' Delivery Stopped Till Decision Made

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(AP). —Britain, the United States and France agreed today to a full review of the reparations allocations of German industrial plants.

A joint statement made public by the State Department made plain, however, that Britain and France had turned down the United States request for a temporary halt in plant dismantling pending the review.

Paul Hoffman, Marshall plan administrator, had suggested the three countries agree to stop dismantling certain plants while he sought to determine whether they could better be kept in Germany for the benefit of the European recovery as a whole.

No Stop Order

The three-power statement made no mention of any stop in dismantling. It said "a list of plants" will be studied by a United States committee to decide what should be done with them.

State Department officials in attempting to clarify the announcement said, however, that dismantling of the questioned plants will continue. Deliveries of the dismantled parts to the Allied countries will stop until a definite decision has been reached about their future.

While the investigation is in progress, other plants not under study will be made available to the 18-country reparations agency for allocation to the Allied powers, the three-power statement said.

Truck, Car Hit 1 Dead, 5 Hurt

NEW LISKEARD, Oct. 27 — (CP). — A child was killed and five other persons injured late Tuesday night in a traffic accident eight miles north of New Liskeard.

Dead is Peter Kingston, Englehart, seven-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kingston. Injured are: Mr. and Mrs. Kingston, Mrs. Emma Kingston, Evelyn and Michael Kingston.

Constable N. F. Morris, Haileybury provincial police detachment, said today that Kingston was proceeding north on Highway 11 when his car became involved in collision with a two-ton truck operated by J. Doupe, Thornloe.

Police said the child died instantly.

Dr. D. R. Fleming said today Mrs. Stephen Kingston is suffering from a fractured skull and is in "critical condition." Stephen Kingston is suffering from cuts and abrasions to the face and body. Mrs. Emma Kingston sustained a deep cut under the right eye. Evelyn Kingston, 13, sister of Stephen, suffered serious back injuries. Michael Kingston, five-year-old son of the Kingston's, has cuts and bruises on the face and body.

Electric Power Cuts General In Britain

LONDON, Oct. 27—(CP).—The first warning of impending winter came today to Britain with electric power cuts and an icy fog which paralyzed shipping in the Thames and air traffic in the London area.

The power cuts—the first big reduction of the fall—affected the whole of Britain and amounted to 10 per cent. in London and most of the country. At least one London area was without electricity for an hour at breakfast time.

Electricity authority officials said an exceptionally heavy load due to cold weather forced the cut.

Begin Plant Hearing

TORONTO, Oct. 27 — (CP). — Hearings are expected to begin today before the Ontario Labor Board on an application of employees of the Benedict Proctor Company of Trenton, to prosecute the company owner, H. J. Craddock.

ROGER NOYES, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Noyes, 465 Rogers St., was seriously hurt Tuesday night when he was accidently shot in the stomach by a .22 rifle being handled by his brother John.

Shot In Stomach Roger Noyes, 17 Condition 'Fair'

Accidentally shot by a .22-calibre rifle Tuesday night, 17-year-old Roger Noyes, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Noyes of 465 Rogers St., is in St. Joseph's Hospital this morning with a stomach wound. His condition is described as "only fair." The youth required two blood transfusions following an emergency operation after midnight.

The accident happened about 10 p.m. in the home of the injured boy. He was in a bedroom with his mother and his older brother, John Noyes, 22, who was polishing the holder for the rifle. Not knowing the gun was loaded, John picked up the gun and it discharged at Roger, who was standing directly in front of him about four feet away.

The bullet entered the boy's stomach and lodged near the pelvis bone, causing internal injuries. Taken to the hospital by ambulance, he was operated on by Dr. Ralph Clark. Attending now is Dr. W. J. Wills.

French 'Reds' Threaten Strike

PARIS, Oct. 27 — (AP). — French Communists threatened today to organize a general sit-down strike in northern France in support of the striking coal miners.

Top leaders of the Communist-led Confederation Generale Du Travail decided Tuesday night to issue the threat. They met at Lille a key mining centre which government strike-fighting troops and police have not yet entered.

CGT leaders said they would pull the sit-down strike if the government "increased its repressive measures."

At least 30,000 troops and police are concentrated in the northern coal-fields east of Lille. During the wage strike, now in its fourth week, these shock troops have seized struck mintes in danger of serious damage from flooding and fire damp.

Prisoner Asks Protection From Pen Officials, Says Spitefully Treated

Had Warden Allan Excluded As Witness Draws Solitary Confinement; Story Craft Tells Court At Murder Trial

KINGSTON, Oct. 27 — (CP). — Austin Craft, 47-year-old Kingston Penitentiary convict, on trial for murder in the April 26 shooting of penitentiary messenger John D. Kennedy (a brother of Dr. M. J. Kennedy, Peterborough), today made a dramatic appeal in Ontario Supreme Court here for protection from prison officials. He accused Penitentiary officials of "petty spite" in their treatment of him after he was returned to the prison after Tuesday's hearing in his trial.

He said he was placed in solitary confinement.

Speaking to Mr. Justice Keiller Mackay, trial judge, he said: "Yesterday you gave me to understand that I was perfectly within my rights to ask witnesses to be excluded. Warden R. M. Allan was one of the witnesses present and had to leave the courtroom.

"After court I was taken back to the 'pen' and put in one of the solitary cells in the basement." He said there was no bed, no light and no water in the cell—"nothing but a bucket.' There was no one else in the block which had 10 cells.

Gets On Nerves

"Penitentiary officials know that when I'm pushed to the limit my nerves go bad," Craft said. He asked to be allowed to talk to fellow prisoners, listen to the radio "or anything to distract my mind."

Crown Counsel T. J. Rigney said he was willing to do his best to alleviate the situation, if the facts given by Craft were correct. But he said judgment of those responsible for looking after Craft "cannot be lightly cast aside."

Warden Allan, called as a Crown witness, was questioned by Craft, who Tuesday "fired" the counsel assigned him by the Crown, whom, Craft said, showed no interest in him

"Did you consider Craft a dangerous man?" the convict asked the warden.

"Up to the time of the shooting of Kennedy, no."

The warden said he understood Craft and Kennedy had been friends.

Also standing trial is 21-year-old Howard Urquhart.

Further Power Cut

OTTAWA, Oct. 27 — (CP). — The Gatineau Power Company of Quebec confirmed to-day that its power deliveries to Ontario have been cut by another 3,000,000 kilowatt hours a week. An official said the reduction is effective "immediately."

UEW Files Suit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 — (AP)—The United Electrical Workers (CIO) today filed a $1,000,000 damage suit against the United States Atomic Energy Commission. It is based on the commission's order barring UEW from representing workers in an atomic plant at Schenectady, NY, which General Electric Company is operating for the commission.

13 Commanders Acquitted In Nazi Trials

NUERNBERG, Oct. 27 — (CP). — An American war crimes tribunal today convicted former Field Marshal Wilhelm von Leeb, one of Hitler's top military commanders of committing war crimes and crimes against humanity in Nazi-occupied territories.

Von Leeb, who commanded the northern group of armies in Russia, was acquitted on a charge of illegal activities against belligerents and prisoners of war.

Field Marshal Hugo Sperrle, one-time commander of the German Condor Legion in Spain and of the air fleet which bombed London in 1940, was acquitted on all four charges and was ordered to be released immediately.

The tribunal this morning announced acquittal of 13 leading Nazi war chiefs — three field marshals, nine generals and one admiral — on charges of conspiracy and waging aggressive warfare.

The judgment said "the acts of commanders and staff officers below policy level in planning campaigns, preparing means for carrying them out, moving against a country on orders and fighting a war after it has been instituted, do not constitute the planning, preparation, initiation, and waging of war or the initiation of an invasion that international law denounces as criminal."

The court also struck out the conspiracy charge in the four-count indictment, but still had to rule on the charges of war crimes

Train Hits Truck 2 Dead, 12 Hurt

UHRICHSVILLE, O., Oct. 27—(AP)—The engineer and fireman were killed and 12 persons, 11 of them passengers, were injured today when a Pennsylvania train smashed into a truckload of steel five miles west of here.

Five of the injured were taken to hospital at nearby Dennison. They included the driver of the truck. The others were treated at the scene of the wreck in which eight cars were reported derailed.

The state highway patrol reported also that the locomotive was demolished in the crash.

Pennsylvania railroad officials identified the dead engineer as G. C. Aley of Pittsburg and the fireman as C. A. Darah of Carnegie, Pa.

Quebec By-Election To Be Held Dec. 14

QUEBEC, Oct. 27 — (CP). — Premier Duplessis announced today that a provincial by-election will be held in Brome County December 14. The announcement followed a Cabinet meeting.

Premier Duplessis said last week at a press conference that the government hoped the by-election could be held in time to give Brome representation in the Provincial House by the forthcoming session due to start in January.

The seat for Brome in the 92-seat Legislative Assembly became vacant October 11 by the death of Mines Minister Jonathan Robinson in Montreal after he was taken ill suddenly in Northern Quebec.

Attlee Demands Inquiry In Bribery of Officials

LONDON, Oct. 27 — (AP). — Prime Minister Attlee asked parliament today to investigate reports of bribery involving Ministers and other officials of the Government.

Bringing before the House of Commons a scandal which may have far-reaching implications, Attlee blamed "the activities of a certain alien" whom he did not name.

Attlee said J. W. Belcher, Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade, and "other Ministers and officials" were involved in the allegations.

The Commons immediately agreed to set up a judicial tribunal to investigate the reports.

At the same time, Attlee said the bribery case is under investigation by the London police.

Four specific cases involve an application for import of amusement machinery, permission to issue capital for a football pools company, an application for a building licence and withdrawal of prosecution against a football pools firm accused for violating the paper (supply) control regulations.

Applauding Attlee's prompt action, Opposition Leader Winston Churchill urged that all members of parliament, during the interval required to launch the inquiry, "should set an example in not indulging in gossip or the wide diffusion of names and other scandalous matters."

Yugoslavia Attacks Greek Policy

Guerrilla Charges Ridiculous Deputy Tells UN

PARIS, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Yugoslav deputy foreign minister, Ales Bebler, assailed Western policy in Greece for 2½ hours before the United Nations today.

Bebler launched his attack after the Soviet bloc failed in another attempt before the U.N. political committee to invite a representative of Markos Vafiades, Communist rebel leader in Greece, to discuss the Greek situation. The proposal, submitted by Poland, was defeated 45 to 6 with two absentions.

Bebler told the committee that accusations against Greece's northern neighbors for aiding the guerrillas "lacked all serious character."

The Yugoslav delegate declared that the Western powers, by raising the Greek issue, were only trying to force the U.N. to "take one more step forward on the road which can but lead them to moral bankruptcy."

Bebler said the United States was only aiding the Greek government because the "eye of the strategists of the U.S. expansionist policy for world domination fell upon Greece as an important base and position in the Mediterranean in front of the Suez and Dardenelles on the doorstep of the young peoples' democracies and on the approaches to the U.S.S.R."

The European Reconstruction Program, he charged, was designed to permit industrialists to take over the economy of Greece and other participating countries.

Bebler had bitter words for Lt.-Gen. James A. Van Fleet, chief of the United States military mission to Greece.

"This American general is today well known to the whole world, owing to this notorious brutal slogan — 'capture and kill.'"

Entry Into Confederation To Ease Dollar Shortage

MONTREAL, Oct. 27 (CP). — One of Newfoundland's top statesmen said Tuesday night that the island's entry into confederation will help ease Canada's shortage of United States dollars.

Addressing the Montreal Junior Board of Trade, A. J. Walsh, who is chief of the Newfoundland delegation negotiating terms of union with Canada, said that since early in the war Newfoundland's dollar position had been so good, she had more than she needed. United with Canada she could cut her expenditures in the United States by about $25,000,000 a year.

Newfoundland now exports annually, goods valued at $80,000,000 of which $10,000,000 is to Canada. The island imports $105,000,000 worth of goods a year and of this amount, $55,000,000 comes from Canada.

The island imports $40,000,000 worth a year from the U.S. and sells her $26,000,000 worth of goods.

Two thirds of the amount of goods at present imported from the United States would be obtained from Canada after union, Mr. Walsh estimated, and "a similar diversion of trade will take place in the case of imports from other countries."

Mr. Walsh said that since early in the Second World War, Newfoundland had been a source of American dollars. This he attributed to construction of U.S. bases there and exports to the United States and other countries which paid in American funds.

Canada will become one of the most important suppliers of fish and have the greatest fishing potential in the world, when Newfoundland enters confederation, he said.

Hogs were steady at $31 for grade A and $30.60 for B1. Sows were $23.50 dressed.

There were no sales of lambs and sheep were $5-$10.

Will Discuss Terms Newfoundland Union

OTTAWA, Oct. 27.—(CP). — The terms under which Newfoundland will join Canada as a 10th province will be discussed again today at another in a series of closed meetings between representatives of the two countries.

An official in close touch with the negotiations said that the discussions have not yet reached the stage where financial terms can be debated. The matter has only been touched on indirectly since the negotiators first met around the conference table Oct. 6.

The official said that various committees of the Canadian government still are wresting with points raised in a brief submitted by the Newfoundland delegation after its arrival.

"We are making a piece-meal examination of all problems at close quarters," he said.

A great deal of time is being spent on the study of the constitutional procedure to be followed in bringing about union. The application of Canadian laws and practices in Newfoundland is being considered.

Given 15 Days

Robert Morrison, 17, of Niagara Falls, was sentenced to 15 days in jail by Magistrate Philp when he appeared to court today and pleaded guilty to two charges of theft of clothing from clotheslines in Lakefield. Evidence was given by Lakefield Police Chief Samis, who made the arrest.

Base Metals Leading Decline On Market

TORONTO, Oct. 27 — (CP). — Prices slid downward as trading continued at Tuesday's active pace on the stock exchange here today. Base metals led the decline and industrials moved in narrow fractional range. Golds also weakened.

Consolidated Smelters dipped 1¼ in a weakening base metals list. Quemont and International Nickel were also down fractionally while Hudson Bay added. Falconbridge, Gulf Lead, Reeves MacDonald, Pend Oreille and Sherritt eased 2 to 10 cents.

Junior speculatives held the bulk of trading in golds. Nicholson dropped 17 cents. Lake Shore, Kerr Addison were down in seniors.

Utilities, steels and foods dipped in industrials. Massey Harris was down in agriculture grouping and Seagram's, Royal Bank and International Paper weakened.

Given Seven Days For Drunk Driving

Grant Carroll, 181 Reid St., was sentenced to seven days in jail when he was found guilty by Magistrate Philp of a charge of drunk driving. Evidence by PC's C. J. McGillen, John Morrow and Douglas Fathing told of the accused's condition when he was stopped by the police cruiser and later taken to the station. In his own defence the accused gave evidence of having been very tired on tthe night of his arrest. He admitted that "I shouldn't have had anything to drink after being so tired."

Dive Postponed When Battery Crashes On Deck

By HENRY GHYSSELS

ABOARD PICCARD - COSYNS DEEP - SEA EXPEDITION MOTHERSHIP SCALDIS, off Cap Verde Islands, Oct. 25—(By wireless).— The guy who gets to the office late "'cause he didn't hear the alarm clock" has nothing on Pro. Auguste Piccard — whose failure to check an even more important sort of "alarm clock" has caused the latest delay in the bathyscaphe's diving schedule.

Originally set for Saturday, the first real drive was set back to Sunday because the underwater balloon could not be made ready in time. On Sunday, the alarm-clock accident put off the dive completely. Now the first dive is tentatively—but oh so tentatively—set for Tuesday.

To go back to the beginning, which was last Friday evening after dinner. Everyone was sitting around the dining table over coffee, feeling thrilled and talking over plans for the next day's dive It was generally felt that the co-leaders and developers of the bathyscaphe would be the first to go down. But Prof. Max Cosyns begged off. He felt he should be available aboard the Scaldis to show the two French navy officers how to handle the surface end of things.

So theree followed a lot of "tfer you, Gaston" talk, with every scientist on board crazy to go along but advancing the greater claims of his neighbor. Eventually names were drawn out of a hat and it was decided that the first two to ride the bathyscaphe into the ocean's depths would be professor Piccard and French zoologist Theodore Monod. The "hat" from which the lots were drawn was, appropriately, a diver's helmet.

That being all settled, it remained only to go to bed in anticipation of an early start Saturday. But early as it was—and this reporter can testify sleepily to that—it wasn't soon enough. By the time the gasoline containers had been filled, the necessary oil circuits completed and all the other preparations made, it was too late to dive. So the undertaking was postponed until Sunday.

On Sunday morning, I was wakened by a terrific racket. I went to the hold to find half the scientists and some of the ship's crew already getting Bathyscape into launching position. They were attaching the great after battery to the electromagnets Cosyns and an aide had just stepped back, beaming, the power source securely fixed in place, when the 1,300-pound battery crashed to the deck.

The crash was like thunder against the floor of the ship's hold, but only a few glass retorts were broken—and, of course, the battery. Everybody on the ship seemed to be trying to force a way into the hold by this time and oil and acid from the battery was spreading in a fast-growing pool over the floor.

Found Trouble

Cosyns was white and upset. He immediately went into the round cabin of the bathyscaphe to try to find out what had gone wrong. Everything seemed to be in order, none of the electrical connections had been interrupted. A second look, however, showed that the emergency release was down instead of up. This lets everything go from the outside, ballast, batteries and everything else which can lighten the craft enough to send her zooming back to the surface no matter what the counterpull may be.

It was Professor Piccard who discovered — somewhat shamefacedly—what had actually happened. The previous day he had taken Monod into the cabin to explain the bathyscaphe's functioning and had rewound the chronometers which, among other things, operate the ballast release when the bathyscaphe is sent down empty for tests. His fingers must have touched the knob working the "alarm" mechanism by which the bathyscaphe would be brought to the surface at whatever time was indicated. But he didn't worry about checking that, since he didn't believe it was connected anyway to the release mechanism. And he didn't think of telling Professor Cosyns who knew that the release mechanism was connected but thought that the alarm mechanism was disconnected. So the "alarm" went off—and with what a bang!

But, as someone on board remarked a little later when spirits were high again, at least now we have proof that the emergency release works—and that's a comfort. However, this proof had cost us a battery and, since it takes some 20 hours to ready another for use, had again set back the dive.

'Hungry Thieves', Raid Haultain Home

APSLEY, Oct. 27.—(Staff). — Those 'hungry thieves" seem to be at it again. Late last week, the home of Mrs. David Coombs at Haultain was broken into and the loss was a quantity of canned fruit, milk and vegetables. Only other article missed was about a dollar's worth of silver. The whole house, furniture and all, was apparently ignored by the food-eager intruders. Police believe the loss of the small change may indicate that children were responsible.

Two Cars Collide On Coe Hill Road

Extensive damage to both vehicles was caused on Monday morning in an accident a half-mile east of Glenalda on the Apsley-Coe Hill road. Drivers of the cars were Frederick E. Crosby, Christie St., Toronto, and Charles A. Irish, Coe Hill. Crosby received injuries to his shins and his brother, Robert Crosby of Coe Hill, had fingers hurt.

The two cars met at a turning in the road and sideswiped each other.

Provincial Constable Bert Howden, Apsley, investigated.

Tribute Paid At Service For Hum Hoy

A large crowd of friends gathered at George St. United church at 3 p.m. Tuesday for the funeral service of Hum Hoy, former proprietor of the Paris Cafe, who died suddenly one week ago.

Taking as his text, "by your fruits ye shall know them," the Rev. Dr. James Semple paid tribute to the life and work of Mr. Hum in the community. He said that he was a man 'who had the key to the street." People of every walk of life were his friends. He stressed that Mr. Hum knew no age group. He was equally at home with older people, middle-aged folk and had a particular interest and sympathy for the high school children.

Dr. Semple mentioned two qualities which he felt were particularly outstanding in his years as a George St. business man—his honesty and his courtesy.

The minister said he felt it was a pity that such a desirable citizen had to wait so long to be granted his official papers and that Canadians should be more thoughtful of their Chinese people.

Burial will be made in China as soon as the present U.S. shipping strike ends.

Pallbearers were all relatives of the late Hum Hoy, as follows: Hum Mooqua, Hum Jim, Hum Foo, Hum Wong, Hum Shu, all of Peterborough and Lee Ding of Fort Erie.

Seven Municipalities Within Hydro Quotas

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—(CP).—Of eight southern municipalities for which figures are available, all but one managed to stay within their Hydro-Electric power quotas yesterday. Woodstock went over but Peterborough used exactly the amount of its quota.

Place	Quota	Consumption
Guelph	149,000	144,000
Kitchener	381,500	379,000
Owen Sound	85,000	84,7
Peterborough	240,000	240,000
Niagara Falls	141,000	138,650
Stratford	100,200	100.128
Waterloo	83,500	81,000
Woodstock	99,035	101,760

(Toronto Hydro officials said today that "as a matter of policy" Toronto Hydro consumption figures would no longer be available for publication).

Forgot To Pay?

Chester S. Winsor, Wellington St., was sentenced to 10 days in jail by Magistrate Philp today when he was found guilty of stealing gasoline from the Ayotte Garage at Douro. The accused, who pleaded not guilty, told the court that he had "forgotten" to pay for the gas before he drove out.

Eye For Pulp Plant

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27 (CP).—The News-Herald says in a Victoria dispatch today the purpose of Lord Beaverbrook's visit to Western Canada is to pioneer the "establishment on this coast of a pulp and newsprint plant for the Bowater paper interests of London."

Costume Prizes To Be Given At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 27 — (ENS).—An annual event of great interest to the children of Campbellford takes place at Edgewater Park Pavilion on Saturday evening of this week, Oct. 30. This is the Kinsmen Club Hallowe'en shell-out party from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Mr. Ames will operate his bus from the downtown corners to provide free transportation to and from the pavilion. Every child from town and countryside will be welcomed.

Besides local youngsters, Warkworth school children are specially invited. Films will be shown after the judging. There will be prizes for three age groups instead of two as formerly. These will include awards for both fancy and comic costumes for children from 2 to 8, 8 to 12, and 'teen-agers. The boys and girls will be judged separately with prizes for each sex.

On Monday Kinsmen agreed to hold a turkey bingo early in December to provide Christmas cheer to needy families in the Campbellford and Warkworth areas.

Next Wednesday afternoon the members also plan a bee to install extra playground equipment at the schools.

NEW BRUNSWICK POTATOES, part of a record crop, jam a big waterfront shed at Saint John. These crates represent only a fraction of the quantity destined for export before spring. These spuds are headed for South America, Cuba, and South Africa.

Faithful Dobbin Winds Up In Food Can

By GRAHAM TROTTER.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 27 — (CP).—A tin can has become the final resting place for Old Dobbin in some parts of Canada.

No longer required in the machine age to carry the whole weight of man's burden, the horse is winding up on some Canadian grocery shelves.

But the words "horse meat" evoke a divergence of opinion among Canadian shoppers. There are those who maintain that it should be made available to consumers, especially when beef is in short supply. Buffalo, deer, bear and many other animals have been slaughtered to grace dinner tables. Why not horse meat, they ask.

But many persons share the opinion of Sally Warnock, secretary-director of Winnipeg's Humane Society. she says:

Poor Little Horse

"It seems a shame that the old horse, that faithful friend who helps man in making a livelihood, should be butchered and eaten just when prices rise and things begin to get tough Why should people eat the poor little horse?

"I would rather have no fresh meat at all than eat horse meat."

Leading exponent of the sale of horse meat for human consumption in this area is Martin Sorensen, a butcher of Danish origin.

"All this fuss about eating horse meat is ridiculous," he says. "It is eaten in Britain, France, and Denmark, and these are all fine civilized people."

Sorensen is largely responsible for passage of a by-law in adjoining St. Boniface, Man., legalizing the sale of horse meat. But he can't locate premises for a shop where he plans to deal exclusively in the sale of horse meat.

Halt Train Service

BELGRADE, Oct. 27 (AP). — Yugoslavia stopped local passenger train service Tuesday from Serbia and Vojvodnia to the Romanian and Bulgarian borders. Limited service will be resumed after three days, the announcement said. No explanation was offered for the rail curtailment.

History of Cheese Making Delights Campbellford Club

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 27. — (ENS).—An address which outlined the historical and present development of the cheese industry was heard by the Rotary Club this week. Guest speaker was Grant Anderson, owner of the Trent Valley chee and butter factory of Campbellford.

"Cheese is one of the oldest prepared foods in the history of mankind," he said. "The art of cheese-making dates back thousands of years. An Arab put goat's milk in a canteen made from the dried stomach of a sheep and was surprised when he went to drink it that the milk had turned to whey and curds. The rennet in the sheep's stomach had curdled the milk—and the result was cheese," Mr. Anderson explained.

"Yet today, we make cheese in exactly the same by—by curdling the milk with rennet prepared from the fourth lining of a calf's stomach."

There are over 400 varieties of cheese. The cheddar cheese which we make in our factories is named after the old English village of Cheddar, near Bristol. The first cheddar cheese was made in America in 1851 and the first cheese factory to be established in Canada was in Oxford county in 1864. In 1875 the first creamery in Canada was built at Teeswater, Ont.

"In 1901 Canada reached the peak in the production of cheese. That year from 2,389 cheese factories Canada produced 221,000,000 pounds. By 1947 this large output decreased to 55,000,000 pounds. This sharp decline has been brought about by more milk being diverted to butter and ice cream making.

"The Trent Valley cheese factory reached its highest peak," he said, "in 1943 when it produced 500,000 pounds. In 1893 Canadian cheese won all prizes at the world's fair in Chicago. Seymour township produces more cheese per year than any other township in Canada."

The speaker concluded by giving an interesting account of cheese manufacturing. He said that good milk is the first requisite in making good cheese. The milk is run into large vats and after reaching the proper acidity rennet is added to thicken it. The thick milk is cut into small cubes by special knives and the cubes are cooked in the whey for at least two and a half hours. Then the curds are separated from the whey. The curds are packed in the vat and the whey is run through a special cream separator. The cream from the separated whey is churned into butter. When the curds are properly shrunk salt is added and later they are put into moulds and pressed.

Mr. Anderson was introduced by Rotarian L. T. Diamond.

Club Suspends Skier For Carelessness

COBOURG, Oct. 27 — (ENS). — In keeping with its "safety first" program, the Northumberland Forest Ski Club has voted to suspend from membership a youth who had ignored warnings of the club to ski more safely. The youth was told to avoid the small jump right in front of the chalet but disobeyed instructions and collided with the corner of the chalet, last winter.

Feeling of the committee, which considered his case, was that skiers should indulge in their sport under safety regulations in order to safeguard their own welfare as well as that of other members of the club. The suspension will be in effect until Feb. 1, 1949.

Cream Producers Meet Thursday

COBOURG, Oct. 27 — (ENS) — Production costs of dairymen will be reviewed at the annual meeting of the Northumberland Cream Producers scheduled for Thursday night at the agricultural office in Brighton. It is pointed out by the county agricultural representative, Ralph Banbury, that while butter prices have been considerably increased, so have production costs and close figuring is necessary for the average cream farmer to approach the income of casual labourers such as in building and road construction.

"One thing the organization has learned is that the allied groups are well organized and that processors, distributors and consumer groups give much more time than producers to the subject and are in general understanding and agreement. The extent of feeling among consumer groups that food should be cheap is widespread and it would appear that little is done to show the value in relationship between the present price per pound of butter and the high income of wage earners. It should be the duty of every cream producer to know his business and to see that its officers present it fairly to all concerned. An instance is reported of a young man getting $9.00 a day on a construction job. At the good production of 300 pounds of butter fat per cow, a farmer with ten cows could only average $6.00 gross per day, and the investment in farm, cows, food and equipment is considerable," Mr. Banbury said.

31 Take Course In Food Preparation

ROSENEATH, Oct. 27—(ENS) —A short course, "Your Money's Worth in Food," was held Monday and Tuesday in the Town Hall, sponsored by the local WI branch, with Miss Margaret Myers from WI department as demonstrator, and open to all women in the community.

On Monday Miss Myers demonstrated and gave recipes on stuffed calf's heart, scalloped beets and half-hour pudding.

On Tuesday it was soy bean casserole, sausage patties, cabbage, apple and raisin salad, and orange almond pudding.

Miss Myers also spoke on Canada's food rules and meal planning, and congratulated the Alnwick Red Cross Society which for three years had supplied cod liver oil capsules for every pupil in all schools in Alnwick township.

The short course was considered a great success, and 31 attended.

Wentworth Farmers To Make Inspection

COBOURG, Oct. 27— (ENS) — Junior farmers from the county of Wentworth will visit Northumberland County on Saturday and the visitors will include those who won competitions of Wentworth County during the year. They will be accompanied by agricultural representative, W. G. Marritt. While in Brighton the young farmers will inspect the co-op apple storage warehouse at Brighton and also the dehydration plant in the village, where various vegetables are processed. They will be welcomed by Ralph Banbury, Northumberland County agricultural representative and junior farmers of the county.

Seymour Woman Hurt In Crash

CAMPBELLFORD, Oct. 27 — (ENS).—Mrs. Craig Nelson of Seymour East suffered a severe knee injury Tueusday when the car she was driving was in collision with a truck driven by G. M. Kellogg of Campbellford. The accident occurred at an intersection about five miles east of town.

Mrs. Nelson's mother was thrown against the front door glass, receiving minor injuries to the head. The truck driver was uninjured. Both vehicles were badly damaged. Provincial Constable Arthur Kellogg of Hastings investigated.

Cobourg Regiment Holds Open House

COBOURG, Oct. 27 — (ENS)— "Open House" was held by the 33rd Regiment, RCA, at the Armories Tuesday night when about 100 visitors came to see the men in action. Weapons and equipment used by the gunners, signals and technical branches of the artillery regiment were on display and the public were instructed in their use. Actual training methods of the unit were seen by the visitors. Later a social hour was spent in the various messes where lunch was served. Brigadier G. Walsh, C.B.E., D.S.O., commander of the Eastern Area, was present. The evening was in charge of Col. Gordon King, commanding officer of the 33rd regiment.

Sterope Takes Cambridgeshire

NEWMARKET, Eng., Oct. 27— (CP).—The Cambridgeshire Handicap, second leg of Britain's autumn double, was won by Sterope today. Royal Tara was second.

The nine-furlong race, one of the biggest gambling events of the British turf, drew 32 runners and the finish was so driving that after a study of photographs it was announced that third place was a dead heat between Patchouly and Impeccable.

Just before the big race started it was announced that Brink, a long shot, had been withdrawn because his rider, Jack Carson, disclosed he had been given a sweepstakes ticket which stood to earn him £10,000 if Wisley, a rival horse, won.

Stewards of the Jockey Club talked to Carson shortly before the start of the racing, and later the Duke of Norfolk, the senior steward, said "We informed Carson that in the circumstances we would not allow him to ride Brink."

Sunday School Marks Church's Anniversary

BETHANY, Oct. 27 — (ENS). — In observance of the 48th anniversary of the building of the present United Church, a special Sunday School service was also held in the afternoon with a large attendance. The Superintendent, Allan Beer welcomed the visitors and introduced Rev. E. A. Eustace of Orono, guest minister of the day who spoke on the subject "Be Ye Kind to One Another." Karl Monk of Peterborough also spoke briefly to the school and gave a solo.

Car Damaged By Fire

COBOURG, Oct. 27 — (ENS)— Firemen were called out to the base line road Tuesday night to extinguish a fire which badly damaged a car owned by Douglas Hilliard of Cobourg. The blaze was caused by a short circuit. The brigade in the early evening also had a call to a cleaning establishment to put out a roof fire. The roof around the chimney ignited when the bricks became overheated. Damage was slight.

2 Women Try To Halt Probation Of Will

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Oct. 27— (CP).—Miss Mary Bailey of Colborne, Ont., and Miss Josephine McCoy of Lindhurst, NJ, Tuesday moved to prevent probating of the will of the late Col. Patrick A. Powers, who died earlier this year.

The two women asked the Connecticut Superior Court to prevent the Westport (Conn.) Probate Court from probating the will, allegedly drawn by Col. Powers in March, 1946.

They claimed to be legatees under a will executed by him in Los Angeles in February, 1948, which now is being probated in New York.

Col. Powers was a former motion picture executive.

Plan Nov. 11 Banquet

BAILIEBORO, Oct. 27—(ENS) —Bailieboro Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Howard Fair. Plans were discussed for the banquet on Nov. 11.

Readings were given by Mrs. John Gainor and Mrs. Harry Gainor and Mrs. James Johnston led in a contest. The November meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Douglas Fisher.

A FIGURE in international social circles is youthful Marquess of Milford Haven, David Michael Mountbatten of London, pictured in New York. He served as best man at the wedding of Princess Elizabeth of England and Prince Philip. His name has been linked romantically with that of Elizabeth's younger sister, Princess Margaret Rose, and he has been frequently seen squiring charming Sharman Douglas, daughter of the U.S. ambassador in London. The Marquess is in the United States on a business trip.

CHRISTMAS CAKES: "When preparing fruits for Christmas cake, which fruits need washing? If I make the cake this month, how can I store it?"
For fruit cakes, raisins should be soaked in skim milk, then dried. This plumps them so that they do not sink in the batter. Similarly, currants should be soaked in warm water. No other fruits need washing or soaking. Cakes may be stored in tin box or crock.
FURNITURE MARKS: "What will take marks from a table made by leaving hot dishes on it?"

Advertising In Our Schools

We are surprised to find that school officials in Peterborough have relaxed the long-standing rule against distributing advertising matter to schoolchildren, and that in several classes pencils and book-covers have been given out, advertising Coca Cola. We would like to know if this is the result of a new policy on the part of the School Board, and if it is, how far is the new policy going to go?

* * *

It may be said that pencils and covers advertising a soft drink are harmless. If that is the argument, is the School Board prepared to permit the distribution of useful school supplies advertising cigarettes? Will the School Board accept a gift from this newspaper of book covers bearing the words, "Use Examiner Want Ads For Quick Results"? All school children need rulers; will the School Board accept free rulers advertising any of the local stores? And if the School Board is really trying to save money by accepting gifts, we are sure that any of the breweries would be happy to supply textbooks, bearing no more than the donor's name. Shall we suggest this to the proper people?

* * *

The rule against giving advertising materials to children through the schools was a wise one. The public may fittingly object to the distribution of such gifts by teachers whom they pay to teach, and not to serve as advertising agents. And many parents will not wish their children to be indoctrinated at an early age with a prejudice in favour of a soft drink or anything else; that is not a type of education which the Board is elected to further.

* * *

If school authorities think that they can accept advertising material from some manufacturers and not from others they are heading for a great deal of trouble. The rule against the distribution of advertising matter in schools was a wise one, and we feel that the best plan would be to recall the Coca Cola gifts at once, and to make sure that no others are accepted. We cannot imagine how such an indiscretion came about in the first place.

The Palestine Partition

We commented on Monday about the aggressive tactics of the Jews in Palestine. Lest they cannot get what they want by persuasion and political manoeuvring at U.N. and in New York, they are taking the territory by force of arms. What territory do they want? Their minimum demand is for all these segments of Palestine which were provisionally allotted to the Jews by the original partition plan accepted by the U.N. Assembly (after strong American support) on the very last day of the 1947 session.

Count Bernadotte studied the situation during his several months as U.N. mediator in Palestine and on the same day on which he was murdered U.N. received his report advising a re-drafting of the boundaries between Jewish and Arabian Palestine. The Bernadotte plan, revised, is now before the Assembly. By it, the state of Israel would be reduced in size. It would include none of the Negev desert which the Jews want because it would give them a large area for settlement after irrigation and soil conservation projects were undertaken. (Under Arab rule nothing of this sort is likely to be attempted.) The Negev, which is the southern third of Palestine, is thought to contain both oil and thorium. Hence the Jews have been on the offensive in the Negev and have laid hands on the Arab centre of Beersheba.

In partial compensation for the loss of the Negev (where the Jews have now half a dozen settlements), western Galilee in the north of Palestine would be given to the Jews. The revised Bernadotte scheme is geographically and politically saner than the original partition plan. However, its acceptance by U.N. would mean territorial loss to Israel, if the Jews abode by the decision.

The Jews have been actively campaigning against any such settlement, not only on battlefields but in Washington. There, and not at U.N., the political battle is being waged. The New York Times recently carried a half-page advertisement sponsored by the "American Zionist Emergency Council". It is an open letter to Mr. Truman, asking him "Where do you stand?" This is election years in the U.S. The Jewish vote is important. Presidential candidates will be reluctant to ignore American Jewish demands to support the original partition plan. The voice of America at U.N. is the most powerful. What hope have the Arabs of fair treatment when both the military and the political situations are weighted against them?

The Saga Of Miss Summersby

We have often thought that there was great merit in Bernard Shaw's suggestion that anyone who writes a book should serve a jail sentence before receiving any royalties; such a rule would stop much of the foolish writing which goes on at present. There are times when we wonder if there was anyone in the American forces in the last war who does not intend to set down his or her experiences in a book.

The latest of these eager amateur writers is Miss Kay Summersby. This young woman is an Irish-born WAC, now an American citizen, who served as driver and typist for General Eisenhower for three and a half years. Her book is called Eisenhower Was My Boss. She thinks highly of the General and asserts flatly that "America needs him as president in the world today". She records less flattering opinions of other commanders. General Montgomery was not all that he should have been; among other heinous sins, he would not permit Miss Summersby to drive General Ike within his domain, insisting that a male British driver take over the job. Other British officials were equally slighting to Miss Summersby. When General Ike introduced her to King George "the King smiled briefly in dismissal, then moved on into the house, leaving behind a very frustrated British subject". But you can't do that to Kay Summersby; she is an American citizen now, and we presume that she is given the run of the White House.

Miss Summersby, if we may judge by her pictures, is a very pretty girl. Perhaps, like many pretty girls, she exaggerates her own importance, and cannot conceive of a situation in which men might be too busy or too preoccupied to pay attention to her. But we can.

The Death Of Franz Lehar

In 1905, In Vienna, an operetta was performed for the first time which seemed to sum up the gaiety and grace of the Europe of that day, and which quickly swept the western world. It was The Merry Widow (Die Lustige Witwe, in the original) and its composer was Franz Lehar, who was 35 years old at that time. He died last week. His charming operetta lives beyond him, and it is likely that it is good for a few revivals still.

Operatta is a musical form which has found no skilled practitioners in our world. Revues, and rowdy pieces called 'musical comedies' we have had in plenty, but an operetta is a different thing. It demands a composer not too far below true operatic level, and its performance requires singers who have more than personality and pretty legs. It appears to have been rooted in the pleasant life of the monied people of Europe as it was before the First Great War. Operetta was always about rich people; the poor appeared in it only as comic characters. Nowadays, of course, Europe has very few rich people, and Vienna is a very sad city indeed. The temper of our time is such that poor people are not permitted to be comic on the stage or anywhere else; the butts of our modern humour are likely to be the rich. And our musical comedies are nervous, noisy, tuneless affairs, in which lavish settings and loud shouting try to distract our attention from the fact that the music is tawdry and the singers have no voices. It may be a long time before we have another Lehar, or a society in which such a man could work.

Give A Dog A Bad Name

Hydro is in the dog-house. Despite the dogged appeals of Mr. Saunders, the Commission's Chairman, to give Hydro a dog's chance to recoup (he even appeals to our patriotism), the people will not lie doggo. They continue to bark, growl, and snarl so that Mr. Saunders must be leading a dog's life. In fairness to Mr. Saunders it should be said that he did not take up the doggone business until the power situation had already gone to the dogs. In the short view, the Hydro Commission is not entirely to blame—the dog-days of summer were so dry that water-power was insufficient. Now that we are at bay—for the shortage is very real and all of us must save power—there is little use in whining. We must bare our fangs and grin it out.

CANADIAN CAUSERIE

Canadian Theatre Finds Wings

By GEOFFREY VIVIEN

SLOWLY and rather painfully, like a butterfly coming out of its chrysalis, the Canadian Theatre is coming to birth. There are Les Compagnons of Montreal with their co-ordinated and polished artistry; the hard-working Stage Society of Ottawa, proving that repertory can take root in a medium-sized Canadian city; the versatile and thoughtful playwriting of Robertson Davies; the informed theatre criticism of Herbert Whittaker; the sustained enthusiasm of the "Little" theatres; and of course Canada's own theatre "angel", the resourceful Brian Doherty. Yes, there's a flash of wings in the air. A great time to be alive!

◇ ◇ ◇

YET there are still people who ask: what is the value of a theatre? I think this disturbing remark of America's greatest living dramatist, Eugene O'Neill, shows the answer: We talk about the American Dream and want to tell the world about the American Dream, but what is that dream in most cases but the dream of material things. I sometimes think that the United States, for this reason, is the greatest failure the world have ever seen.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE value of a Theatre lies in its power to lift a people's way of thinking about themselves and about life. It takes the plain citizen out of the world of things into the world of ideas. It puts him in touch with the larger realities of which he is a part—the national heritage, the human race, the past, the present and the future. And it is a tremendous source of strength in times of trouble. Would the English spirit have survived the storms and disasters of the last forty years without the inspiration of the Elizabethan period and of Shakespeare, its chief glory?

◇ ◇ ◇

THE second half of this century should see either the extinction of civilization or something like a second Renaissance. Let us put aside our habitual pessimism and assume the latter. What part will Canada play? Well, it will be a minor one if she has no Theatre; for a Renaissance is the result of a happy concentration of wealth, adventurousness and culture, and somehow the Theatre seems to be the favourite spot for these three to foregather. On this basis America ought, of course, to have had a Renaissance long ago. She has had the wealth; she has had the adventurousness—it is part of the "American Dream". But if Eugene O'Neill's estimate is a true one and the Dream has really degenerated into a glorified scramble for money then it is understandable that cultural values have had difficulty making themselves felt.

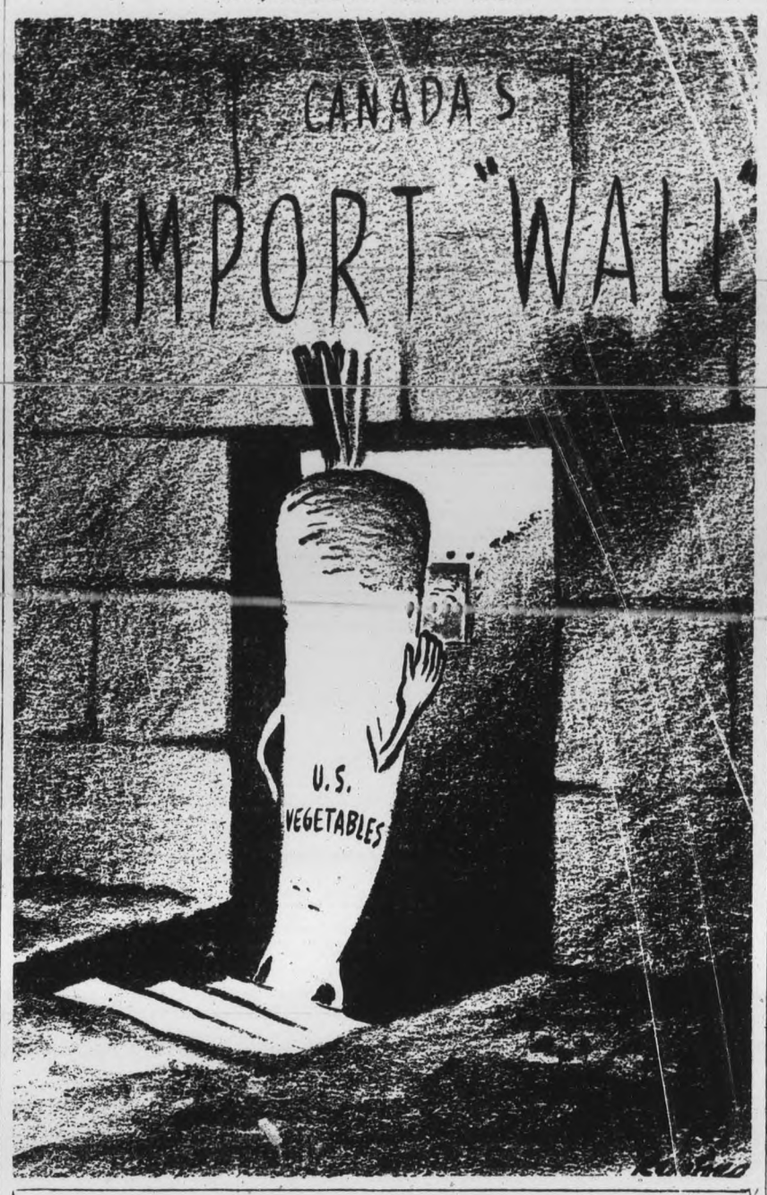
◇ ◇ ◇

IT is not only O'Neill, the writer of tragedies, who takes the gloomy view. Their greatest humourist, Mark Twain, is full of it too, and he if any man was the embodiment of the American Dream; one sees that well in the passage in which Paine describes the great writer's visit to Rideau Hall in 1883 to be the guest of the Governor General, the Marquis of Lorne and his wife Princess Louise: "It is a good deal like a fairy-tale... the bare-footed boy of Hannibal who had become a printer, a pilot, a rough-handed miner, being summoned to Royalty as one of America's foremost men of letters". (To which passage Stephen Leacock adds with a sly smile "It takes an American democrat to see these things in the proper light".) Yet Mark Twain's later writings are full of morose outbursts such as this: "Jay Gould was the mightiest disaster which has ever befallen this country. The people had desired money before his day, but he taught them to fall down and worship it." Another disenchanted voice is that of the great novelist Willa Cather; in one of her last stories she has a study of that typical American character, the successful business man, and observes sadly "he had got ahead wonderfully.... but somehow on the wrong road."

◇ ◇ ◇

WE ought not therefore to be depressed at the discrepancy between the rewards which a Canada theatre can offer and those of Broadway. Big money is certainly no guarantee of great theatre, and it sets at least as many problems as it solves. This is especially true today with costs so high ($50,000 to $60,000 for an ordinary one-set comedy, with the necessity of making $15,000 gross business weekly to get by) that the presentation of a play is an affair for the big-time gambler rather than for the man with the theatre in his blood and ideas in his head. It is bonanza or bust and cultural values to the back seat: if your play fails to hit the jackpot—drop it quick before you lose any more money. The author can go and drown himself; no room here for the setbacks which are an important part of every creative writer's development (Eugene O'Neill had his early share of failures—"Gold", "Diff'rent", "The Straw", and "The First Man" among them). If on the other hand your play goes over big—then drive it for all it's worth. What's that—monster runs make mechanical actors? Well, that's their affair.... It is only the artist of exceptional integrity who will break off in the middle of a big season, as Miss Cornell did after the first year of "The Barrett's of Wimpole Street" in order to keep the edge of her art sharp and bright.

◇ ◇ ◇



BY and large then we can be soberly cheerful about the future of our Canadian theatre. There is not enough money around it for Mammon to come lumbering in with his confusion of values and lavish bad taste. On the other hand there is enough talent, enthusiasm and incipient achievement for the plain theatre-lover to have good hope. We have watched the wings unfold and stretch in spasmodic, tentative effort. Now for flight!

Mrs. Henpeck: "Everything is going up."

Mr. Henpeck: "Oh, I wouldn't say that. For instance, there's your opinion of me, my opinion of you, and the neighbours' opinion of us both."

"PSST, ABBOTT SENT ME!"

New Edition Of The Bible

(NEW YORK TIMES)

A NEW edition of the King James version of the Bible, designed to be read and understood easily, was published October 7, the Oxford University Press has announced. At a luncheon Dr. E. Schuyler English, editor in chief of the work, described special features that make the volume specially suitable for young persons.

"We cannot fully appreciate or get the best out of Shakespeare, Beethoven or Rembrandt unless we are prepared to sit down and do some hard studying", Geoffrey Cumberledge, manager of the Oxford University Press in England, commented. "Yet many feel that just to open and read the Bible is to understand it. This is not so."

To make the new edition understandable and interesting, 7,300 footnotes within its 1,760 pages will help to simplify difficult passages, define odd words, clarify archaic phrases and explain doctrine.

Diagrams will show Solomon's Temple and Palace, the location of the courts and porches, the holy place and the Holy of Holies. Line drawings will illustrate the Ark of the Covenant, the golden altar of incense and the table of shewbread. Nine of the ten maps included will be brightened with sketches of events described in each section.

WORK on the new book, called the Pilgrim Edition, was started more than ten years ago. Co-operating was a staff of thirty-six consulting and contributing editors — religious workers in colleges and schools, instructors and evangelists, pastors and Sunday school teachers, parents and young persons. A special group of Bible scholars checked the doctrinal accuracy of the notes.

Originally intended for children, the scope of the edition gradually was enlarged to meet the requirements of older groups and parents and teachers needing aid in clarifying Bible text and history.

An introduction to each book of the Bible explains the authorship, history and purpose, and in many cases gives an outline of the book. An introductory chapter gives the history of various versions of the Bible. Another chapter traces Israel's history in the 400 years that elapsed between the Old and New Testaments.

◇ ◇ ◇

GROWING interest in the Bible among young people was cited by Dr. English. He said the Pilgrim Edition was planned to meet their needs. Their interest in music, astronomy, science and animal life is catered to with explanations and descriptions of Old World items.

The foot notes range from definition of a single word to complete rewordings of sentences or whole passages. For the reader who is stopped by the term "habergeon" a note reads: "This was a coat of mail, like armour, for covering from the neck to the waist. It had a small, round neck hole. The robe of the ephod was the same shape as a habergeon."

There is help also for a person confused by a proverb. "As a thorn goeth up into the hand of a drunkard, so is a parable in the mouth of fools" is interpreted: "A thorn has a point as does a parable, but a drunkard cannot feel the thorn and the fool does not understand the parable."

INEXPENSIVE

An exasperated Hollywood producer was describing his holidays at Palm Springs.

"Did I have trouble with my wife!" he complained. "She's the type of person who's never satisfied. She had to go to a hotel that charges a hundred dollars a day. The next afternoon she had to go out riding. So what does she do but fall off the horse and get knocked unconscious. I called a doctor, and he said she would be unconscious for ten weeks."

"Unconscious for ten weeks?" exclaimed his listener. "What on earth did you do?"

"Moved to a cheaper hotel."

How Time Flies

OCTOBER 27

1918 The Oriental Hotel is converted into a temporary hospital for flu victims.

Half a dozen young men are fined $2 each here for failing to carry their military papers.

Pte. Thomas H. Skinner is officially reported as having been wounded in France.

1928 C. J. Beauclerc leaves The Examiner to become telegraph editor of the Owen Sound Times.

Major and Mrs. H. Ritchie of the Toronto Salvation Army are conducting a series of meetings here.

John Sedgewick is re-elected president of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club.

1938 The Rev. T. H. Floyd of Campbellford and the Rev. T. S. Gault of St. George's Church here will exchange pulpits shortly.

Frank Boucher's farm house a mile south of Clear Lake burns to the ground.

Marjorie Lawrence of the Metropolitan Opera arrives here unannounced a day before she is scheduled to sing.

A Bible Message

The burden of Babylon, which Isaiah the son of Amoz did see.... I have commanded my sanctified ones, I have also called my mighty ones for mine anger, even them that rejoice in my highness.

The noise of a multitude in the mountains, like as of a great people; a tumultuous noise of the kingdoms of nations gathered together: the Lord of hosts musstereth the host of the battle. They come from a far country, from the end of heaven, even the Lord, and the weapons of his indignation, to destroy the whole land....

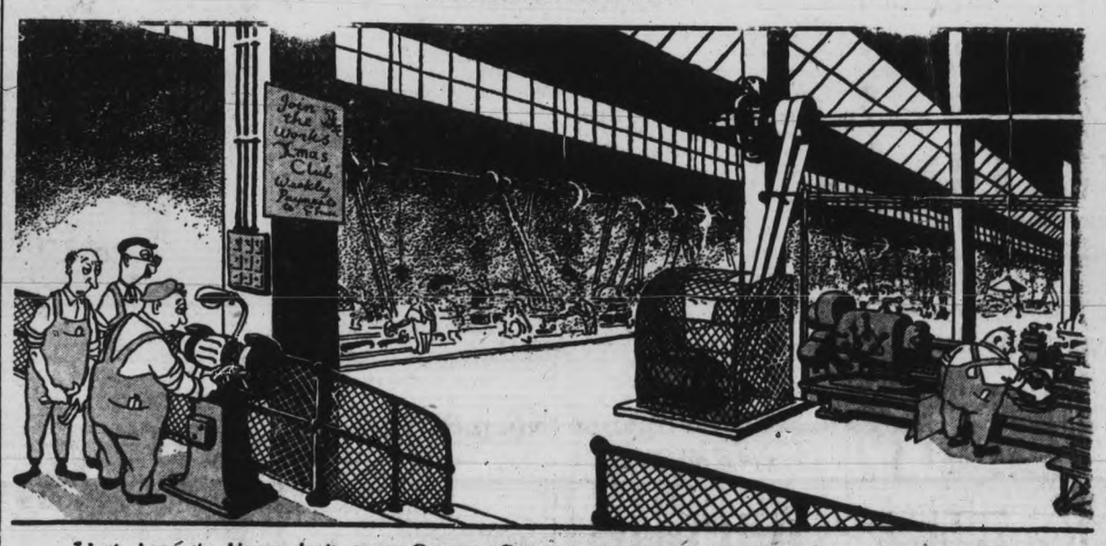
And I will punish the world for their evil, and the wicked for their iniquity; and I will cause the arrogancy of the proud to cease, and will lay low the haughtiness of the terrible. I will make a man more precious than fine gold; even a man than the golden wedge of Ophir.

Therefore I will shake the heavens, and the earth shall remove out of her place, in the wrath of the Lord of hosts, and in the day of his fierce anger.... And Babylon, the glory of the kingdoms, the beauty of the Chaldees' excellency, shall be as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah. (Isa. 13: 1, 3-5, 11-13, 19.)

Progaing

I notice that in the Air Ministry every room is provided with candles and matches for use in emergency.

Posterity will never forgive us if we let Mr. Churchill the minute-writer be squeezed into a dark corner by Mr. Churchill the statesman and historian. At the end of "The Gathering Storm" he has collected a bunch of his minutes and memoranda written nine years ago at the Admiralty; there must be hundreds more in other whitehall files. The tone is courteous but firm. "Will you kindly explain to me" or "Pray let me know" are favourite starts or endings, followed sometimes by "in forty-eight hours." The receipt of one of these notes would cause considerable expense of energy all the way down the proper channels. That was part of the intention. The subject might be naval construction, or dockyard workers, or the defence of the Bosphorus—or backgammon:



Backgammon would be a good game for Wardroom, Gunroom and Warrant Officers' Mess, and I have no doubt it would amuse the sailors. What happened to the £1,000 Lord Rothermere gave me for various kinds of amusements? Is it all expended, and how? Backgammon is a better game than cards for the circumstances of war-time afloat.

The replies from the Second and Fourth Sea Lords are not given. This note of human feeling often recurs. Did the crew of Ursula receive their medals before putting to sea again? Why have the men on minesweepers no badge? Something would catch Mr. Churchill's eye, a minute would be dictated, a prod delivered. The choice of candidates for the Royal Naval College at Dartmouth came under scrutiny. Off went a minute, and back came the reply with an incautious reference to "going behind the opinion of a board duly constituted." What did the First Lord care for boards "if I think injustice has been done"?

How long is it since this board was remodelled? Who are the naval representatives? Let me have a list of the whole board—with the full records of each member and the date of his appointment.

Infuriating, interfering—and yet who could help loving the warmth of the man?—Manchester Guardian.

In Clear To Make Game's Tying Touchdown High School Player Gets Broken Collarbone

GERALD MELVILLE

HAVELOCK, Oct. 27—(ENS)—Gerald Melville of Havelock, student of Campbellford high school and a member of the Campbellford rugby team, was painfully injured at Brighton on Friday in the Brighton-Campbellford rugby game.

He suffered a broken collar bone on the right side and was taken to Belleville hospital for treatment. His condition is reported as favorable. He was halfback for the Campbellford team and it was in the last play of the game that the injury was received. He started an end run to right and out in the clear away for a touchdown that would have tied the score. A Brighton player made a leap in the air and tackled him, knocking him out of bounds at the 10 yard line.

Previous to his accident he had scored the only touchdown and was considered the star player of the game. The game resulted in a score of 12-6 in favor of Brighton.

Police Scare Off Safe Crackers

WINDSOR, Oct. 27 — (CP) — An attempted safe cracking was interrupted today when Sergeant Dan Bordeau of the Windsor police arrived on the scene. Two would-be safe crackers made good their escape despite three shots fired at them.

The two men had gained entrance to the Peerless Dairy Bar and were working at the safe when the sergeant caught sight of them through a plate glass window.

A check of the premises showed that the heavy safe had been pulled a foot away from the wall preparatory to turning it over on its back. No damage was done to the safe and nothing was reported stolen.

Entertain At Bridge

TRENT RIVER, Oct. 27—(ENS)—Mrs. Harry Mann entertained at a "supper-bridge" on Thursday night. Mrs. James Cook won high score prize and Mrs. Francis Ruttan won the consolation. The guests were Mrs. George Brooks, Mrs. Ross Pollock, Mrs. James Cook, Mrs. Charles Dufour, Miss Rosie Puttan, Miss "Ducky" Dufour and Mrs. Eric Little.

Choir Makes Gift

MARMORA, Oct. 27—(ENS)—Following the weekly choir practice at St. Paul's on Friday evening, members of the choir went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Lavender to present a member, Mrs. Maxwell Moran (nee Sara Higginson) with an electric table lamp and a coffee percolator in honor of her recent wedding. Reply was made by Mrs. Moran and her husband. The social hour was featured with a contest and a sing song.

Population Up One

STROMNESS, Ont., Oct. 27.—(CP).—One of the smallest townships in Ontario, Sherbrooke township lying at the mouth of the Grand river, has had a net population increase of one in the last 80 years. Its population in 1878 was 276, today it is 277. With an area less than one-eighth the size of the city of Toronto, it originally was part of the Crown Lands granted the Six Nations Indians after the American revolution.

This from the St. Louis Sporting News: "The Border League drew a total of 392,346 during the 1948 season, an increase of 3,694. Ottawa topped all other teams with a total of 76,299, which was 13,692 greater than last year. Geneva Red Birds were second with 66,149, compared with 57,318 in 1947. Watertown had 65,590 paying customers, an increase of 11,710. The three other clubs showed slight decreases. Ogdensburg drew 60,116; Auburn had 43,102; and Kingston 40,656. The annual meeting will be held at the Hotel McConville, Ogdensburg, Oct. 31. Officers will be elected and expansion to eight clubs for next season discussed. Plattsburg and Massena, N.Y., Belleville, Ont., and cities in Quebec are considered as possible entrants." No mention made of Peterborough.

Local OHA clubs are bestirring themselves these autumn days as the rink is being built. The Petes are by no means idle as they line up players and plan early practices on artificial ice. Legion hockeyists hope to be drilling on Lindsay ice the week-end of Nov. 6 and maybe later in Belleville. Prospective players of this club are asked to attend a meeting in Legion Hall at eight Friday night to discuss various angles of organization. And the junior "B" Oddfellows have a meeting of all prospective players in their hall tonight at 7.30. It won't be long till there's something fairly definite on the lineups of these OHA clubs.

Came A Long Way

The Panthers have come a long way since their luckless ORFU intermediate season of a year ago. And their first two false starts this football season. They finaly got rolling to take four straight and make group playoffs, just one game back of the leading Orillia Bombers, whom they now meet in home-and-home games for the title. First one is here Saturday at 2.30 in the Oval. A lot of time, trouble and money went into this squad, with plenty of injuries and financial setbacks but they appear to be going places now. The players deserve a lot of credit for sticking it out without squawking and we hope they pick up all the marbles.

Ditto with the capable executive. Honorary officers are Hugh Campbell, Gordon Matthews and Donald McGillis. President is Harry Yudin, with Dave Wilson and Stan McBride vice-prexies. Bob McElroy is secretary, and Joe Cooke treasurer. In charge of equipment is Jerry Donoghue, aided by Weldon Fanning and Jim Marshall. Dick Ouimet is manager with Doug Delaney co-manager, while Spike Matthews has the captaincy, Gord Beatty being co-captain. Gord Young, of course, coaches, with Stan McBride trainer, aided by Bill Shadgett. Club doctors are Drs. Aitken, Chenoweth and Howes. Trust we haven't missed any of the Panthers' officials.

Frankie The Flip

Speaking of Hamilton Tigers' 18-1 football win last week-end o'er the Imperials, the Sarnia scrivener said: "Filchock wasn't as brilliant as he usually is, although it is significant that he tossed two of the touchdown passes and scored the other himself when he intercepted a pass and ran 40 yards." We'd say a guy who accounted for 15 of the 18 points wasn't doing too badly, eh? The former pro passer is by far the best pigskin tosser in the country. A marked man in every game, he throws those deadly passes right into the arms of receivers, a floating pass light as a feather and right on the button. He is reported to be getting $7,000 a year in Hamilton for playing, besides a $3,000 a year job.

Some pretty fair pin tumbling this week in the Girls' Bowling League. L. Vincent had high three of 775, and Arcos the best best single game count, rolling 1135. Towne Togs continued to smack 'em over as they captured high three with 3013. E. Thompson up and clicked for 321 to sew up the individual single honors for the evening, as B. Castle won the blind score. A couple of dabs of whitewash but the rest of the competition was keen with the victors just yanking out 2-1 margins. Some good bowling seen weekly in this colleens' circuit.

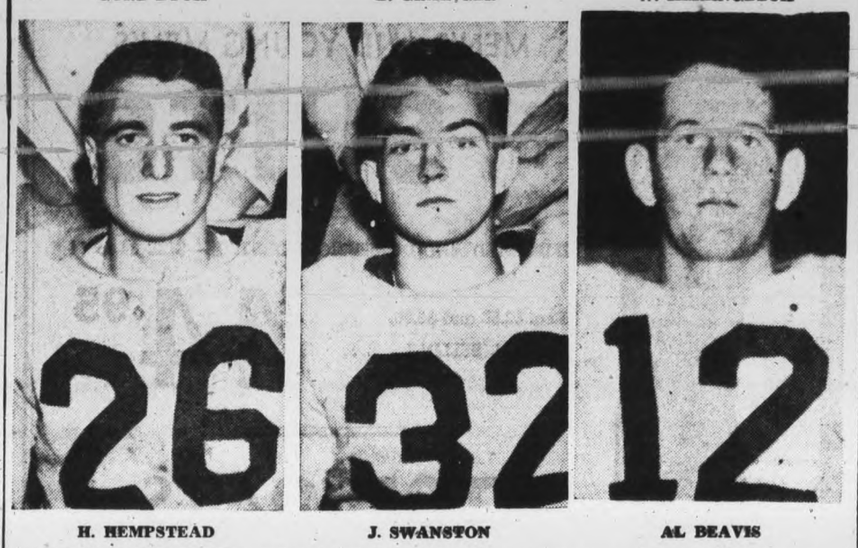
Big OASA Season



OASA bulletin number 10 to hand, listing the winners this year. Toronto teams took senior "A" and junior "A" honors, Soo squads won northern titles in intermediate "A" and "AA" as well as junior "A", while Oshawa clicked in the southern section for juvenile "A" and all-Ontario for intermediate "A". Other titles went to Sudbury, St. Kitts, Hamilton, Preston, Meaford, Thorold, Kirkland Lake and Selkirk. There were 411 Ontario playoff games, representing 1,893 teams, and the 1948 registration totalled 30,288 players. It was the most successful softball season yet, and the OASA anticipates a better one next year. The '49 annual meeting will be Good Friday in Oshawa.

PCVS FRONT WALL—Above is shown six of the sturdy front-wall gridders with this year's smart edition of the PCVS squad. These are some of the boys who have been shaking the back-field hordes free to roll up large counts in most of their games to date as the team leads its COSSA grouping. These players and the other linemen who replace them don't catch the spotlight but are most important cogs in a successful football machine. —Examiner Staff Photo

Leading Single Is Rolled By E. Thompson

E. Thompson of Arcos had high single of 321 while L. Vincent of Merry Macs banged in top triple of 775 to lead this week in the Girls' Bowling League individual efforts. Arcos had a count of 1135 and Towne Togs rolled a threesome of 3013 to show the way for teams, as B. Castle of Marines took the blind score with 715. Togs blanked Sevenaires 3-0 and Merry Macs whitewashed Hurricanes, as 2-1 scores were marked by Arcos over Dodgers, Commandos against Brintons, and Marines over Cardinals. Results:

Here and There in Sport

By The Canadian Press

The Quebec junior football champions will meet the Ontario junior Big Four winners in an eastern semi-final, sudden-death game here Nov. 6, it was announced Tuesday night at Montreal.

The Quebec junior championship will be decided here Saturday when Westmount and Notre Dame de Grace, both Montreal teams, meet in the final.

The junior Big Four champion will also be known by Saturday when St. Catharines, winners of one section, will clash with either Toronto Argos or Hamilton Wildcats who meet Thursday to decide the other section leadership.

Stratford Kroehlers of the Ontario Hockey Association junior A league were reported at Fort William Tuesday to have paid $3,500 for the services of Danny Lewicki, flashy forward with last year's Port Arthur West End Bruins, Dominion champions.

Ed Romano, preesident of the Fort William Columbus Club said the transfer had been completed. Lewicki, a member of last year's Columbus club, was loaned to Port Arthur during the playoffs after his team was eliminated.

Toronto Argonauts, Dominion football champions for the last three years, have only the faintest chance of making this season's playoff but they hope to get back on top in 1949 with another all-Canadian team. However, it is reported that an American line coach may be acquired next year to teach Argo lineman how to take best advantage of the 10-yard interference zone.

The British Columbia Amateur Swimming Association Tuesday threatened to sue the Canadian Olympic games committee unless that body returns about $300 sent it from Vancouver just before the Canadian swimming team left Canada for the recent Olympic games in London.

Percy Norman, coach of the 1936 Olympic swimming team, said the money was sent "under force" last summer as a last-minute support for the B.C. swimmers heading overseas. He said the committee now has a surplus of $20,000.

Johnny Neun, former major league first baseman and manager in both the majors and minors, returned to the New York Yankees today as a player contact man with the organization he served from 1932 through 1946. In announcing the rehiring of Neun, who has managed both the Yankees and the Cincinnati Reds, the New York club said he also would do some "personalized scouting" within the major league.

Teepees Blank Biltmores Marlboros Defeat Galt 3-1

By The Canadian Press

Temporarily minus the services of star forward Clare Shillington, sidelined with an injured knee, the league-leading Hamilton Tigers are losing ground in the Ontario Hockey Association senior race.

The Bengals, after making a four-for-four sweep since their appearance this season, have lost their last two games—and by decisive margins.

Their latest defeat came at the hands of Owen Sound Mercurys Tuesday night, by a 5-2 count. They lost to Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen last Saturday night 4-0.

In the Junior OHA games Tuesday night, Toronto Marlboros climbed out of cellar position by besting Galt Rockets 3-1, in Toronto.

Oshawa Generals edged out Toronto St. Michael's College 3-1 and the league-leading St. Catharines Teepees blanked Guelph Biltmores 3-0.

Play Tight Game

Hamilton played a tight game in the first two periods, allowing only one goal in the first two frames—that to Tommy Burlington. But after Bobby Laurent tallied for Tigers in the early minutes of the third stanza, the Bengals apparently fell apart.

Murray Fife and Doug Gillespie roared back for Mercurys and each counted once in one minute. Johnny Conick notched Tigers' other goal minutes later but Owen Sound pulled away with two more counters—Art Hayward and Fife taking the honors.

The win moved Mercurys into second place with six points — three points behind Tigers.

Nine Point Lead

St. Catharines fattened their nine-point lead when they bested Guelph. St. Kitts are five points ahead of the second place Windsor Spitfires, who have six.

Jack MacIntyre opened the scoring for Teepees in the first period on a three-way passing play with George Sullivan and Fred Hildebrand. Tom Buck notched the hosts second goal, on Sullivan's rebound minutes later.

Following a scoreless second period, Teepees carried the play, scoring their final goal when Billy Buschlin sunk a rebound.

Toronto Marlboros garnered their first win in four starts when they edged out Galt.

Speedy Howard Lee led Marlies with a two goal performance. The other Toronto sniper was George McLagen. Harold Hopper scored Galt's only marker.

Oshawa scored once in the first period, once in the second, and again in the third before the cellar-dwelling Irish answered.

Montgomery Assist

Husky defenceman Frank Sullivan opened the scoring when he went in on Irish netminder Tom Shea on a lone rush.

Ted O'Connor notched the second Oshawa goal on a picture play from Chapman and Sullivan in the early moments of the second period. Dick Gamble made it 3-0 on a pass from Montgomery at the 17-minute mark of the final frame.

Neil Concoran garnered the only St. Michael's goal with less than 30 seconds remaining in regulation play.

Only two games are slated in the OHA tonight. In the junior loop Guelph play host to St. Catharines, and in the senior circuit, Toronto Marlboros, seeking their first win in three tries, clash with Kitchener-Waterloo.

Cellar Clubs Get Going Over

By The Canadian Press

Undefeated after four games and each hotter than a four-alarm fire, Detroit Red Wings and Montreal Canadiens tackle near-the-cellar clubs in tonight's National Hockey League games.

With only one tie marring their near-perfect record, Detroit visits New York to play the Rangers, who have a solitary tie to brighten their dismal showing to date.

Canadiens, tied for second place with Poston one point behind Detroit, play the Maple Leafs in Toronto.

The United States presidential election campaign forced postponement of the scheduled Boston-Chicago clash at Chicago. It will be played tomorrow night.

Only a Detroit loss and a Montreal victory can produce any significant shift in league standings which have Red Wings, Canadiens and Bruins already bunched well ahead of thet trailing Leafs, Rangers and Black Hawks.

Canadiens, who scored an easy 5-0 win over Leafs in their first clash this year, expect a tougher fight on Toronto ice.

King George's Take Win To Make Final

After battling an hour and a half, King George won a decisive victory over Queen Mary junior soccer eleven 3-1 in the third period of overtime of 10-minutes each way after regulation time, Tuesday afternoon, at Central grounds. Winner now meets King Edward Thursday evening for the junior championship.

Both elevens were evenly balanced with heavy tactics prevailing. Schweier of Queen Mary went right through to find King George goalie saving his shot; while D. Ash proved a good pivot. He was brilliant in every movement and Wyllie missed his perfect pass with a skied ball. No scoring at regulation time. The first, second and third periods were full of thrills with players battling to get the lead.

Scored Twice

The fourth period opened up with new tactics coming into force as the team reverted to long punting right into goal where scrimmages ensued. Queen Mary opened the scoring through Schweier. D. Ash got the equalizer from the centre kick within a minute. Two minutes to go and Ash dribbled his way towards goal being covered by three opponents as he slipped the ball over to Wyllie who made no mistake with a hard drive. He enacted the same performance in the last minute to find the inside of the upright to make it read 3-1.

Queen Mary—B. Jackson, goal; R. Brady and A. Anderson, full backs; D. Brown, O. Schweier and B. Merrett, half backs; W. McIlwain, D. Houghton, T. Roberts, G. White and R. Dubay, forwards; subs, R. Graham, K. Beck, C. Ellis and D. Montgomery.

King George—M. Innes, goal; H. Pollard and P. McIlmoyle; full backs; D. Barclay, J. Ellis and B. Bell, half backs; B. Fafers, D. Baptie, D. Ash, R. Wyllie and D. Roote, forwards; subs, G. Harding, R. Lethangue.

Referee—Mr. Rutherford.

SHANNON II is shown setting new mark for the track, and equalling the world's record for the mile and a quarter (1.50 4-5) to win the Golden Gate Handicap at Golden Gate Fields at Albany, Calif. See-Tee-See follows Shannon to the wire with Stepfather third. This was the fifth victory in 17 starts in the U.S. for Shannon since his importation from Australia last fall. He won $61,000 in this event bringing his American "take" to $193,310.

St. Louis Flyers Down Washington By 7-2

By The Canadian Press

St. Louis Flyers, scoring five times in the final stanza, Tuesday night defeated Washington Lions 7-2 in an American Hockey league game while Hershey Bears defeated Springfield Indians 4-2.

Win Mousseau was the only bright note in the dismal evening for the Lions. Mousseau kept the Lions in the game for the first 40 minutes with two sparkling goals in the first period.

Steve Black tallied twice for the victors. Licari, Tustin, Trigg, Mariucci and Gladu shared scoring honors when the Flyers unleased their third-period attack.

Zellio Toppazzini put Hershey ahead with a fast goal in the opening minute of the first session but Billy Gooden, a former Hershey player, evened the count for Springfield before the end of the period.

The Bears again took the lead in the second period when Norm Larson scored from the face-off.

In the final 20 minutes Herb Cain and Ross Lowe collected a pair of goals for the Bears. The Indians launched a late rally and a hard drivng attack netted a marker when Armand Lemieux scored from the face-off.

Pick Bill Meyer Manager Of Year

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP). — William Adam (Bill) Meyer today was voted the "manager of the year" in a poll conducted by The Associated Press among United States baseball writers.

The 56-year-old freshman pilot of Pittsburgh Pirates nosed out Billy Southworth, leader of the National league champions, Boston Braves, in a neck-and-neck race. Meyer received 89 votes to 87 for the veteran world series campaigner.

In all, 220 baseball experts took part in the voting. Besides Meyer and Southworth, Lou Boudreau, Joe McCarthy, Burt Shotton, Steve O'Neill, Bucky Harris and Connie Mack received scattered support.

Boudreau, who piloted Cleveland Indians to their first American league pennant in 28 years and then led them to the world championship, ranked third with 20 votes. McCarthy, whose Boston Red Sox bowed to the Indians in an unprecedented playoff for the flag, was fourth with 19 votes.

Harris, released manager of the New York Yankees, was selected as the No. 1 pilot by three experts. The others received one vote each.

Boucher Optimistic About Rangers

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (CP). — New York sports writers are crying about the prospects this season of their battered Rangers of the National Hockey League.

But not so manager Frank Boucher, whose fifth-place team tonight faces the first-place Detroit Red Wings in the opening game of the season at Madison Square Garden.

The soft-spoken Boucher failed to be flustered even when star centre Buddy O'Connor told him last night by telephone from Montreal: "I just had another X-ray taken and it shows two ribs broken instead of one."

Cracked Boucher: "Well, stop posing for pictures."

Later, at a dinner for radio and press men, the blue-shirt manager gave reasons for his confidence.

Loss of O'Connor and defenceman Frank Eddolls—both injured in an automobile accident Oct. 9—would be a severe blow to the team," he said.

Expect Great Things

But the fans could expect good things from the Rangers later in the season. "We haven't been building a hollow shell during the last few years," said Boucher.

The confident talk and good food failed, however, to give much cheer to those assembled. Some pointed to the two losses and one tie the Rangers have experienced in the three games they have played.

Meanwhile, Boucher still is juggling lines to find the "insurance" until O'Connor returns.

The "veteran" line of Edgar Laprade, Tony Leswick and Eddie Kullman remains intact. Laprade and Leswick escaped severe injury in the auto accident.

Adams Unpopular With Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Oct. 27 (CP). — The jolly figure of Jack Adams, general manager of Detroit's National Hockey League club, today stands in the way of Hugh Millar becoming coach of the Winnipeg Canadien junior team.

The Detroit official's attitude towards the case is not one that will enable him to win friends and influence people in Winnipeg, a hot-bed of hockey talent.

Adams refuses to Grant Millar, burly professional defenceman, a release and this has prompted the Manitoba Hockey Association to bar Millar from the Canadiens' dressing room and any seats near the players' bench during the team's games.

Millar has been coaching the Canadiens in their practices but until he can get his release to enable him to obtain a Canadian Amateur Hockey Association card the Manitoba body won't allow him to guide the club in any league game.

F. Brooke Armstrong, a member of the Canadiens' executive, said Tuesday night that Adams in a long distance telephone call from Detroit told the executive that he would not release Millar.

"Adams hasn't gained any popularity around this city—in fact, he's lost a lot," Armstrong said.

Sign New Contract

BOWMANVILLE, Oct. 27 (CP) — Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company and Local 189, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers (CIO) today signed a new contract. It provides for a 45-hour week, an open-end wage arrangement, eight statutory holidays with pay and three weeks' annual vacation for employees with 20 years continuous service.

BRILLIANT CAREER of Charley Fonville, the world's record holder in the shot put, is at an end. Fonville, the University of Michigan, Negro athlete, faces an operation for a fused vertebrae in his back and the condition will not be healed for a year, according to medical authorities. Fonville failed to make the Olympic team although he had previously set a new world's mark in shot put.

CASEY BLOWS OFF

Portly Hugh Casey, latest of the Brooklyn Dodgers to move over to Pittsburgh, predicted in New York Tuesday the Brooks won't finish in the first division next year. The veteran relief hurler said Branch Rickey's youth movement has flopped and that it cost the Dodgers the 1948 pennant when Stanky was traded to Boston and Walker to Pittsburgh.

Police say the woman was strangled to death, and believe the woman's attacker brought her, dead or dying, to the spot where she was found. William Stuart of Galt, whom police are holding on a mischief charge in connection with the woman's disappearance, was taken to the scene. "I don't know if it is Mrs. Pohl," he said.

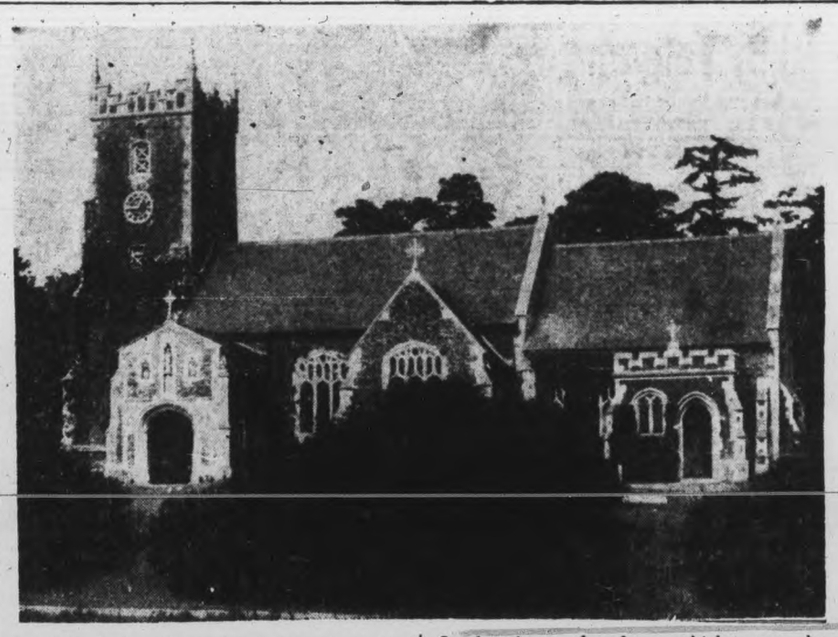
U.S. Election Gaining Traditional Heat

By LLOYD McDONALD

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 — (CP). — Blaring bands, waving banners, heightened crowd excitement and, above all, the imminence of voting day finally have given the United States presidential campaign something of its traditional florid complexion.

Straw-vote polls, which all through the campaign have forecast a Republican victory, and lent a cut-and-dried tone to many a political discussion, have come under attack from President Truman during the mounting excitement.

The candidates themselves, during these closing days before Nov. 2, have become more and more vehement regarding their opponents until once again the cry "mud-slinging" is heard in the land.



The "mud-slinging" charge came from Thomas Dewey himself Tuesday night, as the Republican nominee spoke to a packed audience at Chicago Stadium, only one night after the Truman speech there.

Even as he spoke, Truman was telling a Cleveland audience that Dewey was standing on a 'record of false promises."

Henry Wallace of the Progressive party, who made the strongest speeches of the early part of the campaign, kept it up at a rally in Madison Square Garden here Tuesday night. "Wild-eyed" and "radicalism" were some of the terms he used in connection with the Republicans and the Democrats.

Truman jibed at the unofficial national polls, charging that the 'poll-happy" Republicans had rigged the sampling of voters' opinions.

"Doctor" Dewey, he said, "is prescribing 'sleeping polls" intended to lull the voters into sleeping on election day."

Building Forces Only Answer Attlee Declares

LONDON, Oct. 27 — (Reuters). —Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Common Tuesday that it is necessary to build up moral, economic and military forces in Europe's western union "because we want to have a positive answer to Communist propaganda."

"I believe our western civilization offers something infinitely greater than can be offered by the Soviet Union," he said in the debate on the Throne Speech at the opining of parliament.

"A restoration of the standard of life for all is of the utmost importance as a positive contribution to setting up some ideal for everybody and to prevent them being drawn aside into these (Communist) aberrations."

Dealing with defence, Attlee said: "We are carefully reviewing the whole question of national service as to how best to make use of the manpower of the nation to build up our services.

"We have to get adequate defence forces out we must not use our defence forces to cripple our industrial recovery.

"There has to be a balance."

The government's plans for civil defence do not mean the expenditure in time of peace of money and manpower to provide shelters and other protective measures, Attlee stated.

The main purpose is to ensure the creation of a reserve of trained personnel to deal with any hostile attack and the establishment of an organization that would be brought into effective operation at short notice.

South Africa Stiffening Defences, Fears Emergency

CAPETOWN, Oct. 27.—(Reuters) —South Africa, as the other Dominions, is [illegible] fences to meet any emergency that the east-west crisis in international affairs may bring.

The armed forces are being brought to full strength. Industries [illegible] for war production. Communications with the rest of Africa are going to be improved.

No doubt is felt here that the Union is fully prepared to play an active part with Britain and the administration of British African colonies in the over-all scheme for African defence.

But in the commonwealth defence picture, South Africa is a blur. Britain, without writing off South Africa altogether, has built her defence machinery so it will run with the Union in or out.

This is not a new policy adopted by Britain as a result of the unseating of Prime Minister Smuts in the last general election. It was decided long before the Nationalists took office.

The indications are that when Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, then chief of the Imperial General Staff, visited South Africa last year he came to the conclusion that—in view of the political composition of the people—it would be unwise to commit the Union in advance to long-range commonwealth defence plans.

By Narrow Margin

South Africa's decision to participate in the Second World War was by the narrowest parliamentary margin. What decision the Union would take in any new conflict can only be conjecture.

But these are straws in the wind:

Defence Minister F. C. Erasmus has made it clear in Parliament that he intends to do everything possible to bring South Africa's army to full strength and have it in a state of readiness for any emergency.

In an address to an industrial convention at East London, he urged industry to make South Africa self-sufficient in manufactures. With the world in its present state, he said, South African industry must be prepared to play an even greater part in an emergency than it did in the last Second World War.

Discuss Agreement

The political correspondent of the pro-Empire Natal Mercury says Charles T. Water, South Africa's Ambassador Extraordinary who is attending the United Nations General Assembly in Paris, has been instructed to discuss with the British Colonial Office proposals for a close working agreement between British territories in Africa and the Union, to integrate African defence plans.

The same newspaper's political correspondent says the Union Cabinet has decided that there should be close Anglo-South African liaison in erecting an anti-aggression bulwark in Africa, since both Britain and the Union are firmly entrenched on the Continent and their sympathies in the event of war are likely to be identical. This policy will include the linking, by proposed new roads, of South Africa, the Rhodesias, and Kenya to ensure land communications between the Cape and the military supply base at Mombasa.

Ceylon Prime Minister Visits Mackenzie King

LONDON, Oct. 27 — (CP). — Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada enjoyed another good [illegible] morning, his staff reported.

The Prime Minister, recovering from an ailment of the blood circulation, is expected to entertain more visitors in his hotel suite today but has yet to venture out since his doctors ordered him to bed more than two weeks ago.

Tuesday Mr. King was visited by Don Senanyake, Prime Minister of Ceylon. Thus he has consulted with all the Commonwealth leaders who came here for the Commonwealth conference which he was forced to miss because of his illness.

At the end of this week he is expected to leave for home and retirement.

Protests Steel Plan

LONDON, Oct. 27 — (AP). — Ivor Thomas, Labor member of Parliament who has held two "little cabinet" posts in the Attlee government, Tuesday night announced he will resign from the party as a protest against plans to nationalize steel. He said he had been uneasy for some time over a "wide range of the government's domesetic policy."

Charges Effort To Overthrow Non-Red Governments By Force

PARIS, Oct. 27 — (AP). — John Foster Dulles of the United States charged Tuesday a general effort is under way throughout the world to overthrow non-Communist governments by "force, coercion and terrorism."

Because of Communist violence, he said, "the United Nations has found it impossible, as yet, to relieve the peoples of the world from the heavy burden of armament and the even heavier burden of fear."

Dulles spoke before the general assembly's 58-member political committee as that body began general debate on the Greek question. It was his first major speech on over-all foreign policy.

Dulles told the political committee the Greek question and the Berlin dispute were both part of the "general effort" to extend Communism throughout the world.

He offered a four-power resolution calling on the assembly to extend the life of the United Nations special committee on the Balkans (U.N.S.C.O.B.) for another year so that world opinion can be brought to bear more forcefully on that trouble zone.

The Balkan resolution was sponsored jointly by Britain, the United States, France and China. It said "the continued aid given by Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia to the Greek guerrillas endangers peace in the Balkans and is inconsistent with the purposes and principles of the charter of the United Nations."

Want Aid Stopped

The resolution would call on Greece's three northern neighbors to cease all aid immediately and co-operate with the Commission in its investigation of strife along the border.

Dulles warned the Soviet bloc that "if there is continued violation of the charter, world opinion will grow steadily more condemnatory, more resolute and more potent to restrain aggression."

Hector McNeil, British Minister of State, accused Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia of obstructing the work of the Balkans Commission. He said they and other Soviet bloc countries used "every opportunity of publicly misrepresenting and in some cases . . . insulting this duly constituted organ of the United Nations."

He asked the Russians: "Is it too much to ask you to cherish and let peace develop in this corner of Europe?"

The Soviet bloc will begin its answer today when Mr. Ales Bebler, Yugoslav delegate, takes the floor for a two-hour speech.

Introduce Own Bills

LONDON, Oct. 27 (Reuters).—Private members of parliament are once more to be allowed to introduce their own bills in parliament. Prime Minister Attlee announced Tuesday that this facility would be restored in the New Year after having been suspended, because of the pressure of government business, for 10 years.

IODE Raps Red Dean

TORONTO, Oct. 27.—(CP). — National officers of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, meeting in emergency session, have called on the Federal government to deny entry into Canada of Very. Rev. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury. Dr. Johnson is scheduled to arrive in Canada Nov. 2 for a three-week speaking tour of Canada and the United States.

PRINCE ALY KHAN, of India, son of the Aga Khan, one of the wealthiest men in the world, and screen star Rita Hayworth are pictured together at Ciro's night club on the famous Sunset Strip in Hollywood. There are rumors that the prince and the star are romantically interested in each other.

FELLOW - STRIKERS are carrying an injured miner from the vicinity of a coal pit near St. Etienne where he became a casualty in a clash with guards. French troops are occupying the mines throughout northern France. A ministry of the interior announcement indicated there was no resistance. Pickets meekly surrendered the pits to troops backed up by armored cars and machine-guns.

Hydraulic Hand Used By Veteran

TORONTO, Oct. 27 — (CP). — Wally West, young suburban war veteran, has a hydraulic left hand he opens and closes by kicking his right heel. It replaces the one he lost during the war in a land mine explosion.

The master cylinder of the hydraulic hand is worked by a small rod under the heel of his right shoe and a cord tied to the shoe laces.

It was built by Jack Sargeson, Long Branch mechanical engineer.

Proud of his hand's versatility, West can use it to pick up a chair, a telephone receiver or throw a pen or a package on to a table.
